8:33 Peter’s thoughts, born of fear and concern, were probably well-intended, but they did not take in God’s eternal purposes and plan. Peter was not indwelt by Satan, but Satan had certainly suggested his thoughts. if Peter had his way, Jesus’ mission would not have been accomplished.

8:35 to preserve one’s life eternally, one must surrender earthly possessions and relationships held so dearly (see Matt. 16:24–27).

8:38 When He comes in the glory of His Father is the key of this address to the disciples (vv. 34–38). it is the first glimpse of the fulfillment of all history (1 cor. 15:24–28). <sup>t</sup>hose who will reign with christ invest their lives in that which will last (v. 35). <sup>t</sup>hose who are willing to confess him today will be rewarded before the Father in heaven (Matt. 5:10–12; 2 t im. 2:11–13; r ev. 2:26–28).

9:1 after Jesus predicted his own death, Peter and the other disciples needed reassurance that Jesus would ultimately triumph. his prediction that some of them would see the kingdom of God present with power must have alleviated their fears.

9:2 After six days links Jesus’ prediction of v. 1 with the events of vv. 2–8. <sup>t</sup>he high mountain was most likely one of the foothills surrounding Mt. hermon. <sup>t</sup>hey probably did not stand on Mt. hermon itself, a snowy peak which rises to 9,232 feet. it is the highest point in all of Palestine. <sup>t</sup>hese mountains overlook caesarea Philippi, where Peter’s confession was made (8:27–29). Jesus’ transfiguration deeply affected John and Peter, who mention it in their writings (see John 1:14; 2 Pet. 1:16–18).

9:4 Elijah is mentioned in Mal. 4:5, 6 in connection with the future coming of christ. <sup>t</sup>his is why people asked John the Baptist if he were elijah (John 1:21). Moses was the lawgiver and liberator, while elijah was the first of the great prophets. <sup>t</sup>heir presence confirmed the reality that Jesus is the Messiah of Peter’s confession.

9:7 <sup>t</sup>he voice of God the Father was heard audibly three times during the life of christ. <sup>t</sup>he other two occasions were at Jesus’ baptism (1:11) and during his triumphal entry into Jerusalem (John 12:28).

them; and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is *f*My beloved Son. *g*Hear Him!” *h*Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

*h*Now as they came down from the mountain, He commanded them that they should tell no one the things they had seen, till the Son of Man had risen from the dead. *i*So they kept this word to themselves, questioning *j*what the rising from the dead meant.

*i*And they asked Him, saying, “Why do the scribes say *j*that Elijah must come first?”

*i*Then He answered and told them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming first and restores all things. And *k*how is it written concerning the Son of Man, that He must suffer many things and *l*be treated with contempt? *m*But I say to you that *n*Elijah has also come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written of him.”

*r*He answered him and said, “*t*O faithless *u*generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I *v*bear with you? Bring him to Me.” *w*Then they brought him to Him. And *x*when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

21 So He asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?”

And he said, “From childhood. 22 And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.”

Attitude of Servanthood

Matt. 18:1-5; Luke 9:46-50

33 *a*Then He came to Capernaum. And when He was in the house He asked them, “What was it you 6 disputed among yourselves on the road?” 34 But they kept silent, for on the road they had *b*disputed

9:11, 12 *t*his question is based on the words of Mal. 4:5, 6.

9:13 Jesus’ comment that Elijah has also come is a reference to John the Baptist. John was not a reincarnation of Elijah, but one who ministered “in the spirit and power of Elijah” (Luke 1:17) in preparing the way for Christ. They did to him whatever they wished refers to the ruthless way John the Baptist was imprisoned and murdered.

9:17-20 *t*he boy had several problems. *t*he mute spirit was a demon that kept the boy from speaking, but the demon also produced seizures. Verse 20 says the spirit convulsed him.

9:24 I believe; help my unbelief expresses the dilemma that even those who believe can be nagged by doubt and hopelessness. *t*his man took the correct course by appealing to Jesus for help.

9:29 Jesus said that prayer and fasting were required to prevail in some difficult instances. Fasting may help focus one’s energies on the resources available in our great God.

9:31 For the second time (see 8:31), Jesus tells plainly of his coming death and resurrection.

9:34, 35 *t*he disciples kept silent, refusing to tell Jesus about their discussion. But Jesus once again challenged their assumptions. he presented them with another paradox—that to be great in God’s kingdom, one must be a servant. *t*he example was modeled by Christ himself.

among themselves who would be the <sup>c</sup>greatest. <sup>35</sup>And He sat down, called the twelve, and said to them, <sup>d</sup>“If anyone desires to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all.” <sup>36</sup>Then <sup>e</sup>He took a little child and set him in the midst of them. And when He had taken him in His arms, He said to them, <sup>37</sup>“Whoever receives one of these little children in My name receives Me; and <sup>f</sup>whoever receives Me, receives not Me but Him who sent Me.”

10 Then <sup>a</sup>He arose from there and came to the region of Judea by the other side of the Jordan. And multitudes gathered to Him again, and as He was accustomed, He taught them again.

<sup>2b</sup>The Pharisees came and asked Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?” testing Him.

9:40 Jesus is not endorsing all who claim to follow him. r ather, this statement was meant to remind the disciples that God’s work was not necessarily restricted to their small group.

9:42 Jesus uses hyperbole, exaggeration for an effect, to state the seriousness of causing spiritual injury to others. A millstone is an extremely heavy circular stone, three to four feet across and about a foot thick, used to grind grain into meal.

9:43 Cut it off should be taken figuratively; it means to take whatever drastic action is necessary to avoid sin. t he imagery of hell (frequently called gehenna) comes from a garbage dump outside the walls of Jerusalem. Jesus’ hearers were familiar with the smoldering fires that always burned there. o bedience and self-control (vv. 41, 47) are necessary to overcome sin. t he longing of the disciples for greatness (vv. 33–37) needed to be reshaped according to God’s purposes.

9:49 t he word for shows that Mark intended his readers to apply the preceding verses to their own lives. Everyone will be seasoned with fire may refer to the trials and judgments that all will face—believers with trials that purify faith, unbelievers with the eternal fire of God’s judgment.

10:1 Jesus, now on his final journey to Jerusalem, comes to c apernaum (9:33). his Galilean ministry will head south to Judea and even into Perea on the eastern side of the Jordan r iver.

10:2 t he Pharisees’ question about divorce was a trap. Perhaps they hoped he would contradict Moses (Deut. 24:1–4) or offend her o d antipas as John the Baptist had (see 6:18). t he only possibility for divorce under Jewish law was for a man to divorce his wife.

10:4 A certificate of divorce was a document signed before witnesses. its intent was to limit frivolous divorces. in Jesus’ day, the t he word hell in this passage translates the word gehenna, which is an allusion to the “Valley of the Son of hinnom” (Josh. 18:16). in this valley, the israelites had gone so far as to offer their children as burnt sacrifices to Molech. Josiah defiled this site in order to prevent the repetition of such abominations (see 2 Kin. 23:10), and then a fire was kept burning there to consume the carrion and refuse that were collected around Jerusalem. t he final punishment of the wicked is described in the o t by allusions to this valley (is. 66:24). By using the word gehenna, Jesus was recalling the same place and that kind of punishment for sin.

Children and the Kingdom

<sup>13 g</sup> Then they brought little children to Him, that He might touch them; but the disciples rebuked those who brought them. <sup>14</sup> But when Jesus saw it, He was greatly displeased and said to them, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for <sup>h</sup> of such is the kingdom of God. <sup>15</sup> Assuredly, I say to you, <sup>i</sup> whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will <sup>j</sup> by no means enter it.” <sup>16</sup> And He took them up in His arms, laid His hands on them, and blessed them.

Rich Young Ruler

<sup>17 h</sup> Now as He was going out on the road, one came running, knelt before Him, and asked Him, “Good Teacher, what shall I <sup>l</sup> do that I may inherit eternal life?”

<sup>18</sup> So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, <sup>m</sup> God. <sup>19</sup> You know the commandments: <sup>n</sup> “Do not commit adultery,” “Do not murder,” “Do not steal,” “Do not bear false witness,” “Do not defraud,” “Honor your father and your mother.”

<sup>20</sup> And he answered and said to Him, “Teacher, all these things I have <sup>o</sup> kept from my youth.”

<sup>21</sup> Then Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, “One thing you lack: Go your way, <sup>p</sup> sell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you will have <sup>q</sup> treasure in heaven; and come, <sup>r</sup> take up the cross, and follow Me.”

<sup>22</sup> But he was sad at this word, and went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

Difficulty of Riches

<sup>23 s</sup> Then Jesus looked around and said to His disciples, “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!” <sup>24</sup> And the disciples were astonished at His words. But Jesus answered again and said to them, “Children, how hard it is <sup>2</sup> for those <sup>t</sup> who trust in riches to enter the kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup> It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a <sup>u</sup> rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

<sup>27</sup> But Jesus looked at them and said, “With men it is impossible, but not <sup>v</sup> with God; for with God all things are possible.”

Eternal Reward

<sup>28 w</sup> Then Peter began to say to Him, “See, we have left all and followed You.”

interpretation of this custom varied widely. t he disciples of hillel allowed divorce for almost any reason, but the followers of Shammai permitted divorce only for sexual impurity.

10:5, 6 Jesus declares that divorce was a concession to the hardness of your heart and then turns the argument to God’s original intentions for marriage as seen in Gen. 2:21–25. God’s design of male and female shows that he held each to be equal in value and worth, but that they fulfilled a different function and role in his design.

10:7, 8 a man is to leave his parents, cleave to his wife, then weave a life of beauty with her. Jesus quotes almost verbatim from the text of Gen. 2:24. t he two become one flesh, and this bond is comparable to that of a blood relationship.

10:9 Jesus indicated that God’s original purpose for marriage was that the union should not be broken.

10:11 Whoever divorces his wife: Mark includes no exception to christ’s prohibition of divorce, nor is any exception listed in Luke 16:18; rom. 7:1, 2; 1 cor. 7:10, 11. c ompare Matt. 5:32; 19:9, where an exception is made.

10:12 in Jewish society, it was not possible for a woman to divorce her husband, but Mark is presenting Jesus’ words in a way his roman audience would understand.

10:15 children exhibit sincerity, eagerness, a trusting attitude, and total dependence on their parents. t hus childlikeness is a fitting comparison for the qualities a disciple should have.

10:17 in addressing Jesus as Good Teacher, the rich young ruler (Matt. 19:22; Luke 18:18) meant no more than to issue a respectful formal greeting to a religious teacher.

10:18 t he reply that no one is good but One, that is, God is Jesus’ claim to deity, which he asks the young ruler to recognize.

10:19 Jesus recounts the seventh, sixth, eighth, ninth, and fifth commandments with the phrase do not defraud inserted just before the fifth commandment. a ll of these commands concern the fair and ethical treatment of other people (ex. 20:12–17).

10:23, 24 Those who have riches frequently also are those who trust in riches, a dangerous condition for one seeking spiritual life.

10:25–27 t his comparison of a camel going through a needle is a literal one (Matt. 19:24). in human terms, it is not just difficult, but totally impossible, for a rich man to be saved. But it is also impossible for anyone at all to be saved apart from God’s grace and power. God provides the means of salvation, enlightens the sinner’s understanding, and regenerates the believing soul.

<sup>29</sup> So Jesus answered and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother <sup>3</sup> or wife or children or <sup>4</sup> lands, for My sake and the gospel’s, <sup>30</sup> who shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time—houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with <sup>5</sup> persecutions—and in the age to come, eternal life. <sup>31</sup> But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

<sup>32</sup> Now they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them; and they were amazed. And as they followed they were afraid. <sup>b</sup> Then He took the twelve aside again and began to tell them the things that would happen to Him: <sup>33</sup> “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and deliver Him to the Gentiles; <sup>34</sup> and they will mock Him, and <sup>5</sup> scourge Him, and spit on Him, and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

<sup>35</sup> Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to Him, saying, “Teacher, we want You to do for us whatever we ask.”

<sup>36</sup> And He said to them, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

So Jesus said to them, <sup>f</sup> “You will indeed drink the cup that I drink, and with the baptism I am baptized with you will be baptized; <sup>40</sup> but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those <sup>g</sup> for whom it is prepared.”

<sup>41</sup> And when the ten heard it, they began to be greatly displeased with James and John. <sup>42</sup> But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, <sup>i</sup> “You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. <sup>43</sup> Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant. <sup>44</sup> And whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. <sup>45</sup> For even <sup>k</sup> the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and <sup>l</sup> to give His life a ransom for many.”

<sup>46</sup> Now they came to Jericho. As He went out of Jericho with His disciples and a great multitude, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the road begging. <sup>47</sup> And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out

10:29 t he one who has left all these things has not necessarily renounced them but has certainly reordered his priorities (see Matt. 19:29). Peter still had his wife some 25 years later, as did the other apostles and Jesus’ own brothers (1 cor. 9:5). Many times, however, they made heavy sacrifices for the sake of christ and the gospel. 10:30 Spiritual rewards await those who follow christ in this time, meaning during this age between christ’s first and second comings. Mark alone mentions that persecutions will follow as well—a point his roman readers may have already known. a fter christ’s return, in the age to come, the incomparable reward will be eternal life in God’s presence. 10:31 Worldly esteem, which is measured by wealth, social standing, nobility, birth, and personal achievement, will count for nothing in the world to come. o nly humility and servanthood lead to greatness in God’s kingdom. Matthew follows this saying with an illustrative parable (see Matt. 20:1–16). 10:32–34 Jesus revealed for the third time his imminent death and resurrection as the disciples walked the road toward Jerusalem for Passover. See 8:31; 9:31 for his previous teaching on this subject. 10:35 a cording to Matt 20:20, it was the mother of James and John who sought Jesus, but it is likely that the sons themselves encouraged her to do it. 10:37 to be seated at a king’s right hand was to take the position of most prominence; the person seated at the left hand ranked just below that (Luke 22:24–30). Jesus had to remind the disciples again about the price of greatness in God’s kingdom. a s they journeyed toward Jerusalem, “they thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately” (Luke 19:11), so they may have wanted to secure their power and authority as soon as possible. 10:38 To drink the cup and be baptized are references to the suffering and death that awaited Jesus (14:36). Jesus wanted his disciples to understand the mocking, scourging, beating, and torture he would have to endure. 10:39 Jesus agreed with their response, though they had not yet understood the cost of their commitment. a lthough not suffering the same level of spiritual agony that Jesus did, James would soon be executed by herod agrippa i in A.D. 44 (see acts 12:1, 2). John was the last apostle to die, being exiled for a while on the island of Patmos (r ev. 1:9). he was persecuted greatly and had to witness the deaths of more c hristians than probably any of the other apostles. 10:42–44 t he point here is not the fact that Gentile rulers lord it over them, but the very idea that they seek to exercise authority. Jesus wants each of his followers to be a servant—one who as an attendant waits on others. t he word slave signifies subjection, but not necessarily bondage. 10:45 t his verse is the dividing point of the Book of Mark. t he first section of the book has emphasized Jesus’ servanthood, whereas the second section recounts the details of his death and resurrection. having three times predicted his coming death, Jesus now explains its purpose. a ransom is the price paid to free slaves or hostages. t he word is found only here and in Matt. 20:28, although it appears frequently in other documents of that time. christ’s life is given for others, in place of their lives. t he word many is used for contrast, see 2 cor. 5:14; 1 t im. 2:6; 1 John 2:2. 10:47 Son of David is a messianic title. Mark shows us the irony and say, “Jesus, <sup>n</sup> Son of David, <sup>o</sup> have mercy on me!”

<sup>48</sup> Then many warned him to be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>49</sup> So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be called.

Then they called the blind man, saying to him, “Be of good cheer. Rise, He is calling you.”

<sup>51</sup> So Jesus answered and said to him, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

The blind man said to Him, <sup>6</sup> “Rabboni, that I may receive my sight.”

<sup>52</sup> Then Jesus said to him, “Go your way; <sup>p</sup> your faith has <sup>7</sup> made you well.” And immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus on the road.

The Triumphal Entry

11 Now <sup>a</sup> when they drew near Jerusalem, to <sup>1</sup> Bethphage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sent two of His disciples; <sup>2</sup> and He said to them, “Go into the village opposite you; and as soon as you have entered it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has sat. Loose it and bring it. <sup>3</sup> And if anyone says to you, ‘Why are you doing this?’ say, ‘The Lord has need of it,’ and immediately he will send it here.”

<sup>4</sup> So they went their way, and found <sup>2</sup> the colt tied by the door outside on the street, and they loosed it. <sup>5</sup> But some of those who stood there said to them, “What are you doing, loosing the colt?”

<sup>6</sup> And they spoke to them just as Jesus had commanded. So they let them go. <sup>7</sup> Then they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their clothes on it, and He sat on it. <sup>8</sup> <sup>b</sup> And many spread their clothes on the road, and others cut down leafy branches from the trees and spread them on the road. <sup>9</sup> Then those who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

“Hosanna!

<sup>c</sup> Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’

That comes <sup>3</sup> in the name of the Lord! <sup>d</sup> Hosanna in the highest!”

<sup>11</sup> <sup>e</sup> And Jesus went into Jerusalem and into the temple. So when He had looked around at all things, as the hour was already late, He went out to Bethany with the twelve.

A Fig Tree Is Cursed

<sup>12</sup> Now the next day, when they had come out from Bethany, He was hungry. <sup>13</sup> <sup>g</sup> And seeing from afar a fig tree having leaves, He went to see if perhaps He would find something on it. When He came to it, He found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs. <sup>14</sup> In response Jesus said to it, “Let no one eat fruit from you ever again.”

And His disciples heard it.

The Temple Is Cleansed

<sup>15</sup> <sup>h</sup> So they came to Jerusalem. Then Jesus went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of of a blind man who had spiritual insight, while many who could see—including the religious leaders—were spiritually blind.

10:49, 50 Mark’s account has all the graphic details of an eyewitness account—Jesus stood still; then Bartimaeus was suddenly throwing aside his garment to rise and meet Jesus. Mark also notes the changed attitude of the crowd—they began by deriding Bartimaeus but later encouraged him.

10:51 Rabboni is a very tender aramaic form of address meaning “master” or “teacher” (see John 20:16).

10:52 We know that Bartimaeus followed Jesus for at least a short time on the road. He went along with the surging crowd at Jericho. Did he, however, become a disciple of note? Mark’s mention of his name may indicate that he was known in the early church.

11:1–15:47 More than one-third of Mark’s narrative takes place during a seven-day period—the Passover week when Jesus is finally put to death. Mark’s Gospel has been called a Passion story with a long introduction. His emphasis on the Passion Week is appropriate. Without this week, Jesus would not have fulfilled his purpose for coming to the earth.

11:1 Bethphage and Bethany are just east of the Mount of Olives, about two miles from the gates of Jerusalem. Lazarus was raised to life at Bethany (John 12:1).

11:2–7 Christ’s deity is evident in this passage. You will find demonstrates his omniscience. It is possible for a donkey on which no one has sat to be very calm and accommodating, but Jesus is also master of all nature and all creatures.

11:8–11 This was the triumphal entry on Palm Sunday. The crowd recognized Jesus’ lordship by repeating a messianic psalm (Ps. 118:25, 26). Jesus retired to Bethany each night, perhaps staying in a friend’s home (maybe Lazarus’s or Simon’s, see 14:3). But in view of the fact that Jesus appears to have had no breakfast the next day (see v. 12), he and the twelve may have camped outside this night.

11:12 The next day would be Monday, and Mark devotes only eight verses to this day. Tuesday begins with v. 20, but the events of Tuesday and Wednesday are combined into one long section that ends at 13:37. A new chronological reference begins with 14:1, “after two days.”

11:13 Mark informs his readers that it was not the season for figs. Passover always comes in March or a April, and fig season is not until May or June. However, fig trees generally produce a number of buds in March, leaves in April, and ripe fruit later on. Jesus was looking for the edible buds, the lack of which indicated that the tree would be fruitless that year.

those who sold <sup>i</sup> doves. <sup>16</sup> And He would not allow anyone to carry wares through the temple. <sup>17</sup> Then He taught, saying to them, “Is it not written, <sup>j</sup> ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations’? But you have made it a <sup>k</sup> ‘den of thieves.’”

Power of Faith

<sup>20n</sup> Now in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots. <sup>21</sup> And Peter, remembering, said to Him, “Rabbi, look! The fig tree which You cursed has withered away.”

<sup>22</sup> So Jesus answered and said to them, “Have faith in God. <sup>23</sup> For <sup>o</sup> assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says. <sup>24</sup> Therefore I say to you, <sup>p</sup> whatever things you ask when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.

Necessity of Forgiveness

Question of Authority

<sup>27</sup> Then they came again to Jerusalem. <sup>s</sup> And as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders came to Him. <sup>28</sup> And they said to Him, “By what <sup>t</sup> authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority to do these things?”

<sup>29</sup> But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one question; then answer Me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things: <sup>30</sup> The <sup>u</sup> baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men? Answer Me.”

<sup>31</sup> And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’ <sup>32</sup> But if we say, ‘From men’”—they feared the people, for <sup>v</sup> all counted John to have been a prophet indeed. <sup>33</sup> So they answered and said to Jesus, “We do not know.”

And Jesus answered and said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

Parable of the Vineyard Owner

12 Then <sup>a</sup> He began to speak to them in parables: “A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a place for the wine vat and built a tower.

11:17 Jesus quoted from the prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah (Is. 56:7; Jer. 7:11) to make his point about the despicable conduct of those who bought and sold in the temple. Den of thieves refers to the practice of cheating people, both Israelites and those of other nations, either through a crooked exchange of money or by selling inferior products.

11:18 The suspense of Mark’s drama increases with the contrasting reactions to Christ. The religious leaders sought to destroy Him by plotting his death, while the people had just welcomed him with a triumphal procession and were astonished at His teaching.

11:19, 20 Mark clearly indicates the transition from evening (Monday) to the morning (Tuesday).

11:21 Why was the fig tree both cursed and withered? The passage emphasizes the power of true faith. Some have suggested that the fig tree represented Israel, which bore no fruit and would soon face the judgment of God.

11:22, 23 The illustration of casting an enormous mountain into the sea is an extreme example of the absolutely impossible. That is the point, having faith in God can accomplish the impossible. Mark had previously emphasized Jesus’ insistence on simply believing (see 9:23, 24).

11:25, 26 It is doubtful that a person who cannot forgive another has ever experienced the forgiveness of his own sins by God.

11:28 The religious leaders (v. 27), who were now plotting Jesus’ death (v. 18), asked Jesus about the (1) nature and (2) source of his authority, perhaps because he had not openly declared that he was the Messiah. These things refer to the authority Jesus used in cleaning out the temple (see vv. 15–17).

11:29, 30 The intent of Jesus’ question was to expose once again the insincerity of his detractors. The baptism of John refers to the authority of John’s baptism. Was it from heaven—that is, ordained by God and worthy of obedience? Or was it merely from men—that is, of human contrivance and void of any spiritual authority and reality?

11:33 We do not know was a dishonest reply, but perhaps the only one possible for men who wished only to save their reputation.

12:1 He began to speak to them in parables. Mark records only one parable here, but Matthew presents an additional one (Matt. 22:1–14). This parable represents God as carefully preparing the nation of Israel (a vineyard) and leaving it in the care of others (the vineyarders; Is. 5:1–7). Great care was taken to fence the vineyard,

rabbi

(Gk. rabbi) (9:5; 10:51; 11:21; 14:45) Strong’s #4461

In NT times, rabbi was a respectful title for a teacher well versed in the Mosaic Law. The title, which derives from a Hebrew word meaning “great,” is often translated “master.” Rabboni, an Aramaic form of this word, expresses affectionate respect for a teacher (John 20:16). Both the disciples and the teachers of the law honored Jesus with this title. But Jesus warned his disciples not to covet such a title for themselves, for there is only one true teacher, Christ himself (see Matt. 23:6–10).

Property Protection

israelite farmers enclosed their gardens and vineyards with hedges or walls (is. 5:5), but it was not possible to build walls around large fields. to prevent border disputes in the fields, the Law placed severe punishment upon anyone who removed the boundary stones used as landmarks (Deut. 27:17). the hebrew landowner seldom visited his fields during the growing season. instead he hired watchmen to stay in crude lodgings (also called “towers”—Mark 12:1), where they protected the crop from beasts, birds, and marauders.

he sent them another servant, <sup>2</sup>and at him they threw stones, wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully treated. <sup>5</sup>And again he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, <sup>b</sup>beating some and killing some. <sup>6</sup>Therefore still having one son, his beloved, he also sent him to them last, saying, “They will respect my son.” <sup>7</sup>But those <sup>3</sup>vine-dressers said among themselves, “This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.” <sup>8</sup>So they took him and <sup>c</sup>killed him and cast him out of the vineyard.

in biblical times, buildings were often made of cut, squared stone. By uniting two intersecting walls, a cornerstone helped align the whole building and tie it together. in his address before the Jewish Sanhedrin, the apostle Peter quoted Ps. 118:22 and boldly proclaimed that “Jesus christ of nazareth,” crucified and raised from the dead, was the stone rejected by the builders “which has become the chief cornerstone” (a cts 4:10, 11; eph. 2:20). t his chief cornerstone, Jesus christ, is the foundation of the church, because “there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved” (a cts 4:12). in him “the whole building, being fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord” (eph. 2:21).

12:6 Parables usually get across a significant truth, but the details are not meant to correspond exactly with particular spiritual realities. in this parable, the owner of the vineyard represents God, but God himself was never so mistaken as to assume they would respect his Son. God is omniscient, whereas the vineyard owner in the parable is not. t his story illustrates the immense patience God had with israel.

12:9 Jesus answered his own rhetorical question. t he destruction of the vine-dressers, the israelites who rejected the Son of God, took place in a.d. 70 when the romans smashed a revolt in Jerusalem and destroyed the temple. Giving the vineyard to others refers to the importance the Gentiles would assume in the growth of christianity.

12:12 t he chief priests, scribes, and elders sought to lay hands on Him, to arrest Jesus, and to carry out their plot to destroy him (see 11:18). only as the final points of the parable were made did these evil men realize that Jesus had spoken the parable against them.

12:13 The Herodians are mentioned in the nt three times, all in conjunction with the Pharisees. t he herodians wanted to kill Jesus because he threatened their authority (3:16; Matt. 22:16). t heir attempt to catch Him in His words was their hope that Jesus would say something that could be grounds for his arrest.

But He, knowing their <sup>h</sup>hypocrisy, said to them, “Why do you test Me? Bring Me a denarius that I may see it.” <sup>16</sup>So they brought it.

And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?” They said to Him, “Caesar’s.”

And they marveled at Him.

You are therefore greatly <sup>8</sup>mistaken.”

Question of the Greatest Commandment

<sup>32</sup>So the scribe said to Him, “Well said, Teacher. You have spoken the truth, for there is one God, <sup>u</sup>and there is no other but He. <sup>33</sup>And to love Him with all the heart, with all the understanding, <sup>4</sup>with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, <sup>v</sup>is more than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.”

t he teachers recognized that Jesus was partial to no one. t he question, however, was a lose-lose proposition: a yes answer would alienate Jews who opposed r ome, while a no answer could be taken as treason against the state. t he ruling emperor from A.D. 14 to 37 was caesar t iberius (Luke 3:1), the adopted son of caesar a ugustus (Luke 2:1). here Mark uses a Latin word for taxes in order to communicate clearly to his r oman readers.

12:15 a denarius was worth an entire day’s wages.

12:16 t he image and inscription on the coin was Caesar’s. his head faces to the right with the words T(BERIVS) CAESAR DIVI on the right and the words AUG(USTI) AVGVSTVS continuing on the left side. t hese words mean “t iberius c aesar, Son of the Divine a ugustus.” o n the reverse side appear the words PONTIFEX MAXIMVS, meaning “high Priest.”

12:18 t he Sadducees were an elite group of religious leaders who denied the existence of angels, the immortality of the soul, and the resurrection. t hey rejected the oral traditions and accepted only the validity of the Pentateuch, the first five books of the ot .

12:19-22 t he custom of marrying the widow of one’s brother was supported by Deut. 25:5, 6, but it was not absolutely binding (Deut. 25:7-10).

12:23 t he purpose of this story was to discredit the doctrine of resurrection.

12:24 t wo categories support the resurrection—the Scriptures and God’s power. t he Sadducees undoubtedly did know the Scriptures, but lacked spiritual insight to understand God’s purposes.

12:25 Angels neither marry nor procreate. Luke 20:36 applies these restrictions to all angels without distinction.

12:26, 27 Jesus quotes from the Law—the Book of exodus—to make his point. God said I am the God of the three patriarchs mentioned, not “i” was their God, but now they are dead.” he still is their God because they are still alive. t heir souls not only live after death, but their bodies will be raised anew as well.

12:29 t he Hear, O Israel verse of Deut. 6:4 is commonly called the Shema (from a hebrew word meaning “to hear”) and is repeated by Jews the world over as expressing the essence of their faith in God.

12:30, 31 The first commandment summarizes the first four of the ten commandments. t he second is the essence of commandments five through ten, which relate to the treatment of other people.

Silver Coins

In nt times, the silver coin of tyre and Sidon was called the “temple coin.” It was widely known for its pure metal. But the roman denarius quickly superseded all silver coins of the same value. a denarius was a soldier’s daily wage and worth about 44 cents today. t he Greek word for silver was frequently used for money. Jesus told his disciples to take no “money” (silver) with them when he sent them out two by two (Luke 9:3) and Judas was paid 30 “pieces of silver” to betray Jesus (Matt. 26:15). one of the most famous givers in the nt was the poor widow (Mark 12:41–44). She gave two lepta, which equaled the value of a kodrantēs, to the temple treasury. t he kodrantēs was worth less than a penny. Yet the widow’s gift prompted Jesus’ highest praise.

Jesus Questions the Leaders

<sup>35</sup><sup>x</sup> Then Jesus answered and said, while He taught in the temple, “How is it that the scribes say that the Christ is the Son of David? <sup>36</sup> For David himself said <sup>y</sup> by the Holy Spirit:

*“The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your

And the common people heard Him gladly.

Jesus Condemns the Leaders

Questions from the Disciples

13 Then <sup>a</sup> as He went out of the temple, one of His disciples said to Him, “Teacher, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!”

12:35 In the temple does not refer to the sanctuary itself, where only the priests were allowed to minister. t he temple environs included a number of porticos and courts. one was designated especially for women (and included the treasury, 12:41), another for men. Gentiles could view the temple from an outer area. a ctually, even Jesus could not enter the sanctuary because he was not an aronic priest.

12:36, 37 David himself said by the Holy Spirit is Jesus’ clear affirmation of the doctrine of inspiration (see 2 tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:21). Jesus’ argument about the Messiah being Lord as well as Son showed that the Messiah, even though a descendant of David, would be superior to him. in fact, he would be his Lord. he was both man and God at the same time.

12:38–40 t he scribes of Jesus’ day were teachers of the law, often dependent on people’s gifts for their support. Some, however, overstepped the bounds of humility, piety, and dignity by flaunting their position of respect and trust. t hey sought the glory that belonged to God and even took advantage of widows who helped feed and support them.

12:42 By contrast, the widow worshiped God out of deep humility and genuine devotion. Mark notes for his r oman readers that her two mites make a quadrans, a r oman monetary unit mentioned by Mark and Matthew (Matt. 5:26) only once. it was worth just a few cents.

12:43, 44 Jesus’ comparison of the percentages contributed by the rich and the poor reminds us that God measures not how much we give, but how much we retain. t hose with greater income have an obligation to return a larger percentage of it to God’s work.

13:1–37 Jesus continued his last week of ministry in Jerusalem by teaching his apostles about future events. t his speech is known as the Olivet Discourse, so named because Jesus sat on the Mount of olives while speaking (v. 3).

13:1, 2 t he disciples’ excitement over the temple’s tremendous manner of stones was a natural reaction to splendid and majestic architecture; each stone weighed several tons. Josephus (Antiq. 15.11.3–7) described its magnificence. t here was nothing like it in all the world. Begun by herod the Great in 20 B.C., the temple was later completed by herod’s descendants some time before A.D. 66. its beautiful white marble stones with gold ornamentation reached one hundred feet high. Surrounding it were colonnaded walkways, courtyards, and stairways that filled 20 acres of the most prominent landscape in all Jerusalem. t hus Jesus’ remark that not one stone shall be left upon another unquestionably stunned his listeners. t his prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the r oman General Titus destroyed much of Jerusalem, including the temple.

The Tribulation

<sup>5</sup> And Jesus, answering them, began to say: <sup>h</sup> “Take heed that no one deceives you. <sup>6</sup> For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am He,’ and will deceive many. <sup>7</sup> But when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet. <sup>8</sup> For nation will rise against nation, and <sup>i</sup> kingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines <sup>j</sup> and troubles. <sup>j</sup> These are the beginnings of <sup>2</sup> sorrows.

<sup>9</sup> “But <sup>k</sup> watch out for yourselves, for they will deliver you up to councils, and you will be beaten in the synagogues. You will <sup>3</sup> be brought before rulers and kings for My sake, for a testimony to them. <sup>10</sup> And <sup>l</sup> the gospel must first be preached to all the nations. <sup>11m</sup> But when they arrest you and deliver you up, do not worry beforehand, <sup>4</sup> or premeditate what you will speak. But whatever is given you in that hour, speak that; for it is not you who speak, <sup>n</sup> but the Holy Spirit. <sup>12</sup> Now <sup>o</sup> brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. <sup>13p</sup> And you will be hated by

The Second Coming

13:3, 4 Only Mark, given to detail, mentions the names of the four disciples who questioned Jesus. t they wanted to know about (1) chronology—the time of the prophecy’s fulfillment, and (2) circumstances—the sign of its fulfillment. t heir questions assumed that the temple’s destruction would signal the end of the present age and the inauguration of the Messiah’s reign. t hey wondered how near that event was.

13:5–12 t he last days will include religious deception, conflict between nations, earthquakes and famines, and persecution of christians. in the midst of this chaos, the gospel will spread over the entire world.

13:7 The end is the end of the age (see Matt. 24:3, 6, 13, 14).

13:8 The beginnings of sorrows calls forth the imagery of birth pangs. Like labor contractions, these events, filled with great pain, will hasten the joyous birth of the Messiah’s kingdom.

13:11, 12 t he promise that the Holy Spirit will guide one’s speech in the hour of trial applies first to the twelve and only secondarily to others who will experience persecution. But this promise does not assure escape from persecution or even freedom from being put to death.

13:13 He who endures to the end shall be saved is not referring to regeneration or justification but to physical deliverance from tribulation (vv. 19, 20). t he ones who physically endure will be delivered into christ’s messianic kingdom.

13:14–23 t hese verses answer the disciples’ second question: “What will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?” (v. 4).

13:14 t he appearance of the abomination of desolation, first described by Daniel (Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11), signals the onslaught of persecution. Standing where it ought not refers to the presence of an idol standing in the temple. Daniel’s prediction primarily referred to a ntiochus ephiphanes’ placement of sacrifices to Zeus on the temple’s altar. Some believe that the destruction of the herodian temple in A.D. 70 fulfilled Jesus’ prediction. o thers still await its fulfillment in the blasphemous actions of the antichrist in the last days (see 2 t hess. 2:3, 4). Let the reader understand points Mark’s audience back to the hebrew Scriptures, namely the Book of Daniel.

13:19 In those days there will be tribulation. t he events of v. 14 signal an unparalleled time of suffering. Matt. 24:31 calls it a great tribulation, and Jer. 30:7 refers to it as “the time of Jacob’s trouble.”

13:22 To deceive, if possible, indicates that the deception will not overcome the elect.

13:24, 25 But points to a marked distinction between the false prophets of v. 22 and the true coming of christ in v. 26. Great astronomical disturbances will accompany christ’s glorious return.

13:26 Jesus described his return as the Son of Man coming in the clouds. t his passage recalls Dan. 7:13, 14, in which the Son of Man receives the kingdom from God the Father. Dan. 7:27 shows the Son of Man sharing his rule with the saints (r ev. 2:26, 27).

the Roman road climbed steeply to the crest of the Mount of Olives, affording spectacular views of the Desert of Judea to the east and of Jerusalem across the Kidron Valley to the west.

1 Arrival in Bethany

FRIDAY (John 12:1)

Jesus arrived in Bethany six days before the Passover to spend some time with his friends, Mary, Martha, and Lazarus. On the following Tuesday evening, while Jesus was still in Bethany, Mary anointed his feet with costly perfume as an act of humility. His tender expression indicated Mary's devotion to Jesus and her willingness to serve him.

2 Sabbath—day of rest

not mentioned in the Gospels.

The Lord spent the Sabbath day in traditional fashion with his friends.

3 The "Triumphal" Entry

SUNDAY (Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; Luke 19:28–44; John 12:12–19)

On the first day of the week Jesus rode into Jerusalem on a donkey, fulfilling an ancient prophecy (Zech. 9:9). The crowd welcomed him with the words of Psalm 118:25, 26, thus ascribing to him a Messianic title as the agent of the Lord, the coming King of Israel.

4 Clearing of the temple

MONDAY (Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–18; Luke 19:45–48)

Jesus returned to the temple and found the court of the Gentiles full of traders and money changers making a large profit. Jesus drove them out and overturned their benches and tables.

5 Day of controversy and parables

TUESDAY (Matt. 21:23–24:51; Mark 11:27–13:37; Luke 20:1–21:36)

IN JERUSALEM

Jesus evaded the traps set by the priests.

ON THE MOUNT OF OLIVES OVERLOOKING JERUSALEM

(Tuesday afternoon, exact location unknown)

Jesus taught in parables and warned the people against the Pharisees. He predicted the destruction of Herod's great temple and told his disciples about future events, including his own return.

Day of rest

WEDNESDAY

Although the Gospels do not mention this day, the counting of the days (Mark 14:1; John 12:1) seems to indicate that there was another day about which the Gospels record nothing.

6 Passover, Last Supper

THURSDAY (Matt. 26:17–30; Mark 14:12–26; Luke 22:7–23)

In an upper room Jesus prepared both himself and his disciples for his death. He gave the Passover meal a new meaning. The loaf of bread and cup of wine represented his body soon to be sacrificed and his blood soon to be shed. And so he instituted the "Lord's Supper." After singing a hymn they went to Gethsemane, where Jesus prayed in agony, knowing what lay ahead for him.

7 Crucifixion

FRIDAY (Matt. 27; Mark 15; Luke 22:66–23:56; John 18:28–19:37)

Following betrayal, arrest, desertion, false trials, denial, condemnation, beatings, and mockery, Jesus was required to carry his cross to "the Place of a Skull" (Matt. 27:33), where he was crucified with two other prisoners.

8 In the tomb

Jesus' body was placed in the tomb before 6:00 P.M. Friday evening, when the Sabbath began and all work stopped, and it lay in the tomb throughout the Sabbath.

9 Resurrection

SUNDAY (Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–49; John 20)

Early in the morning, women went to the tomb and found that the stone closing the tomb's entrance had been rolled back. An angel told them Jesus was alive and gave them a message. Jesus appeared to Mary Magdalene in the garden, to Peter, to two disciples on the road to Emmaus, and later that day to all the disciples but Thomas.

Parable of the Fig Tree

<sup>28c</sup>“Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near.<sup>29</sup> So you also, when you see these things happening, know that<sup>9</sup> it is near—at the doors!<sup>30</sup> Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.<sup>31</sup> Heaven and earth will pass away, but<sup>d</sup> My words will by no means pass away.

Leaders Plot to Kill Jesus

14 After<sup>a</sup> two days it was the Passover and<sup>b</sup> the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take Him by<sup>1</sup> trickery and put Him to death.<sup>2</sup> But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.”

Mary Anoints Jesus

Matt. 26:6-13; John 12:2-8

<sup>3c</sup> And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly<sup>2</sup> oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head.<sup>4</sup> But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, “Why was this fragrant oil wasted?<sup>5</sup> For it might have been sold for more than three hundred<sup>d</sup> denarii and given to the poor.” And they<sup>e</sup> criticized<sup>3</sup> her sharply.

<sup>6</sup> But Jesus said, “Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me.<sup>7f</sup> For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish

13:28, 29 Jesus likened the signs of his second coming to the sprouts of growth and leaves on a fig tree. Both point to the glories to come—the full flowering of the earth and the return of Christ.

13:30 Some have argued that this generation refers to Jesus’ contemporaries; others have suggested it means a people, such as the Jews, who are related by blood (see Luke 21:32). Jesus’ statement here may have been intended to incorporate those who would see the initial destruction of Jerusalem as well as those who would be living at the time Jesus returns—those who see the final fulfillment of all these things.

13:31 concerning what Jesus foretells here about heaven and earth passing away, see also *is. 65:17; 2 Pet. 3:10; r *ev. 21:1. Jesus’ words, however, unlike this perishing planet, will never pass away.

13:32 as one who was fully God and at the same time fully man, Jesus possessed all the attributes of deity, including omnipotence and omniscience. He knew what was in people’s hearts (2:8) and he could still the waves (4:39). When Jesus became a man, however, he voluntarily placed certain knowledge in the hands of the Father (Phil. 2:5–8). o f course today, glorified in heaven, Jesus now knows the day and hour of his return.

13:34–36 Jesus’ parable of the absent master of the house is unique to Mark. t h e point of the parable is that the master could return at any time, so all servants must be vigilant and watchful (Luke 19:11–27). t h e r o m a n s divided the night into four watches—the evening (6 to 9 P.M.), midnight (9 P.M. to midnight), rooster crowing (midnight to 3 A.M.), and dawn (3 to 6 A.M.).

14:1–42 in this section Mark portrays the preparations for Jesus’ death. t h e l o v i n g a n o i n g a t B e t h a n y a n y (vv. 3–9) is placed between the accounts of the treachery of Judas and the chief priests and scribes (vv. 1, 2, 10, 11).

14:1, 2 After two days is the next time designation given since the mention of the events of Tuesday and Wednesday (see 11:12, 20). o f

the crucifixion occurred on Friday, then the events of this chapter took place on Wednesday evening and Thursday. t h e Passover was celebrated on the fourteenth day of nisan (March–April), while the Feast of Unleavened Bread followed on the fifteenth through the twenty-first days of nisan. t h e chief priests planned to take Jesus. i n t h e Greek, this verb suggests physically grasping and laying hold of an object. t h e y w a n t o u w a n t o a r r e s t J e s u s, t h e y w a n t o u w a n t o k i l l h i m. t h e y p r e f e r r e d t o d o i t s e c r e t r e t l y a w a y f r o m t h e c r o w d. During the feast, the population of Jerusalem would expand greatly as zealous Jews converged on the city in accord with the Law of Moses (Deut. 16:16). Many of Christ’s admirers were present too, so the religious leaders wanted to defer the arrest and avoid conflict. Some obviously feared a Roman reprisal if a public arrest of Jesus resulted in a civic disturbance.

14:3 Simon the leper had been healed at some point in Jesus’ ministry. Mark records a leper’s healing in 1:40–42. Alabaster is a translucent stone still used to make ornamented jewelry boxes and other items of value. Spikenard, a precious perfume imported from India, was made from plants that grow in the high elevations of the Himalayas. t h i s p e r f u m e i s m e n t i o n t h e S o l o m o n (1:12; 4:13, 14). Mark relates that the woman poured it on His head, while John identifies the woman as Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus, and notes that she anointed Jesus’ feet and used her hair as a towel (John 12:3).

14:4, 5 t h e some who were indignant were Jesus’ disciples (Matt. 26:8), but Judas Iscariot, a thief who despised real givers, was their mouthpiece on this occasion (John 12:4–6). a single denarius represented a day’s wages for a common laborer, so three hundred denarii was a considerable gift.

14:7 Jesus’ statement does not show callousness to the poor (Deut. 15:7–11). h i s c o m p a s s i o n f o r t h o s e o v e r w h e l m e d b y s i c k n e s s a n d p o v e r t y a p p e a r s f r e q u e n t l y i n t h e G o s p e l s, and he encouraged

Alabaster

This white mineral is easy to carve and polish, so Israelites used it to make beautiful jars and vases. Two varieties of alabaster are found in the Middle East: one is a pure form of gypsum; the other a reddish marble. The first kind crumbles too easily to be used for carving. The second kind has colorful markings and is partially transparent, so it appeals to the eye. Archaeologists have recovered alabaster jars from Greek, Kanan, Egyptian, and Assyrian ruins. Ancient traders often sealed costly perfume in an alabaster jar, allowing the scent to escape only gradually through the jar's porous shell over many years. The Greek poet Theocritus (third century B.C.) reports that the merchants of Palestine used alabaster jars in the same way. Shortly after Jesus' time, the Romans and Greeks called any thin-necked vial an alabastron, or "alabaster," because that was the familiar shape of alabaster perfume jars.

Judas Plans to Betray Jesus

<sup>10</sup>i Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Him to them. <sup>11</sup>And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. So he sought how he might conveniently betray Him.

<sup>13</sup>And He sent out two of His disciples and said to them, "Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him. <sup>14</sup>Wherever he goes in, say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?"'" <sup>15</sup>Then he will show you a large upper room, furnished and prepared; there make ready for us."

<sup>16</sup>So His disciples went out, and came into the city, and found it just as He had said to them; and they prepared the Passover.

The Passover Is Celebrated

Matt. 26:20-25; Luke 22:14-16; John 13:21-30

<sup>17</sup>k In the evening He came with the twelve. <sup>18</sup>Now as they sat and ate, Jesus others to meet their needs (10:21). But he also wanted people to give freely and of their own volition. No one can coerce a gift from another; no one should criticize another's gift; and no one can read the heart of a giver. A giver's motive is known only to God.

14:8 Mary had tremendous spiritual insight when she anointed Jesus. She anointed his body for burial. She, unlike the disciples, understood that Jesus was soon to die.

14:10, 11 Judas Iscariot decided to profit even further from his association with Jesus by betraying him. The chief priests changed their plans when Judas came knocking at their door.

14:12 The first day of Unleavened Bread was the fifteenth day of Nisan (Lev. 23:6). However, because the feasts of Passover and Unleavened Bread were so closely associated in the minds of many Jews, Mark clarified the precise time for his readers by adding when they killed the Passover lamb. The lamb was killed on the evening of the fourteenth of Nisan (March–April). Here, Mark is speaking of the events of Thursday.

14:13 Jesus had apparently already made arrangements for a place to eat. To divulge this location in an inconspicuous manner, Jesus sent out two of His disciples, Peter and John (Luke 22:8). It was unusual for a man to be carrying a pitcher of water, since this was normally a woman's task. This man may have been a servant.

14:14, 15 Although the identity of the master of the house is not positively known, there is reason to suspect it may have been Mark's father. The guest room is familiarly described as a large upper room, furnished and prepared. Mark himself may have been the young man of vv. 51, 52. Acts 12:12 indicates that this house was later used as a gathering place for many believers who prayed together. Tradition has it that this was also "the upper room" of Acts 1:13 where over one hundred believers met on Pentecost.

14:18 Two memorial meals were observed as they sat (lit. reclined) and ate. First, they ate the regular Passover commemoration meal, during which time Jesus predicted his betrayal by one of the disciples. Second, after Judas had left (John 13:30), Jesus observed the Last Supper, which anticipated the imminent breaking of his body and shedding of his blood. The phrase one of you who eats with Me will betray Me recalls the messianic prophecy of Ps. 41:9.

<sup>19</sup>And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one by one, “Is it I?” <sup>5</sup>And another said, “Is it I?”

<sup>20</sup>He answered and said to them, “It is one of the twelve, who dips with Me in the dish. <sup>21</sup><sup>m</sup>The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had never been born.”

The Lord's Supper Is Instituted

<sup>22</sup><sup>n</sup>And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them and said, “Take, <sup>6</sup>eat; this is My <sup>o</sup>body.”

<sup>23</sup>Then He took the cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank from it. <sup>24</sup>And He said to them, “This is My blood of the <sup>7</sup>new covenant, which is shed for many. <sup>25</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, I will no longer drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.”

<sup>30</sup>Jesus said to him, “Assuredly, I say to you that today, even this night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.”

<sup>31</sup>But he spoke more vehemently, “If I have to die with You, I will not deny You!”

And they all said likewise.

Jesus Prays in Gethsemane

<sup>32</sup><sup>u</sup>Then they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and He said to His disciples, “Sit here while I pray.”

14:19 in Greek, Is it I?, is actually a negative question that implies a negative answer. t he phrase means “it is not i, is it?”

14:20, 21 Matthew and John both identify the culprit as Judas, even though Mark does not (Matt. 26:25; John 13:26). t he statement that it would have been good for Judas if he had never been born points to the awful judgment that awaits him. Judas was wholly responsible for his actions even though he acted in accordance with what had long been written of christ.

14:22 Judas left the room after receiving the dipped portion of bread, prior to Jesus’ act of breaking additional bread and explaining its significance (John 13:30). t he Lord’s Supper is for believers only and should be observed solely by those who are in right relationship with christ. this is My body: Some view the broken bread as representing Jesus’ body, which would soon be broken for their sins. o thers interpret this statement more literally.

14:24 Some interpret this is My blood metaphorically, meaning that the contents of this cup represented Jesus’ blood that would be shed for our sins. o thers give the statement a more literal interpretation. t he sprinkling of blood was required to institute the Mosaic covenant in ex. 29:12, 16, 20 (see heb. 9:18–22). in the same way, Jesus’ blood shed on the cross initiated the new covenant: his blood was shed for many. he died on the cross in the place of many sinners from every nation. he paid the price for all of their sins. a ll those who believe in him will receive eternal life.

14:25 Jesus came announcing the kingdom of God (1:14, 15), promised the disciples rulership in it (Matt. 19:28), and will receive and administer it with the saints (Dan. 7:13, 14, 27; 2 tim. 2:11, 12; r ev. 20:4).

14:26 t he hymn they sang was no doubt from the Psalms. Frequently Ps. 113–118 were used in connection with the Passover, including “i shall not die, but live, / a nd declare the works of the LORD” and “t he stone which the builders rejected / has become the chief cornerstone” (Ps. 118:17, 22). Leaving the upper room, they crossed the Kidron Valley to the base of the Mount of Olives. Gethsemane

(v. 32) is directly across from the eastern gate (sometimes called the golden gate) of Jerusalem.

14:28 t his saying was repeated by one of the angels at the tomb shortly after Jesus’ resurrection (16:7). nevertheless, the disciples remained in Jerusalem for more than a week before eventually following their risen Shepherd into Galilee (John 20:26; 21:1). Matthew mentions the disciples meeting Jesus at a mountain in Galilee (Matt. 28:16) prior to his ascension at Bethany (Luke 24:50, 51).

14:29 o verconfidence is deadly. Peter did not heed the words of Prov. 16:18, “Pride goes before destruction, / a nd a haughty spirit before a fall.” Pride was Satan’s downfall, and it can frequently be ours as well. Peter, so emphatic in his denial, soon realized the emptiness of his hasty declaration.

14:30 o nly Mark mentions christ’s prediction of Peter’s denial occurring before the rooster crows twice. t he incident would have remained vivid in Peter’s mind when he related the story to Mark. a nd only Mark records the two crowings of the rooster (14:68, 72).

14:32–42 Sit here while I pray: Prayer consumed much time and energy in Jesus’ earthly work. it crowned both the beginning (Luke 3:21) and ending (Luke 24:50, 51) of his public ministry. When necessary, he would take extraordinary measures to ensure privacy in order to pray (6:46; Matt. 14:22, 23; John 6:14, 15). t hough the Lord Jesus did praise God (Luke 10:21) and thank the Father (8:6, 7) in his praying, most of h is recorded prayers were petitions and intercessions.

14:32 Gethsemane, though famous today, is mentioned by name only twice in the Bible (here and in Matthew). John, however, informs us that Jesus and the disciples “often met there” and that it was a garden (John 18:1, 2). t he admonition to sit here was directed to all but Peter, James, and John (14:33).

14:33 Jesus wanted his closest disciples with Him, to support him with their presence and their prayers. a ll of us need such an inner circle. We are meant to live in relation to others, not in isolation.

14:34 Exceedingly sorrowful: t he crushing realization of having <sup>35</sup>He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him.

<sup>39</sup>Again He went away and prayed, and spoke the same words. <sup>40</sup>And when He returned, He found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.

<sup>41</sup>Then He came the third time and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough! <sup>c</sup>The hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners. <sup>42d</sup>Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Judas Betrays Jesus

Matt. 26:47-56; Luke 22:47-53; John 18:1-11

<sup>45</sup>As soon as he had come, immediately he went up to Him and said to Him, “Rabbi, Rabbi!” and kissed Him.

<sup>48g</sup>Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? <sup>49</sup>I was daily with you in the temple <sup>h</sup>teaching, and you did not seize Me. But <sup>i</sup>the Scriptures must be fulfilled.”

to bear the sin of the world and to lose, even temporarily, the fellowship of God the Father was nearly more than Jesus’ soul could bear. his extreme spiritual anguish must have affected his mental, emotional, and physical condition as well.

14:35 Jesus must have prayed for some time. Verse 37 mentions one hour. that was time enough for each of his accompanying disciples to be asleep when he returned. Mark records Jesus’ petition that the hour might pass from Him, a reference to the time Jesus would bear the punishment for the sin of the world in his own body, becoming, as it were, sin for all. John uses the expression “the hour” or “his hour” frequently in his Gospel (John 2:4; 7:30; 8:20; 12:23, 27; 13:1; 17:1). Mark uses it only here and in v. 41.

14:36 Abba was what a little child would call his father. Jesus’ relationship to his Father was close and tender. in addition to the term hour (v. 35), this cup foreshadows christ’s impending death (10:38). the cup figuratively holds the judgment of God for the sin of the world. the wicked will someday drink of “the cup of his indignation” (r ev. 14:10) and of “the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of a lmighty God” (r ev. 19:15).

14:38 avoiding temptation demands constant vigilance, so much so that christ included this admonition in the prayer he taught the disciples (Matt. 6:13; Luke 11:4). the dichotomy between spirit and flesh is real. our fallen human nature, even after conversion, wars against the work of God.

14:39–41 the three apostles were exhorted to watch and pray several times, and no doubt truly desired to uphold their Lord in his deepest hour of need. Yet physical fatigue overcame spiritual alertness.

14:43–15:47 Mark now describes Jesus’ complete rejection by his disciples, the religious leaders, and the people, and his time of separation from the Father.

14:43 Judas came with a great multitude, identified by John as a detachment of troops (John 18:3). it was one-tenth of a roman legion, or roughly six hundred men. although the size of such a detachment could vary somewhat, Mark’s mention of a multitude points to a sizable crowd.

14:44 a kiss, usually a sign of affection, was now the signal for betrayal. Lead Him away safely is not an expression of concern for Jesus’ safety, but rather an indication of how difficult it may have been to seize Jesus.

14:47 only two of Jesus’ disciples had swords that evening (Luke 22:38) and John tells us that Peter carried one of them (John 18:10, 26). Mark graciously avoids identifying Peter as being guilty of this well-meaning but pointless act. John, the eyewitness, identifies the servant as one named Malchus and says it was his right ear that was severed (John 18:10). Peter may have swung wildly, intending to cut off Malchus’s head but succeeding only in wounding him. Luke the physician mentions that Jesus restored Malchus’s ear.

14:48, 49 Jesus did not resist arrest but did shame his captors. the swarms of soldiers, the secluded location, the cover of night, and the swords and clubs all suggested that Jesus was some violent robber or revolutionary. ironically, this same word is used to describe Barabbas (John 18:40) and the two who were crucified with Jesus (15:27). the cowardice of Jesus’ captors was evident—why else would they arrest a peaceful teacher with such brute force? in the midst of such turmoil, Jesus’ statement that the Scriptures must be fulfilled indicates great confidence and comfort because all was proceeding under God’s sovereign plan. Jesus may have had in mind Zech. 13:7 (“Strike the Shepherd, / and the sheep will be scattered”) in view of his earlier prediction in v. 27 and the context of v. 50. or perhaps his being “numbered with the transgressors” (is. 53:12) was in mind, considering his response to his captors in v. 48.

14:50–52 Jesus was abandoned. the 11 disciples were gone, but a certain young man followed Him. only Mark tells of this incident, and many believe that this young man was Mark himself. how else would he have known this story, and why else should he have included it? if it was Mark, and if the Last Supper was at his home that evening, he could easily have risen from bed, pulled on a linen cloth, and followed Jesus and the disciples.

Abba, Father

(Gk. abba ho patēr) (14:36; r om. 8:15; Gal. 4:6) Strong’s #5; 3962

the term abba is the aramaic word for father. the Greek term is added not to tell the reader what the aramaic means, but to express Jesus’ dependence on his Father as he faced the sufferings of the crucifixion (14:36). no doubt Jesus loved to utter his Father’s name in both forms, first in his cherished mother tongue and then in the common language of his day. in this view the use of both words has a charming simplicity and warmth. Paul uses the phrase “a abba, Father” in r om. 8:15 and Gal. 4:6 to express the intimate relationship the believer has with God.

The Sanhedrin Tries Jesus

John 18:12, 18, 24

<sup>57</sup>Then some rose up and bore false witness against Him, saying, <sup>58</sup>“We heard Him say, <sup>q</sup>‘I will destroy this temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.’” <sup>59</sup>But not even then did their testimony agree.

And they all condemned Him to be deserving of <sup>w</sup> death.

Peter Denies Jesus

John 18:15-18, 25-27

<sup>66</sup><sup>y</sup> Now as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came. <sup>67</sup>And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said, “You also were with <sup>z</sup>Jesus of Nazareth.”

<sup>72</sup><sup>d</sup> A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, “Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.” And when he thought about it, he wept.

Pilate Tries Jesus

Matt. 27:1, 2, 11-23; Luke 23:1-5, 13-23;

John 18:28-19:15

15 Immediately, <sup>a</sup>in the morning, the chief priests held a consulta-

14:53 The high priest at that time was Caiaphas (A.D. 18–37; John 18:13); the chief priests included others who had formerly been high priests, and the elders consisted of the heads of leading families in the community. the scribes were the Jewish experts and teachers of the commandments of God as well as the traditions of men (7:8, 9, 13). together this group made up the Sanhedrin, always referred to in the Gospels and a cts as the council (14:55; 15:1; a cts 5:27; 23:1). 14:55, 56 t the Sanhedrin was supposed to administer justice, but this council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death. t the Jewish authorities had lost to r ome the right to pronounce a death sentence. t hus they eventually had to appeal to Pilate (15:1). Because no real witnesses could testify to any grounds for Jesus’ death, false witness was heard, but it was contradictory. 14:57-59 Finally, some tried to accuse Jesus of plotting to destroy the temple (John 2:19-21), but even that testimony was too inconsistent. 14:61, 62 He kept silent in fulfillment of is. 53:7. he remained silent before Pilate (15:3-5) and before herod a ntipas as well (Luke 23:9). Finally, when they could find nothing substantial with which to charge him, Jesus affirmed that he was the Christ, the Son of the Blessed.

14:63, 64 t he trial was over, and Jesus stood falsely condemned for blasphemy, which in this context means laying claim to deity. naturally, this is the boast of a liar or a lunatic—unless he is the Almighty God in human flesh, as Jesus was (see John 1:1-3, 14; Phil. 2:5-8).

14:65 t hose who beat and struck Jesus here were not applying the dreaded scourging, which could disembowel an individual. c ompare 15:15 where the scourging itself is mentioned.

14:71, 72 He began to curse and swear. Peter may have told Mark to include this report. n one of Peter’s actions were commendable, and his swearing illustrates the truth of Jer. 17:9, “t he heart is deceitful above all things, / and desperately wicked; / Who can know it?” We are not told that Peter thought at all about Jesus’ words when the rooster crowed the first time. if he did, maybe he tried to conceal his identity more carefully, but to no avail. each of the other Gospel writers tells us that the rooster crowed immediately upon Peter’s final denial (Matt. 26:74; Luke 22:60; John 18:27). t his time he thought about it, and he wept.

15:1-47 r ejected by his disciples, condemned by the council, and denied by Peter, Jesus now faces the merciless r oman authorities and the hostile crowd.

tion with the elders and scribes and the whole council; and they bound Jesus, led Him away, and b delivered Him to Pilate. <sup>2c</sup> Then Pilate asked Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?”

He answered and said to him, “It is as you say.”

<sup>6</sup> Now g at the feast he was accustomed to releasing one prisoner to them, whom ever they requested. <sup>7</sup> And there was one named Barabbas, who was chained with his fellow rebels; they had committed murder in the rebellion. <sup>8</sup> Then the multitude, <sup>2</sup> crying aloud, began to ask him to do just as he had always done for them. <sup>9</sup> But Pilate answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?” <sup>10</sup> For he knew that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.

<sup>11</sup> But h the chief priests stirred up the crowd, so that he should rather release Barabbas to them. <sup>12</sup> Pilate answered and said to them again, “What then do you want me to do with Him whom you call the i King of the Jews?”

But they cried out all the more, “Crucify Him!”

<sup>21 p</sup> Then they compelled a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, the father of Alexander and Rufus, as he was coming out of the country and passing by, to bear His cross. <sup>22 q</sup> And they brought Him to the place Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull. <sup>23 r</sup> Then they gave Him wine mingled with myrrh to drink, but He did not take it.

Jesus Is Crucified

John 19:18, 23-30

<sup>24</sup> And when they crucified Him, <sup>s</sup> they divided His garments, casting lots for them to determine what every man should take.

15:1-3 r rather than murdering Jesus privately, the Jewish politicians decided to seek Pilate’s approval so they could execute the “blasphemer” legally. t heir charges included many things but apparently centered on treason. Jesus claimed to be a king, thus defying caesar (Luke 23:2). t his crime was punishable in the r oman empire by death.

15:6-8 Pilate must have concluded that the charges against Jesus were groundless, for Mark tells us he desired to release Jesus (v. 9). So his readers could understand the complexity of the situation, Mark parenthetically explains the local custom of releasing a prisoner during the feast as well as the facts about Barabbas. a lthough Matthew calls Barabbas a “notorious” prisoner, only Mark classifies him with rebels who had committed murder.

15:9, 10 Pilate attempted to release Jesus, for he knew the charges against Jesus were insubstantial. Pilate adeptly judged the Jewish leaders’ envy of Jesus. h e mocked them subtly by referring to Jesus as the King of the Jews.

15:15 Pilate had Jesus scourged: t his word, used only twice in the nt (Matt. 27:26 and here), describes a punishment more severe than flogging or beating. t he prisoner was beaten with a whip fashioned of numerous strips of leather attached to a handle. t o the leather strips were tied sharp pieces of bone and metal, which could rip and tear one’s skin to shreds.

15:16 The hall called Praetorium refers to the governor’s official residence. Praetorium is a Latin word found eight times in the n t. t he word is always transliterated in the NKJV, except in Phil. 1:13, where it is translated palace guard. t he KJV sometimes translates Praetorium as judgment hall. t he whole garrison, a r oman cohort, consisted of up to six hundred men. t hose who gathered on this occasion were probably only those nearby, though still a considerable number.

15:17 t he purple robe mocked Jesus’ claim to be a king. t he crown of thorns was no doubt a twisted, dried vine with sharp thorns more than an inch in length. a ny thorn prick is extremely painful.

15:18-21 t hey led Him out to crucify Him indicates that the place of crucifixion was outside the city itself (see h ebrews 13:12). all three synoptic Gospels identify Jesus’ cross bearer as Simon of cyrene, but only Mark adds that he was the father of Alexander and Rufus. t hese men may have been known to Mark’s r oman audience, and it is interesting that Paul greets a r ufus in r om. 16:13.

15:22 Golgotha is an aramaic word meaning Place of a Skull. t he hill may have resembled the bony features of a skull or was called this because it was a place of death. t he name c alvary comes from the Latin word for skull. t his place was very near the city wall (John 19:20).

15:23 t his potion of wine (or vinegar) mingled with myrrh was intended to numb the pain. Jesus refused it, choosing to suffer the complete pain.

15:24  Casting lots for and dividing His garments fulfilled the prophecy of Ps. 22:18.

15:25 The third hour was 9 A.M., using a common Jewish system of marking the day. Jesus suffered on the cross until at least 3 P.M., the ninth hour of v. 34. And they crucified Him was a terse summary

THE KING OF THE JEWS.

Even <sup>c</sup> those who were crucified with Him reviled Him.

<sup>33</sup> Now <sup>d</sup> when the sixth hour had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. <sup>34</sup> And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?” which is translated, <sup>e</sup> “My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?”

<sup>35</sup> Some of those who stood by, when they heard that, said, “Look, He is calling for Elijah!” <sup>36</sup> Then <sup>f</sup> someone ran and filled a sponge full of sour wine, put it on

Jesus Is Buried

Matt. 27:57-61; Luke 23:50-55;

John 19:38-42

for Mark’s Roman readers, for they knew quite well the horrors of crucifixion.

15:26 The inscription placed over Jesus’ head appeared in three languages (John 19:20): Hebrew (a ramaic); Latin, the official language of government; and Greek, the common language spoken by many. If we piece together details from all four Gospels, the complete sign must have read, “This is Jesus the Nazarene, the King of the Jews.”

15:27-31 Jesus was mocked and forsaken by nearly everyone—Pilate, Herod, soldiers, Jewish leaders, the crowd, even the robbers on either side (v. 32).

15:32 Jesus was called mockingly the Christ, or Messiah, by the chief priests and scribes. Their offer to believe in Christ if He would descend . . . from the cross was empty mockery. True evidence alone does not turn a soul toward God. A sinful heart must be convicted of the need of God’s salvation.

15:33 His darkness was a supernatural darkening of the skies.

15:34 Of the seven cries from the cross, this fourth one was the most passionate. Quoting Ps. 22:1, Jesus expressed the agony of being abandoned by His Father as He alone bore the sin of the world. Jesus’ spiritual agony was intense, yet He still addressed His Father personally as My God.

15:35, 36 Those who mistook Jesus’ words as a call for the prophet Elijah may have been unable to understand Him. The dehydration caused by crucifixion often made speech difficult. A sip from the sponge full of sour wine was supplied because Jesus said “I thirst” (John 19:28). This allowed Jesus to utter His final two sayings, “It is finished” (John 19:30) and “Father, into Your hands I commit My spirit” (Luke 23:46).

15:37 Jesus breathed His last after a loud conscious statement. Frequently, crucifixion produced a coma or unconsciousness prior to death, but Jesus was in control of all His faculties until the moment when He voluntarily gave up His life (see John 10:17, 18).

15:38 The significance of the supernatural tearing of the veil of the temple is that access to God is now open to all. No longer through priests and the blood of bulls and goats do we approach God, but through the torn veil, which also symbolizes Jesus’ broken and torn body (Heb. 10:20). Top to bottom reminds us that God Himself removed the barrier.

15:39 Only Mark uses (here and in vv. 44, 45) the Latin term centurion, a Roman captain in charge of one hundred men. The centurion’s statement that Jesus was the Son of God can be construed as a confession of belief in Jesus’ deity. But the Son could also be translated a son.

15:40, 41 These women were true disciples of Christ. They had ministered to Jesus’ needs and would be the first witnesses of His resurrection. Mark does not name Jesus’ mother here but includes other prominent women. Three Marys were present along with many other women, and Salome, whom only Mark mentions by name (see also 16:1). Salome was the wife of Zebedee and the mother of the disciples James and John (Matt. 27:56). She may have been the unnamed sister of Jesus’ mother (John 19:25). If so, James and John were Jesus’ first cousins.

15:43 Joseph of Arimathea (a town 20 miles northwest of Jerusalem) is identified as a prominent council (Sanhedrin) member. He, according to Luke 23:51, “had not consented to their decision and deed.” To ask Pilate for the body of Jesus was not just a gesture of kindness. It was an act of bravery, which placed Joseph in opposition to the Sanhedrin and identified him as a follower of Jesus.

ready dead; and summoning the centurion, he asked him if He had been dead for some time. <sup>45</sup> So when he found out from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph. <sup>46</sup> Then he bought fine linen, took Him down, and wrapped Him in the linen. And he laid Him in a tomb which had been hewn out of the rock, and rolled a stone against the door of the tomb. <sup>47</sup> And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joseph observed where He was laid.

16 Now <sup>a</sup> when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome <sup>b</sup> bought spices, that they might come and anoint Him. <sup>2c</sup> Very early in the morning, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb when the sun had risen. <sup>3</sup> And they said among themselves, “Who will roll away the stone from the door of the tomb for us?” <sup>4</sup> But when they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled away—for it was very large. <sup>5d</sup> And entering the tomb, they saw a young man clothed in a long white robe sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed.

<sup>6e</sup> But he said to them, “Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who

The Appearances of Jesus

Luke 24:13-48; John 20:1-10

<sup>12</sup> After that, He appeared in another form <sup>k</sup> to two of them as they walked and went into the country. <sup>13</sup> And they went and told it to the rest, but they did not believe them either.

1 cor. 15:5

Frequently bodies remained on crosses for several days. Joseph's haste to remove the body could have been based on Deut. 21:23, which instructs that persons put to death on a tree should have their corpses removed and buried the same day.

15:46 Joseph, assisted by another formerly silent disciple, nicodemus (John 19:39), wrapped Jesus' body in fine linen, apparently encased with a large amount (about one hundred pounds) of a gummy, sticky resinous mixture of myrrh and aloes to retard decay and to mask the stench of a decaying body. John notes that this was the Jewish custom of burial (John 19:40). t the stone used to cover the opening of the tomb may not have been more than three or four feet in diameter, since tomb openings were not usually as tall as doorways.

16:1-20 Mark's readers, who acknowledged Jesus as the Son of God, have seen him cruelly rejected and killed. n ow his resurrection fills those readers with hope and joy.

16:1, 2 The Sabbath is Saturday. t he next day is the first day of the week, Sunday. t he spices would conceal the stench of decay and were a symbol of the care and concern these women had for their beloved Master.

16:3, 4 t he women thought about how large the stone was and how difficult it would be to dislodge it from the entrance. t he expressed no concern over the seal on the tomb or the presence of a roman guard, apparently unaware of the precautions the Jews and romans had taken (Matt. 27:62-66).

16:5, 6 Mark does not identify the young man who appeared in a long white robe as an angel, but clearly he is there to explain the mystery that confronts the women. t he Greek voice of He is risen, which is passive, indicates that an act of God accomplished the raising up of Jesus.

16:7 chosen by God as the first human witnesses to christ's resurrection, these women were commanded to go and tell. t he special mention of Peter signifies that christ still accepted him, even though he had denied the Lord three times.

16:8 initially, the women's fear caused them to say nothing to anyone. t hey recovered shortly, however, and brought word to the 11 disciples, including Peter (16:10; Matt. 28:8, 9; John 20:2).

16:9-20 t he authenticity of these last 12 verses has been disputed. t hose who doubt Mark's authorship of this passage point to two fourth-century manuscripts that omit these verses. o thers believe that they should be included because even these two manuscripts leave space for all or some of these verses, indicating that their copyists knew of their existence. t he difficulty is in knowing whether the space is for this longer version of Mark's ending or for one of the alternate endings found in the manuscripts. Practically all other manuscripts contain vv. 9-20, and this passage is endorsed by such early church fathers as Justin Martyr (A.D. 155), tatian (A.D. 170), and irenaeus (A.D. 180). i t does not seem likely that Mark would end his story on a note of fear (v. 8).

16:9 a lthough the women had been commissioned to tell of Jesus' resurrection, none had actually seen Jesus until He appeared first to Mary Magdalene. o nly this verse and Luke 8:2 mention Jesus' exorcism of seven demons from Mary, which would explain her strong devotion to him.

16:11 Jesus' resurrection was evidently not expected by anyone in spite of his repeated predictions. t he r esurrection itself resulted in faith, rather than the expectation thereof.

16:12 Jesus' appearance in another form may indicate that he appeared differently to the two on the road than he had appeared to Jesus' followers before. t he identity of the two who walked is not entirely stated, either here or in the longer account in Luke 24:13-35. h owever, one is identified as cleopas (Luke 24:18), and it has been suggested that he was accompanied by his wife.

16:14 a fter Judas' demise (Matt. 27:3-5; acts 1:16-18), the disciples were known for a while as the eleven. Jesus upbraided these disciples for not believing the accounts of eyewitnesses, but he pronounced a blessing on "those who have not seen and yet have believed" (John 20:29).

gospel

(Gk. euangelion) (1:1, 14; 16:15; Matt. 4:23; r om. 1:1; 1 Pet. 4:17) Strong's #2098

This Greek word was originally used to describe the “good news” of military victory brought from a messenger to his commander. It then came to mean simply a “good message.” In the nt it means the Good news of salvation: Jesus Christ came to earth to conquer the sin and evil which plague this world by living a sinless life and sacrificially offering himself on the cross. In obedience to Christ’s command (16:15), the apostles continued to share this Good news with the rest of the world because it is Christ’s life-giving message to a world that is dying in its sins.

16:15 The Great Commission is pronounced here and in each of the other three Gospels (Matt. 28:19, 20; Luke 24:47; John 20:21).

16:16 He who does not believe will be condemned. Those who believe in Christ will be saved.

16:17, 18 These signs were evident in the early church. Casting out demons demonstrated victory over Satan (a cts 16:18). Speaking with new tongues began at Pentecost (a cts 2:4–11). Healing the sick occurred in several instances, including a cts 28:8. Taking up serpents occurred in Paul’s encounter with a poisonous snake, which did not produce ill effects (a cts 28:1–6). The nt does not record Christians drinking anything deadly without harm.

16:19 The final sign that Jesus was the Son of God is that He was received up into heaven to be seated at the right hand (the position of authority and power) of God.

16:20 The obedience of Christ’s disciples who went out and preached everywhere challenges us to engage in that same endeavor. We can be confident that as the Lord was working with them, He will also work with us.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

SOMETIMES WE NEED to take a step back to gain perspective. It is one thing for three of Jesus' twelve disciples to write about the life of Christ; it is quite another for someone who did not know Him to write about Him. Luke never met Jesus, yet chose to follow Him. An obviously educated man who, as Colossians 4:14 tells us, was a physician, Luke learned all that he could about Jesus and shared his findings with us. Thus his Gospel provides a "step back," a unique perspective on Jesus' birth, ministry, death, and resurrection.

Author Neither Luke nor Acts has a byline, so we are left to deduce the author's identity. The author writes that he was not an eyewitness to the events surrounding Jesus but had gathered the reports of others. On the other hand, the author was present with Paul at some of the events described in Acts, events that belong to the "we" sections of Acts (see Acts 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1—28:16). So the author must have been a lately converted Christian who knew Paul and sometimes traveled with him.

Early Christian writings, from the works of Justin Martyr to Tertullian, identify the author as Luke, an identification that was firmly in place by the third century A.D. Luke was an educated man by ancient standards. He was capable of writing in high Greek style, and Colossians 4:10–14 seems to indicate that Luke was not "of the circumcision," that is, not Jewish. If so, Luke would be the only Gentile author of a New Testament book. Tradition says that after accompanying Paul on some of his missionary journeys, Luke settled in Philippi, investing his life in the ministry of the Philippian church.

Date Neither Luke nor Acts indicates when they were written, so this too must be deduced. The last event recorded in the Book of Acts is the first Roman imprisonment of Paul; therefore, the earliest Acts could have been written is A.D. 62. Most scholars choose between two times for the Gospel: early to late sixties, or mid-seventies to late eighties. Two factors determine the choice: the date of the other Gospels and the portrayal of the fall of Jerusalem in Luke.

Almost everyone considers Luke the second or third Gospel to be written, though they debate whether Mark or Matthew was the first. The first Gospel, whether Matthew or Mark, is usually dated in the sixties. Those who place Matthew and Mark in the sixties often date Luke after A.D. 70, to allow time for the circulation of Matthew and Mark. Another reason given for dating Luke after A.D. 70 is the claim that Luke presents Jesus' predictions of the fall of Jerusalem (19:41–44; 21:20–24) in such a way as to indicate that the city had already fallen.

Neither of these arguments is decisive. Given that the major figures of the early church had contact with one another, there is no reason to assume that it took a decade for a major Gospel to get into circulation. The prediction of the fall of Jerusalem in Luke is unique among the Gospel accounts in focusing on the fall of the city and not merely the destruction of the temple. Thus what Jesus describes is a judgment which is the result of covenant unfaithfulness, similar to the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The fact that Luke includes Jesus' prediction of a second fall of the city does not mean the city had already been destroyed when the book was written. Since the sequel to Luke, the Book of Acts, does not record either Peter's death, Paul's death, or even the fall of Jerusalem (in the face of Jesus' clear prediction of it), it is most likely that Luke was written in the early to mid-sixties. A date in the later sixties is also possible.

Characteristics The Gospel of Luke is unique in several ways. It is the only Gospel that has a sequel, Acts. Both Luke and Acts include an account of the Ascension, an event that only Luke describes in detail. Second, Luke is the longest of the four Gospels. Third, Luke records a wide variety of miracles, teaching, and parables, making it the fullest portrait of Jesus' ministry. Much of the material in chapters 9–19 appears only in Luke; in all, about one-third of the Gospel of Luke is unique. Fourth, Luke is the only Gospel addressed to an individual. Luke writes for Theophilus, who was probably a Gentile believer.

For Luke, Jesus is the promised messiah (1:31–35), the Son of God (9:35), the Servant through whom God works (4:16–18), and the Lord who is called to sit at God's right hand exerting His authority and giving the Spirit to those who believe (compare 22:69 with Acts 2:30–36). Though aspects of God's plan are fulfilled in Jesus' First Coming, other parts of the plan remain to be fulfilled when Jesus returns (21:5–36; Acts 3:14–26).

Luke wrote his Gospel to reassure Theophilus, a Gentile and a new believer, that God was still at work in the Christian community founded by Jesus. Luke presents God's grace as revealed in Jesus' ministry on earth. He emphasizes that this grace is available to Gentiles, even though the promises relating to Jesus' ministry stretch back into Israel's history (1:1–4). For this reason Luke also concentrates on Jesus' relationship to the nation and leaders of Israel. The rejection of Israel does not mean the failure of God's plan. On the contrary, although they did not know it, their rejection was part of God's plan from the beginning (Acts 2:22–39). In fact, persecution of the Christian community would be the means by which the church would spread the Good News throughout the world. Jesus Himself had predicted that this would happen (24:45–48).

Structure and Overview The first two chapters of Luke emphasize the Old Testament and its promises of a messiah, while 3:1–4:13 demonstrate that Jesus is the messiah, who can resist the evil one. Then, 4:14–9:50 introduce Jesus' power and teaching. In these chapters, Luke records Jesus' claims to authority and the numerous miracles that supported them. Even with these miracles as evidence, the people rejected Jesus while the disciples' faith in Him steadily grew. The growing rift between Jesus and the Jewish leadership is seen in 9:51–19:44. This breach is emphasized most in chapters 9–13, but in chapters 14–19 attention turns to Jesus' instruction of His disciples. The last section (19:45–24:53) portrays the final controversies, the trial, the death of Jesus, and the Resurrection and Ascension. The book ends with Jesus telling the disciples to wait for the coming of the Spirit. By now, they should have realized that everything that had taken place in Jesus' life was promised in the Law, the Prophets, and the Psalms (24:43–49). Jesus is the promised messiah. Forgiveness of sin can be obtained only through Him. The disciples were witnesses to this fact; their mission was to share this Good News with all nations, not merely the Jews. Jesus gave them this task, but He also provided them with the power to carry it out (24:47). Thus it is clear that Luke's Gospel centers on God's plan to provide salvation to the world. It closes anticipating the spread of the gospel that is recorded in its sequel, the Book of Acts.

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

Just like we'd expect from a family doctor, Dr. Luke sensitively describes Jesus as one who reaches out personally and heals those who are mercilessly caged by devastating illnesses. As a person, He is concerned with people. Whereas Matthew likes to refer to Jesus as the Son of David and Mark refers to Him as the Son of God, Luke's favorite expression is "the Son of man."

Jesus' humanity and compassion are repeatedly stressed by the author. This, coupled with Luke's portrayal of Jesus' sinless perfection, set up his logical conclusion. Because Jesus is the only perfect person born of a woman and because He identifies compassionately with the plight of suffering sinful people, He alone is qualified to carry our sorrows, bear our sin, and offer us the priceless gift of salvation.

The Purpose and Method of Luke's Gospel

Zacharias Ministers in the Temple

An Angel Announces the Birth of John the Baptist

1:3 it seemed good to me also: Luke did not express dissatisfaction with previous narratives of Jesus’ ministry, but he identified with those who went before him. having had perfect understanding: This phrase represents two of the four characteristics that describe Luke’s work in this verse. Luke investigated his topic and he did it with care. He did not claim to know everything about Jesus, but what he described was studied and treated accurately. of all things: The third characteristic of Luke’s work was its thoroughness. from the very first: The fourth characteristic of Luke was his interest in even the earliest events tied to Jesus’ life. an orderly account: Luke gave his narrative a basic structure. Not every part is in chronological sequence, but the broad sequence is Christ’s ministry in Galilee, His travel to Jerusalem, and His struggles in Jerusalem. The order of events shows how Jesus gradually revealed Himself and how the opposition to Him grew.

1:4 certainty: The purpose of this term was to give assurance to Theophilus, a young believer. It is likely that Theophilus was a Gentile, since so much of Luke and Acts is concerned with Jewish-Gentile relationships (Acts 10; 11; 15). He not only needed to know the truth and accuracy of what the church taught, but also needed to be reassured. He might well have been wondering what he as a Gentile was doing in a movement which was originally Jewish, especially when so many Israelites were rejecting the message. Luke assured Theophilus and his other readers that Jesus is the messiah. He is worthy of everyone’s worship because He is the Son of the living God.

1:5 King Herod, who was appointed by the Roman emperor, reigned from 37 to 4 B.C. over Judea, Samaria, Galilee, and much of Perea and Syria. The events of vv. 5–25 probably occurred around 6 B.C. Abijah: The priesthood of Israel was separated into 24 divisions, of which the family of Abijah was one (see 1 Chr. 24:10; neh. 12:17).

1:6 righteous before God: This phrase indicates that the priest and his wife were recognized by God as believers. They walked faithfully with God and kept His law (see deut. 6:24, 25).

1:7 Being barren was a grave disappointment in ancient Israel (see 1 Sam. 1). The Scriptures record a number of times when God blessed a barren woman by giving her a son (see Gen. 18:11; 21:2, 3; 1 Sam. 1; 2).

1:8, 9 Zacharias served for one week twice a year at the temple, one of perhaps 18,000 priests who served in a year. Offering the incense was something a priest could do only once in his career. It was a great moment for Zacharias, all the more so because of the sovereign plan God had for him and his family.

1:10 The hour of incense came twice a day, at 9 A.M. and 3:30 P.M. Probably the afternoon offering is in view here.

1:12 fear fell upon him: To be afraid at the presence of God or His messenger (v. 11) is common in Scripture (see 1:29, 65; 2:9; 5:8–10, 26; 7:16; 8:37; 9:34; see also ex. 15:16; dan. 8:16, 17; Acts 5:5, 11; 19:17).

1:13 Do not be afraid: Angels often calmed the fears of those to whom they appeared (see v. 30; 2:10; Gen. 15:1; dan. 10:12; matt. 1:20; Acts 18:9; 27:24; Rev. 1:17). your prayer is heard: The angel was probably referring to the prayer for the redemption of Israel that Zacharias had recited in the Holy Place, or to his earlier prayers for a child. you shall call his name John: When God names a child, greatness usually follows (see Gen. 16:11; 1 Kin. 13:2; is. 7:14).

1:14 Joy is a major theme throughout the writings of Luke (see vv. 44, 47, 58; 2:10; 10:20; 13:17; 15:5–7; 19:6; 24:52; Acts 5:41).

1:15 great in the sight of the Lord: John had a great place in the plan of God, but it was inferior to Jesus’ own unique role. John was a prophet, and as such he was filled with the Holy Spirit from before birth (see is. 49:1; Jer. 1:5). Being filled with the Spirit means being directed by Him and obedient to Him (see eph. 5:18). wine nor strong drink: As with Samuel and Samson, a vow was imposed on the child that indicated his special consecration to the Lord. Unlike Samson and Samuel, this vow was imposed by God, not by his mother. It is not clear whether this was a Nazirite vow, since nothing is said about refraining from cutting his hair (see num. 6:1–4; Judg. 13:5, 7).

1:16 The prophet John promised reconciliation to God for those who responded to his call to repent (3:1–14). Turn is a biblical term for conversion, indicating a change of orientation, a turning away from sin and towards God (see 1 Thess. 1:9, 10). John’s mission was to prepare Israel for its messiah.

children of Israel to the Lord their God. <sup>17</sup>He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, ‘to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,’ and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.”

Zacharias Is Unable to Speak

<sup>19</sup>And the angel answered and said to him, “I am <sup>v</sup>Gabriel, who stands in the presence of God, and was sent to speak to you and bring you <sup>d</sup>these glad <sup>w</sup>tidings. <sup>20</sup>But behold, <sup>x</sup>you will be mute and not able to speak until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words which will be fulfilled in their own time.”

<sup>21</sup>And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he lingered so long in the temple. <sup>22</sup>But when he came out, he could not speak to them; and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple, for he beckoned to them and remained speechless.

<sup>23</sup>So it was, as soon as #the days of his service were completed, that he departed to his own house. <sup>24</sup>Now after those days his wife Elizabeth conceived; and she hid herself five months, saying, <sup>25</sup>“Thus the Lord has dealt with me, in the days when

Gabriel Announces Christ's Birth

Mary Miraculously Conceives

<sup>35</sup>And the angel answered and said to her, <sup>m</sup>“The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will

1:17 in the spirit and power of Elijah: John was the forerunner of the messiah. t his description recalls mal. 3:1; 4:5. John's ministry paralleled elijah's, for both prophets called israel to repentance (see 1 Kin. 17; 18). As with many elements in God's plan, there is an initial fulfillment and a later fulfillment yet to come, which are distinct but related. Both John and Jesus may suggest the return of an elijah-like figure in the end times (see matt. 17:11-13; John 1:21). a people prepared: t he prepared people are those whom God has drawn to Himself for His special purposes.

1:18 How shall I know: Zacharias expressed his doubt and asked for a sign, a lack of faith that is addressed in vv. 64, 65. Zacharias completely ignored the divine source of the promise and the angelic messenger who delivered it.

1:19 one of two angels named in the Bible, Gabriel was often a messenger who communicated God's plan (see dan. 8:16; 9:21). michael is the other angel whose name is given (see dan. 10:13, 21; Jude 9; Rev. 12:7).

1:20 mute: it seems that Zacharias was not only unable to speak, but unable to hear as well (vv. 62, 63). t he arrival of the child would break Zacharias's silence. t he priest would be filled with joy, praising God for His faithfulness (see Zacharias's song in vv. 68-79).

1:21 t he people at the temple awaited the Aaronic blessing of the high priest (see n um. 6:24-26). t he conclusion of the offering occurred only after the priests emerged from the Holy Place.

1:23 Zacharias's house was located in the hill country south of Jerusalem (v. 39).

1:24 w hy elizabeth hid herself is not clear. t he most likely suggestion is that she withdrew to give praise to God, as v. 25 suggests, and to prepare privately for the coming of her special child.

1:25 my reproach: in ancient israel barrenness was seen as a cause for shame. t he “opening of the womb” indicated God's grace (see Gen. 21:6; 30:23; 1 Sam. 1; 2; Ps. 128:3). in this verse, elizabeth praises the Lord for mercifully blessing her even as He moved His plan for all of human history forward.

1:26-38 Luke's account of the announcement of Jesus' birth tells the story from mary's perspective, while matt. 1:18-25 focuses on Joseph and cites is. 7:14. t he announcement in Luke parallels similar announcements in the ot (see Gen. 16:7-14; 18:1-15; Judg. 13:3-23).

1:26 In the sixth month means six months after John the Baptist was conceived. Nazareth was a little village in Galilee, a region north of Jerusalem.

1:28 blessed are you among women: mary was blessed because she received God's grace, not because she bestowed it.

1:32 The Highest is another way of referring to the majesty of God. David: Jesus fulfilled (and will fulfill) God's promise to david concerning an unending dynasty. t he ot develops in detail this promise of an eternal davidic kingdom (see 2 Sam. 7:8-16; 1 Kin. 2:24, 25; Ps. 2:1-12; 89:14, 19-29, 35-37; 110:1-7; 132:11, 12; is. 9:6, 7; 11:1-5, 10; Jer. 23:5, 6). First-century israelites based their hopes on these promises, but their focus was on a political and earthly kingdom.

1:34 How can this be: mary did not ask for a sign, so this remark does not reflect unbelief. She accepts her role without question in v. 38, and thus is a model of faith even though she does not fully understand everything. t he work of God in mary introduces something unknown before or after: the birth into the human race of one who is both God and man.

1:35 The Holy Spirit will come upon you: t this is a direct declaration of Jesus' divine conception. t he association of the Spirit with power is frequent for Luke (v. 17; 4:14; Acts 1:8; 6:8-10; 10:38). t he child's conception means He is uniquely set apart, the Holy One, a phrase which is here not so much a title as a description of Jesus' sinless nature.

overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called <sup>n</sup>the Son of God. <sup>36</sup>Now indeed, Elizabeth your relative has also conceived a son in her old age; and this is now the sixth month for her who was called barren. <sup>37</sup>For <sup>o</sup>with God nothing will be impossible.”

<sup>38</sup>Then Mary said, “Behold the maidservant of the Lord! Let it be to me according to your word.” And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

 To Abraham and to his <sup>j</sup>seed forever.”

1:37 nothing will be impossible: God keeps His promises regardless of how difficult the circumstances may seem. Gabriel’s statement about God should be our statement of faith: nothing is impossible with God.

1:38 Maidservant suggests humility before the Lord and a readiness for faithful and obedient service, which should characterize every believer. Paul uses the masculine form of this word to describe himself (see Rom. 1:1).

1:41 the babe leaped in her womb: mary’s coming brought a reaction from John in elizabeth’s womb. t he messiah’s forerunner gave testimony to the messiah even before he was born. t he angel had predicted to zacharias that his baby would be filled with the Holy Spirit even from the womb (v. 15).

1:43 why is this granted to me: elizabeth marveled at the grace

Savior

(Gk. sōtēr) (1:47; 2:11; John 4:42; Phil. 3:20) Strong’s #4990

in addition to the obvious meaning, “one who provides salvation,” the word Savior often includes the related meanings of “deliverer,” “Protector,” or “Preserver.” in ancient Greek society, the term was applied not only to gods but also to human beings whose significant actions brought some type of benefit to others. in 1:47, mary rejoices in God her Savior, referring to the Lord’s mighty acts of protection and deliverance on behalf of israel. in 2:11, the angel announces to the shepherds the birth of “a Savior, who is Christ the Lord,” one who would offer Himself as a sacrifice to provide redemption for all. Luke’s emphasis on Jesus as Savior can be seen in the summary of Jesus’ mission in 19:10: “to seek and to save that which was lost.”

that allowed her a role in God’s great plan. She knew God owed her nothing; but she also knew that God had mercifully given her much.

1:45 mary’s faith contrasts with the doubt of zacharias. Blessed is she who believed: mary’s response of faith was exemplary. She was simply waiting on God to bring His promises to fulfillment.

1:46 t he following hymn (vv. 46–55) gets its name, the “magnificat,” from the Latin word for magnifies. o ne of four hymns in the first two chapters of Luke (vv. 67–79; 2:14; 2:29–32), mary’s hymn is a recital of what God had done for her and for others in the past.

1:48 Henceforth means “from now on.” t hings would never be the same again (see 5:10; 12:52; 22:69; Acts 18:6). all generations will call me blessed: mary went from being a poor unknown Hebrew girl to the most honored woman in the history of the world.

1:49 He who is mighty: God is o ne who protects and fights for His children (see Ps. 45:3; 89:8; Zeph. 3:17). holy is His name: God is unique and set apart from all other beings (see Lev. 11:44, 45; Ps. 99:3; is. 57:15).

1:50 t he term mercy expresses the ot concept of God’s loyal, gracious, faithful love (see Ps. 103). those who fear Him: God’s mercy comes to those who look respectfully to Him.

1:51–53 t hese verses portray a “reversal” in the end times, when those who have abused power will be judged and those who have suffered persecution will be exalted. mary was looking forward to the day when God’s people are no longer oppressed, but are instead blessed by the Lord. God’s strength with His arm figuratively describes His activity and power as Savior of His people (see v. 47; deut. 4:34; Ps. 89:13; 118:15).

1:54, 55 His servant Israel: t he idea of israel as God’s servant is found frequently in the Book of isaiah (see is. 41:8, 9; 44:1, 2, 21; 48:20; 49:3). israel has a special role in serving God and revealing Him. He spoke to our fathers: God’s actions in the life of mary were based on commitments He made centuries before (see Gen. 12:1–3; 22:16–18).

Elizabeth Gives Birth to John

<sup>59</sup> So it was, <sup>l</sup> on the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him by the name of his father, Zacharias. <sup>60</sup> His mother answered and said, <sup>m</sup> "No; he shall be called John."

<sup>61</sup> But they said to her, "There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name." <sup>62</sup> So they made signs to his father—what he would have him called.

<sup>63</sup> And he asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, saying, "His name is John." So they all marveled. <sup>64</sup> Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, praising God. <sup>65</sup> Then fear came on all who dwelt around them; and all these sayings were discussed throughout all the hill country of Judea. <sup>66</sup> And all those who heard them <sup>n</sup> kept them in their hearts, saying, "What kind of child will this be?" And <sup>o</sup> the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zacharias Prophecies of John's Ministry

 To <sup>d</sup> guide our feet into the way of peace."

1:59 they would have called him: it was an ancient custom to give the name of a family member to a newborn.

1:60 John was the name that the angel had told Zacharias to give the child (v. 13).

1:62, 63 t the fact that the people made signs to Zacharias indicates that he was deaf as well as mute (v. 20). A writing tablet was a wood tablet covered with wax.

1:67 filled with the Holy Spirit: Here the presence of the Spirit enabled Zacharias to announce God's promise. Zacharias's hymn is called the "Benedictus" from its first word in the Latin Vulgate translation. prophesied: t hough Zacharias was a priest, the Spirit enabled him to prophesy, t here are three types of prophecy in the Bible: foretelling future events, forthtelling the word of God, and praising God. Zacharias's prophecy includes all three.

1:68 He has visited and redeemed: As also in mary's hymn, God the Savior is the object of Zacharias's praise. t he salvation referred to by Zacharias is both national (vv. 71, 74) and spiritual (vv. 75, 77, 79).

1:69 t he horn of an ox is a symbol of power (see d eut. 33:17; 1 Sam. 2:10; 2 Sam. 22:3; Ps. 75:4, 5, 10; 132:17; ezek. 29:21). David: Jesus' royal ancestry is highlighted by Zacharias.

1:71 God had promised to deliver the israelites from their enemies. in Luke these enemies include both human and spiritual forces (4:16-30; 11:14-26).

1:72 To perform the mercy . . . remember His holy covenant: God's actions represented His commitment to love the israelites faithfully (v. 50) and to fulfill His promises to their ancestors (see vv. 54, 73; Lev. 26:42).

1:76 you will go before the face of the Lord: Finally able to speak, Zacharias proclaimed to those gathered what the angel had told him in the temple (vv. 16, 17). John was to prepare the way for the Lord, a reference to his role as forerunner of the messiah (see is. 40:3; mal. 3:1).

1:77 To give knowledge of salvation: John's task was to prepare the people by informing them of their need to repent (3:1-14) and of the one who was coming (3:15-18).

1:78, 79 Dayspring is a reference to the coming of messiah (see num. 24:17; mal. 4:2). t his Greek word was also used to translate the Hebrew word for "branch" or "sprout," a concept with messianic overtones (see is. 11:1-10; Jer. 23:5; 33:15; Zech. 3:8; 6:12). To give light . . . To guide our feet: As the dayspring or the "Rising Sun," the messiah will provide the light of truth and forgiveness to those blinded by the darkness of their sins. Peace describes a harmonious relationship with God.

Christ Is Born

2 And it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered. <sup>2a</sup>This census first took place while Quirinius was governing Syria. <sup>3</sup>So all went to be registered, everyone to his own city.

The Angels Announce Jesus to the Shepherds

14“Glory <sup>m</sup> to God in the highest,

The Shepherds Visit Jesus

<sup>15</sup>So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, “Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.” <sup>16</sup>And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger. <sup>17</sup>Now when they had seen Him, they made <sup>6</sup>widely known the saying which was told them concerning this Child. <sup>18</sup>And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds. <sup>19</sup><sup>p</sup>But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. <sup>20</sup>Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and <sup>q</sup>praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

Christ Is Circumcised

2:1, 2 Augustus was the Roman emperor from 31 B.C. to A.D. 14. Quirinius was the governor or administrator over a major census organized to facilitate the collection of taxes. <sup>o</sup> outside the Scripture, ancient records tie Quirinius to a census only in A.D. 6, but this is too late to be the one referred to here. So it may be that the census spanned the period from Varus to Quirinius and was referred to by the name of the one who completed it, sometime in the period immediately following Herod's death. it is also possible that Quirinius served as governor twice in his career, since there is a gap in the governorship records between 4 B.C. and A.D. 1, the period between Varus and Gaius Caesar. <sup>t</sup> the problem here is that the gap follows Herod's death, rather than preceding it, as the timing of Jesus' birth requires (see matt. 2). 2:3, 4 <sup>t</sup> the registration, following Jewish custom, took place at a person's ancestral home (see 2 Sam. 24). <sup>t</sup> the journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem was about 90 miles, at least a three-day trip. 2:5 his betrothed wife: <sup>t</sup> the fact that mary made the journey with Joseph suggests that they were already married. However, the marriage had not yet been consummated (see matt. 1:24, 25). 2:7 Swaddling cloths were strips of cloth wrapped around a baby to keep its arms and legs straight. Firstborn Son implies that mary had other children (see matt. 1:25; 13:55; mark 3:31–35). <sup>t</sup> the manger was probably a feeding trough for animals. Jesus was probably born in a stable or in a cave that served as one. The inn was most likely a reception room in a private home or a space at a public shelter, not a large building with several individual rooms.

2:8 <sup>t</sup> the night watch was kept to protect sheep from robbers and wild animals.

2:9 Glory refers to evidence of God's majestic presence, later associated with Jesus (see Acts 7:55). in this scene, the glory is the appearance of light in the midst of darkness.

2:13 Heavenly host refers to an entourage of angels.

2:14 Glory here refers to praise given to God. goodwill toward men: <sup>t</sup> the phrase means that people are the objects of God's goodwill. in ancient Judaism, this phrase described a limited group of people who were the objects of God's special grace. <sup>t</sup> the promise of peace (1:79) and goodwill would come to those who welcome God's only Son.

2:21 eight days: According to the Law, a Jewish boy was to be circumcised on the eighth day (see Gen. 17:12; Lev. 12:3).

2:22 Her purification refers to a ceremony in which a new mother of a son was declared ceremonially clean again (see Lev. 12:6). <sup>t</sup> the tion according to the law of Moses were completed, they brought Him to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord <sup>23</sup><sup>v</sup> (as it is written in the law of the Lord, <sup>w</sup> “Every male who opens the womb shall be called holy to the LORD”), <sup>24</sup> and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of the Lord, <sup>x</sup> “A pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons.”

Simeon's Prophecy

<sup>25</sup> And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon, and this man was just and devout, <sup>y</sup> waiting for the Consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. <sup>26</sup> And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not <sup>z</sup> see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ. <sup>27</sup> So he came <sup>a</sup> by the Spirit into the temple. And when the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for Him according to the custom of the law, <sup>28</sup> he took Him up in his arms and blessed God and said:

 And the glory of Your people Israel.”

Childbirth

in biblical times an infant did not begin life in a sterile hospital setting. A child was usually born at home where the conditions were less than sanitary. <sup>t</sup> the floors were probably dirt and farm animals sometimes shared the same living quarters. <sup>u</sup> the water used to cleanse the child was often polluted; the clothing used to wrap the baby had been washed in the same impure water. <sup>v</sup> the stable where Jesus was born may have been no worse than some of the homes in Bethlehem. demographic studies of ancient cultures show that the infant mortality rate was often as high as 90 percent; the many infant burial sites uncovered at various archaeological sites in Israel support this assumption. <sup>w</sup> the redemption ceremony of the firstborn male was not performed until the child was 30 days old. if he had survived the first month, his chances of growing to adulthood were good.

Anna's Testimony

ceremony took place 40 days after the birth. At this ceremony, the mother could offer a lamb or two pigeons (see Lev. 12:8). Jesus' family chose the pigeons (v. 24), suggesting that they did not have and could not afford to buy an animal. <sup>t</sup> he journey to Jerusalem from Bethlehem was only five miles. Present Him to the Lord refers to the normal presentation of a firstborn son to God (see ex. 13:2, 12; num. 18:6; 1 Sam. 1; 2). Luke shows that Jesus' parents were faithful Jews who kept the requirements of the Law.

2:25 Simeon was waiting for the Consolation of Israel, the Comforter of Israel, a hope that parallels the hope of national deliverance expressed in the two hymns of ch. 1. <sup>t</sup> his deliverance would involve the work of messiah, as v. 26 suggests. Holy Spirit: Luke highlights the presence of the Spirit at the beginning of God's work in Jesus. 2:27 into the temple: the location within the temple is not given, but Mary's presence suggests either the court of Gentiles or the court of women.

2:30 Simeon identified God's salvation as being personified in Jesus. For Jesus to come was for God's salvation to come. 2:32 A light to bring revelation to the Gentiles . . . the glory of Your people Israel: <sup>t</sup> his is the first explicit statement in Luke that includes both Jew and Gentile. Salvation is portrayed as light (1:79). it would be a revelation to Gentiles because they would be able to participate in God's blessing with a fullness that had not been revealed in the ot (see eph. 2:11-22; 3:1-7). Jesus is the glory of Israel because through Him the nation would see the fulfillment of God's promises; the nation's special role in God's plan would be vindicated (see is. 46:13; 60:1-3; Rom. 9:1-5; 11:11-29).

2:35 a sword: <sup>t</sup> he image here is of a large, broad sword striking Mary. She would suffer much pain in watching Jesus' rejection. thoughts . . . revealed: Jesus is a litmus test for where people stand before God. He is a Judge who will expose the thoughts of all people (see Acts 10:42, 43; 17:30, 31).

2:37 it is not clear whether eighty-four years was Anna's age, or how long she had been a widow. <sup>t</sup> the testimony of this pious woman complements Simeon's testimony. Both men and women observed God's work early in Jesus' life. Anna's work as a prophetess in the temple court suggests that she addressed all who would listen to her, as did Miriam (see ex. 15:20), Deborah (see Judg. 4:4), and Huldah (see 2 Kin. 22:14). Philip's daughters are another example of prophetesses in the nt (Acts 21:9).

who did not depart from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers <sup>i</sup>night and day. <sup>38</sup>And coming in that instant she gave thanks to <sup>1</sup>the Lord, and spoke of Him to all those who <sup>j</sup>looked for redemption in Jerusalem.

Jesus Returns to Nazareth

<sup>39</sup>So when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own city, Nazareth. <sup>40</sup><sup>k</sup>And the Child grew and became strong <sup>2</sup>in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

Jesus Celebrates the Passover

The Ministry of John the Baptist

f "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:

'Prepare the way of the LORD; Make His paths straight.

2:38 Redemption in Jerusalem is another way of speaking of the Consolation of Israel (v. 25).

2:40 The Child grew: with this note, the story of Jesus' infancy ends. t he narrative picks up in v. 41 some 12 years later.

2:41 t he annual pilgrimage to Jerusalem was customary for many who lived outside the city. t he Law commanded three pilgrimages for the men each year: for Passover, Pentecost, and the Feast of tabernacles (see ex. 23:14-17; deut. 16:16). By the first century, most Jewish men made annual pilgrimages to Jerusalem because of the distance many had to travel due to the dispersion of the israelites across Asia minor.

2:46 The teachers were Jewish rabbis. n ote that Jesus was not lecturing, but engaging the rabbis in theological discussion (v. 47).

2:49 I must: even at 12, Jesus knew that God had commissioned Him to accomplish certain tasks on this earth (4:43; 9:22; 13:33; 17:25; 19:5; 22:37; 24:7, 44). about My Father's business: t his is the first indication in Luke's Gospel that Jesus knew He had a unique mission and a unique relationship to the Father. t he Greek text is elliptical here and reads, "I must be in the . . . of my Father," without specifying a place or activity. either Jesus must be about the work of God, as the translation suggests; or he must be in the house of God, discussing God's truth. in the end the two possibilities are not very different.

3:1 Tiberius Caesar began to rule after his stepfather Augustus died, in A.D. 14. Judea was a senatorial province, ruled by a governor or procurator. Pontius Pilate held this position and was responsible for administering the region and collecting taxes for Rome. Herod is Herod Antipas, who ruled Galilee and Perea from 4 B.C. to A.D. 39. Herod's brother Archelaus had control of Judea and Samaria until A.D. 6, when he was banished. Herod's other brother Philip ruled the northern area east of the Jordan River.

3:2 Annas the high priest (A.D. 7-14) was succeeded in office by Caiaphas, his son-in-law, around A.D. 18. Caiaphas served with brief breaks from then until A.D. 37. in addition to Caiaphas, all of Annas's five sons served as high priest at one point or another. it is clear that Annas retained the influence as well as the title of his former office. t he various rulers that Luke lists show the complexity of the historical and political situation in israel during Jesus' day. A first-century israelite had to deal with the edicts of the Roman emperor, the regulations of the governor over israel, and the judgments of the religious leaders of israel.

3:3 Baptism figuratively means "to be identified with," as an unbleached cloth is identified with the color in a vat of dye when it is dipped. As John the Baptist preached and the people identified with his message, they were baptized as an outward sign of their inward repentance or "change of mind."

3:4-6 Prepare the way: t his citation from is. 40:3-5 declares the coming of God's deliverance. Luke cites the text more fully than

The crooked places shall be made straight

And the rough ways smooth;

6 And<sup>g</sup> all flesh shall see the salvation of God.’”

7 Then he said to the multitudes that came out to be baptized by him, <sup>h</sup>“Brood<sup>2</sup> of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? <sup>8</sup>Therefore bear fruits <sup>i</sup>worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. <sup>9</sup>And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore <sup>j</sup>every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.”

<sup>11</sup>He answered and said to them, <sup>l</sup>“He who has two tunics, let him give to him who has none; and he who has food, <sup>m</sup>let him do likewise.”

<sup>12</sup>Then <sup>n</sup>tax collectors also came to be baptized, and said to him, “Teacher, what shall we do?”

matthew or mark. He carries the passage through to its mention of salvation being seen by all flesh (v. 6), thus highlighting that the gospel is for all people. t he preparation for the arrival of a king typically meant that a road was prepared for his journey. t his is what isaiah compares to the arrival of God’s salvation.

3:7 As the multitudes flocked to hear John the Baptist, many people went through the outward motions of baptism, but their actions did not truly represent their inward attitude. t hese people were not genuinely interested in the kind of King and kingdom that John was presenting.

3:8 John the Baptist warned that the fruits of repentance are necessary, not the claim of an ancestral connection to Abraham. external genealogical connections would not change one’s attitude to God.

3:10-14 What shall we do: A genuine change of mind resulted in a change of action for the people, the tax collectors, and the soldiers. t he repentant were instructed to give to those in need, to work at their jobs with integrity, to refrain from abusing their power, and to be content with earning a basic wage.

3:11 two tunics: o ne was an undergarment, and the other was an outer garment. A person did not need two when another person had none.

3:12 Tax collectors were Jewish agents employed by those who had purchased the right to collect taxes for the Roman state. tax collectors often added interest to cover their own expenses and to pad their income. t hey were disliked both for their business practices and for their support of the occupying state.

3:16, 17 One mightier than I: t his is the first direct mention of Jesus by John. John’s baptism was minor compared to what was coming from Jesus, who would bring the Holy Spirit and fire (see matt. 3:11). t hese two facets of Christ’s work relate to His first and second comings. Baptism in the Holy Spirit is referred to seven times in the nt—four times in the Gospels (see matt. 3:11; mark 1:8; John 1:33), twice in Acts (see Acts 1:5; 11:16), and once in the epistles (see 1 Cor. 12:13). As a result of Christ’s work at His first coming, believers are placed into one family (see 1 Cor. 12:13) and commended to the care of the Holy Spirit. when Christ comes a second time, He will come with the fire of judgment. Chaff refers to useless shells of grain that were separated from the useful wheat by the winnowing fan, a wooden forklife shovel that lifted the grain in the air so that the wind could separate it. t he chaff was burned, picturing those who will undergo judgment. t he unquenchable fire indicates the thorough nature of the judgment.

3:19, 20 he shut John up in prison: t his event is clearly not in chronological order (see matt. 14:3-5; mark 6:17-20), since John could not have baptized Jesus (vv. 21, 22) if he was in jail. John had rebuked Herod for divorcing his wife to marry his own niece Herodias, who already had been the wife of his brother Philip. n ot only was the divorce a problem, so was marrying such a close relative (see Lev. 18:16; 20:21).

3:22 a voice came from heaven: t his is one of two heavenly endorsements of Jesus’ ministry. t he other is found in 9:35. You are My beloved Son; in You I am well pleased: t his statement combines two ideas. t he idea of God’s Son comes from Ps. 2:7, a

John called upon them to be baptized as a way of showing that they wanted to renounce their old way of life and prepare their hearts for the coming of the messiah. Paul used baptism to speak about the believers’ identification with Christ. Just as a cloth dipped in dye absorbs the color of the dye, so a person immersed in Christ should take on the nature of Christ.

The Temptation of Christ

4 Then <sup>a</sup> Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and <sup>b</sup> was led by the Spirit <sup>1</sup> into the wilderness, <sup>2</sup> being <sup>2</sup> tempted for forty days by the devil. And <sup>c</sup> in those days He ate nothing, and afterward, when they had ended, He was hungry.

<sup>5</sup> <sup>4</sup> Then the devil, taking Him up on a high mountain, showed Him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. <sup>6</sup> And the devil said to Him, “All this authority I will give You, and their glory; for <sup>f</sup> this has been delivered to me, and I give it to whomever I wish. <sup>7</sup> Therefore, if You will worship before me, all will be Yours.”

psalm about God’s chosen King. t the idea of God’s pleasure comes from the image of the Servant in is. 42:1. t this image depicts Jesus’ election by God, and the special favor He enjoyed. t the fact that Jesus is both King and Servant is fundamental to Jesus’ identity.

3:23–38 as was supposed: People naturally assumed that Jesus was the physical son of both Joseph and Mary. Luke corrected this misunderstanding by emphasizing that Jesus was only apparently Joseph’s physical son. Luke’s genealogy is unlike Matthew’s, although both go back to David and Abraham. Luke traces Jesus’ line all the way back to Adam, showing Jesus’ significance for all people. Matthew provides the legal lineage from David through Joseph to Jesus, while Luke provides the physical lineage from David through Mary to Jesus.

4:1, 2 t the order of the temptations differs between Matthew and Luke. Luke has the temptation about Jerusalem last, probably because Jerusalem is the place Jesus is headed for His decisive confrontation with Satan (13:32–35). in His temptation, Jesus demonstrated not only His ability to resist the devil, but also His allegiance to God. what Adam could not do, Jesus did. w here Israel had failed in the wilderness, Jesus succeeded.

4:3 If You are the Son of God: t this is a conditional statement. in other words, Satan was saying: “Let’s assume for the sake of argument that You are the Son of God.” in fact, Satan was challenging Jesus’ identity and authority.

4:4 It is written: Jesus responded to Satan’s temptation by quoting deut. 8:3. Jesus refused to operate independently of God. t the Spirit had led Him into the wilderness to prepare Him for His ministry, so eating at Satan’s instruction would have shown a lack of dependence on the Father.

4:5 all the kingdoms of the world: t his temptation was an attempt to offer Jesus power by the wrong means. Satan’s method involved a detour around the Cross, an inducement to “take the easy way” to power.

4:6 this has been delivered to me: Satan’s claim here is exaggerated. He has great authority over the earth (see John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11; 2 Cor. 4:4; eph. 2:2), but not the authority to deliver kingdoms.

Temptation: The Two Adams Contrasted

Both Adam and Christ faced three aspects of temptation. Adam yielded, bringing upon humankind sin and death. Christ resisted, resulting in justification and life.

1 John 2:16	Genesis 3:6 First Adam	Luke 4:1–13 Second Adam—Christ
“the lust of the flesh”	“the tree was good for food”	“command this stone to become bread”
“the lust of the eyes”	“it was pleasant to the eyes”	“the devil . . . showed Him all the kingdoms”
“the pride of life”	“a tree desirable to make one wise”	“throw Yourself down from here”

<sup>9</sup> <sup>h</sup> Then he brought Him to Jerusalem, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to Him, “If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down from here. <sup>10</sup> For it is written:

*‘He shall give His angels charge over you,
To keep you,’*

<sup>11</sup> and,

Lest you dash your foot against a stone.’*”

BIBLE TIMES & CULTURE NOTES

Worship

A synagogue service began with the recitation of the Shema, the first Hebrew word in the passage in deut. 6:4–9. The speaker for the day then led the congregation in prayer as they stood facing Jerusalem with hands extended. At the close of the prayer the people said “Amen.” Before the service the leader of the synagogue took from the torah ark the scrolls containing the lesson for the day and placed them on the lectern. The chosen speaker stood and read the lesson from the Law of Moses and the interpreter translated it verse by verse into Aramaic. Then the passage from the Prophets was read and translated. For the commentary or sermon, the speaker usually sat down (Luke 4:20). After the sermon, a priest, if one was present, pronounced a benediction and the people said “Amen.” If no priest was present, a closing prayer was offered.

et Isaiah. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written:

Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me<sup>9</sup> to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To<sup>v</sup> set at liberty those who are <sup>1</sup> oppressed;

<sup>20</sup> Then He closed the book, and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And

4:8 Get behind Me, Satan: Later, Jesus makes the same statement to Peter when he becomes a channel for Satan’s message (see matt. 16:23). in response to Satan’s second temptation, Jesus cited deut. 6:13. Jesus knew that only God is worthy of worship, that only God is to be served.

4:9 The pinnacle of the temple may refer either to the high temple gate or to the southeast corner of the temple that loomed over a cliff some 450 feet high.

4:10, 11 He shall give His angels charge over you: Satan cited Ps. 91:11, 12, reminding Jesus of God’s promise of protection. However, the mere use of biblical words does not always reveal God’s will, particularly if they are placed in the wrong context.

4:12 You shall not tempt the LORD: in response to Satan’s third temptation, Jesus cited deut. 6:16. God is to be trusted, not tested. The deuteronomy passage refers to Israel’s attempt to test God at Meribah (see ex. 17:1–7). Jesus would not repeat the nation’s error of unfaithfulness to God.

4:13 until an opportune time: This was but the first of several encounters Jesus had with Satan and his forces (11:14–23).

4:16, 17 most synagogue services had a reading from the Law and one from the Prophets, with an exposition that tied the texts together. Jesus expounded from is. 61. The scroll was kept in the synagogue and handed to Jesus by an attendant.

4:18, 19 By citing is. 61, Jesus was claiming to be a royal figure and to have a prophetic mission (v. 24). Jesus healed the brokenhearted, referring to those who were discouraged because of their plight in life. Jesus proclaimed liberty to the captives. In the OT, captivity refers to Israel’s exile (1:68–74); here captivity refers to sin (see 1:7; 7:47; 24:47; Acts 2:38; 5:31; 10:43; 13:38; 26:18). Jesus gave sight to the blind, a reference to His miraculous works (7:22), though not without spiritual overtones (1:78, 79; 10:23, 24; 18:41–43). Jesus set at liberty the oppressed. This was originally the call of Israel, but the nation had failed in its assignment (see is. 58:6). What Israel had failed to do, Jesus does. The image here addresses both physical and spiritual realities. Jesus proclaimed the acceptable year of the LORD, an allusion to Jubilee. This was every fiftieth year, in which all debt was forgiven, slaves were given their freedom, and ancestral lands were given back to its original family. The Year of Jubilee allowed for a new start (see Lev. 25:10). Jesus offers a total cancellation of spiritual debt and a new beginning to those who respond to His message.

4:20 Jesus closed the book in the middle of the sentence (see is. 61:2). He did not continue because the next phrase—“the day of vengeance of our God”—was not being fulfilled then.

the eyes of all who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him. <sup>21</sup> And He began to say to them, “Today this Scripture is <sup>w</sup> fulfilled in your hearing.” <sup>22</sup> So all bore witness to Him, and <sup>x</sup> marveled at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, <sup>y</sup> “Is this not Joseph’s son?”

Jesus Ministers Throughout Galilee

4:21 Jesus proclaimed the fulfillment of God’s plan and promise in Himself, since He is the figure described in the passage. Luke often notes the presence of fulfillment by including a reference to today (2:11; 5:26; 12:28; 13:32, 33; 19:5, 9; 22:34, 61; 23:43).

4:23 Physician, heal yourself: the request for more signs was for Jesus to prove His claim by repeating the type of miraculous work He had done in Capernaum (see mark 1:21–27). Such requests for signs often contained a mocking tone (11:16; 22:64; 23:8, 35–37).

4:24 Jesus made it clear that He is God’s messenger who declares God’s ways. However, Jesus also knew that a prophet is often rejected. This is a lesson of the OT to which Jesus and other NT authors allude (see 11:47–51; Acts 7:51–53).

4:25–27 Jesus speaks of a period of widespread unfaithfulness to God (see 1 Kin. 17; 18; 2 Kin. 5:1–14). During this period, judgment came on the nation in the form of famine, the only people to receive healing were Gentiles. With such an allusion, Jesus warned His listeners not to be unfaithful like their ancestors by rejecting His message.

4:32 Luke emphasizes Jesus’ teaching (v. 15). The perception of Jesus’ authority probably arose as a result of His discussing issues directly, rather than merely noting tradition.

4:34 Let us alone: the demon knew that Jesus possessed divine authority, and he wanted nothing to do with Him. the Holy One of God: even a demon witnessed to Jesus’ divinity. In the OT, the title Holy One referred to a person with a special call from God (see “holy man” in 2 Kin. 4:9 and “saint” in Ps. 106:16). Luke records the demon’s use of this title as proof that Jesus is the promised messiah (v. 41; 1:31–35).

4:35, 36 rebuked: this term in Aramaic was a technical term for calling evil into submission. Jesus’ authority over evil forces is clear. He possessed the authority and power to grant salvation, as well as to confront all opponents to it. Be quiet: Jesus, not Satan and his demons, controlled who would testify to His messianic identity. Why Jesus silenced such a confession is not clear. Possibilities include the following: (1) A messianic confession might label Him as a political revolutionary, something He was not. (2) Jesus might have preferred that His works testify to His messianic identity (7:18–23). (3) The Israelites might have thought it was not appropriate for a messiah to be announced until messianic works were achieved. Others regarded as messiahs by the Jews in this period, such as the teacher of Righteousness at Qumran and Simeon ben Kosebah, were also hesitant to make direct messianic claims. (4) Jesus might not have welcomed a testimony from a demon. (5) It might not have been God’s time for Jesus to reveal His messianic identity.

4:39 The fact that Simon’s mother-in-law served her guests immediately indicates that her recovery from fever was instantaneous. miraculous healing in the Bible was always immediate (5:13).

4:41 You are the Christ, the Son of God: this confession, unique to the Gospel of Luke, shows the close connection Luke makes between Jesus’ sonship and messiahship.

Capernaum Synagogue

Capernaum was more than a seaside fishing village in the days of Jesus. It was the place that Jesus chose to be the center of His ministry to the entire region of Galilee, and it possessed ideal characteristics as a point of dissemination for the gospel.

There were good reasons for this. The town itself was named Kepharnahum, “village of [perhaps the prophet] Nahum,” and was the centerpiece of a densely populated region having a bicultural flavor. On the one hand, there were numerous synagogues in Galilee (in addition to the one in Capernaum), where the ferment of Jewish religious life was profound. On the other hand, there was Hellenism, a pervasive culture already centuries old and potent in its paganism—a lifestyle that influenced manners, dress, architecture, and political institutions as well.

Archaeological work at Capernaum has revealed a section of the pavement of a first-century synagogue below the still-existing ruins of the fourth-century one on the site. A private house later made into a church and a place of pilgrimage has yielded some evidence that may link it to the site of Simon Peter's house (Luke 4:38).

4:43 The kingdom is referred to 30 times in Luke and six times in Acts. Jesus announced the rule of God through His person, in dealing with sin (24:47), in distributing the Spirit as He mediates blessing from God's side (24:49), and in reigning with His followers according to the old promise (see Ps. 2:7-12; Acts 3:18-22).

4:44 Galilee probably refers to the whole of Palestine in this context (see 23:5; Acts 10:37).

2 and saw two boats standing by the lake; but the fishermen had gone from them and were washing their nets. 3 Then He got into one of the boats, which was Simon's, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And He <sup>c</sup>sat down and taught the multitudes from the boat.

4 When He had stopped speaking, He said to Simon, <sup>d</sup>“Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch.”

5 But Simon answered and said to Him, “Master, we have toiled all night and caught <sup>e</sup>nothing; nevertheless <sup>f</sup>at Your word I will let down the net.” 6 And when they had done this, they caught a great number of fish, and their net was breaking. 7 So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink. 8 When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, <sup>g</sup>“Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!”

9 For he and all who were with him were <sup>h</sup>astonished at the catch of fish which they had taken; 10 and so also were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, “Do not be afraid. <sup>i</sup>From now on you will catch men.” 11 So when they had brought their boats to land, <sup>j</sup>they <sup>k</sup>forsook all and followed Him.

A Paralytic Is Healed

16 <sup>r</sup>So He Himself often withdrew into the wilderness and <sup>s</sup>prayed.

17 Now it happened on a certain day, as He was teaching, that there were Pharisees and teachers of the law sitting by, who had come out of every town of Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present <sup>3</sup>to heal them. 18 <sup>t</sup>Then behold, men brought on a bed a man who was paralyzed, whom they sought to bring in and lay before Him. 19 And when they could not find how they might bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the housetop and let him down with his bed through the tiling into the midst <sup>u</sup>before Jesus.

20 When He saw their faith, He said to him, “Man, your sins are forgiven you.”

21 <sup>v</sup>And the scribes and the Pharisees

5:4 let down your nets: t his was a “parabolic action.” Jesus commanded Simon to place his nets in the water in order to depict a spiritual reality. Jesus, in v. 10, explained the spiritual truth: Simon's new occupation would be fishing for people who would do the will of Jesus.

5:5 at Your word I will let down the net: t his is Peter's statement of faith. t he fisherman noted that he and his companions had just failed to make a catch at the best time for fishing, the evening. t he circumstances were not good for a catch at the time of Jesus' command, but Peter chose to obey His word and let down his nets anyway.

5:8 Peter's confession indicates that he recognized God's work through Jesus. Peter, as a sinful man, was not worthy to be in Jesus' presence, because Jesus was holy.

5:10 Do not be afraid: Jesus does not drive away the sinner who recognizes his or her wretched condition. He accepts the confessing sinner and offers that person the opportunity of reconciliation with God. t hen He sends the forgiven sinner out to do the work of God. catch men: Peter's commission was to rescue men from the danger of sin.

5:11 forsook all and followed Him: Following Jesus became the main priority in the disciples' lives. Such priority is the essence of discipleship.

5:12 t he term leprosy was used broadly in the ancient world. it included psoriasis, lupus, and ringworm. Lepers were isolated from the rest of society (see Lev. 13:45, 46), but could be restored to the community when they recovered (see Lev. 14).

5:13 t he disease responded immediately to the Creator's touch

(4:39). Jesus honored the leper's humble request for health because he recognized Jesus' power and authority.

5:14 show yourself to the priest: Jesus commanded that the regulation of Lev. 14 be followed. in silencing the healed leper, Jesus sought to avoid drawing excessive attention to His healing ministry. He wanted people to seek Him for spiritual healing, not merely physical healing. t he leper's testimony was to God's faithfulness and His exercise of power through Jesus (7:22).

5:17 t he religious leadership of israel began to watch Jesus closely. t he Pharisees were a group of about six thousand pious, influential teachers in the synagogues. t hey were a group who meticulously followed the Law, adhering to the traditional rules that kept a person from inadvertently breaking it. t he teachers of the law were officials trained in the Law of moSES. Also known as scribes, these men were in effect the religious lawyers of the Pharisees. in Judaism in the first century there was a wide range of factions, including the Sadducees and the essenes. t he Pharisees, despite their relatively low numbers, were very influential.

5:20 Luke directly links faith and forgiveness here. According to the ot , only God was able to forgive sin (see Ps. 103:12). Rather than announcing that God would forgive the man's sin, Jesus proclaimed that the man's sins were forgiven. t his act was blasphemous to the ears of Jesus' theologically sensitive audience.

5:21 blasphemies: t he charge of the scribes and the Pharisees was that Jesus' claim dishonored God. t his was a serious charge; the conviction of blasphemy would eventually lead to Jesus' death (22:70, 71).

began to reason, saying, “Who is this who speaks blasphemies? <sup>w</sup>Who can forgive sins but God alone?”

<sup>22</sup> But when Jesus <sup>x</sup>perceived their thoughts, He answered and said to them, “Why are you reasoning in your hearts? <sup>23</sup>Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Rise up and walk’? <sup>24</sup>But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the man who was paralyzed, <sup>y</sup>“I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

<sup>25</sup> Immediately he rose up before them, took up what he had been lying on, and departed to his own house, <sup>z</sup>glorifying God. <sup>26</sup> And they were all amazed, and they <sup>a</sup>glorified God and were filled with fear, saying, “We have seen strange things today!”

Matthew Is Called

<sup>31</sup> Jesus answered and said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. <sup>32</sup> <sup>h</sup> I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”

Jesus Teaches About Fasting

<sup>33</sup> Then they said to Him, <sup>i</sup>“Why <sup>6</sup> do the disciples of John fast often and make prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but Yours eat and drink?”

<sup>34</sup> And He said to them, “Can you make the friends of the bridegroom fast while the <sup>j</sup>bridegroom is with them? <sup>35</sup> But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them; then they will fast in those days.”

Parable of the Cloth and Wineskins

<sup>36</sup> <sup>k</sup> Then He spoke a parable to them: “No one <sup>7</sup> puts a piece from a new garment on an old one; otherwise the new makes a tear, and also the piece that was taken out of the new does not match the

5:22 perceived their thoughts: t he reference here is to prophetic insight, since the leaders’ thoughts had not been spoken. Jesus “knew what was in man” (John 2:25).

5:23 Jesus posed a riddle to His audience. From an external point of view, it would seem easier to declare sins forgiven than to actually heal a person. In reality, however, one has to possess more authority to forgive sin. Jesus linked the healing to what it represented, the forgiveness of sin. Jesus forgave the man’s sins and healed him at the same time.

5:24 Son of Man is an Aramaic idiom that refers to a human being, meaning “someone” or “I.” Jesus used this idiom as a title, taken from Dan. 7:13, 14 (see 21:27; 22:69; Mark 14:62). In the Book of Daniel, the phrase Son of man describes a figure who shares authority with the Anointed of Days. Association with the clouds gives a supernatural aura to the figure, for only God rides the clouds (see Ex. 14:20; 34:5; Num. 10:34; Ps. 104:3). In using the title here, Jesus claimed the authority to forgive sin, an authority that was limited to God.

5:27 Levi’s job as a tax collector was to sit at a booth collecting taxes from businessmen. His was a lower position than that of Zacchaeus, another famous tax collector in the Bible. Levi would have reported to someone like Zacchaeus. Levi is also called Matthew (see Matt. 9:9; 10:3).

5:29 t his verse describes the first of several feasts or meals in the Book of Luke (7:36–50; 9:10–17; 10:38–42; 11:37–54; 14:1–24; 22:14–38; 24:28–32, 41–43). In ancient Israel the table was a place where spiritual points were taught and where fellowship occurred.

5:30 t he issue of eating with sinners was sensitive in Judaism since some believed that eating with such company conveyed an acceptance of that person’s sin. Jesus preferred pursuing relationships that might lead sinners to God rather than “quarantining” Himself from such people (see 1 Cor. 5:9–13).

5:31 no need of a physician: Jesus was not saying that the Pharisees and scribes had no need of spiritual healing. Instead He was saying that only those who know their spiritual need can be treated. As self-righteous people, the Pharisees would not come for aid, and in their own eyes, did not need a doctor.

5:32 Jesus’ mission was to call sinners to repentance. Upon His ascension, Jesus commissioned His disciples to the same task (24:47; see also 3:3, 8; 13:1–5; 15:7–10; 16:30; 17:3, 4; Acts 26:20). In this passage, repentance is pictured as a patient who recognizes that illness is present and that only Jesus, the Great Physician, can treat it. A humble approach to God for spiritual healing is the essence of repentance.

5:33 fast: t he Pharisees fasted twice a week, on Mondays and Thursdays (18:12), as well as on the day of Atonement (Lev. 16:29). t hey also fasted as an act of penitence (Is. 58:1–9) and to recall four times a year the destruction of Jerusalem (Zech. 7:3, 5; 8:19). t he goal of fasting was to dedicate oneself to prayer and to focus on God. John led an ascetic life, which his followers also imitated (7:24–28; Matt. 11:1–19).

5:34 bridegroom: Jesus compared His presence to the joyous time of a wedding. In the OT, this image was used for God’s relationship to His people or to describe the messianic period (see Is. 54:5, 6; 62:4, 5; Jer. 2:2; Ezek. 16; Hos. 2:14–23). Jesus explained that while He was on earth, the time was not right for fasts.

5:35 t he image of the removal of the bridegroom is the first hint in Jesus’ ministry of His approaching death (see 2:35 for the first allusion). t he church will (and did) fast (see Acts 13:1, 2; 14:23). t hough such fasting was not required or regulated to the same degree as in Judaism.

5:36 the new makes a tear: Jesus pointed out that one cannot mix old things (Judaism) with new things (the new way He brings). t he attempt to mix the two is compared to repairing clothes. t he original cloth has already shrunk and when the new cloth shrinks a old. <sup>37</sup>And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine will burst the wineskins and be spilled, and the wineskins will be ruined. <sup>38</sup>But new wine must be put into new wineskins, <sup>8</sup>and both are preserved. <sup>39</sup>And no one, having drunk old wine, <sup>9</sup>immediately desires new; for he says, ‘The old is <sup>1</sup>better.’”

Jesus Works on the Sabbath

6 Now <sup>a</sup>it happened <sup>1</sup>on the second Sabbath after the first that He went through the grainfields. And His disciples plucked the heads of grain and ate them, rubbing them in their hands. <sup>2</sup>And some of the Pharisees said to them, “Why are you doing <sup>b</sup>what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?”

<sup>3</sup>But Jesus answering them said, “Have you not even read this, <sup>c</sup>what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: <sup>4</sup>how he went into the house of God, took and ate the showbread, and also gave some to those with him, <sup>d</sup>which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat?” <sup>5</sup>And He said to them, “The Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath.”

Jesus Heals on the Sabbath

Selection of the Twelve Apostles

Mark 3:13-19

<sup>17</sup>And He came down with them and stood on a level place with a crowd of rip occurs. in addition, the two pieces do not match. Jesus’ teaching here indicates the discontinuity between the old way and the new. 5:37 Putting new wine (Jesus’ new way) into old wineskins (Judaism) would not work because as the new wine fermented, it would stretch the old skin and break it, ruining the wineskin and wasting the wine.

5:39 Jesus pointed out that someone who likes old wine will not even try new wine, since such a person is satisfied with the old. t his analogy explained why some people in israel had trouble turning to Jesus.

6:1 plucked . . . ate . . . rubbing: According to Jewish tradition, the disciples were reaping, threshing, and preparing food, and so were violating the commandment not to work on the Sabbath. it is clear that at this point the Pharisees were watching Jesus carefully (v. 7). 6:2 what is not lawful: t he Pharisees wanted to know why the disciples had violated the traditions surrounding the Law of Moses (see 14:3; matt. 12:12; 19:3; 22:17; 27:6; mark 3:4; 12:14).

6:3, 4 in responding to the Pharisees’ charges against His disciples, Jesus appealed to 1 Sam. 21:1-7; 22:9, 10. David and his men ate the showbread that only the priests could eat. t his was not lawful, but God did not punish david for it. Such bread was taken from the 12 loaves placed on a table in the Holy Place and changed once a week (see ex. 25:30; 39:36; 40:22, 23; Lev. 24:5-9). Jesus pointed out that if david and his men could violate the Law to satisfy their hunger, His disciples could do the same. Jesus may have been attempting to show that the Law was never intended to be applied so absolutely that it would take precedence over the necessities of daily life (see mark 2:27).

Jesus has authority over the Sabbath. Jesus’ claim of divine authority here is similar to His claim of authority to forgive sins in 5:21, 24.

6:9 Is it lawful: t he issue was the correct way of conducting oneself on the Sabbath (v. 2). Jesus chose to do good. t he plots of the Pharisees represented doing evil and destroying. t hat was truly breaking the Sabbath (v. 7). To save here means simply to heal, as Jesus was about to do.

6:11 Rage here is irrational or mindless anger. t he parallels in matt. 12:14; mark 3:6 make it clear that the Pharisees started to plot against Jesus in earnest after this confrontation.

6:12 in prayer: Here we find an example of Jesus spending time with God before an important event in His life (see 3:21; 22:41-44).

6:13 chose twelve: Jesus selected the main body of disciples, those who would become responsible for leading the early church (see matt. 10:2-4; mark 3:16-19; Acts 1:13).

6:14 Bartholomew is probably nathanael of John 1:45.

6:15 Matthew is Levi of 5:27-32 (see mark 2:14-17).

6:16 Judas the son of James is probably t haddaeus (see matt. 10:3; mark 3:18). t his is not the Lord’s half brother.

6:17 A level place probably refers to a plateau on a mountain. t he setting and the contents of the sermon that follows suggest that Luke is providing a shorter version of the Sermon on the mount, omitting those portions that have to do with the Law. Points of similarities between Luke’s account here and matthew’s account in matt. 5-7 are as follows: (1) Both begin with a series of beatitudes. (2) Both contain Jesus’ teaching on loving one’s enemies. (3) Both end with the parable of the two builders. t he theme of the sermon is the disciple’s walk. t he audience for the sermon consisted of both disciples and the great multitude. Jesus did not restrict His remarks simply to those who believed. Tyre and Sidon: Jesus’ fame extended even into Gentile regions. <sup>t</sup> he people were drawn by His teaching and healing ministry.

His disciples <sup>p</sup> and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear Him and be healed of their diseases, <sup>18</sup> as well as those who were tormented with unclean spirits. And they were healed. <sup>19</sup> And the whole multitude <sup>q</sup> sought to <sup>r</sup> touch Him, for <sup>s</sup> power went out from Him and healed them all.

6:20 <sup>t</sup> hough Jesus was speaking to the entire crowd, the beatitudes of vv. 20–23 were directed to the disciples. Blessed means “happy,” referring to the special joy and favor that comes upon those who experience God’s grace. poor . . . kingdom of God: in general, the disciples of Jesus were not wealthy (see 1 Cor. 1:26–29; James 2:5). <sup>t</sup> they were poor men who had come humbly to trust in God. All of the promises of God’s rule both now and in the future belong to such disciples.

6:21 <sup>t</sup> he reason for the hunger and poverty is found in v. 22: persecution. Jesus promised that God would provide the disciples with all the sustenance they needed. weep . . . laugh: Any present suffering will be turned into joy.

6:22 hate . . . exclude . . . revile you: Here is the cause of the disciples’ precarious condition: persecution for the Son of Man’s sake. identification with Jesus usually leads to rejection and hardship, but the disciple who has left all to follow Jesus understands what placing Jesus first means. He or she also recognizes that God is aware of all suffering.

6:24 <sup>t</sup> he woes of vv. 24–26 contrast with the beatitudes of vv. 20–23. A woe is a cry of pain that results from misfortune. Just as God presented blessings for obedience and curses for disobedience in deut. 28, Jesus presented blessings and woes to His disciples who were anticipating the kingdom. <sup>t</sup> he same blessings and woes apply to

Jesus and the Poor

“Blessed are you poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.” A consummate communicator, Jesus began His sermon with a sentence that certainly must have riveted His audience. Probably most of them were poor. <sup>t</sup> heir lives were far from easy; their rough, worn hands attested to that fact. <sup>t</sup> he difficulties and hardships of their lives drove them to travel the hot and dusty roads of Judea to listen to this prophet Jesus. Perhaps He would tell them more about the kingdom of God. most of them had placed their hopes on the coming of this glorious kingdom. <sup>t</sup> hey longed for the day when the righteous messiah, not the cruel Roman governor, would rule their lives.

Jesus began His sermon with an attention-grabbing, irony-filled series of blessings that have intrigued and puzzled Bible scholars and laymen for centuries. often referred to as the Beatitudes, these statements contrast worldly goods and values with a heavenly estimation of people’s affairs. <sup>t</sup> he Beatitudes provide us with a heavenly perspective, evaluating the present in the light of eternity. <sup>t</sup> hey remind us that things are not always what they seem, and certainly not what they will one day be.

At face value, it appears that Jesus was making a blanket promise of salvation and blessing to anyone and everyone below the poverty line (6:20). Some have adopted just such an interpretation and have felt a special call to aim their ministries at the downtrodden. in this view, the poor are seen as God’s chosen people. <sup>t</sup> hough they suffer in this world, and perhaps because they suffer now, they can expect glorious blessing in the world to come. And the adherents of this view believe that while in this world the people of God should do everything possible to alleviate the suffering of the poor. in this way the kingdom of God is extended.

many interpret the word poor as referring to the “poverty of spirit” that Jesus talks about in a very similar sermon, the Sermon on the mount (see matt. 5:3). in other words, Jesus was offering hope and joy to those who freely recognize their spiritual poverty before God. <sup>t</sup> hese individuals are blessed because they come to God with nothing to offer Him except their great need. <sup>t</sup> hus Christ’s offer of the kingdom of God is not a promise to every poor person. Rather it is a statement about the future condition of those who humbly choose to follow Him. when a person rejects worldly values and embraces the godly teachings of Jesus, then that individual begins to experience the reign of Christ in his or her life. <sup>t</sup> his is how we enjoy the kingdom of God now in this fallen world. o ne day we will experience the joys of this kingdom in a fuller, more glorious way.

to summarize, anyone, rich or poor (and in a spiritual sense we are all poor), can taste the deep joy of God’s rule and the blessing of His kingdom. But doing so requires that we renounce the ways of the world and humbly submit our ways to God (is. 66:2). <sup>t</sup> his kind of poverty, an emptying of ourselves of our self-centered desires, is what God expects from everyone.

25 <sup>f</sup>Woe to you who are full,
For you shall hunger.
<sup>g</sup>Woe to you who laugh now,
For you shall mourn and <sup>h</sup>weep.
26 <sup>i</sup>Woe <sup>6</sup>to you when <sup>7</sup>all men speak well of you,
For so did their fathers to the false prophets.

Rules of Kingdom Life

27 <sup>j</sup>“But I say to you who hear: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, <sup>28</sup><sup>k</sup>bless those who curse you, and <sup>l</sup>pray for those who spitefully use you. <sup>29</sup><sup>m</sup>To him who strikes you on the one cheek, offer the other also. <sup>n</sup>And from him who takes away your cloak, do not withhold your tunic either. <sup>30</sup><sup>o</sup>Give to everyone who asks of you. And from him who takes away your goods do not ask them back. <sup>31</sup><sup>p</sup>And just as you want men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

believers today when their works are evaluated (see 1 Cor. 3:12-15; 2 Cor. 5:10; 1 John 2:28; Rev. 22:12). you who are rich . . . have received your consolation: t he background for this remark is found in mary’s song of praise in 1:51-53. All that the rich receive is what they acquire on earth (see also matt. 6:19-21). Luke records many of Jesus’ critical remarks about the wealthy. t heir wealth typically blinds them to their spiritual poverty and their need for salvation (1:53; 12:16-21; 14:12; 16:1-14, 19-26; 18:18-25; 19:1-10; 21:1-4).

6:27, 28 t he threat of religious persecution was very real when Jesus presented His command for extraordinary love. t he reference to a cursing enemy suggests a context of religious persecution.

6:29 offer the other: t his is a description of being repeatedly vulnerable in the face of injustice. t he one who seeks to love will always remain exposed and at risk. A tunic was an undergarment; a cloak was an outer garment.

6:30 do not ask them back: Jesus’ instruction here is to forgive and forget. t he commands of vv. 29, 30 are expressed in such absolute terms that they force the listener to reflect on them by contrasting them with the normal responses people would have to such injustices.

6:31 as you want men to do to you: t his is the “golden rule.” n ote that Jesus’ command is stated in the positive (contrast Lev. 19:18). Such love as Jesus describes recognizes the preferences of others and is sensitive to them.

6:35 t he practice of loving one’s enemies is modeled by God Himself, who is kind to the unthankful and evil. Jesus also notes that the reward will be great for the losses suffered while practicing this type of love. t his reward will be a hundredfold—that is, ten thousand percent (matt. 19:28, 29).

6:37 Judge not . . . Condemn not . . . Forgive: t he idea here is not that one should ignore sin or refuse to discuss its consequences (see 11:39-52; Gal. 6:1, 2); rather, one should be gracious and quick to forgive.

6:38 good measure: t his illustration comes from the marketplace where grain was poured out, shaken down, and then filled to overflowing so the buyer received the full amount purchased. Such is the full measure that will be returned to one who has been generous.

6:39 The blind here refers to teachers who cannot see where they are going and are unable to lead others. Jesus was warning against self-righteousness and arrogance. it is debated whether Jesus was describing the Pharisees here or simply warning His disciples about dangerous attitudes. t he focus on the disciples’ attitudes suggests the latter, though the remark would also have applied to the teachers with whom Jesus was in conflict.

6:41 A speck represents a small fault in another person in contrast to a plank, which represents a large fault in the one making the criticism.

6:43-45 known by its own fruit: Actions, not words, indicate where one’s heart is.

Parable of the Two Foundations

Matt. 7:21-27

<sup>46j</sup>“But why do you call Me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do the things which I say?” <sup>47k</sup>Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like: <sup>48</sup>He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not shake it, for it was <sup>l</sup>founded on the rock. <sup>49</sup>But he who heard and did nothing is like a man who built a house on the earth without a foundation, against which the stream beat vehemently; and immediately it <sup>2</sup>fell. And the ruin of that house was great.”

A Centurion’s Servant Is Healed

7 Now when He concluded all His sayings in the hearing of the people, He <sup>a</sup>entered Capernaum. <sup>2</sup>And a certain centurion’s servant, who was dear to him, was sick and ready to die. <sup>3</sup>So when he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to Him, pleading with Him to come and heal his servant. <sup>4</sup>And when they came to Jesus, they begged Him earnestly, saying that the one for whom He should do this was deserving, <sup>5</sup>“for he loves our nation, and has built us a synagogue.”

<sup>6</sup>Then Jesus went with them. And when He was already not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, “Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I did not even think myself worthy to come to You. But <sup>b</sup>say the word, and my servant will be healed. <sup>8</sup>For I also am a man placed under <sup>c</sup>authority, having sol-

<sup>9</sup>When Jesus heard these things, He marveled at him, and turned around and said to the crowd that followed Him, “I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!” <sup>10</sup>And those who were sent, returning to the house, found the servant well <sup>l</sup>who had been sick.

A Widow’s Son Is Raised

<sup>11</sup>Now it happened, the day after, that He went into a city called Nain; and many of His disciples went with Him, and a large crowd. <sup>12</sup>And when He came near the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the city was with her. <sup>13</sup>When the Lord saw her, He had <sup>d</sup>compassion on her and said to her, <sup>e</sup>“Do not weep.” <sup>14</sup>Then He came and touched the open coffin, and those who carried him stood still. And He said, “Young man, I say to you, <sup>f</sup>arise.” <sup>15</sup>So he who was dead <sup>g</sup>sat up and began to speak. And He <sup>h</sup>presented him to his mother.

John’s Questions Are Answered

<sup>17</sup>And this report about Him went throughout all Judea and all the surrounding region.

6:46 Lord, Lord: Jesus pointed out that those who called Him by this title of respect acknowledged submission to Him. However, when these same people ignored His teaching, they were guilty of hypocrisy.

6:47–49 hears . . . and does: one who listens to and acts on Jesus’ teaching can face any difficult circumstance. heard and did nothing: not acting on Jesus’ teaching will cause a person to be overwhelmed by circumstances, eventually resulting in total loss (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15; 2 John 8).

7:1 Capernaum was on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee. it was an important town in northern Galilee with an economy centered on fishing and agriculture. Heavily Jewish, it was the center for Jesus’ Galilean ministry (4:31–44).

7:5 built us a synagogue: the Roman government regarded synagogues as valuable because their moral emphasis helped maintain order.

7:8 the centurion compared his authority as a commander of soldiers to Jesus’ authority over life and health. the centurion knew that Jesus’ word alone was sufficient to heal his servant.

7:9 not even in Israel: the centurion’s example of faith came from outside the nation of Israel. this is one of only two cases where Jesus was said to “marvel” (see mark 6:6).

7:12 a dead man was being carried out: this was a funeral procession. the cemetery was located outside the city gates. Funerals were normally held the day of death because keeping a body overnight rendered a house unclean. Before the funeral the body was anointed. in a town the size of nain (v. 11) many would have stopped to share in the mourning.

7:14, 15 the fact that Jesus touched the coffin indicated that He preferred helping the dead man to remaining ceremonially clean (see n um. 19:11, 16).

7:16 the crowd recognized the parallel between Jesus’ raising of the widow’s son and the work of the great prophets Elijah (see 1 Kin. 17:17–24) and Elisha (see 2 Kin. 4:8–37).

7:19 Are You the Coming One: John’s uncertainty may have been due to the fact that Jesus did not show signs of being the political and conquering messiah that most Jews were anticipating in that period.

You <sup>n</sup> the Coming One, or <sup>d</sup> do we look for another?"

<sup>20</sup> When the men had come to Him, they said, "John the Baptist has sent us to You, saying, 'Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?'" <sup>21</sup> And that very hour He cured many of <sup>5</sup> infirmities, afflictions, and evil spirits; and to many blind He gave sight.

Jesus Praises John

<sup>24</sup> When the messengers of John had departed, He began to speak to the multitudes concerning John: "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind? <sup>25</sup> But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed those who are gorgeously appareled and live in luxury are in kings' courts. <sup>26</sup> But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet. <sup>27</sup> This is he of whom it is written:

Jesus Criticizes His Generation

<sup>31</sup> <sup>1</sup> And the Lord said, <sup>a</sup> "To what then shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like? <sup>32</sup> They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, saying:

*'We played the flute for you,
And you did not dance;
We mourned to you,
And you did not weep.'*

A Woman Anoints Jesus' Feet

<sup>36</sup> <sup>f</sup> Then one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him. And He went to the Pharisee's house, and sat down to eat. <sup>37</sup> And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at the table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of fragrant oil, <sup>38</sup> and stood at His feet behind Him weeping; and she began to wash His feet

7:24-26 t he questions that Jesus asked were designed to emphasize that John the Baptist played a special role in God's plan. t he crowds did not go out to the wilderness to see scenery or a man dressed in special clothes, but to see a prophet.

7:27 My messenger: t he citation here is from mal. 3:1 (see also matt. 11:10; mark 1:2). John the Baptist was the promised elijah figure who would point the way to the arrival of God's salvation (1:16, 17; 3:4-6).

7:28 he who is least in the kingdom of God: Jesus emphasizes the contrast between the old and new eras. John was the greatest prophet ever born. But the lowest person in the new era of God's kingdom is higher than the greatest prophet of the old era.

7:29, 30 Luke, in an aside, contrasts the responses to John's message. The tax collectors justified God, which means that they responded to John's message by submitting to John's baptism. t he Pharisees, however, rejected the will of God, which means that they refused to listen to John and were not baptized (see matt. 3:7-12).

7:31-34 Jesus made a comparison between children playing a game in the marketplace and the present generation of israel, referring especially to the Jewish religious leaders. t he leaders were like the children in that they complained no matter what tune was played. John the Baptist refused to eat bread or drink wine, and the religious leaders dismissed him as demon-possessed. in contrast, Jesus, the Son of Man, was accused of living loosely and associating with sinners. n o matter what the style of God's messenger was, the religious leaders complained and rejected him.

7:35 God's wisdom is vindicated by those who respond to it and receive blessing.

7:36 one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him: t his event is not the same as the one in matt. 26:6-13; mark 14:3-9; John 12:1-8. t he event described in those passages occurred in the house of a leper, a place where no Pharisee would ever have gone. sat down to eat: A meal with a religious figure in the ancient world was arranged so that the invited guest was at the main table while others were along the outside wall of the room listening to the conversation.

7:37, 38 t he woman's sin is not specified. t his woman is not mary magdalene of 8:2, since in that passage she is introduced as a new figure. t he woman's anointing of Jesus was in response to Jesus' message of compassion for sinners (vv. 41-43, 50). An alabaster flask was made of soft stone to preserve the quality of the precious and expensive perfume. t here is humility and devotion in the woman's act of service, as well as a great deal of courage, as she performed the deed in front of a crowd that knew her as a sinner. Although the woman does not say a word in the entire account, her actions speak volumes about her contrite heart.

with her tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head; and she kissed His feet and anointed them with the fragrant oil. <sup>39</sup>Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he spoke to himself, saying, <sup>g</sup>“This Man, if He were a prophet, would know who and what manner of woman this is who is touching Him, for she is a sinner.”

The Parable of the Two Debtors

<sup>40</sup>And Jesus answered and said to him, “Simon, I have something to say to you.” So he said, “Teacher, say it.”

<sup>41</sup>“There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. One owed five hundred <sup>h</sup>denarii, and the other fifty. <sup>42</sup>And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. Tell Me, therefore, which of them will love him more?”

And He said to him, “You have rightly judged.” <sup>44</sup>Then He turned to the woman and said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave Me no <sup>i</sup>water for My feet, but she has washed My feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head. <sup>45</sup>You gave Me no <sup>j</sup>kiss, but this woman has not ceased to kiss My feet since the time I came in. <sup>46</sup><sup>k</sup>You did not anoint My head with oil, but this woman has anointed My feet with fragrant oil. <sup>47</sup><sup>l</sup>Therefore I say to you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little.”

Certain Women Minister to Christ

8 Now it came to pass, afterward, that He went through every city and village, preaching and <sup>1</sup>bringing the glad tidings

7:39 if He were a prophet: t he Pharisee doubted Jesus’ credentials because He associated so openly with sinners. Jesus’ association with sinners is a prominent theme in Luke (v. 34; 5:8, 30, 32; 13:2; 15:1, 2, 7, 10; 18:13; 19:7; 24:7). A Pharisee would reject such associations.

7:40 I have something to say: Jesus’ reply indicates that He knew the reputation of the woman, but was more interested in what the woman could become through the grace of God.

7:41 Jesus often compared sin to a monetary debt. A denarius was a day’s wage for a basic laborer, so five hundred denarii was approximately the wages of one and a half years.

7:42 which of them will love him more: Jesus’ point is that the amount of love showered on the Savior will be in direct proportion with one’s sense of the gravity of the sins that the Savior has forgivnearly every society and every city in biblical times had a large underclass. tending to congregate in the cities, the underclass included the poor, the sick, the disabled, the lepers, the blind, the insane, the demon-possessed, widows, orphans, and refugees. Lacking resources to provide for even their basic needs, many turned to begging, stealing, menial labor, slavery, or prostitution. Few cultures made provision for these desperate, destitute wanderers, and so they remained largely powerless to change their condition. Yet it was to the underclass that Jesus intentionally directed much of His life and ministry.

The Underclass

7:44–46 Jesus contrasted the actions of the woman with the actions of the Pharisee Simon, implying that the woman knew more about forgiveness than Simon (v. 47).

The Parable of the Soils

Matt. 13:1-23; Mark 4:1-20

<sup>4</sup>c And when a great multitude had gathered, and they had come to Him from every city, He spoke by a parable: <sup>5</sup>a “A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trampled down, and the birds of the air devoured it. <sup>6</sup>b Some fell on rock; and as soon as it sprang up, it withered away because it lacked moisture. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it. <sup>8</sup>But others fell on good ground, sprang up, and yielded <sup>5</sup>a crop a hundredfold.” When He had said these things He cried, <sup>d</sup>“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

<sup>10</sup> And He said, “To you it has been given to know the <sup>6</sup>mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is given in parables, that

f “Seeing they may not see,
And hearing they may not understand.”

<sup>11</sup>g “Now the parable is this: The seed is the <sup>h</sup>word of God. <sup>12</sup>Those by the wayside are the ones who hear; then the devil comes and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved. <sup>13</sup>But the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear, receive the

Parable of the Lamp

Christ's True Brethren

<sup>19</sup>q Then His mother and brothers came to Him, and could not approach Him because of the crowd. <sup>20</sup>And it was told Him by some, who said, “Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see You.”

<sup>21</sup> But He answered and said to them, as though for the first time makes it unlikely that she was the sinful woman of 7:36–50. mary magdalene is also distinct from mary of Bethany in John 12:3. Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward: news of Jesus had reached Herod's palace. provided for Him from their substance: t his is an example of how some women of means used their wealth to benefit the work of God.

8:4–8 in the ancient world, fields were sown sometimes before and sometimes after plowing. Paths often cut through fields. Sometimes seed would take root on these paths, where it could not mature. in addition, some soil was rocky and also could not support a successful crop.

8:10 Jesus' parables both concealed and revealed truths. His parables contained fresh teaching—mysteries—concerning the kingdom of God. t the disciples were privileged to learn the truths of the parables. For other listeners, the parables served as judgments that concealed truth, as the reference to is. 6:9 indicates. o n occasion, a parable was understood by an outsider but was not accepted, thus still functioning as a message of judgment (20:9–19).

8:11 word of God: t the parallel in matt. 13:19 speaks of the seed as the “word of the kingdom,” a point that Luke makes in v. 10. t he soils do not represent individual moments of decision as much as a lifelong response to God's word.

8:12 Because those by the wayside never really gain an understanding (see matt. 13:19) of the word of God before Satan snatches it away, there is really no productivity at all.

8:13 believe for a while . . . fall away: Brief and superficial encounters with the word of God will not stand times of testing. A person needs to meditate on the truths in Scripture and establish them as principles for living in order to withstand the trials and temptations that will inevitably come.

8:14 According to this parable, cares, riches, and pleasures of life are three great obstacles to spiritual fruitfulness. t he concerns of life can squelch spiritual growth. t his type of “soil” is viewed as tragically unsuccessful (see 2 tim. 2:4; 4:10).

8:15 keep it and bear fruit: t his is the one praiseworthy group in the parable. t he key here is a noble and good heart. t his “soil” allows the word of God to settle in and become productive (see John 15:2, 3; Col. 3:16, 17; James 1:21).

8:16 sets it on a lampstand: Continuing with the theme of the word of God introduced in vv. 4–15, Jesus compares His teaching to light. it should not be hidden, but displayed, so that people can benefit from the illumination it gives.

8:17 come to light: eventually everything will be revealed by the light of the word of God (see Heb. 4:12, 13).

8:18 take heed how you hear: Jesus explicitly warned His audience to listen to and follow the word of God (see James 1:22–25). what he seems to have will be taken: t his phrase introduces the principle of judgment. t he one who responds to the word of God receives more. t he one who does not respond to the word of God loses what he thought he had.

8:19, 20 Jesus' family was concerned about the direction of His ministry (see mark 3:31–35). t hough some have suggested that the brothers here were sons of Joseph by a previous marriage or cousins of Jesus, most likely they were the sons of Joseph and mary. Joseph's absence here may mean that he had died by this time.

8:21 My mother and My brothers: in a clear contrast to v. 19, Jesus declared that His true family consists of those who hear and do the word of God.

The Province of Galilee

t he territories of naphthali, Zebulun, and issachar constituted the region of Galilee that bordered Lake Chinnereth in o t times. Lake Chinnereth was later called Lake of Gennesaret (5:1), the Sea of tiberias (John 6:1), or the Sea of Galilee (matt. 4:18). Although it may sound large, the Sea of Galilee is actually a small lake, about 6 miles wide and 15 miles long. Under Rome's rule, the provinces of Galilee, Judah, and Samaria were part of Herod's kingdom. Herod the Great supposedly rid Galilee of robbers and repopulated the north with Jews. Once known as "Galilee of the Gentiles" (is. 9:1), it became a vigorously Jewish region. Jesus conducted most of His ministry in the province of Galilee.

The Storm Is Stilled

<sup>22</sup> Now it happened, on a certain day, that He got into a boat with His disciples. And He said to them, "Let us cross over to the other side of the lake." And they launched out. <sup>23</sup> But as they sailed He fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water, and were in <sup>1</sup> jeopardy. <sup>24</sup> And they came to Him and awoke Him, saying, "Master, Master, we are perishing!"

Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water. And they ceased, and there was a calm. <sup>25</sup> But He said to them, <sup>s</sup> "Where is your faith?"

And they were afraid, and marveled, saying to one another, <sup>t</sup> "Who can this be? For He commands even the winds and water, and they obey Him!"

Demons Are Cast into Swine

And he said, "Legion," because many demons had entered him. <sup>31</sup> And they begged Him that He would not command them to go out <sup>y</sup> into the abyss.

8:23 windstorm: t he calming of the wind is the first of four miracles in vv. 22-56 that demonstrate Jesus' authority over a variety of phenomena—nature, demons, disease, and death. t his first miracle took place on the Sea of Galilee. Cool air rushing down the ravines and hills of the area collides with warm air, causing sudden and strong storms. even the experienced fishermen in the boat feared this kind of storm.

8:24 they ceased: At Jesus' word, all the chaos of the storm stopped. Such control over nature is attributed to God in the ot (see Ps. 104:3; 135:7; n ah. 1:4).

8:25 Where is your faith: Jesus' question was a rebuke of His disciples. Because God was aware of their situation, they could trust in His protection, for He was powerful enough to control the mighty winds and waves. Who can this be: t his is the real question of Jesus' entire Galilean ministry, the beginning of which is recorded in 4:14. All of the displays of Jesus' authority during this ministry were designed to raise this question of His identity. they obey Him: t he closest precedent to Jesus' power over nature was the miracles of the prophet elijah (see 1 Kin. 17:1; 18:38, 44, 45). t he disciples already sensed that Jesus was more than a prophet.

8:26 t he city of the Gadarenes (see matt. 8:28) was probably a town about five miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. w hatever its exact location, it was situated in a predominantly Gentile region.

8:28 t he demon's confession of Jesus as Son of the Most High God recalls the angel's announcement to mary in 1:31, <sup>32</sup> and the demonic confessions of 4:34, 41.

8:30 Legion: t his name reflects the fact that the man was possessed by multiple demons. A legion was a Roman military unit of about six thousand soldiers; thus the name suggests a spiritual battle.

8:31 The abyss is an allusion to the underworld and the destruction of judgment (see Rom 10:7).

8:32 Swine were unclean animals for Jews (see Lev. 11:7; deut. 14:8). even though this incident took place in a Gentile area, it is still interesting to note that the unclean spirits sought out unclean animals.

to enter them. And He permitted them. <sup>33</sup>Then the demons went out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the lake and drowned.

<sup>38</sup>Now <sup>h</sup>the man from whom the demons had departed begged Him that he might be with Him. But Jesus sent him away, saying, <sup>39</sup>“Return to your own house, and tell what great things God has done for you.” And he went his way and proclaimed throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

<sup>40</sup>So it was, when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him.

8:35 sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind: t his is a contrast to the same man who was roaming the tombs previously (vv. 27, 29). t the man’s position at Jesus’ feet paints a picture of true discipleship (10:38–42).

8:37 t here is some speculation that the reason the people asked Jesus to depart was to prevent further economic damage to their herds. According to Luke, the people were afraid of the authoritative presence of Jesus.

8:38, 39 t the man who was formerly demon-possessed wanted to go with Jesus and His disciples, but Jesus commissioned the man to be a witness in his own community. Jesus had done: t though Jesus wanted the Father to receive the credit for the man’s healing, the man could not separate what God did from the role Jesus had played.

8:41 ruler: Jairus was the main elder of the synagogue. As such, he conducted the service and kept order.

8:44 her flow of blood stopped: t his condition not only would have been embarrassing, it would have made the woman unclean

(see Lev. 15:25–31). it took great courage for her to seek out Jesus. n note that her action was not criticized, but commended (v. 48).

8:49 Your daughter is dead: t the delay caused by the woman with the blood disorder appeared to have been fatal for Jairus’s daughter.

8:50 only believe: t this miracle highlights not only the authority of Jesus, but also the response of faith that God honors.

8:51 He permitted no one to go in except Peter, James, and John: t the reason Jesus singled out these three disciples is not given. Luke records a similar action in 9:28. matthew and mark record a similar singling out at Gethsemane (see matt. 26:37; mark 14:33).

8:52 Sleeping, a common metaphor for death, indicates in this passage that the girl’s death was not permanent.

8:53 they ridiculed Him: t the term used here suggests that the derision included laughter.

8:56 t the reason for Jesus’ command for silence in this verse is not entirely clear, given that anyone could have deduced what had happened. t the situation seems odd in light of Jesus’ instruction to the demon-possessed man to proclaim what had occurred to him in

Twelve Are Sent to Preach

9 Then <sup>a</sup>He called His twelve disciples together and <sup>b</sup>gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure diseases. <sup>2c</sup>He sent them to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick. <sup>3d</sup>And He said to them, “Take nothing for the journey, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor money; and do not have two tunics apiece.

<sup>7i</sup>Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Him; and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had risen from the dead, <sup>8</sup>and by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again. <sup>9</sup>Herod said, “John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things?” <sup>j</sup>So he sought to see Him.

<sup>10k</sup>And the apostles, when they had returned, told Him all that they had done. <sup>l</sup>Then He took them and went aside privately into a deserted place belonging to the city called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup>But when the multitudes knew it, they followed Him; and He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who had need of healing.

twelve came and said to Him, “Send the multitude away, that they may go into the surrounding towns and country, and lodge and get provisions; for we are in a deserted place here.”

And they said, “We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy food for all these people.” <sup>14</sup>For there were about five thousand men.

Then He said to His disciples, “Make them sit down in groups of fifty.” <sup>15</sup>And they did so, and made them all sit down.

<sup>16</sup>Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He <sup>h</sup>blest and broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the multitude. <sup>17</sup>So they all ate and were <sup>l</sup>filled, and twelve baskets of the leftover fragments were taken up by them.

Peter’s Confession of Faith

<sup>18o</sup>And it happened, as He was alone praying, that His disciples joined Him, and He asked them, saying, “Who do the crowds say that I am?”

8:39, 45–47 and the public raising of the dead in 7:11–17. Jesus may have wanted to curtail such healings so that they would not become the center of His ministry.

9:2 to preach . . . to heal: t he entire nation of israel needed to see the evidence of the kingdom of God and make a decision concerning the King. Jesus commissioned His disciples to spread the word about God’s kingdom through preaching and healing.

9:7–9 At Herod’s palace, opinions varied as to whether Jesus was John the Baptist, Elijah (see mal. 3:1), or one of the prophets. t hough this passage suggests that Herod was uncertain about Jesus’ identity, matt. 14:2 and mark 6:16 indicate that Herod viewed Jesus as John the Baptist raised from the dead.

9:11 spoke . . . healed: Jesus had the same two-pronged ministry that the twelve disciples had: preaching and healing (v. 2). t he topic of Jesus’ preaching was always the kingdom of God.

9:13–17 t his is the only miracle of Jesus’ ministry that appears in all four Gospels (see matt. 14:13–21; mark 6:30–44; John 6:5–14). t he feeding of the five thousand demonstrated Jesus’ ability to provide. blest and broke: Some see an allusion here to the Lord’s table. t hough this is not made clear in Luke’s presentation, the description is similar to the table fellowship of the Last Supper

9:20 The Christ of God: t he emphasis here is on the messianic role of Jesus. He is the Promised o ne who was ushering in a new era. However, Jesus would soon reveal to the disciples that His messiahship would have elements of suffering that the disciples did not expect (see vv. 22, 23).

9:21 tell this to no one: Jesus knew that the messianic role that the people and the disciples expected was much different from His actual role as the messiah. t he element of suffering that the messiah would endure was not a part of popular expectation. t hus Jesus’ messiahship could not be openly proclaimed before the true nature of the messiah was revealed.

9:22 must suffer . . . be rejected . . . be killed . . . be raised: t his is the first of several predictions in Luke of Jesus’ suffering and vindication (v. 44; 12:50; 13:31–33; 17:25; 18:31–33). t he disciples struggled to understand what Jesus was saying (v. 45; 18:34). t hey could not comprehend how Jesus’ predictions fit into God’s plan. o nly after Jesus’ resurrection and His explanation of the Scriptures to them did they begin to understand (24:25–27, 44–49).

True Cost of Discipleship

<sup>23</sup> Then He said to them all, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross <sup>2</sup> daily, and follow Me. <sup>24</sup> For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it. <sup>25</sup> For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost? <sup>26</sup> For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him the Son of Man will be <sup>x</sup> ashamed when He comes in His own glory, and in His Father’s, and of the holy angels.

The Transfiguration

<sup>28</sup> Now it came to pass, about eight days after these sayings, that He took Peter, John, and James and went up on the mountain to pray. <sup>29</sup> As He prayed, the appearance of His face was altered, and His robe became white and glistening. <sup>30</sup> And behold, two men talked with Him, who were <sup>a</sup> Moses and <sup>b</sup> Elijah, <sup>31</sup> who appeared in glory and spoke of His <sup>3</sup> decease which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. <sup>32</sup> But Peter and those with him <sup>c</sup> were heavy with sleep; and when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men who stood with Him. <sup>33</sup> Then it happened, as they were parting from Him, that Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three <sup>4</sup> tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said.

Demoniac Son Is Healed

<sup>37</sup> Now it happened on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, that a great multitude met Him. <sup>38</sup> Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, “Teacher, I implore You, look on my son, for he is my only child. <sup>39</sup> And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth; and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him. <sup>40</sup> So I implored Your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.”

9:23 take up his cross daily: Although Jesus offered salvation as a free gift (John 1:12; 3:16-18; see eph. 2:8, 9), He also warned that following Him would entail suffering and hardship (matt. 5:10-12; see also Rom. 8:17; 2 t hess. 1:5).

9:24, 25 it makes no sense to attempt to save our lives on earth only to lose everything when our lives quickly and inevitably pass away. t the wise course is to invest our earthly resources—our time, talents, and wealth—in what is eternal. even if we lose our lives for Jesus’ sake, that investment will produce returns for all eternity (see 19:11-27; matt. 6:19-21; 19:27-30).

9:26 Recognition of Jesus will be rewarded in the coming judgment. Failure to recognize Him will lead to significant loss (see 1 Cor. 3:12-15; 2 Cor. 5:10; 2 t im. 2:12; 1 John 2:28; 2 John 7, 8; Rev. 3:11; 22:12).

9:27 till they see the kingdom of God: Since these disciples died before Jesus’ return, the reference here is no doubt to the t ransfiguration (vv. 28-36). with this there is probably also a prediction of the descent of the Spirit at Pentecost (10:9; 11:20; 17:21).

9:29 At the t ransfiguration Jesus was altered into a radiant figure, even down to His white and glistening clothes. t the description here is similar to the description of the glory of Moses after seeing God (ex. 34:29-35).

9:31 Decease is literally exodus. t his important allusion to the central ot event of salvation is unique to Luke’s account of the t ransfiguration. t he comparison is made between Jesus’ death and the journey to salvation that the nation of Israel experienced under Moses. Jesus’ journey would take Him to the side of God, from which He will return to exercise authority (see Acts 2:30-36; 10:42; 17:31).

9:33 let us make three tabernacles: Peter desired structures for the two ot visitors and Jesus, perhaps as a means of prolonging their visit. not knowing what he said: Peter did not see that Jesus was very different from Moses and Elijah; He was inaugurating a new era (see 5:36-39).

9:34 t he cloud is an allusion to the presence of God (see ex. 40:35).

9:35 This is My beloved Son: t his is the second heavenly endorsement of Jesus (see also 3:22). t he reference to the beloved Son recalls the words of Ps. 2:7; is. 42:1. t he command to hear Him alludes to deut. 18:15-18 and identifies Jesus as the Prophet promised in that passage. Jesus, as the new Prophet, would lead a new group of people into salvation (see matt. 21:43; Rom. 11:1-36; 1 Pet. 2:9, 10), just as Moses led the nation of Israel. As a Revealer of God’s will, Jesus had much to teach the disciples about God’s plan. t he disciples needed to listen because they had much to learn.

9:36 told no one: in this passage, we are not told why the disciples remained silent about the t ransfiguration. matt. 17:8, 9; mark 9:9, 10 note that Jesus commanded such silence and mark makes it clear that the disciples did not yet understand the event. See 2 Pet. 1:16-21 for Peter’s reflection on this experience.

decease

(Gk. exodos) (9:31; 2 Pet. 1:15) Strong’s #1841

t he Greek word means “departure”—literally “exodus,” meaning “the way out.” exodus is a beautiful euphemism for death. Elijah and Moses, having already made their exodus from earth to heaven were anticipating Jesus’ exodus via His death and resurrection. Peter used this term in speaking of his own departure (2 Pet. 1:15), and the very mention of “exodus” seems to have brought to Peter’s mind the t ransfiguration described in this passage (see 2 Pet. 1:15-18). Jesus had an exodus to accomplish. He was about to make a great transition—from His existence in the flesh on earth to an existence in heaven.

<sup>41</sup> Then Jesus answered and said, “O <sup>6</sup> faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and <sup>7</sup> bear with you? Bring your son here.” <sup>42</sup> And as he was still coming, the demon threw him down and convulsed him. Then Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father.

Christ Prophesies His Coming Death

<sup>43</sup> And they were all amazed at the majesty of God.

But while everyone marveled at all the things which Jesus did, He said to His disciples, <sup>44</sup> i “Let these words sink down into your ears, for the Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men.” <sup>45</sup> j But they did not understand this saying, and it was hidden from them so that they did not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this saying.

True Greatness

Samaria Rejects Christ

True Cost of Discipleship

<sup>57</sup> <sup>z</sup> Now it happened as they journeyed on the road, that someone said to Him, “Lord, I will follow You wherever You go.”

But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.”

9:41 O faithless and perverse generation: t his rebuke suggests that the disciples lacked the faith to cast out the spirit described in vv. 38–40. t here is also a hint of a competitive spirit among the disciples (v. 46).

9:44 n ote that Jesus predicted that He, the Son of Man, would be betrayed, even when many were still marveling at His ministry (v. 43).

9:45 they were afraid to ask: t he indication here is that the disciples still had much to learn. t heir fear shows that they understood something about what Jesus said, but they did not understand how and why Jesus could say such things about Himself, since He was the messiah. t he suffering of the messiah was something the disciples did not yet understand. t hey would continue to be confused in their understanding of how such suffering fit into God’s plan until Jesus’ death and resurrection (24:25, 26, 43–49).

9:46 which of them would be greatest: n ote the irony here. After Jesus predicted His suffering (v. 44), the disciples jockeyed for exalted positions in the kingdom (see 22:24; mark 10:35–45).

9:48 he who is least . . . will be great: Jesus’ point was that prominence is not measured by human standards of achievement, but by one’s relationship to God. Anyone related to God is great, even “the least” of His disciples.

9:51 set His face to go to Jerusalem: t his is the first indication that Jesus’ attention was turning toward His final suffering in Jerusalem (v. 53; 13:22, 33–35; 17:11; 18:31; 19:11, 28, 41). t he journey to Jerusalem was not direct, however. in 10:38–42, we find Jesus at martha and mary’s house in Bethany. in 17:11, we find Him in Samaria and Galilee. t he journey to Jerusalem proceeded only according to God’s design and in His timing. Jesus was nearing the destiny of His mission—that is, His death. Luke’s Gospel uniquely emphasizes this journey to Jerusalem. Luke records much of Jesus’ teaching and parables on this journey as Jesus contrasted His way of suffering with the way of the Jewish religious leaders.

9:52 Samaritans were the descendants of Jews who had married Gentiles after the fall of the northern kingdom, israel. t he Samaritans eventually developed their own religious rites which they practiced on mt. Gerizim instead of at the temple in Jerusalem. t hough there was deep hostility between Jews and Samaritans, Jesus ministered to both groups.

9:54 command fire to come down: James and John, the “sons of thunder,” wanted Jesus to bring judgment upon the Samaritan villages that refused to respond to His message, just as elijah had done in 2 Kin. 1:9–16. t heir demand for judgment was antithetical to Jesus’ loving response (v. 56).

9:57, 58 I will follow you: t his man volunteered to follow Jesus without reservation. His problem was that he had not realistically counted the cost of discipleship. His enthusiasm, based on his feelings of the moment, would not be strong enough to sustain him during the trials that lay ahead. Jesus warned the would-be disciple that He, the Son of Man, did not have even the ordinary comforts of home.

9:59 let me first go and bury my father: t his aspiring disciple placed family responsibilities ahead of following Jesus. t he concerns

Mission of the Seventy

<sup>21a</sup>In that hour Jesus rejoiced in the Spirit and said, “I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them to babes.

of home were this man’s stumbling block. Unlike the previous volunteer (v. 57), this man was slow, meditative, and contemplative. He was counting the cost of discipleship. Cultic purity was viewed as very important in Jewish circles, so a quick burial of the dead was required (7:11–17).

9:60 Jesus emphasized that a disciple must have clear priorities. t he call of God should receive priority over everything else.

9:62 Jesus’ remark about being fit for the kingdom of God demonstrates the seriousness of commitment to Him. Putting a hand to the plow means engaging in a task. Here the task is serving the kingdom. Looking back makes it difficult to plow straight furrows.

10:1 t he account of Jesus calling seventy disciples is unique to the Gospel of Luke. t he instructions that Jesus gave to these disciples are similar to the instructions He gave to the twelve in 9:1–6.

10:3 t he image of lambs among wolves was popular in Judaism. it derived from is. 40:11.

10:9 kingdom . . . near to you: Like v. 11, 11:20, and 17:21, this text shows how aspects of kingdom authority accompanied Jesus’ earthly ministry. t he healing Jesus brought pictured what the kingdom offered (11:20). Jesus’ ministry was the arrival of the initial stages of God’s rule, which Jesus will consummate at His return (17:20–37). God’s kingdom comes in stages. w hen Jesus came the first time, He was rejected. in His second coming, He will establish His complete rule over all.

10:13 t he mighty works of Jesus were so great that if they had been performed before the worst pagans of the old era, those people would have repented. Jesus’ remark was meant to wake the people up to what their rejection of Him signified.

10:16 He who hears you hears Me: Hearing the messenger is the same as hearing the one who sent him. Authority resides not in the messenger, but in the person the messenger represents, the source of the message.

10:18 t his verse provides a commentary on what the disciples’ healing ministry meant. t he reversal of the effects of sin and death, which Satan introduced through his deception in Gen. 3, are portrayed graphically as Satan falling from heaven. Jesus’ ministry and what grows out of it represents the defeat of Satan, sin, and death.

10:19, 20 t his verse records the transmission of Jesus’ authority to His immediate circle of disciples. it should be noted that similar authority was not given beyond that circle of disciples. note the authority that is given to the eleven in matt. 28:16–20; Acts 1:8. As Jesus makes clear in v. 20, authority was not the most important thing the disciples received. your names are written in heaven: more important than the disciples’ authority over spirits was their position as God’s children. t heir names were known to God and were written in God’s book. t his was the disciples’ greatest blessing.

Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. <sup>22b</sup>All <sup>7</sup> things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and <sup>c</sup>no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.”

<sup>23</sup>Then He turned to His disciples and said privately, <sup>d</sup>“Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see; <sup>24</sup>for I tell you <sup>e</sup>that many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and have not seen it, and to hear what you hear, and have not heard it.”

How to Inherit Eternal Life

<sup>27</sup>So he answered and said, <sup>g</sup>“You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind; and <sup>h</sup>your neighbor as yourself.”

certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among <sup>9</sup>thieves, who stripped him of his clothing, wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

<sup>31</sup>Now by chance a certain priest came down that road. And when he saw him, <sup>k</sup>he passed by on the other side. <sup>32</sup>Like-wise a Levite, when he arrived at the place, came and looked, and passed by on the other side. <sup>33</sup>But a certain <sup>l</sup>Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had <sup>m</sup>compassion. <sup>34</sup>So he went to him and bandaged his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

<sup>35</sup>On the next day, <sup>l</sup>when he departed, he took out two <sup>n</sup>denarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, “Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you.” <sup>36</sup>So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?”

Then Jesus said to him, <sup>o</sup>“Go and do likewise.”

Mary and Martha Are Contrasted

<sup>38</sup>Now it happened as they went that He entered a certain village; and a certain woman named <sup>p</sup>Martha welcomed Him

10:22 All things have been delivered to Me: t his is Jesus’ declaration of total authority as the Son of God (see John 10:18; 17:2). He makes a similar statement in matt. 28:18. except the Father . . . except the Son: Jesus declares His unique relationship with God the Father. t the Lord reveals Himself only through Jesus. to know God, one must know His Son, Jesus.

10:24 have not seen . . . heard it: Jesus contrasted the ot era of expectation, in which people desired to see the messiah but did not, with the era in which the disciples were living, if they had the spiritual insight they could witness the fulfillment in Jesus of many of God’s promises.

10:25, 26 t he question posed by the lawyer is really a challenge, since the verse speaks of the testing of Jesus. t his is a similar, though probably distinct, event from matt. 22:34–40; mark 12:28–34. t o inherit something is to receive it. in other words, the man was asking, “what must i do to share in the reward at the resurrection of the righteous at the end?” (see Phil. 3:11–14). t he ot basis of this question is the hope of resurrection in dan. 12:2. Jesus countered the lawyer’s test by having him answer his own question.

10:27 you shall love the LORD . . . and your neighbor: t he lawyer responded to Jesus’ questions by quoting deut. 6:5, a text that was recited twice a day by every faithful Jew. t his text summarized the central ethical standard of the Law. t he lawyer also alluded to Lev. 19:18. t he basis of the man’s response is an expression of allegiance and devotion that also can be seen as the natural expression of faith, since the total person, heart, soul, strength, and mind, is involved. t he theme of love for God is picked up in vv. 38–42 with its emphasis on devotion to Jesus, and in 11:1–13, where the disciples are taught to be devoted to God in prayer. in vv. 30–37 Jesus develops the theme of love for one’s neighbor.

10:28 do this and you will live: Jesus was not saying that righteousness is the result of works. Rather He was saying that love for and obedience to God will be a natural result of placing one’s faith in the Lord. t hose who believe in Jesus and follow Him will receive eternal rewards. Jesus states this principle to Peter in matt. 19:27–30.

10:29 Luke makes it clear that the lawyer was trying to place himself in the position of satisfying the highest demands of the Law. who is my neighbor: t his question was an attempt to limit the demands of the Law by suggesting that some people are neighbors while others are not. t he lawyer was looking for minimal obedience while Jesus was looking for absolute obedience.

10:30 Jerusalem to Jericho: t his was a 17 mile journey on a road known to harbor many robbers. t hey would hide in caves along the way and attack their victims.

10:33 Part of the beauty of the story of the Good Samaritan is the reversal of stereotypes. t he priest and Levite traditionally would have been the “good guys.” t he Samaritan would have been a “bad guy,” a person who compromised in religious matters. However, the Samaritan knew how to treat his neighbor. t he neighbor here was not someone the Samaritan knew or even someone of the same race, just someone in need.

10:34 Oil was used to soothe wounds. Wine was used as a disinfectant.

10:35 two denarii . . . I will repay: t he Samaritan, if he paid a typical rate of one-twelfth of a denarius a day, paid for 24 days at the inn.

10:36 which . . . was neighbor: t he central issue is not determining who one’s neighbor is, but being a good neighbor to all.

10:37 He who showed mercy: t he lawyer apparently could not bring himself to say “Samaritan” and lend credence to the surprising reversal of stereotypes in the story.

10:38 a certain village: if this is the Martha and Mary of John 11:1–12:8, then the location is Bethany, just outside Jerusalem (see John 11:1, 19; 12:1). t his text suggests that the “Jerusalem journey” of 9:51–19:44 was not a direct trip to Jerusalem, but a journey of drawing near to the time for Jesus’ death.

The Unnoticed Whom Luke Notices

In Jesus' day, the Samaritans were despised by orthodox Jews because most of the Jews from that region had intermarried with foreigners. The irony of the parable of the Good Samaritan is that a scorned Samaritan knows how to show love to his neighbor, whereas a priest and Levite, who had intimate knowledge of God's law, do not. The Book of Luke highlights Jesus' love for a variety of groups who were not esteemed in His day.

The Lord's Prayer

11 Now it came to pass, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, that one of His disciples said to Him, "Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples."

Parable of the Persistent Friend

<sup>5</sup>And He said to them, "Which of you shall have a friend, and go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves; <sup>6</sup>for a friend of mine has come to me on his journey, and I have nothing to set before him'; <sup>7</sup>and he will answer from within and say, 'Do not trouble me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give to you'? <sup>8</sup>I say to you, <sup>c</sup>though he will not rise and give to him because he is his friend, yet because of his persistence he will rise and give him as many as he needs.

10:40 martha was distracted by the amount of serving she had to do. Her complaint to Jesus indicates that she was irritated that her sister was not helping her.

10:41 Jesus' tender reply is evident in the double address of Martha, Martha (6:46; 8:24; 13:34; 22:31). He notes that martha was anxiety-ridden over ordinary matters.

10:42 that good part: mary was a silent example. She said nothing, but did what was right by devoting herself to Jesus' teaching.

11:1 t the Lord's Prayer illustrates the variety of requests that one can and should make to God, as well as displaying the humble attitude that should accompany prayer. t he use of the plural pronoun us throughout the prayer shows that it is not just the prayer of one person for his or her own personal needs, but a community prayer.

11:2 Father: God is approached confidently as a caring figure. Hallowed: in the context of intimacy with God, there also is respect and recognition of His uniqueness. Hallowed means that God is holy, set apart, unique in His character and attributes. Your kingdom come:

t he reference here is to God's program and promise. t his is more affirmation than request, highlighting the petitioner's submission to God's will and the desire to see God's work come to pass.

11:3 our daily bread: t his request recognizes that one is dependent on God for daily needs.

11:4 forgive us our sins: t his request recognizes that sin is a debt to God that needs to be acknowledged on the basis of His mercy. we also forgive: t he petitioner recognizes that if mercy is to be sought from God, then mercy must be shown to others. we need to adopt the same standard that we expect others to follow. do not lead us into temptation: t his remark is often misunderstood as suggesting that perhaps God can lead us into sin. t he point is that if one is to avoid sin, one must follow where God leads. in short, the petitioner asks God for the spiritual protection necessary to avoid falling into sin.

11:8 Persistence here refers to shameless boldness more than to tenacity. Jesus' point is that in prayer the disciple is to be bold. t he example in the parable (vv. 5–7) is a man who goes boldly to his

<sup>9d</sup>“So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; <sup>e</sup>seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. <sup>10</sup>For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.

Parable of the Good Father

<sup>11f</sup>If a son asks for <sup>5</sup>bread from any father among you, will he give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent instead of a fish? <sup>12</sup>Or if he asks for an egg, will he offer him a scorpion? <sup>13</sup>If you then, being evil, know how to give <sup>g</sup>good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!”

Christ Heals the Demonic

<sup>14h</sup>And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute. So it was, when the demon had gone out, that the mute spoke; and the multitudes marveled.

Christ's Power Not from Satan

brought to desolation, and a house divided against a house falls. <sup>18</sup>If Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out demons by Beelzebub. <sup>19</sup>And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. <sup>20</sup>But if I cast out demons <sup>m</sup>with the finger of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you. <sup>21 n</sup>When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are in peace. <sup>22</sup>But <sup>o</sup>when a stronger than he comes upon him and overcomes him, he takes from him all his armor in which he trusted, and divides his <sup>7</sup>spoils. <sup>23 p</sup>He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters.

neighbor to seek what he requires. Likewise, the disciple is to go boldly to God for that which is needed.

11:10 receives: t his verse does not mean that we receive whatever we want in prayer. As v. 13 demonstrates, with its reference to receiving God's Spirit, the suggestion is that we receive what is spiritually beneficial.

11:13 how much more will your heavenly Father give: if people, who are evil, can give good gifts, imagine the value of God's gift of the Holy Spirit. if anyone does not have the Holy Spirit, that person does not belong to Christ (see Rom. 8:9). in the triune Godhead, the Holy Spirit is the divine distributor (see 1 Cor. 12:11) of the good things purchased by the Son (see eph. 4:7, 8) and ordained by the Father.

11:15 Jesus' miracles were so obvious that they required some kind of explanation. if He was not to be believed, His miracles had to be demonic in origin. t his was the ultimate blasphemy—attributing the credentials of heaven to hell. t he Latin name Beelzebub was originally a reference to the Philistine god Baal-Zebub worshiped at the city of ekron (see 2 Kin. 1:2, 3, 6, 16). t he name means “Lord of the Flies.”

11:17, 18 t he attribution of Jesus' miracles to Satan was not only blasphemous, it was illogical. if Satan had cast out the demon (v. 14), he would have been destroying the result of his own work.

11:19 by whom do your sons cast them out: Jesus' question and the implied reply to it can be taken in one of two ways: (1) How did Jewish exorcists expel demons? if the answer is by God's power, then why not give Jesus the same credit? (2) How did Jesus' disciples, who were the “sons” of israel, drive out demons? t he dissenters not only had to explain Jesus' miracles, but those of His followers. most scholars prefer the former interpretation.

11:20 The finger of God is an allusion to God's power, like that demonstrated in the exodus (see ex. 8:19; deut. 9:10; Ps. 8:3). the kingdom of God has come upon you: Jesus' miracles represented the arrival of God's power and promise—in short, His rule. t that rule comes in and through Jesus. t he miracles of Jesus demonstrated God's victory over the forces of evil. t he kingdom program, depicted as drawing near, will be consummated at the return of Jesus when this rule is manifested over every creature.

11:22 Jesus portrays Himself as someone stronger than Satan who overruns Satan's house and gives the spoils of victory to those who are His (see eph. 4:8, 9 for a similar concept).

11:23 He who is not with Me . . . does not gather: Jesus' ministry forces everyone to make a choice. n eutrality is not an option. either Jesus comes from God or He does not. n ot to align with Jesus is to be against Him.

11:25 swept: t he exorcised person becomes like a clean house, although empty if God is not present, and still exposed to spiritual danger.

11:26 the last state . . . is worse: Jesus' point is that experiencing God's blessing and then ignoring it leaves one callous towards the work of God and exposed to the control of demonic forces.

11:27, 28 Blessed is the womb: t he woman offered praise for Jesus' mother. t hough Jesus always honored mary, He commented carefully on the woman's blessing to keep the focus on the word of God. it is easy to allow traditional practices to take the place of the authority of the Scriptures. Jesus offers His blessing to those who respond concretely to God's will as expressed in the Bible.

Lamps

Lamps were very common in Jewish homes. They burned olive oil, pitch, naphtha, or wax, and they had wicks of cotton or flax. (A Jewish tradition says that the priests made wicks for the lamps of the temple from their old linen garments.) The poorer Israelites made their lamps of clay, while the wealthy had lamps of bronze and other metals.

The Israelites let their lamps burn all night, since light made them feel safer. We are told that the family would rather go without food than let their lamps go out, since that indicated that they had deserted their house (Job 18:5, 6). The writer of Proverbs praises the prudent wife, saying, “Her lamp does not go out by night” (Prov. 31:18). Several other Bible passages show that the lamp symbolized the life and dignity of a family (cf. Job 21:17; Jer. 25:10).

Christ's Only Sign Is Jonah

“Woes” on the Pharisees

<sup>37</sup>And as He spoke, a certain Pharisee asked Him to dine with him. So He went in and sat down to eat. <sup>38d</sup>When the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed before dinner.

11:30-32 Jesus warned that refusal to hear Him would result in condemnation from those in the OT who had responded to God's teaching. The examples Jesus offered included Gentiles such as the queen of the South (the queen of Sheba in 1 Kin. 10:1-10) and the Ninevites (see Jon. 3). Because Jesus is greater than those who proclaimed God's word in those days—Solomon and Jonah, His word should have been heeded by the first-century Israelites.

11:34 It has been said that “you are what you eat.” But even more accurately, you are what you see. This is why David said, “I will set nothing wicked before my eyes” (Ps. 101:3). A person who concentrates on what is good (God's teaching) is healthy. But a person who focuses on what is bad (the false teaching of the world) is full of darkness.

11:36 your whole body is full of light: A person can become like light, a living picture of what God's word teaches, by concentrating on the light of the truth.

11:38 He had not first washed before dinner: Such ceremonial washing is described in the OT (see Gen. 18:4; Judg. 19:21), but not commanded.

11:39 make the outside . . . clean: These condemnations by Jesus are similar to those in Matt. 23. The Pharisees washed the outside of cups, making sure that the cups had not become unclean through contact with a dead insect (see Lev. 11:31-38). Jesus pointed out that the Pharisees concerned themselves with outward appearances and ritual cleanness, while what was inside, what really counts, was full of selfishness and evil.

ish ones! Did not <sup>g</sup>He who made the outside make the inside also? <sup>h</sup>But rather give alms of <sup>3</sup>such things as you have; then indeed all things are clean to you.

Christ Warns About Hypocrisy

11:42 pass by: t he Pharisees worried about tithing ten percent, even down to the smallest herbs, which were tithed according to the dictates of tradition, not the Law of Moses (see n um. 18:21–32; deut. 14:22–29; see also Lev. 27:30 for the practice of tithing herbs). t he Law spoke of tithing all produce, but what constituted food was debated. Some Pharisees took the strictest interpretation and counted almost anything, including spices. However, they neglected two basic things that the prophets also had warned about: love and justice (see mic. 6:8; Zech. 7:8–10).

11:44 t he Pharisees were like hidden graves. to have contact with a grave or with the dead was to become ceremonially unclean (see n um. 19:11–19). Anyone or anything in the same room as the dead was considered in Jewish tradition to be impure. t his is Jesus’ stronger condemnation. t he Pharisees, the paragons of purity, were in fact the height of uncleanness.

11:46 Jesus applied His woes to lawyers as well as to the Pharisees. in everyday Greek, the term translated burdens refers to a ship’s cargo. t he idea is that a heavy strain was being imposed on the people and yet, in the end, this burden did not bring them closer to God. Here Jesus rebuked the tradition that had grown up around the Law of Moses. you yourselves do not touch the burdens: t he meaning of this phrase is debated. was Jesus accusing the scribes of hypocrisy in not practicing what they taught and in making distinctions that freed them from obligations, as they did with oaths (see matt. 5:33–37)? or was Jesus simply accusing the scribes of not offering aid and compassion to those who tried to follow their rules? t he second interpretation is more likely, since the Pharisees were known for adhering to the Law.

11:47, 48 you build the tombs of the prophets: Jesus made a biting, ironic comparison between the current generation of Israel and the generations of the past. Jesus was saying that the current generation finished the job of slaying of the prophets that the previous generation had started. t he building and care of tombs was supposed to be an act of honoring the prophets, but Jesus pointed out that something else was really going on.

11:49 The wisdom of God refers to God’s knowledge of the people. t he prophets and apostles who would be persecuted and killed were the disciples and the prophets of the early church. t his is the basis of Jesus’ previous rebuke (vv. 47, 48). t hose who would come in the current generation with the message of God would suffer the same fate as the prophets of old.

11:50 Generation seems to refer to the people or nation of Israel. t hey had received and would receive judgment for the way they treated God’s prophets. t he judgment here refers specifically to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, and ultimately to the final judgment of God in the tribulation.

11:50, 51 Abel is pictured as the first prophet to be killed, going back to the foundation of the world (see Gen. 4:10). Zechariah is probably the man described in 2 Chr. 24:20–25. He would be the last prophet slain in the ot if one considers the Hebrew order of the books of the ot.

11:52 Jesus charged the lawyers with doing the opposite of what they claimed their calling to be. Rather than bringing people nearer to God, they had removed the possibility of their entering into that knowledge, and had prevented others from understanding as well.

11:54 seeking to catch Him: t he scribes and Pharisees began challenging Jesus in the hope that He might make a blunder that would allow them to destroy His ministry. t hey were lying in wait for Him (6:11; 19:47, 48; 20:19, 20; 22:2).

12:1, 2 Leaven here represents the presence of corruption. Unleavened bread is what the Jews ate at Passover (see ex. 12:14–20). t he corruption in view here is hypocrisy. Practicing hypocrisy is senseless because eventually all deeds—both good and evil—will be exposed.

12:3 will be proclaimed on the housetops: All secrets will be revealed by God (see Rom. 2:15, 16; 1 Cor. 4:5). t he inner room was ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

<sup>4d</sup>“And I say to you, <sup>e</sup>My friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do. <sup>5</sup>But I will show you whom you should fear: Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, <sup>f</sup>fear Him!

<sup>8h</sup>“Also I say to you, whoever confesses Me <sup>i</sup>before men, him the Son of Man also will confess before the angels of God. <sup>9</sup>But he who <sup>j</sup>denies Me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

<sup>10</sup>“And <sup>k</sup>anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but to him who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven.

<sup>11</sup>“Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say. <sup>12</sup>For the Holy Spirit will <sup>m</sup>teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

This night <sup>r</sup>your soul will be required of you; <sup>s</sup>then whose will those things be which you have provided?’

Seek the Kingdom of God

<sup>22</sup>Then He said to His disciples, “Therefore I say to you, <sup>u</sup>do not worry about your life, what you will eat; nor about the body, what you will put on. <sup>23</sup>Life is more than food, and the body a storeroom which was surrounded by other rooms; it was the most private part of a house.

12:4 do not be afraid of those who kill the body: t his verse anticipates the presence of severe religious persecution in response to Jesus’ remarks in 11:39–54.

12:5 even in the context of physical persecution, the only one believers should fear is God, who sees how we live and judges us. Jesus was not guaranteeing physical preservation in this life, but was opening the prospect of deliverance in the next life.

blasphemy

(Gk. blasphēmia) (12:10; matt. 12:31; mark 3:28) Strong’s #988

Blasphemy is the act of cursing, slandering, reviling, or showing contempt or lack of reverence for God. In the o.t., blaspheming God was a serious crime punishable by death (Lev. 24:15, 16). It was a violation of the third Commandment, which required that the name and reputation of the Lord be upheld (ex. 20:7). The unbelieving Jews of Jesus’ day charged Him with blasphemy because they thought of Him only as a man while He claimed to be God’s Son (matt. 9:3). Actually, the lawlessness of the Jews themselves was causing God’s name to be blasphemed among the Gentiles (Rom. 2:24). By their bitter opposition to Jesus and His gospel, they themselves were guilty of blasphemy (Acts 18:6). Jesus condemned as blasphemy their attributing the work of the Holy Spirit to Satan (matt. 12:31, 32). Christians are commanded to avoid behavior that blasphemes the Lord’s name and teaching (1 t im. 6:1).

12:6 t his verse emphasizes that God knows the most minute detail of what happens on earth. t he copper coins mentioned were the smallest coin in circulation, worth about one-sixteenth of a basic day’s wage.

12:8 t he issue here is faithfulness in testimony to Jesus, especially in the context of religious rejection. Acknowledging Jesus before men means being acknowledged by the Son of Man before God.

12:9 denies . . . will be denied: every act of denial of Christ on earth will meet with commensurate denial of reward at the judgment seat (see 1 John 2:28). t his is not speaking of the gift of salvation, but of the prize or reward (see 1 Cor. 9:24–27).

12:10 A word against the Son of Man is forgivable because His deity was veiled, but blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is flagrant rejection of the works and words of Christ.

12:11 when they bring you to the synagogues: t his is another indication that religious persecution is in view in these verses. Magistrates and authorities governed civil proceedings, while synagogues conducted religious tribunals. In such situations, the disciple should not worry about what to say.

12:13 tell my brother: Jesus is asked to intervene in a family dispute, as an ancient rabbi would be.

12:14 who made Me a Judge: Jesus refuses to enter into a dispute over money, which is clearly dividing a family. Such disputes over money destroy relationships, so Jesus tells a parable that explains the danger of focusing on wealth.

12:18, 19 including v. 17, the word I appears six times, showing the selfish focus this man has as a result of his fortune. His plan is to store his abundant resources for himself, as though the assets were his alone and should be hoarded. t his focus on the self is what Jesus is condemning.

12:20 God’s judgment on selfishness is clear. w hat did the rich fool have for the next life? He could not take his grain with him. w hat he owned was no longer of any value after death. In a single day,

The Ministry of the Holy Spirit in Luke's Writings

In both of his books, Luke highlights the activities of the Spirit with his unique phrase “filled with the Holy Spirit.” The Book of Acts chronicles the anxious anticipation of the Spirit’s coming, the dramatic empowering of the disciples on the Day of Pentecost, and the spread of the church by means of the Spirit’s power. But Luke also highlights the Holy Spirit’s ministry in his Gospel, where the ministry of the Holy Spirit centers on Jesus. Those connected with Jesus—John the Baptist, Elizabeth, Mary, and Simeon—are filled with the Holy Spirit. Jesus Himself is filled with the Spirit’s power. The Old Testament prophets had spoken of One who would be empowered by the Spirit of God. Luke underscores in his Gospel that these prophecies have been fulfilled in Jesus (4:18–22).

Event	Reference	Quote and Explanation
The filling of John the Baptist	Luke 1:15–17	“He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother’s womb.” John, as the forerunner to Messiah, was empowered from infancy to “make ready a people prepared for the Lord.”
The conception of the Messiah	Luke 1:35	“The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you.” The Spirit of God was the agent of divine conception; He made possible the virgin birth of Christ.
The filling of Elizabeth	Luke 1:41	“When Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary . . . [she] was filled with the Holy Spirit.” The Spirit empowered Elizabeth to encourage Mary in her faith.
The filling of Zacharias	Luke 1:67	“Now his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit.” The Spirit of God indwelt the parents of John so that they might testify about the coming Messiah.
The filling of Simeon	Luke 2:25–27	“The Holy Spirit was upon him.” The Spirit of God led the godly Simeon to an end-of-life encounter with the infant Messiah and a proclamation of the presence of the Messiah.
The baptism of Christ	Luke 3:22	“The Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him.” The visible descent of the Spirit indicates God’s presence with, blessing on, and approval of Jesus.
The temptation of Christ	Luke 4:1–13	“Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit . . . was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, being tempted for forty days by the devil.” The Spirit led Christ into an arena in which He might demonstrate His faithful obedience to the Father.
The inauguration of Jesus’ ministry	Luke 4:14–21	“Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee.” Christ’s ministry, from beginning to end, was marked by the presence and power of God.
Jesus’ teaching on prayer	Luke 11:1–13	“If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!” This promise by Christ foreshadows the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost.
Jesus’ promise of the Spirit to His disciples	Luke 12:11, 12	“For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.” Jesus promised the comforting and enabling presence of God to His disciples when they were in danger.
Jesus’ prophecy of Pentecost	Acts 1:4–8	“You shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days from now.” Jesus comforted His confused disciples with the assurance that the Spirit of God would come upon them in a powerful and permanent way.
Pentecost	Acts 2:1–21	“They were all filled with the Holy Spirit.” The advent of the Spirit at Pentecost gave birth to the church and empowered its members to proclaim the Good News.

and yet I say to you, even <sup>w</sup> Solomon in all his glory was not <sup>s</sup> arrayed like one of these. <sup>28</sup> If then God so clothes the grass, which today is in the field and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O you of <sup>x</sup> little faith? <sup>29</sup> “And do not seek what you should eat or what you should drink, nor have an anxious mind. <sup>30</sup> For all these things the nations of the world seek after, and the rich man became poor. All earthly wealth is temporary and ultimately worthless (matt. 6:19–21; 1 t im. 6:6–10, 17–19; James 5:1–6). 12:24 Jesus describes God’s care of ravens, unclean creatures according to Jewish law and among the least respected of birds (Lev. 11:15; deut. 14:14). Yet God even cares for them. How much more value are you, says Jesus, pointing out that God will surely care for the disciple as well.

12:25 it is uncertain whether Jesus is saying through His rhetorical question that worry cannot add to one’s physical height or that worry cannot add to one’s life span. in fact, worry can sometimes shorten life. what is clear is that worry is utterly useless and shows a lack of faith in God’s plan for our lives.

12:27–29 even the wealthy King Solomon did not clothe himself as God has clothed the lilies. t he illustration of grass indicates that God cares enough to provide beauty for the parts of His creation that have a short life. why should we worry if God takes such care of even the smallest blade of grass? t he Lord knows our problems and will provide us with what we need. do not seek . . . nor have an anxious mind: Since God will provide, there is no need for us to concentrate on mundane things such as food. t his should not be our chief concern, but instead our first priority should be doing the will of God (v. 31).

12:30 t he world pursues expensive food and luxurious clothing as ends in themselves. it has its heart set on things, without thinking of your Father <sup>g</sup> knows that you need these things. <sup>31z</sup> But seek <sup>6</sup> the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added to you.

Assuredly, I say to you that he will gird himself and have them sit down to eat, and will come and serve them. <sup>38</sup> And if he should come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants. <sup>39h</sup> But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would <sup>7</sup> have watched and not allowed his house

Parable of the Faithful Steward

<sup>41</sup> Then Peter said to Him, “Lord, do You speak this parable only to us, or to all people?”

<sup>42</sup> And the Lord said, <sup>j</sup> “Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his master will make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of food <sup>8</sup> in due season? <sup>43</sup> Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes. <sup>44k</sup> Truly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all that he has. <sup>45l</sup> But if that servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk, <sup>46</sup> the master of that servant will come on a <sup>m</sup> day when he is not looking for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. <sup>47</sup> And <sup>n</sup> that servant who <sup>o</sup> knew his master’s will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. <sup>48p</sup> But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving

God and thanking Him for such pleasures. The materialistic world is like a group of passengers frantically scurrying to get the best deck chair on a sinking ship. When we are consumed with possessions, there can be little left in our heart for God. your Father knows: we can trust God to provide for us because God knows precisely what we need.

12:33 Sell what you have: in contrast to the world’s hoarding of possessions, the disciple must be generous with what God gives. money bags which do not grow old: By serving God and others, you can invest in your eternal future. You cannot take possessions with you in the next life, but you can store up an eternal treasure by giving to others (see Paul’s statement in Phil. 4:17).

12:34 what people consider valuable is where their energy will be spent. Knowing God and investing in His purposes should be the treasure we seek.

12:35 waist be girded . . . lamps burning: these are two pictures of readiness. A lamp was used at night, while girding the waist involved pulling up the hem of a robe so that one could run. Jesus was calling the disciples to be ready for service.

12:36 Jesus compared the disciples to servants who are ready to serve their master immediately. Paul also used this image in describing his relationship to God (see Rom. 1:1).

12:37 Blessed: Here the blessing is on those who watch attentively for their master’s return. Jesus was speaking of faithful and obedient service. One day Jesus will return to make an accounting of how people served Him (see Rom. 14:10; 2 Cor. 5:10). In a reversal of the servant image, Jesus pointed out that the faithful servant will be served by Jesus on His return. Faithfulness will be rewarded.

12:38 this verse speaks of a return at an unusually late hour. The exact time referred to depends on which system of time was used. In the Roman system the second and third watch would be 9 P.M. to 3 A.M. By the Jewish method it would be 10 P.M. to 6 A.M. Luke usually uses the Roman pattern (see Acts 12:4); but since Jesus is speaking, the Jewish system is also possible. The point is that constant attentiveness is necessary.

12:39, 40 he would have watched: Jesus changed the illustration slightly, comparing the watch to protecting against a robbery. Knowledge of the time would lead to vigilance. But since the time is not known, constant readiness is essential.

12:41 to us, or to all people: Peter asked if Jesus’ teaching was for the disciples only or for all people. Jesus did not answer the question directly. Instead He described a variety of categories of servants. Servants are those who belong to the master and have their stewardship evaluated (19:11–27). Several responses, from faithfulness to blatant disobedience, are described in vv. 42–48. The issue is who lives life in a way that looks for, and takes seriously, the return of Jesus (see 1 John 2:28).

12:44 he will make him ruler: Such rule will be a part of the administration of Jesus’ kingdom when He returns (see 19:11–27; 1 Cor. 6:2, 3; Rev. 20–22).

12:45 is delaying . . . begins to beat: this servant is depicted as consciously doing the opposite of caring for others, and of treating the master’s return as irrelevant.

12:46 the image of being slain—cut him in two—indicates the severity of this judgment, especially in contrast to the whippings of vv. 47, 48. Unbelievers are those who did not take seriously the consequences of judgment (see 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 3:11).

12:47 knew . . . did not prepare himself or do: this is a category of disobedience, not as blatant as doing the opposite, but unfaithfulness nonetheless. This servant is disciplined with many stripes, though he is not rejected. Such evaluation of church leaders is described in 1 Cor. 3:10–15 and is broadened to apply to all believers in 2 Cor. 5:10.

12:48 discipline for the ignorant is less severe—beaten with few. The parable suggests degrees of God’s punishment: the faithful are rewarded, the ignorant are disciplined a little, the disobedient are disciplined moderately, and the blatantly disobedient are executed. In each case, the stewardship of the servant is evaluated.

of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Christ Warns of the Costs of Discipleship

<sup>49</sup> q “I came to send fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled! <sup>50</sup> But r I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how distressed I am till it is s accomplished! <sup>51</sup> t Do you suppose that I came to give peace on earth? ### Christ Warns of Not Discerning the Times

<sup>54</sup> Then He also said to the multitudes, x “Whenever you see a cloud rising out of the west, immediately you say, ‘A shower is coming’; and so it is. <sup>55</sup> And when you see the y south wind blow, you say, ‘There will be hot weather’; and there is. <sup>56</sup> Hypocrites! ### Christ Teaches on Repentance

13 There were present at that season some who told Him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had 1 mingled with their sacrifices. <sup>2</sup> And Jesus answered and said to them, “Do you suppose that these Galileans were worse sinners than all other Galileans, because they suffered such things? <sup>3</sup> I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish. <sup>4</sup> Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were worse sinners than all other men who dwelt in Jerusalem? <sup>5</sup> I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish.”

<sup>6</sup> He also spoke this parable: a “A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. <sup>7</sup> Then he said to the keeper of his vineyard, ‘Look, for three years I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none. Cut it down; why does it 2 use up the ground?’ <sup>8</sup> But he answered and said to him, ‘Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and fertilize it. <sup>9</sup> <sup>3</sup> *And if it bears fruit, well. But if not, after that you can b cut it down.’”*

12:49 I came to send fire: Fire is an image associated with God’s judgment (see Jer. 5:14; 23:29). Jesus’ coming brings judgment on those who refuse to accept Him and divides the believers from the faithless. t hough Jesus was ready for the judgment of humankind, other things had to happen first (v. 50).

12:50 As a figure for Jesus’ death (see mark 10:38, 39), baptism in this verse refers to the coming of overflowing waters of divine judgment (see Ps. 18:4, 16; 42:7; 69:1, 2; is. 8:7, 8; 30:27, 28). n ote Jesus’ human response to what He recognized as His necessary death.

12:51 Part of Jesus’ mission was to create a division within humankind. o ther texts of Luke speak of Jesus bringing peace (see 2:14; 7:50; 8:48; 10:5, 6; Acts 10:36; eph. 2:13–17). He offers peace to those who respond to Him.

12:54, 55 a cloud rising out of the west: in Palestine a western breeze meant moisture coming from the mediterranean Sea. A south wind meant hot air coming from the desert.

12:56 Hypocrites: Jesus rebuked His audience for being able to discern the weather but not what God was doing through Him.

12:58, 59 make every effort . . . to settle with him: t he picture here is of a magistrate who functions like a bailiff bringing a debtor into prison. Since the context of this passage is Jesus’ mission, the judge likely represents God. t he message of this parable is to become reconciled to God before judgment comes.

13:1 t he details of the incident referred to here, in which Jewish blood was shed at or near the temple during a time of sacrifices, are not known. Pilate was known for his insensitivity to the Jewish people early in his rule. t he event probably occurred during the Feast of the Passover or tabernacles, when Galileans most likely would have been at the temple.

13:2 Do you suppose: Jesus’ question reflected the opinion of His audience. t he idea that judgment and death are the results of sin led to the belief that tragic death was the result of extreme sin. while such a view was common in Judaism, it was not always a correct conclusion (see ex. 20:5; Job 4:7; 8:4, 20; 22:5; Prov. 10:24, 25; John 9:1–3).

13:3 unless you repent: Jesus’ point here is that everyone stands at the edge of death until repentance occurs. t he death in view here is spiritual, not physical.

13:4 t he event referred to here was a natural tragedy as opposed to the violent human act alluded to in vv. 1, 2. However, the same question was raised. w ere the people who suffered being judged for their sins? Siloam was located in the southeast section of Jerusalem.

13:5 t he manner in which a person dies is not a measure of righteousness; what is important is not to die outside of God’s grace and care. t he way to avoid such a fate is to repent, to come to God through the care of the physician Jesus (5:32).

13:6 A fig tree often represents God’s blessing, or a people who have a special relationship with God (see mic. 7:1, 2). t he man in this parable represents God; the fig tree represents israel.

13:7 for three years: A fig tree was often given some time to bear good fruit since its root structure was complex and took time to develop. t hree years would have been enough for the tree to yield some fruit.

13:9 But if not: if the tree, symbolizing israel, would yield some fruit it could escape judgment; a failure to be fruitful would result in judgment. in v. 35, Jesus declares that the nation’s house is desolate, so judgment comes. t hat judgment is described in 19:41–44. t he fall of Jerusalem, which took place in A.D. 70, is in view. t his theme is also addressed in 20:9–19.

Christ Heals the Crippled Woman

<sup>10</sup>Now He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. <sup>11</sup>And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent over and could in no way <sup>4</sup>raise herself up. <sup>12</sup>But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, “Woman, you are loosed from your *c*infirmity.” <sup>13<sup>d</sup></sup>And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

<sup>14</sup>But the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because Jesus had *e*healed on the Sabbath; and he said to the crowd, f“There are six days on which men ought to work; therefore come and be healed on them, and *g*not on the Sabbath day.”

<sup>15</sup>The Lord then answered him and said, 5“Hypocrite! *h*Does not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the stall, and lead it away to water it? <sup>16</sup>So ought not this woman, *i*being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound—think of it—for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath?” <sup>17</sup>And when He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were *j*done by Him.

Parable of the Leaven

The Way into the Kingdom

And He said to them, <sup>24<sup>o</sup></sup>“Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for <sup>p</sup>many, I say to you, will seek to enter and will not be able. <sup>25<sup>q</sup></sup>When once the Master of the house has risen up and <sup>r</sup>shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying, <sup>s</sup>‘Lord, Lord, open for us,’ and He will answer and say to you, <sup>t</sup>‘I do not know you, where you are from,’ <sup>26</sup>then you will begin to say, ‘We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets.’ <sup>27<sup>u</sup></sup>But He will say, ‘I tell you I do not know you, where you are from. <sup>v</sup>Depart from Me, all you workers of iniquity.’ <sup>28<sup>w</sup></sup>There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, <sup>x</sup>when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out. <sup>29</sup>They will come from the east and the west, from the north and the south, and sit down in the kingdom of God. <sup>30<sup>y</sup></sup>And indeed there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last.”

13:15 Hypocrite: when the ruler of the synagogue became indignant regarding Jesus’ healing on the Sabbath (vv. 10–14), Jesus pointed out that basic compassion was shown to animals on the Sabbath, so how much more compassion should be shown to a suffering woman (v. 16)?

13:16 daughter of Abraham: t his description of the woman indicates how special she was. Jesus pointed out that there was no better day on which to overcome Satan than the Sabbath.

13:18, 19 Jesus compared the growth of God’s kingdom to a little seed that becomes a big tree where many birds can find shelter. A tree of the mustard family would grow to about 12 feet. t he image of birds nesting in the trees is found frequently in the ot (see Ps. 104:12; ezek. 17:22–24; dan. 4:10–12).

13:20, 21 in this illustration the leaven is hidden in meal or flour equaling about 50 pounds. Leaven permeates bread and makes it rise. Usually this image is negative, as in 1 Cor. 5:6; but in this parable, it is positive. t he kingdom will start small, but will grow and eventually fill the earth. t he emphasis is not so much on a process of growth as in the difference between the kingdom’s beginning and its end.

13:24 the narrow gate: t he suggestion here is that one must enter salvation on God’s terms. t hose who seek to enter but are unable are those who seek entrance on their own terms. many will miss the blessings of God because they think they can achieve salvation on their own merit or on the basis of their own piety, rather than because they came to know God through Jesus (v. 25).

13:25 o nce a person’s life has ended, the door of opportunity to respond to Jesus is closed and access into God’s presence cannot be gained. I do not know you: t he issue here is being properly and personally related to God through Jesus. Verse 26 makes it clear that the Lord at the door is Jesus, since reference is made to His ministry. t hose who seek entry after the door is closed will be rejected, since they did not come to God on His terms through Jesus.

13:26 We ate and drank . . . You taught: t he appeal here is by people who experienced Jesus’ presence. t he passage primarily involves those Jews who witnessed Jesus’ ministry. t hey were trying to gain entry into God’s presence based simply on the fact that they had observed Jesus. Jesus refused them, pointing out that it was not enough for them to have been close to Him. in order to have a relationship with God, one must embrace Jesus and come to know Him.

13:27 I do not know you . . . Depart from Me: in this verse, Jesus turns a question about salvation (v. 23) into a question about personally knowing Him. Failure to seek salvation in Jesus means that sin remains in a person’s life.

13:29 east . . . west . . . north . . . south: People would come from all corners of the earth for entrance into God’s kingdom. t his passage alludes to the inclusion of Gentiles.

13:30 t here will be many surprises in God’s kingdom. t hose who

Instruction on the Sabbath

14 Now it happened, as He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees to eat bread on the Sabbath, that they watched Him closely. <sup>2</sup> And behold, there was a certain man before Him who had dropsy. <sup>3</sup> And Jesus, answering, are despised on earth—some Gentiles, for example—will be greatly honored in the kingdom. Conversely, those who are considered influential and powerful on earth—the Jewish religious leaders of Jesus’ day, for example—will be excluded from the kingdom.

13:31–33 Herod wants to kill You: t his warning from the Pharisees was apparently an effort to get Jesus out of the region and out of their hair. it is hard to know whether the warning was true. in 23:7–9, 15, Herod is portrayed as more curious than hostile. fox: t he reference here is to Herod’s cunning. Jesus’ reply seems to take the Pharisees’ warning at face value. I shall be perfected: Jesus predicted His resurrection in Jerusalem. Because it was His call from God, Jesus could not avoid ministering in the region. t he verb translated perfected means to complete something, which is why it alludes to Jesus’ resurrection, the decisive moment of His ministry. t he reference is to today, tomorrow, and the day following is figurative, since Jesus was speaking of more than three remaining days in His ministry.

13:33 it cannot be: Jesus followed a long line of prophets that were executed in the nation’s capital (see 1 Kin. 18:4, 13; 19:10, 14; 2 Chr. 24:21; Jer. 2:30; 26:20–23; 38:4–6; Amos 7:10–17).

13:34 Jerusalem, Jerusalem: t he double address indicates Jesus’ deep sorrow (see 2 Sam. 18:33; Jer. 22:29). t he city had executed many of God’s messengers. Stephen makes a similar point about the nation of israel in Acts 7:51–53. I wanted to gather: As a prophet, Jesus spoke for God in the first person. He compared God’s desire to gather the nation to a hen sheltering and protecting her young. Sadly, the nation was not willing to be gathered.

13:35 Your house is left . . . desolate: Jesus declared that the nation stood under a judgment similar to the exile to Babylon (see Jer. 12:7; 22:5). God would abandon the nation until they responded to the messiah. Blessed is He: t his is a citation of Ps. 118:26. t he people of israel would not see the messiah again until they were ready to receive Him and recognize that He was sent from God. Psalm 118 reflects the greeting of a priest to a group entering the temple. Jesus used the language of this psalm to illustrate God’s greeting to Him.

14:2 Dropsy is a condition in which water is retained in the body, leading to swollen limbs (see n um. 5:11–27). dropsy is a symptom and not a specific disease.

14:3 Is it lawful: note that Jesus raised the question of Sabbath law here, preempting the questioning he had faced in 6:2 (see 6:9).

Keeping the Sabbath

A man’s withered hand is restored; a man with dropsy is healed. most would rejoice in the restoration of health and marvel at Jesus’ power over illness. But the Pharisees were filled with rage (6:11) or remained disapprovingly silent (14:4). why?

to the Jewish leaders of Jesus’ day, healing on the Sabbath was sacrilegious. t hey considered His healings to be work, and the ten Commandments clearly prohibited work on the Sabbath (see ex. 20:8–11; deut. 5:12–15). t he Sabbath was holy, a day set apart for God. Just as the israelites were commanded to tithe part of their earnings to God, they were to give Him their time as well. Breaking the Sabbath was a very grave matter, for God’s law demanded death for those who ignored it (see ex. 31:14, 15; 35:2).

d uring the period of the second temple (515 B.C.–A.D. 70), scribes and rabbis pored over the words of Scripture, interpreting every detail. w hat constituted “work” on the Sabbath? w hat could be allowed “within the Law”? According to the Law, burdens were not to be carried on the Sabbath. t his meant that what exactly constituted a “burden” had to be clarified and defined. o n the surface, the scribes had a good reason for interpreting the Law: t hey did not want anyone to break it inadvertently. But their interpretations increasingly emphasized external adherence to the Law instead of the cultivation of an attitude of submission before the Lord. Perfect obedience to the Law and its interpretation became a source of pride instead of a tangible expression of love for God. By Jesus’ day, the rabbis and scribes had become so strict that they accused Jesus’ disciples of breaking the Sabbath because they had simply plucked some heads of grain, rubbed them in their hands, and eaten them as they walked through a grainfield (6:1, 2).

Jesus’ healings on the Sabbath enraged the religious teachers. it was obvious to them that healing was classified as work and prohibited by the Fourth Commandment (see deut. 5:14). But to Jesus it was common sense and a good deed. Jesus revealed the rabbis’ hypocrisy with the example of an ox falling down a pit. t he Pharisees would allow an ox to be rescued on the Sabbath, but they wanted to prohibit Jesus from rescuing a human being. t heir outrage at Jesus’ healing came from their own interpretation of the Law and not from the Law itself. t he scribes and rabbis had thought through, categorized, and defined all the minutiae of the Law, but they had missed its central point. t he Lord had given the Law to encourage the israelites to love Him and to love others (see mark 12:30, 31). He had never prohibited doing good on the Sabbath.

spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, <sup>a</sup>“Is it lawful to heal on the <sup>1</sup>Sabbath?”

Parable of the Ambitious Guest

<sup>7</sup>So He told a parable to those who were invited, when He noted how they chose the best places, saying to them: <sup>8</sup>“When you are invited by anyone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in the best place, lest one more honorable than you be invited by him; <sup>9</sup>and he who invited you and him come and say to you, ‘Give place to this man,’ and then you begin with shame to take the lowest place. <sup>10</sup><sup>c</sup>But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place, so that when he who invited you comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, go up higher.’ Then you will have glory in the presence of those who sit at the table with you. <sup>11</sup><sup>d</sup>For whoever exalts himself will be <sup>3</sup>humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

<sup>12</sup>Then He also said to him who invited Him, “When you give a dinner or a supper, do not ask your friends, your brothers, your relatives, nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back, and you be repaid. <sup>13</sup>But when you give a feast, invite <sup>e</sup>the poor, <sup>the</sup> <sup>4</sup>maimed, <sup>the</sup> lame, <sup>the</sup> blind. <sup>14</sup>And you will be <sup>f</sup>blessed, because they cannot repay you; for you shall be repaid at the resurrection of the just.”

Parable of the Great Supper

<sup>16</sup><sup>h</sup>Then He said to him, “A certain man gave a great supper and invited many, <sup>17</sup>and <sup>i</sup>sent his servant at supper time to say to those who were invited, ‘Come, for all things are now ready.’ <sup>18</sup>But they all with one accord began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a piece of ground, and I must go and see it. I ask you to have me excused.’ <sup>19</sup>And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to test them. I ask you to have me excused.’ <sup>20</sup>Still another said, ‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’ <sup>21</sup>So that servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house, being angry, said to his servant, ‘Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor and the <sup>6</sup>maimed and the lame and the blind.’ <sup>22</sup>And the servant said, ‘Master, it is done as you commanded, and still there is room.’ <sup>23</sup>Then the master said to the servant, ‘Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. <sup>24</sup>For I say to you <sup>j</sup>that none of those men who were invited shall taste my supper.’”

Christ Teaches on Discipleship

14:7 in ancient times the best seats at a meal were those next to the host.

14:12, 13 true hospitality and service are given to those who cannot repay. disciples must have a special concern for the poor, maimed, lame, and blind, as Jesus does (4:16–19).

14:14 you shall be repaid: even though there may be no reward in this life, God will not overlook what His servants have done to carry out His love and mercy. See 2 Cor. 5:10; Heb. 6:20.

14:15 Blessed is he: one of the guests at the meal reflected on the glory of sitting at the banquet table of God, an image of being saved and living in God’s presence. t he man probably assumed that many of the people attending the meal with Jesus would be present at God’s banquet table. Jesus responded to the man’s assumption with a warning.

14:17 those who were invited: in the ancient world, invitations to a feast were sent out well in advance of the meal. t hen on the day of the feast, servants would announce the start of the meal. t his parable is similar to the one in matt. 22:1–14, but was probably spoken on a different occasion.

14:20 I have married a wife: while the ot exempted a man from military duty because of marriage (see deut. 20:7; 24:5), marriage was not an excuse for avoiding social duties. t he general point here is that the man regarded his own affairs as more important than the feast.

14:21 poor . . . maimed . . . lame . . . blind: t his list matches that of v. 13. t he maimed were excluded from full participation in Jewish worship (see Lev. 21:17–23). t he master’s second invitation extended the scope of the offer to those who were rejected by society.

14:23 t he master’s second invitation extended beyond the city limits, encouraging even more people to come to the feast. t his may picture the inclusion of Gentiles in God’s salvation (see is. 49:6). t he instruction to compel them to come in does not mean to force people in, but to urge them. As outsiders, the people might not feel comfortable coming.

14:26 does not hate: t he essence of discipleship is giving Christ first place. to “hate” one’s family and even one’s life is rhetorical. it refers to desiring something less than something else. t his instruction was especially appropriate in Jesus’ day, since a decision for Jesus could mean rejection by family and persecution even to the point of death. t hose who feared family disapproval or persecution would not come to Jesus.

14:27 Jesus’ call here is to follow Him in the way of rejection and suffering. A disciple will be rejected by those in the world who do not honor Christ. t herefore, a disciple must be ready to face and accept such rejection.

and come after Me cannot be My disciple. <sup>28</sup>For <sup>o</sup>which of you, intending to build a tower, does not sit down first and count the cost, whether he has enough to finish it— <sup>29</sup>lest, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, <sup>30</sup>saying, ‘This man began to build and was not able to finish?’ <sup>31</sup>Or what king, going to make war against another king, does not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? <sup>32</sup>Or else, while the other is still a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks conditions of peace. <sup>33</sup>So likewise, whoever of you <sup>p</sup>does not forsake all that he has cannot be My disciple.

<sup>34q</sup>“Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? <sup>35</sup>It is neither fit for the land nor for the <sup>7</sup>dung-hill, but men throw it out. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

Parable of the Lost Sheep

15 Then <sup>a</sup>all the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him. <sup>2</sup>And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, “This Man <sup>1</sup>receives sinners <sup>b</sup>and eats with them.” <sup>3</sup>So He spoke this parable to them, saying:

<sup>4c</sup>“What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and go after the one which is lost until he

Parable of the Lost Coin

<sup>8</sup>“Or what woman, having ten silver <sup>3</sup>coins, if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp, sweep the house, and search carefully until she finds it? <sup>9</sup>And when she has found it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I lost!’ <sup>10</sup>Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

Parable of the Lost Son

<sup>11</sup>Then He said: “A certain man had two sons. <sup>12</sup>And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me.’ So he divided to them <sup>h</sup>his livelihood. <sup>13</sup>And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, journeyed to a far country, and there wasted his possessions with <sup>4</sup>prodigal living. <sup>14</sup>But when he had spent all, there arose a severe famine in that land, and he began to be in want. <sup>15</sup>Then he went and joined himself

14:30 was not able to finish: t heir mocking centers on the dishonor that results from an inability to complete the task. Following Christ is not something to be taken up on a trial basis. It calls for ultimate commitment (see 9:62).

14:31, 32 t he picture here is of a king assessing his ability to do battle with another more powerful king. t he king sends a delegation only after appreciating the weight and consequences of his decision. Jesus urged the people to think about what it would mean to follow Him, and not to take it lightly.

14:34 in the ancient world, salt was often used as a catalyst for burning fuel such as cattle dung. t he salt of the time was impure and could lose its strength over time, becoming useless. Jesus’ point is that the same is true of a “saltless” disciple.

14:35 throw it out: Jesus warned that an ineffective commitment leads to being cast aside. t his apparently is a reference to those who are judged as unfaithful disciples (see 1 Cor. 11:30). Remaining useful to God means remaining faithful to Him (9:61, 62).

15:1 the tax collectors and the sinners: t he three parables of ch. 15 explain why Jesus associated with despised groups while the Pharisees and scribes did not. t he parables in this chapter are found only in Luke.

15:2 eats with them: in the ancient world, table fellowship indicated acceptance of the other guests. t his is why the Jewish religious leaders complained about Jesus’ companions at His meals (see 5:30–32; 19:10; Mark 2:15).

15:4 A hundred sheep was a medium-sized flock. t he average herd ran from 20 to 200 head, while a flock of three hundred or more was considered large.

15:6 t he call to rejoice at finding the lost sheep would have been natural enough, since sheep were valuable property in the ancient world.

15:7 likewise: Jesus compared the joy of finding a lost sheep to the joy of heaven over a sinner’s repentance. t he unstated conclusion is that the hope of such a conversion was the reason Jesus associated with the undesirable of society. Persons who need no repentance is a rhetorical way of describing the scribes and Pharisees. A similar description is found in 5:31, where it is said that some do not need a physician. t he scribes and Pharisees believed that they did not need to repent because they were not lost.

15:8 ten silver coins: A drachma was a silver coin equal to a day’s wage for a basic laborer. t he woman needed a lamp because she lived in a windowless house. Her broom for sweeping would have been made of palm twigs. in this second parable of ch. 15, more detail is given regarding the search effort than in the first parable of vv. 4–7.

15:12 the portion of goods that falls to me: in the ancient world, this son most likely would have been in his teens and single. As the younger son he would have received half of what the elder son received (see deut. 21:17), or a third of his father’s estate. t he early Jews warned fathers against breaking up an estate too early. Here the father granted the request, illustrating how God permits each person to go his or her own way.

15:13 wasted his possessions: t he verb here means “to scatter or disperse something.” t he term translated prodigal describes a debased, extravagant life (see Prov. 28:7).

15:15 Feeding swine was an insulting job for a Jewish person, since pigs were unclean according to the Law of Moses.

to a citizen of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. <sup>16</sup>And he would gladly have filled his stomach with the <sup>5</sup> pods that the swine ate, and no one gave him anything.

<sup>17</sup>“But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! <sup>18</sup>I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, ‘Father, <sup>19</sup>I have sinned against heaven and before you, <sup>19</sup>and I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Make me like one of your hired servants.’”

<sup>25</sup>“Now his older son was in the field. And as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. <sup>26</sup>So he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. <sup>27</sup>And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and because he has received him safe and sound, your father has killed the fattened calf.’

<sup>31</sup>“And he said to him, ‘Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours. <sup>32</sup>It was right that we should make merry and be glad, <sup>m</sup>for your brother was dead and is alive again, and was lost and is found.’”

Parable of the Unjust Servant

16 He also said to His disciples: “There was a certain rich man who had a steward, and an accusation was brought to him that this man was <sup>1</sup>wasting his goods. <sup>2</sup>So he called him and said to him, ‘What is this I hear about you? Give an a account of your stewardship, for you can no longer be steward.’

<sup>3</sup>“Then the steward said within himself, ‘What shall I do? For my master is taking the stewardship away from me. I cannot dig; I am ashamed to beg. <sup>4</sup>I have resolved what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.’

<sup>5</sup>“So he called every one of his master’s debtors to him, and said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ <sup>6</sup>And he said, ‘A hundred <sup>2</sup>measures of oil.’ So he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ <sup>7</sup>Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ So he said, ‘A hundred <sup>3</sup>measures of wheat.’ And he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and

15:18, 19 I have sinned: t he son’s words represent the confession of a sinner. t he son expected nothing and relied completely on the mercy of his father. So it is with the sinner who repents.

15:20 t he description of the father’s compassion in running to his son and kissing him illustrates the immediate acceptance of a sinner who turns to God.

15:21 no longer worthy to be called your son: d espite his awareness of being accepted by his father, the son continued his confession of his sin. He then asked to become one of his father’s servants. Similarly, a sinner realizes that he or she brings nothing to and deserves nothing from God, but must rely completely on God’s mercy.

15:22 t he father accepted his son’s confession but refused his request to make him a servant. instead the returning son was made a full member of the family again. t he robe probably represented the best clothes the father had to offer. t he ring may have borne the family seal, signifying the son’s acceptance back into the family. t he son’s confession of sin brought full restoration.

15:24 dead . . . alive . . . lost . . . found: t he total transformation of the prodigal son is summarized in these two contrasts. Such a transformation is a reason to celebrate. it is also the reason Jesus chose to associate with the lost.

15:28 t he older brother’s unhappiness over a fattened calf (v. 27) being killed to celebrate the return of his undisciplined brother illustrates the response of the Pharisees and scribes at the prospect of sinners becoming acceptable to God.

15:29 I never transgressed . . . you never gave me: note the contrast between the older son’s attitude here and the younger son’s attitude in vv. 19, 21. t he older son proclaimed his righteousness and argued that justice had not been done.

15:31 all that I have is yours: t he father responded to his disgruntled older son by explaining that just because someone receives a blessing, that does not mean there is no blessing for others. t he father also implied that the older son always had the opportunity to celebrate with a fattened calf, since the animals were his.

16:1 A steward was a servant who supervised and administered an estate. t he charge brought against this steward is incompetence.

16:2 Give an account . . . you can no longer be steward: t he rich man responded to the charge that his steward was incompetent by firing the steward and asking for his records to be brought up to date.

16:6 A hundred measures of oil . . . fifty: t hree explanations are commonly given concerning the steward’s right to alter the amount his master was owed: (1) t he steward simply lowered the price on his own authority; (2) the steward removed the interest charge from the debt, according to the Law (see Lev. 25:36, 37; deut. 15:7, 8; 23:20, 21); or (3) the steward removed his own commission, sacrificing only his own money and not that of his master. t he write eighty.<sup>8</sup> So the master commended the unjust steward because he had dealt shrewdly. For the sons of this world are more shrewd in their generation than <sup>b</sup>the sons of light.

Christ Warns the Pharisees

Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus

<sup>24</sup>“Then he cried and said, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and <sup>p</sup>cool my tongue; for I <sup>q</sup>am tormented in this flame.’ <sup>25</sup>But Abraham different rates of reduction reflect the different rates for different commodities.

16:8 t he master recognized the foresight in the steward’s generosity. it is debatable whether the steward was dishonest and robbed the master by such reductions or was shrewd in using his authority to discount the goods (vv. 6, 7). t he fact that the master commended the steward may suggest that the master was not robbed, and that the steward’s reduction was the result of either an adherence to the Law or a lowering of the steward’s own commission.

16:9 Mammon, or money, should be used generously to build works that last. money is called unrighteous because it often manifests unrighteousness and selfishness in people (see 1 t im. 6:6-10, 17-19; James 1:9-11; 5:1-6).

16:10 faithful . . . unjust . . . least . . . much: Small examples of selfishness now result in greater selfishness later. Likewise, small examples of generosity now result in greater generosity later.

16:11 mammon . . . true riches: t his is the development of v. 10. A person who cannot handle money certainly cannot handle spiritual matters that are of much more value.

16:16 Jesus indicates a basic division in God’s plan here. t he time of promise extended from the Law and Prophets until John the Baptist. now the promise of God’s kingdom is preached. t he new era approaches. Everyone is pressing into it can also be translated “all are urged insistently to come in,” emphasizing the urgency of the message.

16:17 Jesus’ point is not that all the commandments of the law remain in effect forever, but that the goal of God’s law, the promise of God’s rule, is realized.

16:18 commits adultery: Jesus illustrated the moral demands of God’s law by referring to the inviolability of marriage.

16:19 clothed in purple: Purple clothes were extremely expensive because they were made with a special dye extracted from a kind of snail.

16:20, 21 to have his sores licked by dogs threatened Lazarus with infection as well as ritual uncleanness, since dogs fed on garbage, including dead animals.

16:22 Abraham’s bosom was the blessed place of the dead. Angelic escorts for the dead were also known in Judaism. t his verse indicates that the dead know their fate immediately.

16:23 n ote the reversal of fortune from vv. 19-21. Here the rich man was suffering and Lazarus was at peace. Hades in the ot was the place where the dead are gathered. it is also called Sheol in Ps. 16:10; 86:13. in the nt, Hades is often mentioned in a negative context (see 10:15; matt. 11:23; 16:18). Hades is where the unrighteous dead dwell. Gehenna is the place where final judgment occurs (see 12:5; matt. 5:22).

16:24 I am tormented: t he rich man desired relief from his suffering. t he image of thirst for the experience of judgment is common (see is. 5:13; 65:13; Hos. 2:3).

16:25 t he standard by which the rich man treated others was applied to him. in his lifetime he lacked compassion, so now there was no compassion for him.

mammon

(Gk. mammōnas) (16:9, 11; matt. 6:24) Strong’s #3126

t he Greek word is a transliteration of a common Aramaic word mamona, which means “wealth,” “money,” or “property.” it is impossible to serve this god called “mammon” and the true God at the same time. in ch. 16, this word is used for “riches,” considered an idol, master, or god of the human heart that is in conflict with the true God.

said, ‘Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented. <sup>26</sup>And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us.’

<sup>27</sup>“Then he said, ‘I beg you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father’s house, <sup>28</sup>for I have five brothers, that he may testify to them, lest they also come to this place of torment.’ <sup>29</sup>Abraham said to him, ‘They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.’ <sup>30</sup>And he said, ‘No, father Abraham; but if one goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ <sup>31</sup>But he said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead.’”

Christ Teaches on Offenses

17 Then He said to the disciples, <sup>a</sup>“It is impossible that no <sup>1</sup>offenses should come, but <sup>b</sup>woe to him through whom they do come! <sup>2</sup>It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea, than that he should <sup>2</sup>offend one of these little ones. <sup>3</sup>Take heed to yourselves. <sup>c</sup>If your brother sins <sup>3</sup>against you, <sup>d</sup>rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him. <sup>4</sup>And if he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times in a day returns <sup>4</sup>to you, saying, ‘I repent,’ you shall forgive him.”

Christ Cleanses Ten Lepers

<sup>14</sup>So when He saw them, He said to them, <sup>j</sup>“Go, show yourselves to the priests.” And so it was that as they went, they were cleansed.

<sup>17</sup>So Jesus answered and said, “Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine? <sup>18</sup>Were there not any found who returned to give glory to God except

16:26 a great gulf fixed: t his detail illustrates the fact that the unrighteous, once they have died, cannot enter into the sphere of the righteous.

16:27, 28 t he rich man asked for a heavenly envoy to be sent so that his brothers would not repeat his irreversible error. it is difficult to know if his concern for his brothers was sincere, or just a backhanded way of saying that in his own life he had not received adequate warning about the judgment.

offend

t he word is the verb form of a Greek noun that means “stumbling block” or “snare.” t he term refers to the trigger which springs a trap. in the nt it means anything that hinders someone from doing what is right or causes one to sin or fall away from the faith. Jesus emphatically warns that stumbling blocks are sure to come our way. nonetheless, He condemned those who put stumbling blocks in the way of believers. He says that death by drowning would be preferable to offending “one of these little ones” in the faith.

16:29 They have Moses and the prophets: Abraham made it clear that the rich man’s brothers should have known what to do, since they had the message of God in the ancient writings. t he point here is that generosity with money and care for the poor were taught in the ot (see deut. 14:28, 29; is. 3:14, 15; mic. 6:10, 11).

16:31 If they do not hear: A person who rejects God’s message will not be persuaded by resurrection. t hough the rich man’s request for a heavenly messenger is denied within the parable, it is honored in the telling of the account, because the parable is part of a Gospel that announces Christ’s resurrection.

17:1, 2 woe to him: Jesus warned that judgment awaits those who cause others to stumble. t he severe form of the warning suggests that false teaching, or leading someone into apostasy, is in view here. A millstone was a heavy stone used in a grinding mill.

17:6 even faith the size of a tiny mustard seed can do wonderful things. t he black mulberry tree has a vast root system that allows it to live up to six hundred years.

17:11 Samaria and Galilee: t hough Jesus was traveling to Jerusalem, His journey did not follow a direct route.

17:14 Jesus healed the lepers but sent them to the priests to verify their cleansing, just as He did the leper in 5:14.

17:15-18 t he Samaritans were a despised race (9:52). A hated foreigner was the only former leper who gave glory to God for his cleansing.

Christ Teaches on the Second Coming

<sup>20</sup> Now when He was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, He answered them and said, "The kingdom of God does not come with observation; <sup>21n</sup> nor will they say, <sup>6</sup> 'See here!' or 'See there!' For indeed, <sup>o</sup> the kingdom of God is <sup>7</sup> within you."

<sup>22</sup> Then He said to the disciples, <sup>p</sup> "The days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it. <sup>23q</sup> And they will say to you, <sup>8</sup> 'Look here!' or 'Look there!' Do not go after them or follow them. <sup>24r</sup> For as the lightning that flashes out of one part under heaven shines to the other part under heaven, so also the Son of Man will be in His day. <sup>25s</sup> But first He must suffer many things and be <sup>t</sup> rejected by this generation. <sup>26u</sup> And as it <sup>v</sup> was in the <sup>w</sup> days of <sup>x</sup> Noah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man: <sup>27</sup> They ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the <sup>y</sup> day that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and <sup>z</sup> destroyed them all. <sup>28a</sup> Likewise as it was also in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; <sup>29</sup> but on <sup>b</sup> the day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven

CHAPTER 18 <sup>1a</sup> Luke 11:5-10; Rom. 12:12; [eph. 6:18]; Col. 4:2; 1 Thess. 5:17 <sup>2l</sup> respect

17:19 Jesus commended the faith that heals, as He did in 7:50; 8:50. t he Samaritan apparently received more than physical healing.

17:20 in ancient Israel there was an expectation that the kingdom of God would come with cosmic signs. Such expectation was rooted in texts that linked God's coming with great signs (see Joel 2:28-32). Jesus' concept of the kingdom of God, however, was broader than the time of the final consummation.

17:21 Within you may also be translated "in your midst." t his verse indicates that there was an aspect of kingdom promise involved in Jesus' first coming. t he kingdom of God is among earthly kingdoms today; but one day the kingdom of God will swallow up all rival kingdoms (see Rev. 11:15). in vv. 22-37, Jesus makes it clear that the kingdom has two phases—one now and one to come. in the beginning of His kingdom on earth, God first prepares a King to rule; then He gathers a people for Him to rule over; then He gives the Ruler a realm in which to reign. t he kingdom of God is not the same as the church, though the church is a part of the kingdom. t he kingdom now is the presence of God alongside earthly kingdoms. t he power of God is shown now in the distribution and work of the Holy Spirit (see Rom. 14:17; 1 Cor. 4:20). o ne day, however, Jesus will rule over all, and He will share that rule with His people (see Rev. 2:26, 27; 5:9, 10; 20:4-6).

17:24 Lightning is sudden and visible to all. Likewise, the sudden day of the Son of Man will be visible to all. w hen the Lord returns, He will come quickly and obviously. t here will be no doubt as to what has occurred.

17:26 In the days of Noah people paid little attention to God and faced judgment as a result (see Gen. 6:5-13). t he same will be the case at Jesus' return.

17:29 destroyed them all: t he day of the Son of man will be a time of total judgment, as were the days of Noah (v. 27) and Lot.

17:32 Lot's wife represents those who are attached to earthly things, those whose hearts are still in this world. Like Lot's wife, such people will perish (see Gen. 19:26).

17:33 whoever loses his life will preserve it: t hose who invest their lives in advancing Christ's kingdom, even to the point of suffering and death, will receive great privilege and glory in the climactic reign of Christ (see matt. 5:10-12; 19:27-30; 2 Tim. 2:12; Rev. 20:4-6).

17:34 Taken here suggests judgment, such as when the soldiers took Jesus to crucify Him. Verse 37 makes it clear that those who are taken are taken to final judgment.

17:35, 36 one will be taken and the other left: o n that day, the Son of man will divide humankind into two groups: those who are taken to judgment and those who are left to live and reign with Christ. o ther commentators suggest the opposite: t he righteous will be taken into God's kingdom. either way, Jesus is clearly saying that a person's eternal destiny is not determined by being close to those who are righteous. each person stands before God alone.

17:37 w hen the disciples asked where Jesus' return would take place, Jesus did not answer directly. the eagles will be gathered: t he term for eagles here refers to vultures that gather over dead animals. w hen the judgment comes, it will be final and terrible, with the stench of death and the presence of vultures everywhere. n o one will need to look for the place of judgment; the presence of the birds will reveal where the carcasses are.

18:2 t he Romans allowed the Jews to manage most of their own affairs. t his judge did not fear God, and was therefore probably a secular judge, not a religious one. t he dishonest judge represents corrupted power.

18:3 t he woman in this parable is a widow, dependent on society for her support. Luke often takes special note of the plight of widows (see 2:37; 4:25, 26; 7:12; 20:47; 21:2, 3; Acts 6:1-7; 9:39, 41).

widow in that city; and she came to him, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Get justice for me from my adversary.” <sup>4</sup>And he would not for a while; but afterward he said within himself, “Though I do not fear God nor regard man, <sup>5</sup><sup>h</sup>yet because this widow troubles me I will <sup>3</sup>avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.”

<sup>6</sup>Then the Lord said, “Hear what the unjust judge said. <sup>7</sup>And <sup>c</sup>shall God not avenge His own elect who cry out day and night to Him, though He hears long with them? <sup>8</sup>I tell you <sup>d</sup>that He will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will He really find faith on the earth?”

Parable of the Pharisee and the Tax Collector

Christ Blesses the Children

<sup>15</sup><sup>i</sup>Then they also brought infants to Him that He might touch them; but when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them. <sup>16</sup>But Jesus called them to Him and said, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for <sup>j</sup>of such is the kingdom of God. <sup>17</sup><sup>k</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will by no means enter it.”

Rich Young Ruler

<sup>22</sup>So when Jesus heard these things, He said to him, “You still lack one thing. <sup>q</sup>Sell all that you have and distribute to

Get justice: Perhaps the woman was asking for help concerning a financial problem.

18:5 t he persistence of the widow is the lesson of the parable. God is a counterexample to the judge. God does not begrudge answering prayer. Jesus’ point is that if an insensitive judge will respond to the continual requests of a widow, God will certainly respond to the continual prayers of believers.

18:7 shall God not avenge His own elect: God will respond to injustice and religious persecution meted out to His people. In the end, He will avenge.

18:8 will He really find faith: Jesus’ question here is whether upon His return believers will still be looking for Him. Persecution can cause the faithful to lose their enthusiasm. In asking this question, Jesus is exhorting believers not to lose heart (v. 1).

be merciful

(Gk. hilaskomai) (18:13; Heb. 2:17) Strong’s #2433

t he Greek word means “to be propitious” or “to be favorably inclined.” t he term is used only one other time as a verb in the nt, and there it describes how Christ made reconciliation possible between God and humanity by His sacrifice on the Cross (Heb. 2:17). t he noun form appears in 1 John 2:2; 4:10; in both places Jesus is called “the propitiation for our sins.” Jesus, as our sacrifice, propitiated God concerning our sins; that is, He appeased God. t his tax collector, well aware of his sinful condition, was asking God for reconciliation.

18:11, 12 God, I thank You: t he tone of the prayer reveals the Pharisee’s problem. He uses the pronoun I five times in two verses. t he Pharisee’s attitude seems to be that God should be grateful to him for his commitment. t he man obviously looked down on other people and was proud of his fasting and tithing.

18:13 t his is an example of the humble spirit of repentance that Jesus commends. t he tax collector knew that he could not say or bring anything to enhance his standing with God. He knew that only God’s mercy and grace, and not his own works, could deliver him.

18:14 Jesus identified the contrast between the Pharisee and the tax collector as one between pride and humility, between those who exalt and those who humble themselves. God will bring down the proud and will exalt the humble (1:52; 14:11).

18:15 they rebuked them: t he disciples assumed that Jesus was too important and too busy for children. t he parents’ desire for Jesus to touch the children was probably a request to bless them.

18:16 Jesus used the thoughtlessness of His disciples to make two points: (1) All people, even little children, are important to God. (2) t he kingdom of God consists of those who respond to Him with the trust that a little child gives to a parent.

18:21 All these things I have kept: Like the Pharisee in vv. 11, 12, the ruler was certain of his own ability to live righteously.

18:22 Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor: t his was a radical test of the ruler’s concern for others (12:33, 34). Jesus was determining whether the ruler’s treasure (see matt. 6:19–21) lay with God or money (16:13). Jesus was not establishing a new requirement for being saved. He was examining the ruler’s orientation to God by directly confronting him with the very thing that was hindering him—namely, his wealth. By contrast, Zacchaeus was a wealthy man who responded to Jesus (19:8–10).

the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”

<sup>23</sup> But when he heard this, he became very sorrowful, for he was very rich.

<sup>24</sup> And when Jesus saw that he became very sorrowful, He said, <sup>r</sup> “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup> For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

Christ Will Reward Sacrifice

<sup>29</sup> So He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, <sup>u</sup> there is no one who has left house or parents or brothers or wife or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, <sup>30</sup> <sup>v</sup> who shall not receive many times more in this present time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Christ Foretells His Death and Resurrection

<sup>31</sup> <sup>w</sup> Then He took the twelve aside and said to them, “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all things <sup>x</sup> that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be <sup>6</sup> accomplished. <sup>32</sup> For <sup>y</sup> He will be delivered to the Gentiles and will be mocked and insulted and spit upon.

Christ Heals Bartimaeus

<sup>35a</sup> Then it happened, as He was coming near Jericho, that a certain blind man sat by the road begging. <sup>36</sup> And hearing a multitude passing by, he asked what it meant. <sup>37</sup> So they told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by. <sup>38</sup> And he cried out, saying, “Jesus, <sup>b</sup> Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>39</sup> Then those who went before warned him that he should be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>40</sup> So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be brought to Him. And when he had come near, He asked him, <sup>41</sup> saying, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

He said, “Lord, that I may receive my sight.”

<sup>42</sup> Then Jesus said to him, “Receive your sight; <sup>c</sup> your faith has made you well.” <sup>43</sup> And immediately he received his sight, and followed Him, <sup>d</sup> glorifying God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Christ Abides with Zacchaeus

19 Then Jesus entered and passed through <sup>a</sup> Jericho. <sup>2</sup> Now behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus who was a chief tax collector, and he was rich.

18:24, 25 How hard it is for those who have riches: A wealthy person is easily tempted to depend on earthly riches rather than on God. easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle: Jesus used this figure of speech to emphasize the difficulty of turning from wealth to find salvation. Because many Jewish people believed that wealth was evidence of God’s blessing, Jesus’ statements would have been shocking to His audience.

18:26, 27 Who then can be saved: Jesus answered this question by explaining that the change of heart one must experience in order to know God is possible only through Him. Any person who enters the kingdom does so only by the marvelous grace of God (see John 3:3).

18:28 we have left all and followed You: Peter wanted reassurance about the disciples’ sacrifice as compared to the ruler.

18:29, 30 for the sake of the kingdom of God: Jesus assured the disciples that the sacrifices they made in leaving everything to follow Him would be rewarded without measure in His kingdom. The disciples’ wise stewardship of their lives exemplifies the principle of 9:24; 17:33. In these verses there is a clear division of time into the present time and the age to come. Blessings abound in both periods for disciples. In the future will come the same eternal life the ruler asked about in v. 18. The quality of that life will more than compensate for the sacrificial investment of life today (9:24).

18:31 though Jesus referred to the suffering He was going to face in Jerusalem, a suffering that was predicted by the prophets,

His disciples did not understand the implication of His words until after His resurrection. The theme of Jesus’ suffering is repeated in 24:25, 26, 44–47.

18:32, 33 the entire sequence of events of Jesus’ trial, crucifixion, and resurrection is predicted here in detail.

18:34 understood none of these things: The disciples may have understood something of what Jesus said, but they could not understand why God’s Chosen one would have to face such suffering. For those who were expecting the Promised one to be an exalted figure who would deliver God’s people, it would be very difficult to reconcile such an expectation with such terrible suffering. was hidden: The disciples did not understand the implications of Jesus’ suffering and death until it was explained to them in detail after Jesus was raised from the dead (24:25, 26, 44–47).

18:35 Jesus was nearing Jerusalem: Jericho was about 17 miles from the city.

18:38 note the irony in this verse. The blind man recognized who Jesus was, the Son of David, more clearly than many people who were blessed with physical sight. The blind man’s cry for mercy demonstrated his belief that Jesus had the power to heal him.

18:43 the gracious work of God led to praise, not only from the one who was blessed but also from those who saw the blessing.

19:2 Zacchaeus, as chief tax collector, most likely bid for the right to collect taxes and then hired another tax collector to actually gather the money.

3 And he sought to <sup>b</sup>see who Jesus was, but could not because of the crowd, for he was of short stature. 4 So he ran ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see Him, for He was going to pass that way. 5 And when Jesus came to the place, He looked up <sup>1</sup> and saw him, and said to him, “Zacchaeus, <sup>2</sup>make haste and come down, for today I must stay at your house.” 6 So he <sup>3</sup>made haste and came down, and received Him joyfully. 7 But when they saw it, they all <sup>4</sup>complained, saying, <sup>c</sup>“He has gone to be a guest with a man who is a sinner.”

8 Then Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, “Look, Lord, I give half of my goods to the <sup>d</sup>poor; and if I have taken anything from anyone by <sup>e</sup>false accusation, <sup>f</sup>I restore fourfold.”

9 And Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house, because <sup>g</sup>he also is <sup>h</sup>a son of Abraham; <sup>10i</sup>for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.”

Christ Gives the Parable of the Ten Minas

11 Now as they heard these things, He spoke another parable, because He was near Jerusalem and because <sup>j</sup>they thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately. <sup>12k</sup>Therefore He said: “A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and to return. <sup>13</sup>So he called ten of his servants, delivered to them ten <sup>5</sup>minas, and said to them, ‘Do business till I come.’ <sup>14l</sup>But his citizens hated him, and sent a delegation

19:4 A sycamore tree is similar to an oak tree, with a short trunk and wide lateral branches.

19:7 t he crowd was not happy with Jesus' choice of whom to honor with His fellowship. in the crowd's opinion, Zacchaeus was a sinner. t he term translated complained recalls the grumbling of 5:30 and 15:2, where the same issue was in view. Since tax collectors often took for themselves a high percentage of what they demanded, they were hated and despised in ancient Israel.

19:8 give half . . . restore fourfold: Zacchaeus determined to deal generously with others. in later Judaism, it was considered generous to give away up to 20 percent of one's belongings; giving away more than this was considered dangerous. Legal restitution for extortion was also 20 percent (see Lev. 5:16; num. 5:7).

19:11 evidently the disciples believed that Jesus' arrival in Jerusalem would signal the arrival of the kingdom of God. Jesus' parable in vv. 12–27 was designed to dispel this misconception. n ote that the disciples raised the same question in Acts 1:6.

19:12 t his parable is similar to matt. 25:14–30, but the occasion is probably different. t he story parallels in part what happened to Archelaus, a son of Herod the Great, who came to power in 4 b.c. t he people disliked Archelaus, and they appealed to Augustus Caesar not to give him authority. Jesus is not retelling the story of Archelaus, but the historical events meant that the parable had a well-known plot. A significant detail is that the kingdom is received during the journey away from the land to be ruled. t his corresponds to Jesus' leaving this earth to receive the kingdom following His resurrection.

19:13 Do business till I come: t his detail shows that Jesus' return would not be immediate (v. 11). t he servants represent Jesus' followers. t hey are to serve faithfully until Jesus returns. ten minas: each servant received one mina, or about four months' wages for the average worker. t he master, symbolizing Jesus Himself, wants to see fruit, or dividends from his investment. did his servants put the money they received to good use?

19:14 his citizens hated him: t his is a separate group from the servants and refers to those who reject Jesus outright.

19:15 how much every man had gained: Having returned with authority to rule, the nobleman asks the servants to give an account of their labor in his absence.

19:16 t he first servant earned ten times the amount he was given originally.

19:17 you were faithful . . . have authority over ten cities: Faithfulness is commended and rewarded with greater opportunity. t he authority given to the servant represents a role in administering Jesus' kingdom (see 1 Cor. 6:2, 3; Rev. 2:26–28; 5:9, 10; 20:1–6).

19:20–23 I feared you: t he unfaithful servant's excuse for failure reflects a negative view of the nobleman. if the servant had really feared the master, he would have done something with the money. even putting the money in the bank would have yielded interest. As it was, the servant failed to respond to the nobleman at all or even to understand him.

19:26 what he has will be taken away from him: Unfaithfulness results in loss of reward (see Rev. 3:11).

of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, and slay them before me.”

The Triumphal Entry

<sup>32</sup>So those who were sent went their way and found it just <sup>w</sup>as He had said to them. <sup>33</sup>But as they were loosing the colt, the owners of it said to them, “Why are you loosing the colt?”

<sup>34</sup>And they said, “The Lord has need of him.” <sup>35</sup>Then they brought him to Jesus. <sup>x</sup>And they threw their own clothes on the colt, and they set Jesus on him. <sup>36</sup>And as He went, many spread their clothes on the road.

<sup>37</sup>Then, as He was now drawing near the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to <sup>y</sup>rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works they had seen, <sup>38</sup>saying:

Cleansing the Temple

19:29, 30 Jesus was in control of the events of the last week of His life, even though those events led to His death. Here He prepared to enter the city riding a colt. Bethphage and Bethany were located just east of Jerusalem, within two miles of the city. t he mount of olives was in a range of hills just outside of Jerusalem, directly across from the temple.

19:31–34 the Lord has need of it: Such borrowing of an animal was not as strange as it may appear. t here was an ancient custom by which a political or religious leader could commandeer property for short-term use. Jesus was entering Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread, festivals that commemorated the great act of God’s deliverance of the nation. Such feasts were often celebrated at this time with the hope that God’s decisive deliverance would come.

19:35 t he clothes were probably their outer garments. t he scene recalls the declaration of Jehu as king in 2 Kin. 9:13. t he ride on the colt or mule resembles the events of 1 Kin. 1:33, in which david made the new king, Solomon, ride to Gihon on a mule. Zechariah had prophesied that the coming King would ride into Jerusalem humbly on a donkey (Zech. 9:9). However, Luke does not emphasize these connections with ot prophecy as matthew and John do (see matt. 21:5; John 12:15).

19:36 spread their clothes on the road: t he actions here indicate that a dignitary was being greeted (see 2 Kin. 9:13). t his is like “rolling out the red carpet” today.

19:38 t his verse is a citation of Ps. 118:26, with the title of King added to it. t he disciples recognized that Jesus was the promised King sent from God. He is the one who brings peace to the relationship between people and God (1:78, 79).

19:41 wept over it: Jesus knew that so many of the people of israel had rejected Him that the nation would suffer judgment, in the form of the terrible destruction that came on Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

19:43 build an embankment: t his is a prediction of Rome’s successful siege of Jerusalem under t itius. t he details reflect a divine judgment for covenant unfaithfulness, similar to the Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see is. 29:1–4; Jer. 6:6–21; 8:13–22; ezek. 4:1–3).

19:44 level you, and your children: t he totality of the destruction is made clear in this further description of the siege of Jerusalem. even children would die, and buildings would be destroyed.

19:45 Jesus’ entrance into Jerusalem begins the final section of Luke’s Gospel. Jesus cleansed the temple in anger after seeing that the place of prayer had become an excuse for corrupt commerce. merchants were selling sacrificial animals in the outer court of the temple (the court of the Gentiles) at exorbitant prices. money changers were making an excessive profit exchanging currencies for the temple shekel. John records a temple cleansing in John 2:13–22, but it is not clear whether that event is the same as this one in Luke. Since John places the event early in Jesus’ ministry, Jesus might have cleansed the temple twice. t he synoptic Gospels place the cleansing of the temple in the last week of Jesus’ ministry (matt. 21:12–17; mark 11:15–19). Some have suggested that John purposely placed the cleansing of the temple out of chronological order as a foretaste of Jesus’ judgment on contemporary religious practices.

19:46 t he holy place of worship had become a site for taking economic advantage of people. Jesus’ remark about a house of prayer alludes to is. 56:7. His comment regarding the den of thieves comes from Jer. 7:11.

19:47 Jesus’ actions at the temple, the most sacred location for Jews, caused the Jewish religious leaders to strengthen their resolve to destroy Him.

and the leaders of the people sought to destroy Him,<sup>48</sup> and were unable to do anything; for all the people were very attentive to <sup>p</sup>hear Him.

Religious Leaders Question Christ's Authority

20 Now <sup>a</sup>it happened on one of those days, as He taught the people in the temple and preached the gospel, that the chief priests and the scribes, together with the elders, confronted Him <sup>2</sup>and spoke to Him, saying, “Tell us, <sup>b</sup>by what authority are You doing these things? Or who is he who gave You this authority?”

<sup>3</sup>But He answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, and answer Me: <sup>4</sup>The <sup>c</sup>baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men?”

Parable of the Vineyard Owner

<sup>9</sup>Then He began to tell the people this parable: <sup>e</sup>“A certain man planted a vineyard, leased it to <sup>2</sup>vinedressers, and went into a far country for a long time. <sup>10</sup>Now at <sup>3</sup>vintage-time he <sup>f</sup>sent a servant to the

But the vinedressers beat him and sent him away empty-handed. <sup>11</sup>Again he sent another servant; and they beat him also, treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed. <sup>12</sup>And again he sent a third; and they wounded him also and cast him out.

<sup>13</sup>“Then the owner of the vineyard said, ‘What shall I do? I will send my beloved son. Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do to them? <sup>16</sup>He will come and destroy those vinedressers and give the vineyard to <sup>k</sup>others.”

And when they heard it they said, “Certainly not!”

<sup>17</sup>Then He looked at them and said, “What then is this that is written:

<sup>18</sup>Whoever falls on that stone will be <sup>m</sup>broken; but <sup>n</sup>on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder.”

Herodians Question Tribute Money

<sup>19</sup>And the chief priests and the scribes that very hour sought to lay hands on Him, but they <sup>4</sup>feared the people—for

20:4 Here as throughout the Gospel of Luke, the ministries of John the Baptist and Jesus are linked (see also 1:5–80; 3:10–18; 7:18–35). Jesus’ question presented the Pharisees with a dilemma. if they recognized John’s ministry as coming from heaven, they would be recognizing the same divine origin of Jesus’ similar “independent,” Spirit-directed ministry. But if the Pharisees denied that John was sent by God, they risked angering the majority of the people, who believed that John’s ministry was divinely directed (vv. 5, 6).

20:9 in a variation of is. 5:1–7, the vineyard here represents the promise made to israel, while the vinedressers represent the nation of israel. t he man who planted the vineyard represents God. t he imagery of the vineyard recalls the subject of Jesus’ parable in 13:6–9. t his parable is also found in matt. 21:33–44 and mark 12:1–12, with some slight variations of detail in each account.

20:10 beat him . . . sent him away empty-handed: t he treatment of the servant in this parable represents the treatment of the ot prophets by the people of israel. d uring the time of the prophets, the nation of israel produced no fruit; disobedience abounded (see 11:49–51; 13:34; Acts 7:51–53).

20:13 I will send my beloved son: t his refers to Jesus (3:21, 22; 9:35).

20:14 This is the heir . . . let us kill him: t he vinedressers hoped that with the son gone, the inheritance would fall to those who worked the property, a transfer that was possible in the ancient world. it should be noted that the details of this parable do not represent the thinking of those who crucified Jesus. t he leaders of israel thought they were stopping someone who was dangerous to Judaism, not that they were going to inherit Jesus’ kingdom.

20:15 cast him out . . . killed him: t he parallel here of course is Jesus’ death. what will the owner of the vineyard do to them: the parallel question is “what will God the Father do to those who reject and murder His Son?”

20:16 come and destroy those vinedressers: God will exercise judgment on those who killed His Son. He will give the vineyard to others. Jesus is alluding to the inclusion of Gentiles in the promise of God’s kingdom.

20:17 The stone which the builders rejected: t his passage, taken from Ps. 118:22, pictures the exaltation of the Righteous o ne, Jesus, after His rejection. o pposition will not stop God from making the o ne who is rejected the center of His work of salvation.

20:18 Jesus is the stone. Anyone who goes against the stone will be destroyed. Jesus’ statement is similar to a late Jewish proverb: “if the stone falls on the pot, alas for the pot; if the pot falls on the stone, alas for the pot.” t he imagery of Jesus as a stone is also found in 1 Pet. 2:4–8, where Peter compares the believers to living stones built into a spiritual temple for the Lord. chief cornerstone: t his could be the large stone which joins the foundation of two walls of a building, or else the capstone at the top of a doorway.

20:19 t he Jewish religious leaders wanted Jesus removed because of His direct challenges to them. But because they feared the they knew He had spoken this parable against them.

<sup>20</sup> So they watched Him, and sent spies who pretended to be righteous, that they might seize on His words, in order to deliver Him to the power and the authority of the governor.

<sup>21</sup> Then they asked Him, saying, <sup>p</sup>“Teacher, we know that You say and teach rightly, and You do not show personal favoritism, but teach the way of God in truth: <sup>22</sup>Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

They answered and said, “Caesar’s.”

<sup>26</sup> But they could not catch Him in His words in the presence of the people. And they marveled at His answer and kept silent.

Sadducees Question Resurrection

<sup>27</sup> Then some of the Sadducees, <sup>s</sup>who deny that there is a resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, <sup>28</sup>saying: “Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife, and he dies without children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. <sup>29</sup> Now there were seven brothers. And the first took a wife, and died without children. <sup>30</sup> And the second <sup>7</sup> took her as wife, and he died childless. <sup>31</sup> Then the third took her, and in like manner the seven <sup>8</sup> also; and they left no children, and died. <sup>32</sup> Last of all the woman died also. <sup>33</sup> Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife does she become? For all seven had her as wife.”

Christ Questions the Scribes

<sup>39</sup> Then some of the scribes answered and said, “Teacher, You have spoken well.” <sup>40</sup> But after that they dared not question Him anymore.

<sup>41</sup> And He said to them, <sup>y</sup> “How can they say that the Christ is the Son of reaction of the crowd, they waited for a more favorable time to do away with Jesus.

20:20 t the religious leaders watched Jesus very closely. t they pretended to be righteous, which in this context means that they tried to look sincere. t they wanted to trap Jesus into saying something that would make Him look like a political revolutionary, then they planned to hand Him over to the Roman governor Pilate.

20:22 Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not: t his question concerned the poll tax to Rome, which was different from the taxes collected by the tax collectors. t he poll tax was a citizenship tax paid directly to Rome, as an indication that israel was subject to that Gentile nation. t he Pharisees’ query was a trick question. if Jesus answered yes, the people would be angry because He respected a foreign power. if He answered no, He could be charged with sedition.

20:24 Whose image . . . does it have: Jesus’ reply was clever. He had the Pharisees pull out a coin, indicating that they already recognized Roman sovereignty by using Roman coins themselves. A denarius was a silver coin that usually had a picture of a Roman ruler on it. t he coins of tiberius were inscribed TIBERIUS CAESAR, AUGUSTUS, SON OF DIVINE AUGUSTUS. o n some of them the reverse bore an image of tiberius’s mother Livia, portrayed as a goddess of peace with the inscription HIGH PRIEST.

20:25 t he Pharisees could not twist Jesus’ wise reply into a charge of sedition (23:2). According to Jesus, Caesar, as the ruler of the empire, had the right to collect taxes. Yet at the same time, God should be honored above any ruler. Honoring God does not make a person exempt from supporting the basic functions of the state (see Rom. 13:1-7), for all figures of authority have been ordained by God.

20:27 The Sadducees, the Pharisees, and the essenes were three major divisions in first-century Judaism. t he Sadducees rejected the oral traditions that the Pharisees so stringently obeyed. instead they based their teaching only on the first five books of the ot, the books of moses. t they denied that there could be a resurrection, and they contrived a ludicrous example to suggest that the doctrine was impossible.

20:28 in Judaism, a childless widow would marry the brother of her late husband, according to the custom known as levirate marriage (see deut. 25:5; Ruth 4:1-12). t he law was designed to perpetuate the name of a man who died childless.

20:34, 35 Jesus contrasted life in the current age with life in the age to come. Because marriage will not be a part of the age to come, the Sadducees’ absurd example (vv. 28-33) does not apply. Jesus upheld the doctrine of resurrection in His reply, speaking of both the age to come and the resurrection, so that the two concepts were clearly associated. Jesus also noted that only those counted worthy would receive the benefits of the age to come.

20:36 equal to the angels . . . sons of God: t he everlasting life of a resurrected person makes that person something like an angel. Paul explains further that in the resurrection we will be given resurrection bodies similar to Christ’s (see 1 Cor. 15:25-58). t his will be a new experience that will not necessarily parallel experiences on this earth, such as marriage.

20:38 the God of the . . . living: Jesus points out that if God is the God of the patriarchs, then they must be raised and alive. God has a relationship only with those who are alive. Jesus’ citation of the Law (see ex. 3:1-6, 15) probably made an impact on the Sadducees, who revered the teachings of the books of moses.

20:41, 42 Here Jesus takes His turn at raising a theological issue. t he dilemma He poses is how the messiah (the Hebrew word for Christ) could be called the Son of David, when david himself gave Him the title Lord. my Lord: t his is a citation from Ps. 110:1 (see also

David? <sup>42</sup>Now David himself said in the Book of Psalms:

“Sit at My right hand,*

<sup>43</sup> *Till I make Your enemies Your
footstool.”*’

Christ Teaches on the Widow’s Mites

<sup>7</sup>So they asked Him, saying, “Teacher, but when will these things be? And what sign will there be when these things are about to take place?”

Signs of Christ’s Coming

Matt. 24:4-13; Mark 13:5-13

<sup>8</sup>And He said: <sup>h</sup>“Take heed that you not be deceived. For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am He,’ and, ‘The time has drawn near.’ <sup>4</sup>Therefore do not <sup>5</sup>go after them. <sup>9</sup>But when you hear of <sup>i</sup> wars and commotions, do not be terrified; for these things must come to pass first, but the end will not come immediately.”

<sup>10</sup><sup>j</sup>Then He said to them, “Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. <sup>11</sup>And there will be great <sup>k</sup>earthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven. <sup>12</sup><sup>l</sup>But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and <sup>m</sup>prisons. <sup>n</sup>You will be brought before kings and rulers <sup>o</sup>for My name’s sake. <sup>13</sup>But <sup>p</sup>it will turn out for you as an occasion for testimony. <sup>14</sup><sup>q</sup>Therefore settle it in your hearts not to meditate beforehand on what you will <sup>6</sup>answer; <sup>15</sup>for I will give you a mouth and wisdom <sup>r</sup>which all your adversaries will not be able to contradict or <sup>7</sup>resist. <sup>16</sup><sup>s</sup>You will 22:69; Acts 2:30–36). t he messiah was david’s descendant and yet david gave Him the respect due to a superior, the reverse of what normally occurred in ancient times. Jesus was not denying the title Son of David to the messiah, He was simply noting that the title Lord, meaning “master,” is more central. even david one day will bow at the messiah’s feet and confess that He is Lord (see Phil. 2:10).

20:46, 47 devour widows’ houses: Jesus noted the scribes’ hypocrisy and their taking advantage of others. Such activity will be judged.

21:1 t here were various places around the temple where people could leave contributions. t hirteen such locations were in the forecourt. t he receptacles were made in the shape of trumpets. each represented a different kind of offering. t here was also a treasury room near the court of women.

21:2 t he poor widow contributed two mites, small copper coins which were the smallest currency available.

21:3 has put in more than all: Jesus contrasted the giving of the rich (v. 1) with the sacrifice of the poor widow.

21:4 put in all the livelihood that she had: t he widow did not refuse to give even when she needed more to live on. Her devotion to God through her contributions was her first priority (see 2 Cor. 8:1–5; 9:6–9).

21:5 how it was adorned: t he temple was refurbished under Herod the Great with new foundation walls and enlarged areas outside the temple. Great stones of 12 to 60 feet in length were used. t he entire effort took from 20 B.C. to around A.D. 64. t hus the refurbishing was in progress during Jesus’ visit, around A.D. 30. t he donations were gift offerings for the decoration of the temple and included gold- and silver-plated gates, grape vine clusters, and Babylonian linen tapestries which hung from the temple veil. even t acitus, the Roman historian, called it an “immensely opulent temple.”

21:6 not one stone: Jesus noted that the beautiful place of worship was temporary and would be destroyed. He was referring to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, which itself was a picture of the destruction of the last days.

21:8 Take heed: t he first century and early second century were times of great messianic fervor in Judaism, as the israelites sought freedom from Roman rule. many people claimed to be the messiah. Jesus warned His disciples not to be fooled by such claims.

21:11 A wide variety of cosmic and natural events will occur before the end times. Verses 8–11 give signs before the end, while vv. 12–19 speak of events that will happen before the signs of vv. 8–11.

21:12 persecute you . . . for My name’s sake: Jesus predicted the arrests and suffering that the disciples would face as a result of identifying with Him. Some of these events are detailed in Acts 3–5; 7; 21–28. t he reference to synagogues, kings, and rulers indicates that all nations would share responsibility for the massacre of the disciples.

21:13 an occasion for testimony: Suffering can be an opportunity to advance the kingdom of God. t his is why those who endure suffering and persecution are called blessed (Matt. 5:10–12).

21:15 I will give you a mouth and wisdom: Jesus promises the disciples that the Holy Spirit will assist them in giving testimony (12:11, 12). t he initial fulfillment of this promise is found in Acts 4:8–14; 7:54; 26:24–32.

21:16 You will be betrayed: t he persecution of the disciples would be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relatives and friends; and they will put <sup>t</sup>some of you to death. <sup>17</sup>And <sup>u</sup>you will be hated by all for My name's sake. <sup>18</sup><sup>v</sup>But not a hair of your head shall be lost. <sup>19</sup>By your patience possess your souls.

Destruction of Jerusalem

<sup>20</sup><sup>w</sup>“But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation is near. <sup>21</sup>Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, let those who are in the midst of her depart, and let not those who are in the country enter her. <sup>22</sup>For these are the days of vengeance, that <sup>x</sup>all things which are written may be fulfilled. <sup>23</sup><sup>y</sup>But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! For there will be great distress in the land and wrath upon this people. <sup>24</sup>And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be led away captive into all nations. And Jerusalem will be trampled by Gentiles <sup>z</sup>until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Second Coming

hearts failing them from fear and the expectation of those things which are coming on the earth, <sup>b</sup>for the powers of the heavens will be shaken. <sup>27</sup>Then they will see the Son of Man <sup>c</sup>coming in a cloud with power and great glory. <sup>28</sup>Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because <sup>d</sup>your redemption draws near.”

Parable of the Fig Tree

<sup>29</sup><sup>e</sup>Then He spoke to them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees. <sup>30</sup>When they are already budding, you see and know for yourselves that summer is now near. <sup>31</sup>So you also, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near. <sup>32</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all things take place. <sup>33</sup>Heaven and earth will pass away, but My <sup>g</sup>words will by no means pass away.

Warning to Watch for His Coming

<sup>34</sup>“But <sup>h</sup>take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with <sup>8</sup>causing, drunkenness, and <sup>i</sup>cares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly. <sup>35</sup>For <sup>j</sup>it will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth. <sup>36</sup><sup>k</sup>Watch therefore, and <sup>l</sup>pray be painful and severe. identifying with Jesus often means risking the rejection and denunciation of family, and in some cases martyrdom.

21:19 possess your souls: Patient allegiance to Jesus leads to eternal life (9:24).

21:20 A siege would be the sign that the end was near for Jerusalem and the temple. t he other synoptic Gospels (see matt. 24:15; mark 13:14) allude to the abomination of desolation in dan. 9:25–27; 11:31. t his passage compares the desecration of the temple to what occurred in 167 B.C., when Antiochus epiphanes erected an altar to Zeus in the temple. A similar desecration of the temple site occurred during the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

21:22 days of vengeance: Jerusalem had become an object of divine judgment because of its unfaithfulness. Jesus warned of this consequence throughout His ministry (13:9, 34, 35; 19:41–44). t he premise for such judgment goes back to the curses of the mosaic covenant and the ot prophets' warnings of coming judgment (see deut. 28:49–57; 32:35; Jer. 6:1–8; 26:1–9; Hos. 9:7).

21:24 fall . . . be led away captive: t his verse elaborates on Jerusalem's fall. t here would be death and captivity, just as the nation experienced under the Assyrians and Babylonians. times of the Gentiles: t here would be a period in God's salvation plan when Gentiles would be dominant, of which the fall of Jerusalem would be a clear sign. t he fact that the time of the Gentiles will run its course also suggests that israel will once again play a significant role in God's plan (see Rom. 9–11).

21:25, 26 signs: Jesus shifts His focus to the end times with His second mention of cosmic turmoil (see v. 11; is. 24:18–20; 34:4; ezek. 32:7, 8; Joel 2:30, 31). men's hearts failing them: t he terror of cosmic chaos will cause apprehension about what is coming.

21:27 the Son of Man coming in a cloud: t he reference here is to the authoritative return of Jesus. t he allusion to the cloud and the figure comes from dan. 7:13, 14, with its picture of one who receives authority from the Ancient of days. Jesus viewed this text in terms of an apocalyptic deliverance. t he image of the cloud is important, since God is identified as riding the clouds in the ot (see ex. 34:5; Ps. 104:3). with power and great glory: t he Son of man has divine authority to judge the world.

21:28 lift up your heads . . . redemption draws near: t his is the sign of the deliverance of Jesus' followers. t he Son of man acts on behalf of those who have suffered in His name.

21:29, 30 t he tender buds that appear every spring on trees show that summer is approaching; the appearance of the signs Jesus describes will warn of the coming of the end times.

21:31 when you see . . . know: t he cosmic signs and earthly chaos are indications that the decisive and consummate rule of God is approaching.

21:32 t he most likely meaning of this verse is that when the end comes, it will come quickly. t he events of the end times will fall within one generation from start to finish (17:22–24). t he word generation can also refer to a race. t hus it may mean that the Jews will continue to exist as a people until the end.

21:33 by no means pass away: t he disciples had the assurance that Jesus' promises concerning the end times were more certain than creation itself. God made an unconditional and unilateral covenant, and He will keep it (see Gen. 12:1–3; 15:18–21; Ps. 89).

21:34 t hough the events of the end times may not come to pass for a long time, believers should continue to look for their arrival. t he Day of Jesus' return should not take us by surprise. we should live as if it is imminent.

21:36 Watch . . . pray: Jesus encouraged His disciples to be persistent in prayer and faith, looking for the day when the Son of Man exonerates the faithful in the judgment, so that they are able to stand before Him (see 1 John 2:28).

always that you may <sup>9</sup>be counted <sup>m</sup>worthy to escape all these things that will come to pass, and <sup>n</sup>to stand before the Son of Man.”

<sup>37</sup>o And in the daytime He was teaching in the temple, but <sup>p</sup>at night He went out and stayed on the mountain called Olivet. <sup>38</sup>Then early in the morning all the people came to Him in the temple to hear Him.

Judas Agrees to Betray Christ

22 Now <sup>a</sup>the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called Passover. <sup>2</sup>And <sup>b</sup>the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might kill Him, for they feared the people.

The Upper Room Is Prepared

<sup>7</sup>g Then came the Day of Unleavened Bread, when the Passover must be <sup>1</sup>killed. <sup>8</sup>And He sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat.”

<sup>9</sup>So they said to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare?”

<sup>10</sup>And He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him into the house which he enters. <sup>11</sup>Then you shall say to the master of the house, “The Teacher says to you, “Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with My disciples?”” <sup>12</sup>Then he will show you a large, furnished upper room; there make ready.”

<sup>13</sup>So they went and <sup>h</sup>found it just as He had said to them, and they prepared the Passover.

The Passover Is Celebrated

<sup>14</sup>i When the hour had come, He sat down, and the <sup>2</sup>twelve apostles with Him. <sup>15</sup>Then He said to them, “With *fer-*vent desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer; <sup>16</sup>for I say to you, I will no longer eat of it <sup>j</sup>until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.”

<sup>17</sup>Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, “Take this and divide it among yourselves; <sup>18</sup>for <sup>k</sup>I say to you, <sup>3</sup>I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.”

The Lord's Supper Is Instituted

22:1 t his verse begins the “passion narrative,” the account of Jesus’ death and resurrection. The Feast of Unleavened Bread took place immediately following Passover (see ex. 12:1–20; deut. 16:1–8). t he two feasts were often considered as one. Passover commemorated the night of the tenth plague in egypt, when the firstborn of israel were “passed over” and spared by the angel of death. t he Feast of Unleavened Bread celebrated the exodus (see ex. 12; Lev. 23:5, 6). many Jewish pilgrims traveled to Jerusalem to celebrate these feasts.

22:3 t he journey to the Cross was not just a matter of human effort or Judas’s plots. Cosmic forces were at work in the opposition to Jesus. Satan is mentioned in the temptations of Jesus, and in 10:18 and 13:16. t he name derives from the Hebrew term for “adversary” (see Job 1:9–11).

22:4 Judas’s involvement in the plot to betray Jesus was fortunate from the point of view of the Jewish religious leaders. t hey could arrest Jesus secretly and later claim that the driving force to stop Him came from within His own group of disciples. t he captains, Levites who were members of the temple guard, were the ones who could make the arrest.

22:7 t he synoptic Gospels are very clear that Jesus was betrayed on the day of Passover (see matt. 26:17–19; mark 14:12–16).

22:11, 12 guest room: Such rooms were often made available to the thousands of pilgrims who came to Jerusalem for the celebration of Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Such a room would contain couches for guests at the feasts to recline for the meal. Access to the room was probably gained by stairs on the outside of the house.

22:14–30 A comparison of this account with John 13:1–30 suggests that Luke has rearranged the order of events in a topical manner. Luke has the meal first and all the discourse afterward. in John’s account, Judas was gone by the time the meal was shared. Luke’s account does not mention Judas’s departure. in addition, Luke mentions two cups, while the other three Gospels mention only one. A Passover meal had four courses and four cups. t hus it is obvious that all the Gospel writers summarize the events of the meal. t he words over the bread and cup recorded by Luke are very similar to those of 1 Cor. 11:23–26.

22:16 I will no longer eat of it until it is fulfilled: in the kingdom to come, when final victory is celebrated, Jesus again will eat (see Rev. 19:9).

22:18 I will not drink of the fruit: As is made clear in v. 16, Jesus will abstain from celebrating a meal until His return.

22:19 My body . . . do this in remembrance: Jesus instituted a new meal which is not only a memorial of His death, but also a fellowship meal of unity. it is a proclamation and a symbol of the believers’ anticipation of Jesus’ return, when all God’s promises will be fulfilled (see 1 Cor. 10:16, 17; 11:23–26). t he bread of the Lord’s Supper represents the body of Jesus, offered on behalf of His disciples.

22:20 This cup is the new covenant: t he wine of the Lord’s Supper depicts the giving of life, a sacrifice of blood, which inaugurates the new covenant for those who respond to Jesus’ offer of salvation

Christ Predicts His Betrayer

<sup>21p</sup> But behold, the hand of My betrayer is with Me on the table. <sup>22q</sup> And truly the Son of Man goes <sup>r</sup> as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom He is betrayed!”

<sup>23s</sup> Then they began to question among themselves, which of them it was who would do this thing.

The Disciples Argue over Who Is the Greatest

<sup>24t</sup> Now there was also a dispute among them, as to which of them should be considered the greatest. <sup>25u</sup> And He said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those who exercise authority over them are called ‘benefactors.’ <sup>26v</sup> But not so among you; on the contrary, <sup>w</sup> he who is greatest among you, let him be as the younger, and he who governs as he who serves. <sup>27x</sup> For who is greater, he who sits at the table, or he who serves? Is it not he who sits at the table? Yet <sup>y</sup> I am among you as the One who serves.

Christ Predicts Peter’s Denial

<sup>34<sup>h</sup></sup> Then He said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster shall not crow this day before you will deny three times that you know Me.”

Christ Predicts Coming Conflict

<sup>35<sup>i</sup></sup> And He said to them, “When I sent you without money bag, knapsack, and sandals, did you lack anything?”

So they said, “Nothing.”

<sup>36</sup> Then He said to them, “But now, he who has a money bag, let him take it, and likewise a knapsack; and he who has no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one. <sup>37</sup> For I say to you that this which is written must still be <sup>5</sup> accomplished in Me: <sup>j</sup> ‘And He was numbered with the transgressors.’ For the things concerning Me have an end.”

And He said to them, “It is enough.”

Christ Prays in Gethsemane

<sup>39<sup>k</sup></sup> Coming out, <sup>l</sup> He went to the Mount of Olives, as He was accustomed, and His disciples also followed Him. <sup>40<sup>m</sup></sup> When He came to the place, He said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

<sup>41<sup>n</sup></sup> And He was withdrawn from them about a stone’s throw, and He knelt down and prayed, <sup>42</sup> saying, “Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless <sup>o</sup> not My will, but Yours, (see Heb. 8:8, 13; 9:11–28). t his is the strongest substitutionary image in the Gospel of Luke: Jesus died on the Cross in our place and for our sins (see Acts 20:28).

22:22 Jesus would suffer as God’s plan unfolded, and the one who betrayed Him would face woe.

22:24 as the greatest: note the sad irony in this verse. while Jesus faced the reality of being betrayed and killed, His disciples argued about which of them was greatest.

22:25 benefactors: t his title suggests that the people should be grateful for the generous leaders of their nation and that they should recognize their power and authority.

22:26 as the younger . . . as he who serves: Leadership in the church does not exalt; it serves. it shows respect to others, as a young person would show respect to an elder. t rue leaders labor for others, as a servant would. in short, the Lord’s view of greatness is the exact opposite of the world’s view.

22:28 in My trials: Jesus recognized that the disciples had been present and had suffered with Him during His ministry.

22:29 Jesus passed on His kingdom authority to the apostles who would continue planting the church, a part of the kingdom. t he authority that Jesus bestowed on them was like the authority that the Father had bestowed on Him.

22:30 eat and drink . . . sit on thrones judging: t his is a promise of future blessing and authority. t he disciples were promised a seat at the banquet of victory and the right to help Jesus rule over israel on His return (see matt. 19:28; 2 t im. 2:12).

22:31 Satan has asked for you: t he Greek word for you here is plural, indicating that Satan had asked permission to trouble all of the disciples.

22:32 I have prayed for you . . . when you have returned: t he Greek word for you here is singular, referring specifically to Peter. in effect, Jesus restored Peter even before his fall (vv. 54–62), and He instructed the disciple to shepherd the saints by strengthening them.

22:35, 36 When I sent you: t he allusion here is to the disciples’ mission recorded in 9:1–6; 10:1–24. w hen the disciples had depended on God to provide for their needs, those needs were met through generous people. However, the situation had changed. Jesus here instructed His disciples to take a money bag, a knapsack, and a sword on their journeys in order to be prepared for the rejection that was to come.

22:37 this which is written: Jesus cited is. 53:12, which describes a righteous one who suffers as a criminal. Jesus noted that His death would fulfill isaiah’s prediction.

22:38 misunderstanding Jesus’ instructions in v. 36, the disciples indicated that they had weapons with which to fight (vv. 50, 51).

22:39 Mount of Olives: matthew 26:36 gives the name Gethsemane, while John 18:1 speaks more generally of a garden.

22:42 Jesus agonized over His approaching death and the effect

Mount of Olives

The mount of Olives is a north-to-south ridge of hills east of Jerusalem that overlooks the temple. The closeness of the mount of Olives to Jerusalem's walls made this series of hills a grave strategic danger. The Roman commander Titus had his headquarters on the northern extension of the ridge during the siege of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. He named the place Mt. Scopus, or "Lookout Hill," because of the view it offered over the city walls. The whole hill must have provided a platform for the Roman catapults that hurled heavy objects over the Jewish fortifications of the city. In ancient times the whole mount must have been heavily wooded. As its name implies, it was covered with dense olive groves. On this site Jesus sat with His disciples to discuss the future (Mark 13; 14).

be done.”<sup>43</sup> <sup>6</sup>Then <sup>n</sup>an angel appeared to Him from heaven, strengthening Him.<sup>44</sup> <sup>q</sup>And being in agony, He prayed more earnestly. Then His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

Judas Betrays Christ

of God's wrath. The cup is a figure of speech for wrath (see Ps. 11:6; 75:7, 8; Jer. 25:15, 16; Ezek. 23:31-34).

22:43 strengthening Him: God's answer to Jesus' prayer did not allow His Son to avoid suffering. However, God did provide angelic help for Jesus to face what was coming. Sometimes God answers prayer by eliminating trials; sometimes He answers by strengthening us in the midst of them.

22:44 His sweat became like great drops of blood: Jesus' earnest prayer and emotion (vv. 42-44) led to a physical reaction. Though Jesus probably did not bleed here, His sweat became like blood.

22:48 not only did Jesus remind Judas of what he had done, He also noted the irony of being betrayed with a kiss.

22:50 one of them struck the servant: John 18:10 indicates that this impetuous disciple was Peter (see also Matt. 26:51; Mark 14:47). His violent act risked giving the impression that the disciples were seditious.

22:51 touched his ear and healed him: Jesus mercifully healed the ear of one who was taking Him to His death. Jesus illustrated here the love for His enemies that He had commanded in 6:27-36.

22:52 as against a robber: The Greek term for robber was used of both highway bandits and revolutionaries. Jesus rebuked His captors for treating Him as though He were a dangerous lawbreaker.

22:54 this is Jesus' first appearance before Annas (see John 18:13).

sat by the fire, looked intently at him and said, “This man was also with Him.”

But Peter said, “Man, I am not!”

<sup>59</sup> Then after about an hour had passed, another confidently affirmed, saying, “Surely this fellow also was with Him, for he is a Galilean.”

Immediately, while he was still speaking, <sup>8</sup> the rooster crowed. <sup>61</sup> And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. Then <sup>h</sup> Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said to him, <sup>i</sup> “Before the rooster <sup>9</sup> crows, you will deny Me three times.” <sup>62</sup> So Peter went out and wept bitterly.

Christ Is Beaten

<sup>63</sup> Now the men who held Jesus mocked Him and <sup>k</sup> beat Him. <sup>64</sup> And having blindfolded Him, they <sup>l</sup> struck Him on the face and asked Him, saying, “Prophecy! Who is the one who struck You?” <sup>65</sup> And many other things they blasphemously spoke against Him.

So He said to them, <sup>r</sup> “You rightly say that I am.”

Pilate Tries Christ

He answered him and said, “It is as you say.”

22:59 for he is a Galilean: According to mark 14:70, Peter’s accent gave him away as being from the same region as Jesus.

22:61, 62 looked at Peter: Apparently a window opened into the courtyard, and Peter knew that the Lord was aware of his denials. wept bitterly: t he Lord knew Peter better than Peter knew himself (v. 34). Peter was greatly grieved that he had failed Jesus.

22:63 mocked Him and beat Him: matthew 26:67; mark 14:65 further describe the abuse of Jesus at the hands of the soldiers as involving speaking, spitting, and slapping.

22:64 Prophecy: t he soldiers played a game to mock Jesus. t hey covered His head and asked Him to identify who was striking Him.

22:66 t he description here is of a major morning trial that involved all the Jewish religious leaders, the entire council or Sanhedrin. t his trial violated various Jewish legal rules given in later sources: meeting on the morning of a feast; meeting at Caiaphas’s home; trying a defendant without defense; and reaching the verdict in one day instead of the two days that were required for capital cases.

22:69 Hereafter means “from now on.” Jesus’ point was that authority would reside with Him from this point on. t hough He was on trial, in reality He is the ultimate Judge. on the right hand of the power of God: Jesus’ reply here alludes to the regal enthronement image of Ps. 110:1. t his reply is what convicted Him. Apparently what offended Jesus’ audience was His claim to sit in God’s presence and to exercise divine authority. in effect, His answer to their question about being the Christ was more than they expected. it was not blasphemous to claim to be messiah. what was blasphemous was the claim to be the Judge of the Jewish people, with God’s authority. Jesus’ remark also implies the hope of vindication. t hough the people would kill Him, Jesus would end up at God’s side. t he title of the Son of man is an allusion to dan. 7 (see also matt. 26:64; mark 14:62).

22:70 Son of God: t he Jewish leaders sensed that Jesus was claiming great authority here. t hey sensed that Jesus was asserting a unique and highly exalted relationship with God, making Himself the equal of God. in their view, this was not possible.

22:71 from His own mouth: t he Jewish leadership concluded that Jesus had made a confession of guilt. Jesus was “convicted” by His claim to a relationship to God in which He exercises an authority like God’s.

23:1 t he Roman ruler Pilate was responsible for collecting taxes and keeping the peace. it may be that he was in Jerusalem for judicial hearings, a procedure called an “assize.” t he fact that others were crucified with Jesus makes this likely.

23:2 began to accuse: t hree charges were lodged against Jesus: (1) perverting the nation, (2) forbidding payment of taxes to Rome, (3) claiming to be the Christ. t he first charge, which was a general complaint, involved disturbing the peace. t he other two charges could have been construed as challenges to Rome. t he second charge was a blatant lie (see 20:20–26). t he third charge was true, but not in the threatening sense that the prosecutors suggested. A three-part Roman procedure was followed at the trial: charges, examination, and verdict.

23:3 It is as you say: Jesus gave Pilate the same qualified reply He gave the Sanhedrin in 22:67, 68, 70. Jesus is a king, but He was not a threat to Rome (see John 18:36).

23:4 I find no fault: Pilate’s verdict was that Jesus was innocent. t his is the first of several such declarations in this chapter (vv. 14, 15, 22, 41). Jesus’ suffering and death were those of an innocent, righteous one (v. 47).

<sup>5</sup>But they were the more fierce, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee to this place.”

<sup>6</sup>When Pilate heard <sup>2</sup>of Galilee, he asked if the Man were a Galilean. <sup>7</sup>And as soon as he knew that He belonged to Herod’s jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, who was also in Jerusalem at that time.

Herod Tries Christ

<sup>8</sup>Now when Herod saw Jesus, <sup>k</sup>he was exceedingly glad; for he had desired for a long time to see Him, because <sup>l</sup>he had heard many things about Him, and he hoped to see some miracle done by Him. <sup>9</sup>Then he questioned Him with many words, but He answered him <sup>m</sup>nothing. <sup>10</sup>And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused Him. <sup>11</sup><sup>n</sup>Then Herod, with his <sup>3</sup>men of war, treated Him with contempt and mocked Him, arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe, and sent Him back to Pilate. <sup>12</sup>That very day <sup>o</sup>Pilate and Herod became friends with each other, for previously they had been at enmity with each other.

<sup>18</sup>And <sup>u</sup>they all cried out at once, saying, “Away with this Man, and release to us Barabbas”— <sup>19</sup>who had been thrown into prison for a certain rebellion made in the city, and for murder.

<sup>22</sup>Then he said to them the third time, “Why, what evil has He done? I have found no reason for death in Him. I will therefore chastise Him and let Him go.”

Christ Is Crucified

<sup>26</sup><sup>x</sup>Now as they led Him away, they laid hold of a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, who was coming from the country, and on him they laid the cross that he might bear it after Jesus.

<sup>27</sup>And a great multitude of the people followed Him, and women who also mourned and lamented Him. <sup>28</sup>But Jesus, turning to them, said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. <sup>29</sup><sup>y</sup>For

23:5 By mentioning the charge that Jesus stirred up the people, the leaders suggested that Pilate risked being found derelict in his duty if he let Jesus go.

23:7 Herod’s jurisdiction: Herod was responsible for Galilee, so Pilate “passed the buck” for the ruling and showed political courtesy at the same time.

23:8 he was exceedingly glad: Herod’s curiosity about Jesus is noted in 9:7-9.

23:9 answered him nothing: Jesus may have remained silent because He had already been declared innocent and yet was still subjected to trial (see Acts 8:32, 33).

23:11 After deciding that he had nothing to fear from Jesus, Herod and his men entertained themselves at Jesus’ expense. Dressing him in a gorgeous robe was probably a sarcastic reference to Jesus’ claim to be king.

23:16 chastise Him and release Him: Pilate hoped that a public whipping might satisfy the crowd and tame Jesus, avoiding the need to resort to the death penalty.

23:17 it was necessary . . . to release one to them: Pilate wanted to take advantage of this custom and let Jesus go (see Matt. 27:15; Mark 15:6).

23:18, 19 Away with this Man: The entire crowd is portrayed as wanting Jesus to die. Luke makes it clear that Jesus’ death was not only instigated by Jewish officials but approved by the Jewish people. Barabbas: The people preferred that a seditious murderer be freed instead of Jesus. The idea of Jesus’ substitution for this noted murderer foreshadows the substitutionary death of Jesus for sinful people.

23:23 Luke mentions the chief priests separately from the crowd since they were the instigators of the plot against Jesus. Because Pilate feared the will of the people, he entered into the conspiracy and shared its guilt, agreeing to put to death someone he knew to be innocent (see Acts 4:25-27).

23:26 Jesus was apparently unable to carry His own cross. Simon a Cyrenian, a man from a leading city of Libya, was chosen to carry the cross for Him (see Acts 6:9; 11:20; 13:1). Mark 15:20, 21 mentions that Simon’s sons were Rufus and Alexander, believers known to Mark’s audience.

23:27 The events of vv. 27-31 are unique to Luke’s account. While such mourning for the dead was required by custom in the ancient world, Jesus’ reply seems to take the people’s mourning as sincere.

23:28 do not weep for Me: Though He was dying, Jesus pointed out that their weeping should be for Jerusalem and its inhabitants, since judgment was going to fall on the city (19:41-44). Jerusalem here represents the entire nation of Israel.

23:29, 30 barren: In the days of judgment, the children, who were usually thought of as cursed, would be better off than those with family because the terror of that time would be so great. Fall on us: Fear of the judgment would be so great that people would prefer to die rather than suffer what was coming. t here is an allusion here to Hos. 10:8 (see also Rev. 6:16). People who face God’s judgment desire the relief of death rather than to endure His wrath.

23:31 what will be done in the dry: t he idea here seems to be “if this is what is done to a live tree, what will happen to the dead one?” in other words, “if Jesus, the living tree, has not been spared, how much more will dead wood not be spared.” t his is Jesus’ final lament over the nation of israel.

23:32 Jesus’ prediction of dying with the transgressors (see 22:37; see also isaiah’s prediction in is. 53:12) was fulfilled when two criminals accompanied Him to death.

23:33 t he name of the place in Aramaic is Golgotha, which means “Skull.” Calvary is the Latin name for Golgotha. Possibly the name referred to a geographical feature of the locale, something that resembled a skull.

23:34 t hose who put Jesus to death acted in ignorance, not really understanding who it was they were killing. Jesus’ example of interceding for His executioners was followed by Stephen in Acts 7:60.

divided His garments and cast lots: t he language here alludes to the suffering Righteous one of Ps. 22:18.

Crucifixion

At the time of Jesus’ death, crucifixion was considered the most painful and degrading form of capital punishment in the Roman empire. it was considered so horrible that it was used by the Romans only for slaves, those from the provinces under their control, and the lowest types of criminals. it was not to be used for a Roman citizen. t his is in accord with the biblical account of Christ’s death and with church tradition, which asserts that Peter was also crucified, but Paul, a Roman citizen, was beheaded.

Crucifixion as a means of execution probably grew out of the practice of displaying the heads of captured enemies or criminals on a wooden stake like those used to build a wall or erect fortifications. Later, entire bodies were impaled. By Jesus’ time, crucifixion was a common sight.

Although methods of crucifixion seem to have varied throughout the Roman empire, through biblical and historical accounts the basic pattern is known. t he condemned person was first scourged with a flagellum, a whip of leather thongs with bits of metal or bone attached. t his whipping greatly weakened the victim, who then had to carry the crossbeam to the place of execution. A sign specifying the crime was often placed around the criminal’s neck or on the cross. t he person was stripped naked, laid on the ground with the crossbeam under his shoulders, and tied or nailed to it. n ailing made the victim die quicker, as it did Jesus, whom the Jewish officials wanted dead before the Sabbath. t he crossbeam was lifted and secured to a post so that the person’s feet were hanging just off the ground. Some archaeologists think a pin or wooden block was placed halfway up the post to provide a seat for the body so that the nails would not tear open the wounds, causing the body to fall. t he feet also could be nailed or tied to the post.

Reconstruction of a Roman scourge

Although the pain was excruciating, some victims survived on the cross for days. As in the case of the two criminals crucified with Jesus, the legs of a crucified person were sometimes broken to make the sufferer die. t his caused massive shock, followed by loss of circulation and heart failure.

Although completely innocent of all sin, Jesus suffered the most horrible, disgraceful punishment known. But His agonizing death was not an ordinary death, for it was not the final chapter. Jesus turned this apparent defeat into the most glorious victory the world has ever known. At the Cross, He suffered for the sins of the world. t hen after His resurrection from the dead three days later, Jesus empowered His disciples with a new message, the Good news that He had finally defeated the power of sin and death. t hrough the Cross, Jesus offers salvation to all who will believe in Him.

Him save Himself if He is the Christ, the chosen of God.”

until the ninth hour. <sup>45</sup>Then the sun was <sup>4</sup>darkened, and <sup>o</sup>the veil of the temple was torn in <sup>5</sup>two. <sup>46</sup>And when Jesus had cried out with a loud voice, He said, “Father, <sup>p</sup> ‘into Your hands I commit My spirit.’” <sup>q</sup>Having said this, He breathed His last.

<sup>48</sup>And the whole crowd who came together to that sight, seeing what had been done, beat their breasts and returned. <sup>49</sup>But all His acquaintances, and the women who followed Him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things.

23:36 t he drink referred to here was probably wine vinegar, which was inexpensive and quenched thirst better than water. it was a drink of the poor.

23:38 KING OF THE JEWS: t his inscription, which gave the charge against Christ, was written in three languages. Jesus was killed for who He is.

23:40 not everyone rejected Jesus at His crucifixion. t he second criminal rebuked his companion in death, warning that he should fear God. t he sarcastic thief, who would suffer judgment, was in no position to insult Jesus.

23:41 we indeed justly: o ne criminal knew the difference between those who had sinned and deserved to die and the o ne who did not.

23:42 remember me: t his remark is amazing for its insight. w hile others mocked Jesus’ seeming inability to save Himself, this thief recognized that Jesus would live and rule. He wanted to be saved and take part in Christ’s kingdom.

Paradise

(Gk. paradeisos) (23:43; 2 Cor. 12:4; Rev. 2:7) Strong’s #3857

t his word literally means “garden” or “park.” it was used with such a meaning in the Greek o t in eccl. 2:5; Song 4:13. t he Septuagint also used paradeisos for the Garden of eden (see Gen. 2:8). in later Jewish thought, Paradise is the place of the righteous dead in Sheol. Jesus perhaps alluded to this idea in His story of Lazarus going to Abraham in 16:19–31. And when Jesus spoke to the thief on the Cross, He promised him that he would that day be with Him in Paradise (23:43). t his again seems to indicate a pleasant place for the righteous among the dead. t he promise of Paradise in Rev. 2:7 speaks of the restitution of an edenic paradise, an everlasting home for believers (compare Gen. 2; Rev. 22).

23:43 you will be with Me: Jesus promised eternal life to the thief, doing what the mockers had asked Him to do in v. 39.

23:44 sixth hour . . . ninth hour: t he first hour was sunrise, so the time was 12 P.M. to 3 P.M. d uring these three hours, signs of creation revealed that the hour was not one of light but of darkness (22:53).

23:45 the sun was darkened: t his testimony of creation was designed to signal the importance of Jesus’ death. Passover falls on the full moon, so this cannot have been an eclipse of the sun. t he imagery is similar to that associated with the day of the Lord (Joel 2:10, 30, 31; Amos 8: 9; Zeph. 1:15). it is not clear whether the curtain that was torn was the one at the entrance to the tabernacle, or the inner curtain that separated the Holy Place from the most Holy Place. t he tearing of the veil symbolizes a renewed access to God through the death of Christ (see v. 43; Heb 9; 10).

23:46 into Your hands: Jesus’ final words are from Ps. 31:5, where this is the prayer of trust from a righteous sufferer. Jesus exercised that faith here.

23:47 in matt. 27:54; mark 15:39, the centurion’s remark is noted as a confession of the Son of God. if Jesus was righteous and innocent, then He is who He claimed to be. t hus a second figure besides the thief on the cross had insight into Jesus’ death.

23:49 t he Galileans stood at a distance to watch Jesus’ crucifixion. t heir sadness is further explained in 24:16–20.

23:50 Joseph, a council member: not every Jewish religious leader opposed Jesus.

23:51 He had not consented: Joseph did not agree with the sentence of Jesus. mark 14:64 suggests that “all” present were in favor of Jesus’ execution, so Joseph may not have attended the trial. waiting for the kingdom of God: t he description of Joseph in vv. 50, 51 recalls Zacharias and elizabeth (1:5, 6) and Simeon and Anna (2:25, 38). t he description suggests that Joseph was a follower of Christ.

23:52 the body of Jesus: t here is no doubt that Jesus died. efforts to explain the Resurrection as something like a return from a coma are more impossible than the idea of the Resurrection itself.

asked for the body of Jesus. <sup>53v</sup> Then he took it down, wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a tomb that was hewn out of the rock, where no one had ever lain before. <sup>54</sup> That day was <sup>w</sup> the Preparation, and the Sabbath drew near.

Christ Appears on the Road to Emmaus

Mark 16:12, 13

<sup>13m</sup> Now behold, two of them were traveling that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was <sup>5</sup> seven miles from Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup> And they talked together of all these things which had happened. <sup>15</sup> So it was, while they conversed and reasoned, that <sup>n</sup> Jesus Himself drew near and went with them. <sup>16</sup> But <sup>o</sup> their eyes were restrained, so that they did not know Him.

<sup>17</sup> And He said to them, “What kind of conversation is this that you have with one another as you <sup>6</sup> walk and are sad?”

<sup>18</sup> Then the one <sup>p</sup> whose name was Cleopas answered and said to Him, “Are You the only stranger in Jerusalem, and have You not known the things which happened there in these days?”

So they said to Him, “The things concerning Jesus of Nazareth, <sup>q</sup> who was a Prophet <sup>r</sup> mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, <sup>20s</sup> and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and crucified Him. <sup>21</sup> But we were hoping <sup>t</sup> that it was He who was going to redeem Israel. Indeed, besides all this, today is the third day since these things happened. <sup>22</sup> Yes,

23:53 Jesus was given an honorable burial (see deut. 21:22, 23). t he linen was probably fine cloth. t he tomb had a stone to cover it in order to make it secure (see matt. 27:66). Guards were posted to stop anyone trying to steal the body (matt. 27:65, 66).

23:54 Jesus was buried late on Friday, on the day called Preparation, when everything was made ready for the Sabbath, the day when no labor could take place.

23:56 prepared spices and fragrant oils: on Friday the women prepared for the anointing of Jesus' body on the day after the Sabbath, since they could not make preparations on the Sabbath. t he spices were used to delay decay and lessen the odor of the body. mark 16:1 notes that spices were also purchased after the Sabbath. Apparently the women did not anticipate a resurrection.

24:2 matthew 28:2 mentions that an earthquake moved the stone, which would have fit in a channel in front of the entrance to the tomb. moving the stone would have been possible, though difficult, for a group of people. t he earthquake settles the question of how the stone was moved.

24:4, 5 it may be assumed that the two men who appeared were angels, based on the way their clothes are described as shining garments (see also v. 23). Why do you seek the living: Angels announced that Jesus was alive. Anointing Him would not be necessary.

24:6 is risen . . . Remember: t he women were reminded that Jesus had predicted His resurrection as far back as Galilee (see 9:22).

24:10 t hree women are named: Mary Magdalene (see 8:2; matt. 28:1; mark 16:1; John 20:1), Joanna (8:3), and Mary the mother of James (see mark 15:40; 16:1). o ther women also joined in the report of Jesus' resurrection. mary, the last one at the Cross and the first one at the tomb, was given the privilege of relaying the first resurrection message.

24:11 Skepticism reigned among the disciples. it is clear that they did not expect a resurrection. they did not believe: t he disciples thought the women's story was nonsense.

24:12 Peter arose and ran: Having already experienced a fulfilled prediction of the Lord (22:54–62), Peter hurried to the tomb to check out the women's story. it is hard to say whether Peter believed in the Resurrection when he left the tomb. does his marveling indicate amazement or faith?

24:19–21 Jesus of Nazareth . . . a Prophet: t hese disciples on the road to emmaus regarded Jesus as the Revealer of God's way and the doer of His work. He who was going to redeem Israel: t he disciples had hoped that God would once again save israel through Jesus.

and “certain women of our company, who arrived at the tomb early, astonished us.”<sup>23</sup> When they did not find His body, they came saying that they had also seen a vision of angels who said He was alive.<sup>24</sup> And “certain of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said; but Him they did not see.”

<sup>25</sup> Then He said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken! <sup>26</sup> W Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His *x*glory?”<sup>27</sup> And beginning at *y*Moses and *z*all the Prophets, He *7*expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.

<sup>28</sup> Then they drew near to the village where they were going, and *a*He *8*indicated that He would have gone farther.<sup>29</sup> But *b*they constrained Him, saying, c“Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent.” And He went in to stay with them.

<sup>30</sup> Now it came to pass, as *d*He sat at the table with them, that He took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them.<sup>31</sup> Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight.

<sup>32</sup> And they said to one another, “Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?”

24:25 slow of heart to believe: Jesus, who at this time was still not known to the travelers, rebuked His companions and reminded them of the things that the prophets taught.

24:26 t he prophets taught the suffering of the Christ and His entrance into glory. t he passages referred to here would include Ps. 16; 100; is. 53. See the Book of Acts for the apostle’s use of these passages to prove that Jesus is the promised messiah (see Acts 2:14–36; 8:32, 33). note how Jesus used the title of Christ (messiah) to refer to Himself, while the disciples called Him merely a prophet (v. 19).

24:27 Going from the books of Moses to the Prophets, Jesus provided an overview of God’s plan in the Scriptures. t his plan is present throughout the entire ot (see Acts 3:22–26; 10:43).

fact that the raised Jesus was in their midst. t hey believed they were seeing a heavenly apparition (see v. 39).

24:38 why do doubts arise: Jesus’ appearances were designed to reassure the disciples about the reality of His vindication.

24:39 Jesus pointed out that a raised body is not a disembodied spirit. t he presence of flesh and bones indicates that Jesus had been raised bodily, and that He was not a hallucination. He was raised in the same physical body in which He had been put to death. t he difference was that His resurrected body is not corruptible and not subject to death. t he apostle Paul discusses the resurrection body in 1 Cor. 15:35–58.

24:47 Jesus had been considered a pretender and a blasphemer. After His resurrection, people had to change their minds and serve Him for who He really is, the Son of God. t his is the message Peter would preach at Pentecost, a message that would result in thousands of people declaring Jesus as their Lord. Jesus summarized the mission of the disciples as preaching repentance, calling people to turn from their own selfish ways to Christ, the one who had died for them. remission of sins: t he content of the disciples’ preaching would center on God’s gracious offer of forgiveness to all who would believe (see Acts 2:38; 10:43). in His name: t his is a reference to Jesus’ authority. Forgiveness and blessing come only through the work of the risen Jesus (see Acts 2:30–39). t he message of Jesus’ salvation can go to all nations, to Jews and Gentiles alike. t he offer is made to anyone who will receive it (see Acts 10–15). t he disciples’ mission would begin in Jerusalem where Jesus died; from there, it would spread out into the entire world (see Acts 1:8).

24:48 witnesses: Jesus pointed out that the disciples were called to testify to His work (see Acts 1:8, 22; 3:15; 5:32; 10:39, 41; 13:31; 22:15; 26:16).

Peter called this coming of the Spirit “the beginning” (see Acts 11:15) because the real fulfillment of God’s promise of salvation would start in those people united by the Spirit to establish the church. tarry in the city of Jerusalem until you are endued with power from on high: t he disciples were to remain in Jerusalem until the Spirit empowered them on the day of Pentecost.

24:50 Bethany was just outside Jerusalem (19:29).

Luke’s account continues in the Book of Acts. t here he records the disciple’s initial response to Jesus’ commission to preach to all the nations (v. 47).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

JOHN

THE WORDS “Read This First” have taken an important role in the packaging of modern consumer products. Most consumers think life is too short for instruction manuals, so the packagers state it plainly: If you cannot read the manual, at least read this very important part. “Read This First”—it is for your own good. The Gospel of John makes a similar claim. It is the only book in the Bible that states its purpose clearly and succinctly: It was written to tell individuals how to find eternal life (20:31). This clearly identified purpose sets the Gospel of John apart from the other Gospels. It is not so much a life of Jesus as it is a powerful presentation of His deity. Every chapter presents evidence—both signs and statements—for His divine authority. According to John, believing that Jesus is the Son of God, the Savior of the world, is the beginning of eternal life (3:14–17). What could be more important? John’s statement about his Gospel is as good as a “Read This First” sticker for one’s entire life.

Author The author of the Gospel of John does not identify himself by name, but his identity can be learned from the dialogue recorded in 21:19–24. The author calls himself “the disciple whom Jesus loved” (21:20), a designation that occurs four other times in the book (13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7). This was the same “disciple who . . . wrote these things” (21:24). The author had to be one of the twelve apostles, because he is described as leaning on Jesus’ bosom at the Last Supper, an event to which only the apostles were invited (13:23; see Mark 14:17). These details imply that he was one of the three disciples closest to Jesus: Peter, James, or John (see Matt. 17:1). He could not be Peter, because 21:20 states that Peter looked back and saw this one Jesus loved, and in another place asked a question of him (13:23, 24). On the other hand, James was martyred too early to be the author of this Gospel (see Acts 12:1, 2). Thus it is reasonable to conclude that this book was written by the apostle John. This conclusion is supported by early Christians such as Polycarp (A.D. 60–155), who was a follower of John.

Date In the nineteenth century, many critics claimed that the Gospel of John was written around A.D. 170. Then in 1935 C. H. Roberts discovered a scrap of papyrus in Egypt containing portions of 18:31–33, 37, 38 that disproved their theory. This fragment, the Rylands papyrus, was written around A.D. 125. The Gospel itself must have been written before A.D. 125, or even A.D. 110, allowing time for it to be copied and then carried to Egypt.

Conservative scholars typically date the book between A.D. 85 and A.D. 95. The book makes no reference to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, implying that such a significant event must have occurred many years earlier. Moreover, the statement about Peter in 21:18, 23 seems to indicate that the Gospel was written when John was an old man. Only then would John have had to explain the death of Peter, or contend with a long-standing rumor of the early church. Others have suggested a date before A.D. 70 on the basis of 5:2, which indicates that Jerusalem was still standing. But there is a question about the interpretation of the tense of the verb to be. It is likely that the reason John used the present tense in this verse was to describe Jerusalem vividly, not to describe its present condition. Without more evidence than the tense of the verb in 5:2, the date of around A.D. 90 still seems most reasonable.

Theology The Gospel of John is a persuasive argument for the deity of Jesus. It concentrates on presenting Jesus as the word, that is, God (1:1) who became a man (1:14). Thus John meticulously records the statements and describes the miracles of Jesus that can only be attributed to God Himself.

Jesus called Himself the bread of life (6:35, 41, 48, 51), the light of the world (8:12; 9:5), the door for the sheep (10:7, 9), the good shepherd (10:11, 14), the resurrection and the life (11:25), the way, the truth, the life (14:6), and the true vine (15:1, 5). Each of these statements begins with the words, “I am,” recalling God’s revelation of His name, “I Am,” to Moses (see Ex. 3:14). Jesus did not say He gave bread; He said He is the Bread which gives life. He did not say He would teach the way, the truth, and the life; instead He said He is the way, because He is the truth and the Life. These are Jesus’ clear claims to deity: He was not a mere man.

Then there are the signs of Jesus’ deity. Miracles in the Gospel of John are called “signs” because they point to Jesus’ divine nature. John records seven such signs: changing water into wine (2:1–11), healing a man’s son (4:46–54), healing a lame man (5:1–9), multiplying bread and fish (6:1–14), walking on water (6:15–21), healing a blind man (9:1–7), and raising Lazarus (11:38–44). These miracles show that Jesus is God; He possesses power over nature. Other indications of Jesus’ deity include the testimonies of John the Baptist (1:32–34), Nathanael (1:49), the blind man (9:35–38), Martha (11:27), and Thomas (20:28)—not to mention Jesus’ own words (5:19–26).

Jesus was also fully man. His body grew weary (4:6), His soul was troubled (12:27; 13:21), and He groaned in His spirit (11:33). At the same time, this God-man was Israel’s messiah. Andrew told his brother, “We have found the messiah” (1:41). Nathanael concluded, “You are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!” (1:49). Even the Samaritan woman testified to Jesus’ identity (4:25, 26, 29). Jesus the messiah was and is the Savior of the world (4:42; 11:27; 12:13).

John urges us to trust in Jesus for eternal life. Our trust is built on our belief that (1) the Father is in Christ, and Christ is in the Father (10:38; 14:10, 11); (2) Christ came from God (16:17, 30), and God sent Him (11:42; 17:8, 21; see 6:29); and (3) He is the Son of God (6:69; 11:27; 20:31). John reveals the Bible’s most important message: Believe and follow Jesus, because He is the way to eternal life.

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

John focuses on Jesus’ claim that He was God by including Christ’s seven “I am” statements: “I am the bread of life” (6:35, 48); “I am the light of the world” (8:12); “I am the door” (10:7, 9); “I am the good shepherd” (10:11, 14); “I am the resurrection and the life” (11:25); “I am the way, the truth, and the life” (14:6); “I am the true vine” (15:1).

John doesn’t take any chances that we might miss what these “I am” statements suggest. He records certain occasions when Jesus equates Himself with the Old Testament “I Am” (Yahweh). You can’t be more specific than this: “Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I Am” (8:58).

The Deity of Christ

In the beginning <sup>a</sup> was the Word, and the <sup>b</sup> Word was <sup>c</sup> with God, and the Word was <sup>d</sup> God. <sup>2e</sup> He was in the beginning with God.

The Preincarnate Work of Christ

The Forerunner of Christ

1:1 In the beginning: Genesis 1:1 starts with the moment of creation and moves forward to the creation of humanity. John 1:1 starts with creation and contemplates eternity past. The fact that the Word was with God suggests a face-to-face relationship. In the ancient world, it was important that persons of equal station be on the same level, or face-to-face, when sitting across from one another. Thus the word with indicates a personal relationship, but also implies equal status. The word, Jesus Christ Himself, is an active Person in communication with the Father (see 1 John 1:2), moreover, the Word was God. The word order in Greek shows that the word was “God,” not “a god.” This is a straightforward declaration of Christ’s deity, since John uses Word to refer to Jesus. The word was of the very quality of God, while still retaining His personal distinction from the Father.

1:2 neither the Person of Christ, nor His Sonship, came into being at a point in time. Rather, the Father and the Son have always been in loving fellowship with one another.

1:3 All things were made through Him: God the Father created the world (Gen. 1:1) through God the Son (Col. 1:16; Heb. 1:2). All creation was made through Him. Thus He is the Creator God.

1:4 note that life is not said to have been created; life existed in Christ (5:26; 6:57; 10:10; 11:25; 14:6; 17:3; 20:31). Humans are dependent on God for life. Our existence, spiritually and physically, depends on God’s sustaining power. In contrast, the Son has life in Himself from all eternity. The life, Jesus Christ, is also the light of men. This image conveys the concept of revelation. As the light, Jesus Christ reveals both sin and God to humans (see Ps. 36:9). Later in this Gospel, Christ declares Himself to be both the life (11:25) and the light (8:12). Death and darkness flee when the life and light enter. The dead are raised and the blind receive their sight, both physically and spiritually.

1:5 light shines in the darkness: Christ entered this dark world to give it spiritual light (see is. 9:2). The word translated comprehend can mean (1) to take hold of; (2) to overpower; or (3) to understand. Therefore, this verse may mean that darkness did not positively take hold of or understand the light, or that darkness did not negatively overcome the light. Both statements are true. Humans did not appropriate or understand the light, nor did they overtake or overpower it. Although Satan and his forces resist the light, they cannot thwart its power. In short, Jesus is life and light; those who accept Him are “sons of light” (12:35, 36). As the creation of light was the beginning of the original creation (Gen. 1:3), so when believers receive the light, they become part of the new creation (2 Cor. 4:3–6).

1:6 John the Baptist is here contrasted with Jesus Christ. Jesus is God (v. 1); John was a man sent from God. Jesus was the Light (v. 4); John was the lamp that bore witness to the Light (vv. 7, 8).

1:7 To bear witness means “to testify” or “to declare.” John uses the word translated witness 33 times as a verb and 14 times as a noun in his Gospel. The term is particularly important to his purpose, which is to record adequate witnesses to Jesus as the messiah so that individuals might believe in Him (20:30, 31). Believe means “to trust.” John uses this verb almost one hundred times in his Gospel to express what must take place for a person to receive the gift of eternal life.

1:9 in order to give due notice to the incarnation of Jesus, this verse may be rephrased: “That was the true Light coming into the world, which enlightens every man.” Jesus became man in order to reveal the truth to all people. Depending on the context, world can refer to (1) the universe; (2) the earth; (3) humanity; or (4) the human system opposed to God.

1:11 Receive here means “to receive with favor” and implies “welcome.” Instead of a welcome mat, Jesus had a door slammed in His face. The themes of rejection and reception (v. 12) introduced in the prologue (1:1–18) appear again and again throughout the Gospel of John.

1:12 the phrase believe in His name occurs three times in the Gospel of John (1:12; 2:23; 3:18). Name does not refer to the term by which He is called, but to what His name stands for—the Lord is salvation (see ex. 3:14, 15). In this context, the phrase means to believe that Jesus is the word, the life, and the Light—that is, He is the Christ, the Son of God (20:31). To them He gave the right refers to the legitimate entitlement to the position of children of God. By believing, undeserving sinners can become full members of God’s family.

1:13 born . . . of God: His new spiritual birth is not of blood, that #### the Word

This Greek word was used to speak of the principle of the universe, even the creative energy that generated the universe. The term logos may also have some connection with the Old Testament presentation of wisdom as a personification or attribute of God (see Prov. 8). In both the Jewish conception and the Greek, the Logos was associated with the idea of beginnings—the world began through the origination and instrumentality of the word (Gen. 1:3). John may have had these ideas in mind, but more likely he used this word in a new way to identify the Son of God as divine. He is the image of the invisible God (Col. 1:15), the express image of God’s substance (Heb. 1:3). In the Godhead, the Son functions as the Revealer of God and is God in reality.

is, by physical generation or by parents. n or is the new birth of the will of the flesh, that is, by personal effort. n either is the birth of the will of man, that is, something done by another individual. each person must individually trust Jesus Christ for eternal life. it is a gift to be received (4:10, 14), not a reward achieved through any human effort.

1:14 the Word became flesh: t he Son of God who was from eternity became human, with limitations in time and space (see Phil. 2:5-8). t his is the doctrine of the incarnation: God became human. n othing of the essential nature of deity was lost in this event; we might rephrase became as “took to Himself.” John uses the word flesh to refer to the physical nature of humans, not to our sinful disposition (contrast Rom. 8:1-11). dwelt among us: Dwelt comes from the Greek word for tent that was used in the Greek ot for the tabernacle, where the presence of God dwelt. in the ot , glory refers to the divine presence (see ex. 33:18). As God manifested His glory in the tabernacle, so Jesus displayed His divine presence before the apostles (18:6; 20:26, 27). Only begotten (3:16, 18) means unique, one of a kind. t he same term is used of Isaac (see Heb. 11:17), who was not the only physical son of Abraham, but was the unique son of promise. All who trust Christ are born of God. in the Gospel of John, these “born ones” are called children of God (vv. 12, 13), but Jesus Christ is the unique Son of God. He is the only Son who is fully God. He is also full of grace and truth. w hen God revealed Himself to Moses, He proclaimed Himself to be “abounding in goodness and truth” (see ex. 34:6). As applied to Jesus Christ, this phrase marks Him as the author of perfect redemption and perfect revelation.

1:15 He was before me: Jesus was born after John the Baptist (see Luke 1:36) and began His ministry later than John the Baptist. Yet John the Baptist said Jesus was before him, meaning that Jesus’ existence is from eternity past (v. 30).

1:16 most people take the words of v. 15 to be John the Baptist’s. Probably the words of vv. 16-18 are those of John the writer of this Gospel, although they too may be John the Baptist’s. Grace for grace means grace piled upon grace. t he background of this doubled term, as well as the use of the term in v. 17, is found in ex. 32-34. Moses and the people had received grace, but they were in tremendous need of more grace (ex. 33:13).

1:17 t throughout the n t, grace is God’s favor expressed to sinful humankind apart from any human works or worth. t hough there was abundant grace and truth expressed by God through the Law He gave Moses, it is in the person of Jesus Christ that grace and truth are realized to the fullest.

1:18 No one has seen God: God is Spirit (4:24) and is invisible (see Col. 1:15; 1 Tim. 1:17) unless God chooses to reveal Himself. Humans cannot look at God and live (ex. 33:20). Abraham, the friend of God, did not see God. even Moses, the lawgiver, could not look at God’s face (see ex. 33:22, 23). However, the Son is in intimate relationship with the Father, face-to-face with God (see 1:1; 6:46; 1 John 1:2). God became visible to human eyes in the man Jesus. it is through seeing the Son that we see God. we cannot see Him today, but we know Him through His word. The bosom, or chest, is used here to designate a close and intimate relationship (see 13:23; Luke 16:23). t he o ne who is the Father’s only begotten Son and who knows God intimately came to earth and declared Him. Declared can also mean “explained.”

1:19, 20 The Jews refers to the Jewish leaders or the council (the Sanhedrin), who would be responsible for examining anyone thought to be a prophet, to see if the person was true or false. t he Sanhedrin included Sadducees and Pharisees; those who came to investigate John the Baptist were Pharisees (v. 24). Who are you: in the first century many people were waiting for the coming of the messiah promised by the ot prophets. John did not claim to be the messiah, but the rulers were concerned about maintaining peace under the eye of Rome, and they kept a close watch on all prospective messiahs. John was quick to acknowledge that he was not the Christ.

1:21 Are you Elijah: t he ot promised that Elijah would come

The Word Was God

John 1:1 is probably the strongest passage in the n t for declaring the deity of Jesus Christ. Because of this, many who deny this biblical doctrine, especially cultists, have attempted to undercut it by arguing that this passage only teaches that Jesus is “a god” and so not fully deity. t his confused position falls on at least two grounds. Such a view is polytheistic, the belief in more than one god. Second, it betrays a misunderstanding of Greek grammar. Verse 1 of the first chapter of John reads, “in the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God.” t he last portion of v. 1 is the major point of contention. it reads in the Greek theos en ho logos, or literally, “the word was God.” God, or theos, occurs in this verse without the Greek article ho, so that some have contended that the lack of the article in the Greek text should cause the statement to be translated “the word was a god.” t he best understanding for the translation, however, as recognized by Greek scholars, is that since theos is a predicate and precedes the noun logos and a verb, it is natural for it to occur here without the article. Greek scholars are agreed that the verse should be translated as it regularly is in modern and ancient translations, clearly affirming that Jesus is indeed God.

And he answered, “No.”

<sup>22</sup>Then they said to him, “Who are you, that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say about yourself?”

<sup>23</sup>He said: j “I am

<sup>32</sup>s And John bore witness, saying, “I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and He remained upon Him. <sup>33</sup>I did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, ‘Upon whom you see the Spirit descending, and remaining on Him, <sup>t</sup>this is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’ <sup>34</sup>And I have seen and testified that this is the “Son of God.”

Andrew and Peter Follow Christ

<sup>35</sup>Again, the next day, John stood with two of his disciples. <sup>36</sup>And looking at Jesus as He walked, he said, v “Behold the Lamb of God!”

<sup>37</sup>The two disciples heard him speak, and they w followed Jesus. <sup>38</sup>Then Jesus turned, and seeing them following, said to them, “What do you seek?”

They said to Him, “Rabbi” (which is to say, when translated, Teacher), “where are You staying?”

<sup>39</sup>He said to them, “Come and see.” They came and saw where He was staying, and remained with Him that day (now it was about the tenth hour).

<sup>40</sup>One of the two who heard John speak, and followed Him, was x Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother. <sup>41</sup>He first found his own brother Simon, and said to him, “We have found the <sup>3</sup>Messiah” (which is translated, the Christ). <sup>42</sup>And he brought him to Jesus.

Now when Jesus looked at him, He said, “You are Simon the son of <sup>4</sup>Jonah. y You shall be called Cephas” (which is translated, <sup>5</sup>A Stone).

before the great day of the Lord (see mal. 4:5). Are you the Prophet: Moses had predicted that a prophet like himself would come (see deut. 18:15).

1:23 The voice: Christ is the word; John the Baptist was the voice. when pressed to identify himself, John the Baptist claimed that he was the fulfillment of is. 40:3. in isaiah’s day there were few roads. when a king traveled, roads were built so that the royal chariot would not have to travel over rough terrain or be stuck in the mud. isaiah was saying that before God appeared to manifest His glory, a voice would be heard, inviting israel to make straight the way by which God Himself would come. John was identifying himself as that voice calling people to make straight the way of the Lord.

1:24 The Pharisees were an influential sect that numbered about six thousand. As strict interpreters of the Law in israel, they were extremely zealous for ritual and tradition.

1:25 Why . . . do you baptize: Performing the rite of baptism was regarded as making a claim to authority. the Pharisees were asking, “By what authority do you perform this religious rite?”

1:27 Undoing the sandal strap was the job of a slave. the Jewish talmud says, “everything that a servant will do for his master a scholar shall perform for his teacher, except the menial task of loosing his sandal thong.” thus John was saying that “Jesus Christ is the living Lord and i am the voice, His servant and slave. Actually, i’m not even worthy to be His slave.”

1:28 the location of Bethabara is unknown. Some think that Bethany is meant, but not the same Bethany as the familiar one near Jerusalem. Beyond the Jordan means east of the Jordan River. evidently, this was John’s normal place for baptizing.

1:29 The Lamb of God: in the ot, the israelites sacrificed lambs at the Passover feast (see ex. 12:21) and as offerings (see Lev. 14:10–25). Jesus Christ is the Lamb that God would give as a sacrifice for the sins not only of israel, but of the whole world (see is. 52:13—53:12).

1:31 I did not know Him: John and Jesus were cousins, so they probably knew each other. But John apparently did not know that Jesus was the messiah. All John knew was that he was to baptize with water and that the messiah would be made known to israel through him. God had given John a sign by which he would know the messiah, namely, the descending of the Holy Spirit as a dove.

1:33 He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit: Seven times the nt mentions this ministry of Jesus. Five are prophetic (see also matt. 3:11; mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; Acts 1:5); one is historical (see Acts 11:16–18); one is doctrinal (see 1 Cor. 12:13).

1:35 one of the two disciples of John the Baptist was Andrew (v. 40). the other is not named but was probably John, the author of this Gospel.

1:41 He first found: As soon as he came to faith, Andrew must have sought out his brother Simon Peter (note the four distinct days suggested in vv. 29, 35, 43). the excitement of discovering the Son of God, the messiah (see matt. 26:63, 64; mark 14:61, 62; Luke 22:67–70), was contagious among the early believers.

1:42 he brought him to Jesus: Andrew appears two more times in the Gospel of John (6:4–9; 12:20–22); both times he is bringing someone to Jesus. Cephas is the Aramaic word for “rock” (see matt. 16:18).

Nazareth

nazareth is a beautifully secluded town nestled in the southernmost hills of the Lebanon mountain range. the city lay close to the important trade routes of Palestine. it overlooked the Plain of esdraelon through which caravans passed as they traveled from Gilead to the south and west. north of the city was the main road from Ptolemais to the decapolis, a road over which the Roman legions frequently traveled. this fact may account for the possible source of the name nazareth in the Aramaic word meaning “watchtower.” this, coupled with a rather bad reputation in morals and religion and a certain crudeness in the Galilean dialect prompted nathanael, when he first learned of Jesus of nazareth, to ask, “Can anything good come out of nazareth?” (1:46).

Philip and Nathanael Follow Christ

Jesus answered and said to him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.”

matt. 14:33; Luke 1:35 <sup>j</sup> matt. 21:5

1:43 From this verse, it might appear that Philip followed Jesus without being evangelized by another disciple, but there are several indications that Philip was approached by Andrew and Peter before he actually met the Lord. Verse 44 says that Andrew and Peter were from the same city as Philip, suggesting that they had talked to him. Furthermore, when Philip told nathanael what had happened, he said “we” have found the messiah (v. 45).

1:45 Nathanael is not mentioned in the synoptic Gospels. But in every list of the apostles in matthew, mark, and Luke, the name Bartholomew is listed with Philip, as nathanael is linked with Philip here. it is likely that nathanael and Bartholomew were the same person. son of Joseph: Philip did not have knowledge of the virgin birth at this time. However, soon all of the disciples would recognize Christ as the Son of God (v. 49).

1:46 Nazareth: nathanael knew that the ot prophets had predicted that the messiah would be born in Bethlehem. Furthermore, nazareth was an obscure village. nathanael simply could not fathom that such a significant person as the messiah could come from such an insignificant place as nazareth.

1:47 an Israelite indeed: in his younger life Jacob, the first israelite, was a cunning, scheming fellow full of deceit. nathanael was an israelite, a descendant of Jacob, but he was genuine and sincere. Jesus read nathanael’s character like an open book (2:24).

1:48, 49 under the fig tree: in the ot, this expression often suggests being safe and at leisure (see 1 Kin. 4:25; mic. 4:4; Zech. 3:10). nathanael may have been meditating under the tree about the dream of Jacob referred to in vv. 50, 51. I saw you: Jesus manifested His supernatural knowledge. Apparently, this incident convinced

<sup>50</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.” <sup>51</sup>And He said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, <sup>k</sup>hereafter <sup>6</sup> you shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man.”

Christ Changes Water to Wine

2 On the third day there was a <sup>a</sup>wedding in <sup>b</sup>Cana of Galilee, and the <sup>c</sup>mother of Jesus was there. <sup>2</sup>Now both Jesus and His disciples were invited to the wedding. <sup>3</sup>And when they ran out of wine, the mother of Jesus said to Him, “They have no wine.”

<sup>6</sup>Now there were set there six waterpots of stone, <sup>g</sup>according to the manner of purification of the Jews, containing twenty or thirty gallons apiece. <sup>7</sup>Jesus said to them, “Fill the waterpots with water.” And they filled them up to the

The Disciples Believe

Christ Cleanses the Temple

nathanael that since Jesus had such knowledge of him, He had to be the Son of God, the King of Israel (20:31). These titles referred to the messiah.

1:50 greater things: Jesus assured nathanael that he would see even greater supernatural manifestations in the future. Jesus’ statement may have referred to the miracles performed in chs. 2–11; it may also refer to the future glory of Christ as the coming Son of man (see 1:51; dan. 7:13).

1:51 Jacob had a vision of angels ascending and descending a ladder from heaven (Gen. 28:12). The thought here is similar, namely that there will be communication between heaven and earth. Son of Man, an expression used in dan. 7:13 of a heavenly being, was Jesus’ favorite designation of Himself (matt. 8:20; mark 2:10).

2:1, 2 The third day refers to the third day from the last day mentioned (1:43), to walk from where John was baptizing to Cana would probably have taken three days. Cana was about four and a half miles northwest of nazareth. The wording of the text, the mother of Jesus was there . . . Jesus and His disciples were invited, suggests that Jesus and His disciples were invited because of Mary. Her forwardness in asking Jesus to help when the wine ran out (v. 3) may indicate that she was in some way related to the family holding the wedding.

2:3 Hospitality in the east was a sacred duty. A wedding feast often lasted for a week. To run out of wine at such an important event would have been humiliating for the bride and groom. The family of Jesus was not wealthy, and it is likely their relatives and acquaintances were not either. This may have been a “low-budget” wedding feast.

2:4 Woman was a term of respectful address (19:26). My hour has not yet come seems to mean that the time for Jesus to publicly work miracles, declaring Himself the messiah, had not yet come. For the use of similar expressions, see 7:6, 8, 30; 8:20; 12:23; 13:1; 16:32; 17:1.

2:5 Jesus’ response to Mary seems to have been a refusal to do anything about the situation. Yet she seemed to expect Him to do something. Perhaps something in the tone of Jesus’ voice let Mary know that He would grant her request.

2:6 six waterpots: each waterpot held twenty or thirty gallons, for a total of 120 to 180 gallons of the finest wine (v. 10). purification of the Jews: Jewish tradition required several kinds of ceremonial washings. Strict Jews washed their hands before a meal, between courses, and after the meal. This “purifying” extended not only to washing hands, but also to washing cups and vessels (see mark 7:3, 4). Because the roads were not paved and people wore sandals, water was needed for foot washing. At a large Jewish wedding, a large amount of water would have been required.

2:8–10 master of the feast: At a Jewish wedding, one of the guests served as a governor of the feast, similar to a master of ceremonies at a banquet. Our modern equivalent is probably a head waiter. This person was responsible for seating the guests and the correct running of the feast. the good wine: Usually the better wine was served first. Then, after the guests’ palates were dulled, the everyday wine was served. But this wine was so good that the master of the feast was surprised to see it being served late in the celebration.

2:11 in the Gospel of John, the miracles of Jesus are called signs, indicating that they pointed to His messiahship. John records seven signs (see also 4:46–54; 5:1–9; 6:1–14; 6:15–21; 9:1–7; 11:38–44). This sign signified Christ’s glory—that is, His deity. When Jesus transformed water into wine, He demonstrated His power.

2:13 the Passover of the Jews: every male Jew was required to go to Jerusalem three times a year—for the Feast of Passover, the Feast of Pentecost, and the Feast of tabernacles (see ex. 23:14–19; Lev. 23). Jerusalem: the synoptic Gospels—Matthew, Mark, and Luke—concentrate on Jesus’ Galilean ministry. John focuses on Jesus’ ministry in Jerusalem. The different accounts do not contradict each other; instead, they complement each other.

2:14 the synoptic Gospels place the cleansing of the temple at the conclusion of Jesus’ ministry (see matt. 21:12, 13), whereas John puts it at the beginning (vv. 14–17). Apparently Jesus cleansed the temple two different times. The language of the synoptic Gospels and that of John differ considerably, indicating two separate events. The Law of Moses required that any animal offered in sacrifice be unblemished, and that every Jewish male over 19 years of age pay a temple tax (see Lev. 1:3; deut. 17:1). As a result, tax collectors and inspectors of sacrificial animals were present at the temple. However, these officials would not accept secular coins because they had an image of the Roman emperor, whom the pagans worshiped as a god. To put such coins into the temple treasury was thought to be an offense.

<sup>15</sup> When He had made a whip of cords, He drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the changers' money and overturned the tables. <sup>16</sup> And He said to those who sold doves, "Take these things away! Do not make <sup>o</sup> My Father's house a house of merchandise!" <sup>17</sup> Then His disciples remembered that it was written, <sup>p</sup> "Zeal for Your house <sup>3</sup> has eaten Me up."

<sup>19</sup> Jesus answered and said to them, <sup>r</sup> "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up."

<sup>20</sup> Then the Jews said, "It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will You raise it up in three days?"

<sup>21</sup> But He was speaking <sup>s</sup> of the temple of His body. <sup>22</sup> Therefore, when He had risen from the dead, <sup>t</sup> His disciples remembered that He had said this <sup>4</sup> to them; and they believed the Scripture and the word which Jesus had said.

lieved in His name when they saw the "signs which He did." <sup>24</sup> But Jesus did not commit Himself to them, because He <sup>v</sup> knew all men, <sup>25</sup> and had no need that anyone should testify of man, for <sup>w</sup> He knew what was in man.

Christ Witnesses to Nicodemus

3 There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. <sup>2a</sup> This man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, "Rabbi, we know that You are a teacher come from God; for <sup>b</sup> no one can do these signs that You do unless <sup>c</sup> God is with him."

So in order to accommodate visitors in need of animals and the right kinds of coins, animal merchants and money changers set up shop in the outer court of the temple. These inspectors, collectors, and exchangers, however, charged high prices.

2:15 Jesus' whip was probably more a symbol than a weapon; nevertheless, it was effective in scattering the money changers and the animals they were selling. Jesus' actions were a sign of authority and judgment.

2:16, 17 The cleansing of the temple was the first public presentation of Jesus to Israel; He presented Himself as messiah. The messiah's ministry began in the temple; He came to purify (see mal. 3:1–3). The expression My Father's house was a distinct claim to messiahship. At the wedding in Cana, Jesus demonstrated His deity and power; here He showed His authority. Recalling the words of Ps. 69:9, the disciples understood that Jesus was claiming to be the messiah.

2:18 The Jews apparently refers to the religious authorities of Israel (1:19), who also understood that Jesus was representing Himself as the messiah; therefore, they asked for a sign (see 1 Cor. 1:22).

2:19 Destroy this temple: Jesus was not talking about the physical building; He was referring to His body, as John emphasizes in v. 21. Jesus was speaking of His death. I will raise it up: Note that Jesus did not say, "I will build it again." He was referring to His resurrection, three days after His death. The sign Jesus gave the Jews was the sign of His death and resurrection (see matt. 12:39; 16:4).

born again

(Gk. gennaō anōthen) (3:3, 7) Strong's #1080; 509

The Greek word anōthen translated here as again could also be rendered "from above." The birth that Jesus spoke of was either a new birth or a heavenly birth—or both. It seems that Jesus was speaking of a heavenly birth because He later used the analogy of the wind, coming from some unknown, heavenly source, to depict the spiritual birth. But Nicodemus clearly understood Jesus to be speaking of a second birth—being born again. Jesus explains this new or heavenly birth in 3:6–8, contrasting being born of the flesh with being born of the Spirit.

2:20 forty-six years: Herod the Great began restoring the temple in 20 B.C. The work was not finished at the time of this conversation. In fact, it was not completed until around A.D. 64, under Herod Agrippa.

2:21, 22 The disciples understood that Jesus was the messiah (v. 17; 1:41, 45, 49), but they did not understand that He was speaking of the resurrection of His body until it actually happened.

2:23 many believed in His name: This was saving faith. John's purpose in recording Jesus' miracles was for people to believe and have eternal life (20:30, 31).

2:24 Commit is the same Greek word translated believe in v. 23. There is a play on words here. These individuals trusted Jesus, but Jesus did not entrust Himself to them. Nicodemus is an illustration (see ch. 3).

3:1 The phrase ruler of the Jews indicates that Nicodemus was a member of the Jewish council, the group that had sent a committee to investigate John the Baptist (1:24). Nicodemus no doubt knew that John the Baptist had denied being the messiah (1:20), but had said that the messiah was present (1:26, 27).

3:2 The fact that Nicodemus came to Jesus by night may reveal the timidity of his faith (12:42); however, his faith was developing (7:50, 51; 19:39).

3:3 born again: The Greek word translated again can mean either "from above" or "anew." The new birth, or regeneration (see t itus 3:5), is the act by which God imparts spiritual life to one who trusts Christ. Without this spiritual birth, a person cannot perceive spiritual things (see 1 Cor. 2:10, 13–16), nor can he or she enter the kingdom of God (v. 5).

3:5 There are several interpretations of the phrase born of water and the Spirit. (1) Jesus was referring to water baptism (see Acts 10:43–47). (2) Water is to be understood as a symbol for the Holy Spirit. Thus the phrase could be translated "born of water, even the Spirit." (3) Water is to be understood as a symbol of the word of God. Similar imagery can be found in other NT passages, specifically eph. 5:26; 1 Pet. 1:23. (4) Jesus used the phrase "born of water" to refer to physical birth. He then used the contrasting phrase "of the Spirit" to refer to spiritual birth. (5) Jesus used the phrase "born of water" to refer to John the Baptist's baptism. (6) Jesus used the OT imagery of "water" and "wind" to refer to the work of God from

So is everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

<sup>10</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Are you the teacher of Israel, and do not know these things? <sup>11</sup>i Most assuredly, I say to you, We speak what We know and testify what We have seen, and <sup>j</sup>you do not receive Our witness. <sup>12</sup>If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you heavenly things? <sup>13</sup>k No one has ascended to heaven but He who came down from heaven, that is, the Son of Man <sup>2</sup>who is in heaven. <sup>14</sup>l And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so <sup>m</sup>must the Son of Man be lifted up, <sup>15</sup>that whoever <sup>n</sup>believes in Him should <sup>3</sup>not perish but <sup>o</sup>have eternal life. <sup>16</sup>p For God so loved above (see is. 44:3–5; ezek. 37:9, 10). Wind is an alternate translation of the term Spirit (v. 8).

3:6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh: Flesh cannot be made into spirit. A person must experience a spiritual rebirth (v. 7).

3:7 in the Greek text, you is plural. in v. 2, nicodemus used the word “we,” probably referring to the Jewish ruling council, the Sanhedrin. Here Jesus spoke not only to nicodemus, but to all whom he represented.

3:8 Jesus used the wind as an illustration of the work of the Holy Spirit. t he Greek word translated Spirit also means “wind.” As the wind seemingly blows where it wills, so the Holy Spirit sovereignly works. Likewise, no one knows the origin or destination of the wind, but everyone knows it is there. t he same is true of the Holy Spirit.

3:10 Jesus answered nicodemus’s question (vv. 13–15), but first He rebuked nicodemus for being a teacher of the Hebrew Scriptures and not knowing about spiritual birth (see is. 44:3; ezek. 36:26, 27).

3:11 you do not receive: Again you is plural (v. 7). Jesus had others in mind beyond nicodemus. Here Jesus rebuked not only nicodemus, but the other Pharisees as well.

3:12 Earthly things refers to things that occur on earth, like the new birth (vv. 3, 5–7), the wind (v. 8), and perhaps miracles. Heavenly things refers to events like Christ’s ascension (6:61, 62) and the coming of the Holy Spirit (16:7). nicodemus may have believed in Jesus’ miracles (v. 2); the majority of the Jewish council did not (v. 11).

3:13 in v. 9, nicodemus, referring to the new birth, asks, “How can these things be?” Here Jesus answers the question. new birth is by the Son, by the Cross (v. 14), and by faith (v. 15).

3:14 every time the words lifted up occur in the Gospel of John there is a reference to Jesus’ death (8:28; 12:32, 34). when Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness (see n um. 21:9), those who looked at it lived. So it is with the Son of man (1:51).

3:15 t his is the first time eternal life is mentioned in John’s Gospel (see 4:36; 5:39; 6:54, 68; 10:28; 12:25; 17:2, 3). when a person trusts Christ, he or she is born again and receives eternal and spiritual life, God’s kind of life.

3:16 God so loved the world: God’s love is not restricted to any one nation or to any spiritual elite. World here may also include all of creation (see Rom. 8:19–22; Col. 1:20).

3:17 At His first coming, Jesus came so that the world through Him might be saved. when Jesus comes again, He will come in judgment upon those who refused His offer of salvation.

3:18 t o believe is to receive life (vv. 15, 16) and avoid judgment. A person who does not believe not only misses life, but is condemned already. t he idea of believing in Jesus’ name is also found in 1:12.

3:19 Condemnation refers to the reason for judgment. t he light referred to here is Jesus, the light of the world (1:7–9; 8:12; 9:5).

3:20 People offer many excuses for not accepting Christ. Some cite the presence of hypocrites in the church. o thers claim inability to believe some of the truths about Christ or the gospel. t hese are merely attempts to conceal a heart in rebellion against God. t he ultimate reason people do not come to Christ is that they do not want to.

3:21 t he one who does the truth (see 1 John 1:5) is obviously already a believer because his or her deeds are done in God. t herefore, “coming to the light” is more than exercising faith. A person who comes to the light not only believes, but also openly identifies with the light so that his or her works can be seen as things done in union with God.

3:22 baptized: t he impression here is that Jesus baptized. John corrects this idea in 4:2. Jesus provided the authority, but the disciples performed the baptisms.

the only begotten Son

(Gk. ho monogenēs huios) (1:18; 3:16, 18; 1 John 4:9) Strong’s #3439; 5207

t he Greek word for only begotten suggests a one and only son; it does not necessarily convey the idea of a birth. For example, isaac is called Abraham’s only begotten in Heb. 11:17 and in the Septuagint, the Greek ot (see Gen. 22:2, 12, 16), when actually Abraham had two sons: ishmael and isaac. t he Son of God is the Father’s one and only, His unique Son. Although the Father has begotten many children through the new birth (1:12, 13), none of these are exactly like Jesus Christ, the unique Son of God. His Sonship is from eternity. As the unique Son of God, He has a special glory and an unrivaled place of honor.

there He remained with them <sup>w</sup> and baptized. <sup>23</sup> Now John also was baptizing in Aenon near <sup>s</sup> Salim, because there was much water there. <sup>u</sup> And they came and were baptized. <sup>24</sup> For <sup>z</sup> John had not yet been thrown into prison.

<sup>25</sup> Then there arose a dispute between some of John's disciples and the Jews about purification. <sup>26</sup> And they came to John and said to him, "Rabbi, He who was with you beyond the Jordan, <sup>a</sup> to whom you have testified—behold, He is baptizing, and all <sup>b</sup> are coming to Him!"

3:24 t he synoptic Gospels, particularly Matthew and Mark, give the impression that the imprisonment of John the Baptist came right after the baptism of Jesus. t his verse indicates that there was an interval between Jesus' baptism and John's imprisonment during which both ministered.

3:25 t he Greek word translated then often means "therefore." t he disciples of Jesus and the disciples of John were both baptizing people; as a result, a question arose. t he question came from John's disciples when they entered into a discussion with the Jews. Purification here refers to baptism.

3:26 John the Baptist's disciples were loyal to him. t hey were deeply concerned that one of his "disciples," Jesus, was competing with and surpassing him. in their astonishment, they exaggerated the predicament, saying, all are coming to Him. t hey were concerned that John was losing his audience to another preacher.

3:27 John the Baptist clarified the relationship between himself and Jesus. First, he talked about himself (vv. 27–29); then he talked about Jesus (vv. 30–36). John explained that he could not accept the position of supremacy that his disciples wanted to thrust upon him because he had not received it from heaven.

3:29 in explaining why people were flocking to Jesus (v. 26), John the Baptist pointed out that the bridegroom receives the bride. John compared himself to the friend of the bridegroom, who was appointed to arrange the preliminaries of the wedding, to manage the wedding, and to preside at the wedding feast. when the friend of the bridegroom finished his job, he had to get out of the way. His joy came from the success of the bridegroom. John was satisfied with his position in life. He was content to be a "voice" (1:23) and a friend.

3:30 John the Baptist insisted that Jesus Christ had to increase in popularity and that he, John, had to decrease. John explained that Jesus had to increase because of (1) His divine origin (v. 31), (2) His divine teaching (vv. 32–34), and (3) His divine authority (vv. 35, 36). even though John encouraged his disciples to also follow Jesus, there were still some found many years later in Ephesus (see Acts 19).

3:31 He who comes from above refers to Jesus Christ. He who is of the earth refers to John the Baptist. John emphasized his earthly origin and its limitations. John proclaimed divine truth on earth; Jesus, on the other hand, is from heaven and above all.

3:32 no one receives His testimony: no one, apart from God's work in him or her (6:44), can accept Jesus Christ.

3:33 Certified means "to seal." in a society where many could not read, seals were used to convey a clear message, even to the illiterate. A seal indicated ownership to all and expressed a person's personal guarantee. to receive Jesus' testimony is to certify that God is true regarding what He has sealed.

3:34 Unlike human teachers, Jesus was not given the Spirit by measure—that is, in a limited way (see is. 11:1, 2). t he Holy Spirit was given to Jesus completely. All three Persons of the trinity are referred to in this verse: God the Father sent Christ the Son, and gave Him the Holy Spirit without measure.

3:35 God the Father not only gave Jesus, in His humanity, the Holy Spirit (v. 34). He also gave Him all things, including the authority to give life (5:21) and judge (5:22). t he phrase into His hand signifies the Son's authority over the use of "all things."

3:36 t he verb translated has is in the present tense. t he one who believes has eternal life as a present possession. Likewise, the one who refuses to believe on Christ has the wrath of God abiding on him or her as a present reality.

4:1 Therefore refers the reader back to 3:22–36. Christ's success in winning disciples had created jealousy among John's followers and provoked questions among the Pharisees. Since Jesus did not want to be drawn into a controversy over baptism at this stage of His ministry, He left Judea for Galilee (v. 3).

4:3 again: Jesus had been to Galilee before (1:43—2:12). He had left Capernaum to go to Jerusalem for the Passover.

4:4 t he shortest route from Judea in the south to Galilee in the north went through Samaria. t he journey took three days. Christ needed to go through Samaria if He wanted to travel the direct route. t he Jews often avoided Samaria by going around it along the Jordan River. t he hatred between the Jews and Samaritans went back to the days of the exile. Samaria was the region between Judea and Galilee. when the northern kingdom was exiled to Assyria, King Sargon of Assyria repopulated the area with captives from other lands. t he intermarriage of these foreigners and the Jews who had been left in the land complicated the ancestry of the Samaritans. t he Jews hated the Samaritans and considered them to be no longer "pure" Jews. Jesus, however, had no such bias.

4:5 Jacob had purchased a parcel of ground (see Gen. 33:18, 19), which he bequeathed on his deathbed to Joseph (Gen. 48:21, 22).

6 Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead (John 11:43–44). Here at Bethany Jesus was anointed in the house of Simon the Leper (matt. 26:6); it was also the scene of the Ascension (Luke 24:50–51).

4:10 Living water (see 7:37–39; is. 12:1–6) springs from an unfailing source and is ever-flowing. Jesus, of course, was talking about eternal life (see 4:14; Rom. 6:23).

4:11 t he Samaritan woman did not comprehend Jesus' spiritual message. She was thinking only of physical water and could not understand how Jesus could provide water without a means of drawing it, especially since the well was deep.

4:16 Jesus mentioned the woman's husband in order to expose her sin (v. 18).

4:19 Because of what Jesus told her about herself, the woman concluded that Jesus Christ was a prophet, a person divinely inspired with supernatural knowledge (see 1 Sam. 9:9).

4:20 By mentioning the two different worship sites, the woman was perhaps trying to shift the conversation away from the subject of her own sins to theological questions. o r perhaps she realized that she was a sinner (v. 18), and knew that she was required to offer a sacrifice. t he woman probably assumed that because Jesus was a Jew, He would insist that the sacrifice be offered in the temple at Jerusalem. t he Jews insisted that the exclusive place of worship was Jerusalem. But the Samaritans had set up a rival worship site on mt. Gerizim, which according to their tradition was where Abraham went to sacrifice isaac, and where later on he met melchizedek. w hen the blessings and curses were read to the wilderness generation of israel, the blessings were read from mt. Gerizim (see deut. 11:29; 27:12). d euteronomy 27:4 instructed that an altar be erected on mt. ebal, opposite mt. Gerizim. But the Samaritan scripture changed the verse to read "mt. Gerizim." t he Samaritans altered history and tampered with the text of Scripture to glorify mt. Gerizim.

4:22 Salvation is of the Jews means that the messiah would come from the Jewish people.

4:24 God is Spirit . . . worship Him . . . in spirit and truth: God is not limited by time and space. w hen people are born of the Spirit, they can commune with God anywhere. Spirit is the opposite of what is material and earthly, for example, mt. Gerizim. Christ makes worship a matter of the heart. Truth is what is in harmony with the nature and will of God. it is the opposite of all that is false. Here the truth is specifically the worship of God through Jesus Christ. t he issue is not where a person worships, but how and whom.

4:25 t he Samaritans believed that the Prophet of deut. 18:15 would teach all things when he came.

4:26 I . . . am He: Using the same words that God used when He revealed Himself to moes (see ex. 3:14), Jesus clearly stated that He is the messiah.

t he Greek word denotes a spring of running water. How different this is from a well that requires much manual labor to dig and to draw out the water. t he gift that Jesus gives—a fountain springing up into eternal life—suggests the availability and accessibility of the divine life for all believers. t he expression "into everlasting life" probably means "resulting in eternal life." t he result of drinking the water Jesus freely gives is that the drinker receives eternal life.

<sup>28</sup>The woman then left her waterpot, went her way into the city, and said to the men, <sup>29</sup>“Come, see a Man <sup>x</sup>who told me all things that I ever did. Could this be the Christ?” <sup>30</sup>Then they went out of the city and came to Him.

<sup>33</sup>Therefore the disciples said to one another, “Has anyone brought Him anything to eat?”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus said to them, <sup>y</sup>“My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me, and to <sup>z</sup>finish His work. <sup>35</sup>Do you not say, ‘There are still four months and then comes <sup>a</sup>the harvest’? <sup>42</sup>Then they said to the woman, “Now we believe, not because of what you said, for <sup>i</sup>we ourselves have heard Him and we know that this is indeed <sup>l</sup>the Christ, the Savior of the world.”

Christ Is Received by the Galileans

<sup>43</sup>Now after the two days He departed from there and went to Galilee. <sup>44</sup>For <sup>j</sup>Jesus Himself testified that a prophet has no honor in his own country. <sup>45</sup>So when He came to Galilee, the Galileans received Him, <sup>k</sup>having seen all the things He did in Jerusalem at the feast; <sup>l</sup>for they also had gone to the feast.

Christ Heals the Nobleman's Son

<sup>46</sup>So Jesus came again to Cana of Galilee <sup>m</sup>where He had made the water wine. And there was a certain <sup>2</sup>nobleman whose son was sick at Capernaum. <sup>47</sup>When he heard that Jesus had come out of Judea into Galilee, he went to Him and implored Him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death. <sup>48</sup>Then Jesus said to him, <sup>n</sup>“Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will by no means believe.”

<sup>50</sup>Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your son lives.” So the man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him, and he went his way. <sup>51</sup>And as he was now going down, his servants met him and told him, saying, “Your son lives!”

<sup>52</sup>Then he inquired of them the hour when he got better. And they said to him, “Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.” <sup>53</sup>So the father knew that it was at the same hour in which Jesus said

4:29 all things that I ever did: in her excitement, the woman exaggerated. She did not report what Jesus actually told her, but what He could have told her. note the woman’s spiritual journey. She first viewed Christ as a Jew (v. 9), then as a prophet (v. 19), and finally as the messiah.

4:34 My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me: t his food is not simply knowing the will of God, but doing it. t his verse highlights the obedience of Jesus to God in His ministry and foreshadows His words on the Cross (19:30).

4:35 in vv. 35–38, Jesus offered His disciples an opportunity to do something that would be “food” for them. He was speaking about the Samaritans. in them, He saw an opportunity for a spiritual harvest for which the disciples would not have to wait long.

4:36 t he reaper of a spiritual harvest receives wages—that is, fruit which brings joy. in this case, Jesus sowed by giving the message to the woman. He was about to reap because He would see the whole city saved. Also the disciples were going to reap the harvest that Christ had sown. note the “hundredfold” wages Jesus promises in Matt. 19:27–29 (see 1 Cor. 3:6–8; 2 Cor. 5:10).

4:38 Jesus applied what He had just said to His disciples. t he others may have been John the Baptist and his disciples. t hey had labored in Judea (3:22–36). t hus Jesus’ disciples were reaping what others had sowed (vv. 1, 2).

4:42 t he title Savior of the world is used only here and in 1 John 4:14. t he Jews of Jesus’ day taught that to approach God one first had to be a Jew. By including this incident in the Gospel, John demonstrates that Jesus is for all people of the world.

4:44 His own country has been taken to mean: (1) Judea, (2) nazareth, or (3) Galilee. Having no honor or reception in nazareth, Jesus went elsewhere in Galilee.

4:45 The feast refers to the Passover (see 2:13–25). t he Galileans who had gone to the feast received Jesus when He came to Galilee.

4:46 Nobleman is literally royal officer, one in service of the king. Herod Antipas was technically the “tetrarch” of Galilee, but he was referred to as a king.

4:53, 54 t he nobleman is said to have believed twice, once in v. 50 and again in v. 53. in v. 50, he believed Jesus’ promise that his son would not die. But believing that Jesus can and will heal is not enough to save. what was it that the nobleman believed in v. 53? t he explanation is found in v. 54. t he miracle that Jesus performed was His second sign (see also 2:11). t hese signs were performed so that people might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing they might have life (20:31). w hen the Jewish nobleman realized that his son had been healed, he knew that Jesus was more than a mere mortal. t he nobleman placed his faith in Jesus and was born again.

to him, “Your son lives.” And he himself believed, and his whole household.

<sup>54</sup>This again is the second sign Jesus did when He had come out of Judea into Galilee.

Christ Heals the Paralytic Man

Christ Heals on the Sabbath

And <sup>e</sup>that day was the Sabbath. <sup>10</sup>The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, “It is the Sabbath; <sup>j</sup>it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.”

<sup>11</sup>He answered them, “He who made me well said to me, ‘Take up your bed and walk.’”

<sup>12</sup>Then they asked him, “Who is the Man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk?’” <sup>13</sup>But the one who was <sup>g</sup>healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place. <sup>14</sup>Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, “See, you have been made well. <sup>h</sup>Sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you.”

Equality with God in Nature

<sup>17</sup>But Jesus answered them, <sup>j</sup>“My Father has been working until now, and I have been working.”

<sup>18</sup>Therefore the Jews <sup>k</sup>sought all the more to kill Him, because He not only broke the Sabbath, but also said that God was His Father, <sup>l</sup>making Himself equal with God.

Equality with God in Power

<sup>19</sup>Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, <sup>m</sup>the Son can do nothing of Himself, but what He sees the Father do; for whatever He does, the Son also does in like manner. <sup>20</sup>For <sup>n</sup>the Father loves the Son, and <sup>o</sup>shows Him all things that He Himself does; and He will

5:1 t he feast of the Jews is probably not the Passover, which John usually refers to by name (2:13; 6:4; 11:55). It may have been tabernacles.

5:2 The Sheep Gate was a gate in the wall of Jerusalem near the temple, through which sheep were brought for sacrifice. t he pool of Bethesda was a double pool surrounded by colonnades on four sides, with a fifth colonnade standing on the dividing wall that separated the northern and southern pools. t he five porches were in the colonnades on the two sides, with two on each end and one in the middle.

5:9 John records this miracle because it was a witness to Jesus’ deity. Jesus Himself told John the Baptist that the proof of His messiahship was that the lame would walk (see matt. 11:1–5), for the prophet isaiah had predicted this long before: “t he lame shall leap like a deer” (see is. 35:1–6). Carrying a bed on the Sabbath was considered a violation of the Law of Moses (v. 10).

5:10 The Jews probably refers to Jewish leaders who were members of the council. t he Law of Moses taught that the Sabbath must be different from other days. o n it, neither people nor animals could work. t he prophet Jeremiah had prohibited carrying burdens or working on the Sabbath (Jer. 17:21, 22). n ehemiah made it clear that trading on the Sabbath as if it were an ordinary day was forbidden (neh. 13:15–19). o ver the years, the Jewish leaders had amassed thousands of rules and regulations concerning the Sabbath. By Jesus’ day, they had 39 different classifications of work. According to them, carrying furniture and even providing medical treatment on the Sabbath were forbidden. Jesus did not break the Law; He violated the traditions of the Pharisees which had grown up around the Law.

5:13 t he sick man was healed without exercising any faith. He did not know who Jesus was when he was healed. Jesus had withdrawn: John records Jesus quietly withdrawing from a crowd on four occasions (see also 8:59; 10:39; 12:36). However, Jesus caught up with the man later (v. 14).

5:16 t his is the first recorded declaration of open hostility toward Jesus in the Gospel of John.

5:17 My Father: Jesus is “the only begotten Son” (1:14, 18; 3:16, 18)—that is, the unique Son of God. Here He claims not only a unique relationship with God the Father, but also equality with God in nature. Since God continually does good works without allowing Himself to stop on the Sabbath, the Son does likewise, since He is equal with God. Certainly the Jewish leaders understood the implications of Jesus’ claims (v. 18).

5:19 The Son can do nothing of Himself means that action by the Son apart from the Father is impossible because of the unity of the Father and the Son (v. 17). Whatever He does, the Son also does is a claim of deity and unity with the Father.

5:20 t he Son does what the Father does (v. 19) because the Father loves the Son. moreover, because the Father loves the Son, He reveals all to Him. t he Father would show the Son greater works than the healing of the sick man. Jesus would raise the dead (v. 21) and eventually judge humanity (v. 22).

show Him greater works than these, that you may marvel. <sup>21</sup>For as the Father raises the dead and gives life to them, <sup>22</sup>even so the Son gives life to whom He will.

Equality with God in Authority

<sup>22</sup>For the Father judges no one, but <sup>23</sup>He has committed all judgment to the Son, <sup>24</sup>that all should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. <sup>25</sup>He who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him.

<sup>24</sup>“Most assuredly, I say to you, <sup>25</sup>he who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, <sup>26</sup>but has passed from death into life. <sup>27</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and now is, when <sup>28</sup>the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God; and those who hear will live. <sup>29</sup>For <sup>30</sup>as the Father has life in Himself, so He has granted the Son to have <sup>31</sup>life in Himself, <sup>32</sup>and <sup>33</sup>He has given Him authority to execute judgment also, <sup>34</sup>because He is the Son of Man. <sup>35</sup>Do not marvel at this; for the hour is coming in which all who are in the graves will <sup>36</sup>hear His voice <sup>37</sup>and come forth—<sup>38</sup>those who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of condemnation. <sup>39</sup>¶ can of Myself do nothing. As I hear, I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because <sup>d</sup>I do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.

Witness of John the Baptist

[John 9:16; 10:38 37 <sup>ρ</sup> matt. 3:17; John 6:27; 8:18

5:21 the Son gives life: As God raises people from the dead and gives them life, so Christ gives people spiritual life (v. 24). Jesus claimed the same power as God, thus claiming that He is equal with God.

5:22 all judgment to the Son: The Jews recognized that God alone had the right to judge humanity, in claiming that the Father committed all judgment to Him. Jesus again claimed equality with God.

5:23 honor the Son just as they honor the Father: To claim the same honor as the Father is to claim equality with the Father. Here Jesus claimed equal authority with God.

5:24 The phrase believes in Him who sent Me is unusual. Christ, not the Father, is usually the object of this verb in John. The issue in this passage is the unity of the Father and the Son (vv. 17–23). All who believe in the one who sent Christ will believe in Christ. shall not come into judgment: A judgment to decide a person’s eternal destiny is no longer possible for the one who has already been given eternal life. However, all believers will stand before the judgment seat of Christ (see Rom. 14:10; 2 Cor. 5:10), not for punishment of sin, but to determine inheritance in messiah’s kingdom.

5:26 For indicates that this verse explains the previous verse. Christ can give life because He Himself possesses life. He not only has a part in giving it, He is the source of it. This is another testimony to Jesus’ deity, because only God has life in Himself.

5:28 the hour is coming: Christ not only gives spiritual life now (v. 25), He will give physical life later.

5:29 two separate resurrections (see Rev. 20:4, 5), the resurrection of life and the resurrection of condemnation are presented here in the fashion of the Old Testament prophets, who often grouped together events of the future without distinction of time (see is. 61:2). Jesus was teaching the universality of resurrection, not the timing of it. those who have done good: The only “good” anyone can do is to believe on Christ, the one God sent (6:28, 29). All other good actions flow from that. Anything good that is done without that belief means nothing to God and will result in the resurrection of condemnation.

5:30 Christ’s judgment is righteous because it is in accordance with God’s divine will, in v. 19 Jesus said, “the Son can do nothing of Himself”; here He says He can do nothing independent of the Father.

5:31, 32 My witness is not true: If Christ were the only one bearing witness of what He was claiming, His witness would not be accepted. According to Jewish legal practice, a person’s testimony about himself was not accepted in court. So in this case, Jesus offered another witness—John the Baptist (v. 33).

5:35 Jesus is the Light (1:4, 5). John was a lamp. He was: Jesus used the past tense because by this time John’s work had been ended either by imprisonment or by death.

5:36 the works: John did not perform any signs (10:41). Those were specific works that the Son was to perform, as predicted in the Old Testament (see is. 35:5, 6) to attest to the fact that He was sent by the Father (vv. 1–15; 2:1–11; 4:43–54).

5:37 the Father Himself . . . has testified: This is not a reference to the voice from heaven at the baptism of Christ, but to Scripture (vv. 38, 39).

testify

(Gk. martureō) (5:31, 32; 7:7; 8:13; 1 John 4:14; 5:9) Strong’s #3140

This Greek word means “to bear witness.” According to Jewish law, a testimony to oneself is no testimony at all. Truth or validity had to be established by two or three witnesses (Deut. 17:7; 19:15). Therefore, Jesus’ witness to Himself would not validate His claims; He needed the witness of another. That other witness was not John the Baptist, but Jesus’ Father. In the following verses, Jesus called upon several witnesses to affirm His claims, but actually He needs only one witness, His Father’s.

heard His voice at any time, <sup>n</sup> nor seen His form. <sup>38</sup> But you do not have His word abiding in you, because whom He sent, Him you do not believe.

Witness of the Scriptures

<sup>39</sup> You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and <sup>p</sup> these are they which testify of Me. <sup>40</sup> But you are not willing to come to Me that you may have life.

<sup>41</sup> “I do not receive honor from men. <sup>42</sup> But I know you, that you do not have the love of God in you. <sup>43</sup> I have come in My Father’s name, and you do not receive Me; if another comes in his own name, him you will receive. <sup>44</sup> How can you believe, who receive honor from one another, and do not seek <sup>t</sup> the honor that comes from the only God? <sup>45</sup> Do not think that I shall accuse you to the Father; there is one who accuses you—Moses, in whom you trust. <sup>46</sup> For if you believed Moses, you would believe Me; <sup>v</sup> for he wrote about Me. <sup>47</sup> But if you <sup>w</sup> do not believe his writings, how will you believe My words?”

<sup>4</sup> Now the Passover, a feast of the Jews, was near. <sup>5</sup> Then Jesus lifted up His eyes, and seeing a great multitude coming toward Him, He said to <sup>f</sup> Philip, “Where shall we buy bread, that these may eat?” <sup>6</sup> But this He said to test him, for He Himself knew what He would do.

<sup>10</sup> Then Jesus said, “Make the people sit down.” Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand. <sup>11</sup> And Jesus took the loaves, and when He had given thanks He distributed them <sup>2</sup> to the disciples, and the disciples to those sitting down; and likewise of the fish, as much as they wanted. <sup>12</sup> So when they were filled, He said to His disciples, “Gather up the fragments that remain, so that nothing is lost.” <sup>13</sup> Therefore they gathered them up, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves which were left over by those who had eaten. <sup>14</sup> Then those men, when they had seen the sign that Jesus did, said, “This is truly <sup>j</sup> the Prophet who is to come into the world.”

Christ Walks on the Water

<sup>15</sup> Therefore when Jesus perceived that

5:39 <sup>t</sup> the Jewish religious leaders of Jesus’ day diligently searched the ot Scriptures, but did not see Jesus as the messiah and did not believe in Him (v. 38).

5:42 The love of God here is not love from God but love for God. Love from God is evidenced in Christ (3:16; Rom. 5:8). Since God loves us, we should love Him (deut. 6:5; 1 John 4:19).

5:43 Jesus came in the Father’s name, revealing God to the people, but they rejected Him. ironically, if someone had come in his own name, giving his own ideas in harmony with the people’s ideas, the people would have received him.

5:44 <sup>t</sup> the people did not believe in Jesus because they did not seek honor that comes from the only God. t his honor may be similar to Paul’s view of the glory that will be revealed in us in the presence of God (see Rom. 8:18).

5:45 Trust means “hope.” Christ will not have to accuse the people on Judgment day because the one in whom they placed their hope, Moses, will. t he people will be condemned by the very Law they professed to keep.

5:46 he wrote about Me: mo<sup>s</sup> wrote about Christ in the promises to the patriarchs, in the history of the deliverance from egypt, in the symbolic institutions of the Law, and in the prediction of a Prophet like himself (see Luke 24:25, 26). if the people had believed mo<sup>s</sup>, they would have received Jesus gladly. o ver three hundred ot prophecies were specifically fulfilled in the First Coming of Christ.

5:47 you do not believe his writings: t he ultimate problem was that the people did not believe the word of God written through mo<sup>s</sup>.

6:1 After these things: About six months elapsed between 5:47 and this verse. Herod Antipas had killed John the Baptist and was seeking Jesus. t he disciples had preached throughout Galilee, and many people were curious about Jesus (v. 5). John further identifies the Sea of Galilee as the Sea of Tiberias, an indication that his Gospel was written for those outside of Palestine. t he Jewish people called this body of water the Lake of Genessaret. t he Romans called it tiberias, after the city built on its western shore by Herod Antipas and named for the emperor tiberius.

6:7 o ne denarius was a day’s wage for a laborer or field hand (see matt. 20:2). Two hundred denarii would have been almost two-thirds of a year’s wages.

6:9 Barley loaves were an inexpensive food of the common people and the poor.

6:11 t he miraculous multiplication of the food demonstrated Jesus’ deity, because only God can create. t his is the only miracle of Jesus that is recounted in all four Gospels.

6:14 The Prophet is a reference to deut. 18:15. t he men’s statement does not necessarily indicate that they believed Jesus was the messiah. Some made a distinction between the Prophet and the messiah (compare 1:20, 21). t he bread (v. 11) may have reminded them of mo<sup>s</sup> and manna. t hus they concluded that Jesus was the Prophet that mo<sup>s</sup> had foretold.

6:15 make Him king: mo<sup>s</sup> had not only miraculously provided food for the israelites, he had also led them out of bondage in egypt. Perhaps these men felt that Jesus could lead them out of bondage to the Romans. Christ was at the zenith of His popularity, and the

they were about to come and take Him by force to make Him <sup>k</sup>king, He departed again to the mountain by Himself alone.

<sup>16l</sup>Now when evening came, His disciples went down to the sea, <sup>17</sup>got into the boat, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was already dark, and Jesus had not come to them. <sup>18</sup>Then the sea arose because a great wind was blowing. <sup>19</sup>So when they had rowed about <sup>3</sup>three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea and drawing near the boat; and they were <sup>m</sup>afraid. <sup>20</sup>But He said to them, <sup>n</sup>“It is I; do not be afraid.” <sup>21</sup>Then they willingly received Him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land where they were going.

“I Am the Bread of Life”

<sup>22</sup>On the following day, when the people who were standing on the other side of the sea saw that there was no other boat there, except <sup>4</sup>that one <sup>5</sup>which His disciples had entered, and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples, but His disciples had gone away alone—<sup>23</sup>however, other boats came from Tiberias, near the place where they ate bread after the Lord had given thanks—<sup>24</sup>when the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, nor His disciples, they also got into boats and came to Capernaum, <sup>o</sup>seeking Jesus. <sup>25</sup>And when they found Him on the other side of the sea, they said to Him, “Rabbi, when did You come here?”

<sup>26</sup>Jesus answered them and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, you seek Me, not because you saw the signs, but because you ate of the loaves and were filled. <sup>27p</sup>Do not labor for the food which perishes, but <sup>q</sup>for the food which endures to everlasting life, which the Son of Man will give you, <sup>r</sup>because God the Father has set His seal on Him.”

<sup>28</sup>Then they said to Him, “What shall we do, that we may work the works of God?”

temptation to take the kingdom without the Cross must have been great (see matt. 4:8–10). t he parallel passages say that He went to the mountain by Himself to pray (see matt. 14:23; mark 6:46). Here is our greatest resource in times of testing.

6:16–18 His disciples went down to the sea: in mark 6:45 we discover that the disciples went to the sea because Jesus compelled them to do so. It was already dark by the time the disciples got out on the lake. t he wind began to pick up, setting the stage for Jesus to provide another revelation of Himself.

6:19–21 t his miracle, the fifth sign recorded by John, pointed to Jesus’ deity. o nly God could walk on water, calm the sea, and supernaturally transport the disciples to their destination.

6:22–24 t he multitude had seen that there was only one boat and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples. t hey

t he city of tiberias stands on a rocky cliff on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee. Founded by Herod Antipas (about A.D. 20), it was named after the emperor, tiberius Caesar. it was said to have occupied the site of Rakkath (Josh. 19:35) and to have been built over a graveyard. Because of this, it was declared unclean by the Jews, who would not enter the city. Although tiberias was an important city in the days of Christ, there is no record that He ever visited it. ironically, after the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 135, tiberias became the center of rabbinic learning. Here the mishna was completed about A.D. 200 and the Jerusalem (or Palestinian) talmud was finished about A.D. 400. t he pointing system later used by the masoretes to add vowels to the Hebrew text was first developed in tiberias.

6:27 Do not labor for the food: t he impression that one must work for eternal life is quickly corrected when Jesus adds which the Son of Man will give you. t he Son provides life as a gift (4:10). Set His seal on Him means that the Father has authorized and authenticated the Son as the Giver of life.

6:30 when Jesus said “believe in Him whom He sent,” (v. 29), the people must have understood that He was claiming to be the messiah. t herefore, they asked for a sign—despite the fact that they had just witnessed the miracle of the feeding of the multitudes.

6:32 t he crowd misrepresented the truth, so Jesus corrected them. t he manna had not come from Moses; it had been provided by God. moreover, God still gives true bread—that is, eternal life (v. 33).

6:34 Lord can mean “sir,” which is no doubt the meaning here (4:11, 15).

6:35 Bread of life means “bread which supplies life.” manna satisfied physical needs for a while; Christ satisfies spiritual need forever (4:13, 14).

6:36 seen . . . not believe: Seeing does not necessarily mean believing (v. 30; 11:46–57), although sometimes it does (11:45; 20:29). on the other hand, Christ blesses those who believe without having seen (20:29).

6:38 For indicates an explanation of the previous statement. Christ will not cast out any who come to Him because He came to do the Father’s will.

6:39, 40 The will of the Father is twofold: (1) that all who come to the Son will be received and not lost; (2) that all who see and believe on the Son will have everlasting life.

6:41 The Jews referred to representatives of the council. t hey complained that Jesus said He was the bread which came down from heaven. Although this exact phrase is not found in Jesus’ statements, it is a fair summary of what He said (vv. 33, 35, 38). Jesus did claim that He was from heaven.

6:42 the son of Joseph: t he religious leaders’ proof that Jesus was not from heaven was that they knew His parents. to them, there was nothing supernatural about Jesus’ origin.

6:45 God draws people by teaching them. everyone, then, who hears and learns from the Father will come to Christ.

6:46, 47 Hearing and learning (v. 45) fall short of seeing the Father. John declares, “no one has seen God at any time” (1:18; 5:37). Here

The Holy Spirit in John

t he Holy Spirit is the third person of the t rinity who exercises the power of the Father and the Son in creation and redemption. Because the Holy Spirit is the power by which believers come to Christ and see with new eyes of faith, He is closer to us than we are to ourselves. Like the eyes of the body through which we see physical things, He is seldom in focus to be seen directly because He is the one through whom all else is seen in a new light. t his explains why the relationship of the Father and the Son is more prominent in the Gospels, because it is through the eyes of the Holy Spirit that the Father–Son relationship is viewed.

t he Holy Spirit appears in the Gospel of John as the power by which Christians are brought to faith and helped to understand their walk with God. He brings a person to new birth: “t hat which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (3:6); “it is the Spirit who gives life” (6:63). t he Holy Spirit is the Paraclete, or Helper, whom Jesus promised to the disciples after His ascension. t he t rinity of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are unified in ministering to believers (14:16, 26). it is through the Helper that Father and Son abide with the disciples (15:26).

t his unified ministry of the t rinity is also seen as the Spirit brings the world under conviction of sin, righteousness, and judgment. He guides believers into all truth with what He hears from the Father and the Son (15:26). it is a remarkable fact that each Person of the t rinity serves the others as all defer to one another: t he Son says what He hears from the Father (12:49, 50); the Father witnesses to and glorifies the Son (8:16–18, 50, 54); the Father and Son honor the Holy Spirit by commissioning Him to speak in their name (14:16, 26); the Holy Spirit honors the Father and Son by helping the community of believers.

Like Father and Son, the Holy Spirit is at the disposal of the other persons of the t rinity, and all three are one in graciously being at the disposal of the redeemed family of believers. t he Holy Spirit’s attitude and ministry are marked by generosity; His chief function is to illumine Jesus’ teaching, to glorify His person, and to work in the life of the individual believer and the church.

<sup>53</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless <sup>x</sup>you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you. <sup>54</sup><sup>y</sup>Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. <sup>55</sup>For My flesh is <sup>2</sup>food indeed, and My blood is <sup>3</sup>drink indeed. <sup>56</sup>He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood <sup>z</sup>abides in Me, and I in him. <sup>57</sup>As the living Father sent Me, and I live because of the Father, so he who feeds on Me will live because of Me. <sup>58</sup><sup>a</sup>This is the bread which came down from heaven—not <sup>b</sup>as your fathers ate the manna, and are dead. He who eats this bread will live forever.”

Confession by Peter

<sup>67</sup>Then Jesus said to the twelve, “Do you also want to go away?”

Christ's Brothers Do Not Believe

Jesus adds that only the Son has seen the Father. t hough a person has not seen the Father, he or she can believe in Christ and have everlasting life.

6:48, 49 Christ is the bread of life. t hose who believe in Him have life (v. 47). The manna in the wilderness did not ultimately sustain life. t hose who ate it eventually died because it could not provide everlasting life.

6:51 Eats of this bread is a synonym for faith (vv. 35, 48–50).

6:52 His flesh to eat: Jesus was speaking figuratively, but the Jewish leaders took Him literally.

6:53–58 Eats My flesh and drinks My blood: Jesus had made it abundantly clear in this context that eternal life is gained by believing (vv. 29, 35, 40, 47). t hese verses teach that the benefits of Jesus' death must be appropriated, by faith, by each individual.

6:60 Disciple literally means “learner” and is used in a variety of ways in the n t. it can include unbelievers (see v. 64), believers who go beyond initial faith to baptism and obedience (8:31), or it can mean the apostles in particular (see 2:11). t he context determines what meaning is intended. Here it simply means learner. Some of the crowd were students; they came to learn. n ot all of these had believed in Christ. it was hard for the Jewish learners to accept the idea of eating flesh and drinking blood. Jews were forbidden to even taste blood.

6:62 Jesus was asking, “if the thought of eating flesh and drinking blood offends you, would you be further offended at the idea of my ascension?”

6:63, 64 Jesus was trying to get the religious leaders to see beyond the physical aspects of His teaching to the real issue—namely, that if they believed on Him they would have everlasting life. Because they did not believe, many of these disciples did not follow Jesus any longer (v. 66).

6:65 t he people did not believe (v. 64) because it was not granted to them by the Father. t here is a balance in this chapter between God's initiative and human response. t he multitude is told about the election of the Father (v. 37), and yet all are invited to believe (v. 40). t he same is true of the Jewish leaders (vv. 44, 47) and those called disciples (v. 63).

6:68, 69 John wrote so that people might believe “that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God” (20:31). t he similarity between the confession of Peter and the purpose statement of John is inescapable.

6:70, 71 Judas Iscariot never made Peter's confession of faith in Christ. t hough he was a disciple and even one of the twelve, it is never said that he believed.

7:1 The Jews here means the religious authorities, not the people in general (5:18). many common people had responded to Jesus with joy (see mark 12:37).

7:2 t he Feast of Tabernacles was one of the three great Jewish religious festivals (Passover and Pentecost were the other two). it was called the Feast of Tabernacles because for seven days the people lived in makeshift shelters or lean-tos made of branches and leaves. The feast commemorated the days when the Israelites wandered in the wilderness and lived in tents (see Lev. 23:40–43). The festival was in September–October, about six months after the events of ch. 6. 7:3, 4 Jesus’ brothers argued, “if You are really working miracles and thus claiming to be the messiah, do not hide in obscure Galilee. if you are doing miracles at all, then do them in Jerusalem at the Feast to convince the whole nation.” These words were sarcastic, as v. 5 explains.

7:6 earlier, Jesus had told His mother, “my hour has not yet come” (see 2:4; compare 12:23). Here He told His brothers also that the time for manifesting Himself to the world had not yet come. Jesus mentioned on several occasions that the time for Him to be publicly manifested on the Cross was in the future (2:4; 7:6, 8, 30; 8:20).

7:7 The world cannot hate you: The world was not about to hate Jesus’ brothers, because they were part of it.

it hates Me <sup>h</sup> because I testify of it that its works are evil. <sup>8</sup> You go up to this feast. I am not <sup>2</sup> yet going up to this feast, <sup>i</sup> for My time has not yet fully come.” <sup>9</sup> When He had said these things to them, He remained in Galilee.

Christ Secretly Goes to the Feast

<sup>10</sup> But when His brothers had gone up, then He also went up to the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret. <sup>11</sup> Then <sup>j</sup> the Jews sought Him at the feast, and said, “Where is He?” <sup>12</sup> And <sup>k</sup> there was much complaining among the people concerning Him. <sup>1</sup> Some said, “He is good”; others said, “No, on the contrary, He deceives the people.” <sup>13</sup> However, no one spoke openly of Him <sup>m</sup> for fear of the Jews.

Christ's Authority from the Father

“I did one work, and you all marvel. <sup>22</sup> <sup>x</sup> Moses therefore gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, <sup>y</sup> but from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. <sup>23</sup> If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath, so that the law of Moses should not be broken, are you angry with Me because <sup>z</sup> I made a man completely well on the Sabbath? <sup>24</sup> <sup>a</sup> Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment.”

Christ's Origin from the Father

<sup>30</sup> Therefore <sup>j</sup> they sought to take Him; but <sup>k</sup> no one laid a hand on Him, because His hour had not yet come. <sup>31</sup> And <sup>l</sup> many of the people believed in Him, and said, “When the Christ comes, will He do more signs than these which this Man has done?”

Christ's Departure to the Father

<sup>32</sup> The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning Him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests

7:13 The Jews is a reference to the Jewish leaders, especially the members of the council (1:19).

7:14 The middle of the feast would have been the fourth day of the seven-day feast. <sup>d</sup> uring the first half of the festival Jesus remained in seclusion (v. 10). <sup>d</sup> uring the second half He began to teach publicly. <sup>t</sup> his is the first mention in the Gospel of John of Jesus teaching in the temple.

7:15 Having never studied means never having attended a rabbinical school. Similar bewilderment was later expressed regarding Jesus' disciples (see Acts 4:13).

7:16 not Mine, but His: Jesus' statement indicates that He did not receive His teaching from the rabbis, nor did He fabricate it. Instead His teaching came directly from God.

7:18, 19 is true: <sup>t</sup> he test of a teacher is whether or not he delivers God's message. Jesus gave God's message; so did Moses. <sup>t</sup> he religious leaders were breaking Moses' law by seeking to kill Jesus.

7:22, 23 Circumcision began with Abraham (see Gen. 17:10), <sup>t</sup> the Law of Moses required infants to be circumcised on the eighth day (see Lev. 12:3). <sup>t</sup> he Jews obeyed this law, even if the eighth day fell on the Sabbath. Jesus asked why the leaders were angry with Him for making a man completely well on the Sabbath.

7:27 <sup>t</sup> he Jewish people seem to have expected the messiah to appear suddenly from nowhere. <sup>t</sup> hey reasoned that since they knew where Jesus came from, He could not be the messiah. <sup>t</sup> hey were ignorant of the Scriptures, for Micah had predicted the messiah would come from Bethlehem (see mic. 5:2).

7:28, 29 Cried out signifies a loud cry of strong emotion. You . . . know Me . . . where I am from: Jesus reminded the leaders that they knew His origin. <sup>t</sup> heir problem was that they did not know God, who sent Jesus. He explained to them that He knew God, was from God, and was sent by God.

7:30 take Him: Because of Jesus' public claims of divine origin (v. 29), the religious leaders sought to arrest Him. because His hour had not yet come: John passes over the immediate reason they were unable to arrest Him and gives the ultimate explanation (see 2:4). God is sovereign and He alone sets the time. As with Jesus, so with us; no one can touch us without the Father's consent (see 10:29).

7:31 in contrast to the leaders, many of the Jewish people believed because of the miracles Jesus performed (20:30, 31).

7:32 to take Him: the Jewish leaders decided earlier that they wanted to kill Christ (see 5:16), but this is the first real attempt on His life.

sent officers to take Him. <sup>33</sup> Then Jesus said <sup>6</sup> to them, <sup>m</sup> “I shall be with you a little while longer, and then I <sup>n</sup> go to Him who sent Me. <sup>34</sup> You <sup>o</sup> will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you <sup>p</sup> cannot come.”

<sup>35</sup> Then the Jews said among themselves, “Where does He intend to go that we shall not find Him? Does He intend to go to <sup>q</sup> the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks? <sup>36</sup> What is this thing that He said, ‘You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come?’”

Christ Reveals the “Living Water”

<sup>37</sup> On the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, <sup>s</sup> “If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. <sup>38</sup> He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, <sup>u</sup> out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.” <sup>39</sup> But this He spoke concerning the Spirit, whom those <sup>7</sup> believing in Him would receive; for the <sup>8</sup> Holy Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet <sup>w</sup> glorified.

Israel Is Divided over Christ

But some said, “Will the Christ come out of Galilee? <sup>42</sup> Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the seed of David and from the town of Bethlehem, <sup>a</sup> where David was?” <sup>43</sup> So <sup>b</sup> there

<sup>45</sup> Then the officers came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why have you not brought Him?”

7:33 a little while longer: Jesus’ time on earth was limited; soon He would be crucified and then ascend to the Father. His life was not determined by the Jewish religious leaders (v. 32), but by the Father.

7:34, 35 you cannot come: Christ would be in heaven; the people would not be able to come to Him there. Where does He intend to go: t he Jewish leaders did not comprehend what Jesus meant. t hey could only think of one of the various places where Jews had been scattered.

7:37–39 o n each day of the feast, the people came with palm branches and marched around the great altar. A priest took a golden pitcher filled with water from the Pool of Siloam, carried it to the temple, and poured it on the altar as an offering to God. t his dramatic ceremony was a memorial of the water that flowed from the rock when the israelites traveled through the wilderness. o n the last day of the feast, the people marched seven times around the altar in memory of the seven circuits around the walls of Jericho. Perhaps at the very moment that the priest was pouring water on the altar, Jesus’ voice rang out: If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink.

7:38 as the Scripture has said: t he reference is not to a single passage, but to the general emphasis of such passages as deut. 18:15; is. 58:11; Zech. 14:8 (see also num. 24:7). in contrast to the small amount of water poured out each day during the feast, there will be a river of water coming out of those who believe in Christ. n ot only will they be satisfied themselves, but they will also become a river so that others may drink and be satisfied (v. 39).

7:39 John explains that Jesus was speaking of the Holy Spirit who would satisfy personal thirst and produce a perennial fountain for the satisfaction of others. t he Holy Spirit would come after Jesus’ crucifixion and ascension. Jesus prepared His disciples for this in the Upper Room (14:16–20; 15:26, 27; 16:7–15).

7:40–42 moses predicted that the Prophet, the seed of David, would come (see deut. 18:15, 18; 2 Sam. 7:14–16). t hese people knew that the messiah was to come from Bethlehem (see mic. 5:2). However, they did not know that Jesus had been born there. t hey thought He was from Galilee (see v. 41; matt. 16:13, 14). t hey knew the Scripture, but they did not take the time to know the messiah (5:39).

7:49 this crowd . . . is accursed: t he Pharisees accused the people of being ignorant of the Law and thus under God’s curse (see deut. 28:15). t he irony of the situation was that it was the Pharisees, not the crowds, who were under God’s wrath because they had rejected His Son (3:36).

7:50, 51 Nicodemus made a plea for justice (3:2; 12:42, 43), but his plea was rejected.

7:52 no prophet has arisen out of Galilee: Actually, the prophets Jonah, Hosea, nahum, and perhaps elijah, elisha, and Amos were from Galilee or close to it.

8:1 t he people went to their own houses (7:53). Jesus, who had no place to lay His head (see Luke 9:58), spent the night on the Mount of Olives.

8:2 Early in the morning literally means “at dawn.” all the people came: Because the Feast of tabernacles had concluded the day before (7:2, 37), many visitors were still in Jerusalem. Attracted by the appearance of a noted rabbi, a crowd rapidly gathered. He sat: teachers in ancient israel sat when they taught. Jesus assumed the position of an authoritative teacher.

ple came to Him; and He sat down and <sup>a</sup>taught them. <sup>3</sup>Then the scribes and Pharisees brought to Him a woman caught in adultery. And when they had set her in the midst, <sup>4</sup>they said to Him, “Teacher, <sup>2</sup>this woman was caught in <sup>b</sup>adultery, in the very act. <sup>5c</sup>Now <sup>3</sup>Moses, in the law, commanded us <sup>4</sup>that such should be stoned. But what do You <sup>5</sup>say?” <sup>6</sup>This they said, testing Him, that they <sup>d</sup>might have something of which to accuse Him. But Jesus stooped down and wrote on the ground with His finger, <sup>6</sup>as though He did not hear.

“I Am the Light of the World”

<sup>12</sup>Then Jesus spoke to them again, saying, <sup>i</sup>“I am the light of the world. He who <sup>j</sup>follows Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life.”

8:3 Abruptly bringing the adulterous woman into the midst of the proceedings was a rude disruption. t he Pharisees were bent on confounding Jesus (7:45).

8:4, 5 such should be stoned: Stoning was specified in certain cases of adultery (see deut. 22:23, 24), though not all. (it is not clear why the authorities intended to punish the woman but not the man.) in the Greek text, the pronoun You is emphatic. t he religious leaders were trying to trap Jesus into saying something that was contrary to the Law.

8:6 testing Him: if Jesus had said not to stone her, He would have contradicted Jewish law. if He had said to stone her, He would have run counter to Roman law, which did not permit Jews to carry out their own executions (18:31). what Jesus wrote on the ground is a matter of conjecture. Some suggest that He wrote the ten Commandments recorded in ex. 20.

8:11 Sin no more implies that Jesus forgave her. He did not condemn her, but neither did He condone her sin.

8:12 I am the light of the world: As the sun is the physical light of the world, so Jesus is the spiritual light of the world. As the light of the world, Jesus exposes sin (vv. 1–11) and gives sight (9:1–7).

8:13 Not true here does not mean “false”; it means “not sufficient.” t he Pharisees challenged Jesus on legal grounds, because no man on trial in a Jewish court was allowed to testify on his own behalf. t heir point was that if Jesus was the only one testifying as to who He claimed to be, it would not be enough to prove His case.

8:14 My witness is true: in 5:31, Jesus argued on the basis of legality and offered other witnesses. Sometimes, however, an individual is the only one who knows the facts about himself. t hus self-disclosure is the only way to truth (7:29; 13:3).

8:15 According to the flesh could mean either “according to appearance” or “by human standards.” t he religious leaders formed conclusions based on human standards and an imperfect, external, and superficial examination. Jesus did not judge according to human standards or outward appearances.

8:16–18 I am not alone: Jesus could claim that His pronouncements were true and accurate even though the Law of Moses required two witnesses for a testimony to be valid (see deut. 17:6; 19:15): Both He and the Father through the signs bore testimony to Jesus’ words and works.

8:19 Where is Your Father: Since the Father was part of Jesus’ proof of Himself, the Pharisees wanted to know where this Father was. You know neither: even if the Pharisees could see the Father, they would not receive what Jesus said. Jesus came to reveal the Father (1:18), and they had not received Him.

8:22 kill Himself: Later Jewish belief placed suicide on the same level with murder.

8:23 from beneath: Jesus was not referring to hell, but to this world.

8:24 I am was God’s designation of Himself (see ex. 3:14). Jesus was claiming to be God. t his assertion was not understood by the

Jewish Discontent

Jewish discontent was centered around taxation. In the economy of the time, taxation was heavy. The city of Rome supported itself by imposing and gathering taxes. The Roman system allowed for the lease of taxation rights to entrepreneurs, who taxed their region for profit above what was due to Rome. This method of taxation invited trouble. Jews who worked in the tax system were regarded as traitors, even though the situation might have been even worse if foreigners acted as tax agents. Jewish discontent with Roman rule also had a nationalistic element (8:33). The Jews had not forgotten their independence under the Maccabees, and even the Jews who were scattered in many regions throughout the Roman empire retained their cultural identity. Political discontent was injected with religious fervor because the Jews considered themselves to be a holy nation, and not just a nation among others (deut. 26:18, 19; 27:9).

<sup>25</sup> Then they said to Him, “Who are You?”

And Jesus said to them, “Just what I <sup>c</sup> have been saying to you from the beginning. <sup>26</sup> I have many things to say and to judge concerning you, but <sup>d</sup> He who sent Me is true; and <sup>e</sup> I speak to the world those things which I heard from Him.”

<sup>27</sup> They did not understand that He spoke to them of the Father.

Jesus said to them, <sup>x</sup> “If you were Abraham’s children, you would do the works of Abraham. <sup>40</sup> <sup>y</sup> But now you seek to kill Me, a Man who has told you the truth <sup>z</sup> which I heard from God. Abraham did not do this. <sup>41</sup> You do the deeds of your father.”

Then they said to Him, “We were not born of fornication; <sup>a</sup> we have one Father—God.”

<sup>42</sup> Jesus said to them, <sup>b</sup> “If God were your Father, you would love Me, for <sup>c</sup> I proceeded forth and came from God; <sup>d</sup> nor have I come of Myself, but He sent Me. <sup>43</sup> <sup>e</sup> Why do you not understand My speech? religious leaders at this time. Later, Jesus’ claim to be the “I Am” (v. 58) prompted the Jewish leaders to seek His life (v. 59).

8:28 Lift up is a reference to the Crucifixion.

8:30 The Greek phrase translated believed in occurs almost exclusively in John’s Gospel (1:12; 2:11; 3:15, 16, 18, 36; 6:29, 35, 40, 47; 7:38, 39; 9:35, 36; 10:42; 11:25, 26, 45; 12:44, 46). The phrase describes faith in Jesus’ message (see 1 Cor. 1:21), which results in eternal life.

8:31 Abide means to remain, to continue. A believer who continues to obey the word is a disciple, a learner.

8:32 One who abides in the word of God knows the truth (v. 31; 17:17). The word free refers to freedom from the bondage of sin. Obedience to the Lord means fellowship with Him, protection from sin, and experiencing His love.

8:33 They answered Him: Throughout this chapter, Jesus was engaged in an exchange with His antagonists, the Pharisees (v. 13). They are also designated by the term Jews (vv. 22, 48, 52, 57) and the pronoun they (vv. 19, 25, 27, 33, 39, 41, 59). We . . . have never been in bondage: The Pharisees’ objection is startling. In their past, the Israelites had been in bondage to the Egyptians, the Assyrians, and the Babylonians. At the time they spoke, Israel was under the power of Rome.

8:34 slave of sin: Jesus was speaking of spiritual slavery. Such a slave cannot break away from his bondage. He must have someone else set him free (see Rom. 8:34).

8:35 A slave was not a permanent resident of a house. A son remained a family member with family privileges forever. This proverbial saying is applied in v. 36. The application proves that the “Son” here is Jesus Christ (see “the Son of man” in v. 28). As a family member, the Son can bestow family privileges on others.

8:37 Abraham’s descendants may have been physical heirs of Abraham, but they were not his spiritual descendants unless they had faith. But instead of trusting Christ to forgive their sins, the religious leaders wanted to kill Him. They heard the word, but did not believe it. Thus they could not experience its truth.

8:39 Abraham is our father: The Pharisees believed that being a descendant of Abraham guaranteed them a place in heaven. The works of Abraham included paying honor to those who spoke in the name of God (see Gen. 14; 18).

8:41 We were not born of fornication: From ancient times, this has been interpreted as a sneer, as if to say, “we are not illegitimate children, but You are.” Apparently gossip had followed Jesus for many years, alleging that He had been conceived out of wedlock.

8:44 your father: Jesus knew what was in the hearts of people and the <sup>g</sup>desires of your father you want to <sup>h</sup>do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and <sup>i</sup>does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own resources, for he is a liar and the father of it. <sup>45</sup>But because I tell the truth, you do not believe Me. <sup>46</sup>Which of you convicts Me of sin? And if I tell the truth, why do you not believe Me? <sup>47</sup>He who is of God hears God's words; therefore you do not hear, because you are not of God."

<sup>48</sup>Then the Jews answered and said to Him, "Do we not say rightly that You are a Samaritan and <sup>k</sup>have a demon?"

<sup>52</sup>Then the Jews said to Him, "Now we know that You <sup>o</sup>have a demon! <sup>p</sup>Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and You say, 'If anyone keeps My word he shall never taste death.' <sup>53</sup>Are You greater than our father Abraham, who is dead? And the prophets are dead. <sup>q</sup>Who do You make Yourself out to be?"

<sup>54</sup>Jesus answered, <sup>r</sup>"If I honor Myself, My honor is nothing. <sup>s</sup>It is My Father who honors Me, of whom you say that He is <sup>6</sup>your God. <sup>55</sup>Yet <sup>t</sup>you have not known Him, but I know Him. And if I say, 'I do not know Him,' I shall be a liar

Christ Heals the Blind Man

9 Now as Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth. <sup>2</sup>And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Rabbi, <sup>a</sup>who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?"

<sup>6</sup>When He had said these things, <sup>f</sup>He spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva; and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay. <sup>7</sup>And He said

(2:25), so He could trace their actions to their source. t he devil is a murderer; his agents wanted to kill Christ.

8:48 the Jewish leaders charged Jesus with being a Samaritan and having a demon. in the process, they turned back to Jesus both charges that He had brought against them, namely, that they were not legitimate children of Abraham (vv. 39, 40) and that they were of the devil (v. 44). the conversation between Jesus and the Jewish rulers had become very heated. on the Pharisees' part, emotions were running high and reason was being set aside.

8:49 the Jewish leaders were dishonoring Jesus even though their eternal destiny depended on what they did with His message (v. 51).

8:50 One: God the Father will seek Christ's glory and judge those who dishonor Him.

8:51 Jesus graciously held out to the Jewish leaders the promise of forgiveness and eternal life. My word refers to the word concerning who He is. Death here refers not to physical death, but to spiritual death resulting in eternal separation from God.

8:53 greater than . . . Abraham: Abraham and the prophets kept God's word and died. Jesus was claiming not that He would prevent physical death, but that He could give eternal life. to the Jewish leaders, this was proof that Jesus was demon-possessed.

8:56 My day: Abraham looked for the one who would fulfill all that was promised to him—promises that included blessings for all nations (see Gal. 3:8, 9, 29).

8:58, 59 I AM: Jesus was not just claiming to have lived before Abraham; He was claiming eternal existence. He was claiming to be God Himself (see ex. 3:14). this time the Jewish leaders understood that Jesus was claiming to be God, so they took up stones to stone Him for blasphemy (see Lev. 24:16).

9:1 the man who was blind from birth was a beggar (v. 8). Beggars waited by the gates of the temple for gifts from worshipers. therefore, it is likely that this scene took place near the temple shortly after the confrontation recorded in ch. 8.

9:2 who sinned: it was commonly supposed that sickness was a result of sin. it would follow that sins committed by a baby still in the womb or sin committed by parents could result in a baby being born with a disease. Jesus rejected both suggestions (v. 3).

9:3 God allowed the man to be born blind so that Jesus could heal him and thus reveal the works of God, His healing power.

9:6 mixing clay with saliva was a common practice used for eye infections. Jesus may have used the clay to provide an opportunity for the man to exercise his faith in washing it off.

this expression denotes "self-identity in self-sufficiency." in one breath, Jesus asserted His eternal preexistence and His absolute deity. Abraham, as with all mortals, came into existence at one point in time. the Son of God, unlike all mortals, never has a beginning. He is eternal; and He is God. this is evident in Jesus' use of the words "I AM" for Himself. this statement recalls the Septuagint (the Greek ot ) translation of ex. 3:6, 14, in which God unveiled His identity as the "I Am wHo I am." thus Jesus was claiming to be the ever-existing, self-existent God.

<sup>11</sup> He answered and said, <sup>i</sup> “A Man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said to me, ‘Go to <sup>4</sup> the pool of Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed, and I received sight.”

<sup>12</sup> Then they said to him, “Where is He?”

9:7 Siloam: Hezekiah had a tunnel cut through solid rock to transport water from Gihon (the “Virgin’s Fountain”) into the city of Jerusalem, to the Pool of Siloam (see 2 Kin. 20:20; 2 Chr. 32:30). John emphasizes that the name Siloam means “Sent,” because Jesus had just announced that He had been sent by God (v. 4).

The Signs of Jesus in the Gospel of John

A blind man sees; a lame man walks. everywhere Jesus went, people were amazed at His miraculous powers. John uses Jesus’ miracles as an organizing principle in his Gospel. He calls them all semeia, or “signs,” indicating that each miracle was a concrete demonstration of Jesus’ divinity and messiahship. t heir purpose was to engender belief as they did for the disciples (2:11) and the nobleman’s household (4:52). But these same miracles would incite some to anger and violence (11:45–52). John records seven specific “signs.” t he first was Jesus’ miracle of turning water into wine in Cana (2:1–11). in 2:11, John specifically mentions that this sign signified Christ’s glory, that is, His deity. with this sign Jesus demonstrated His creative power over nature, and His disciples appropriately placed their faith in Him (2:11).

t he second sign was Jesus’ healing of the nobleman’s son (4:46–54). Although the son was in Capernaum and Jesus was in Cana, He told the boy’s father, “Your son lives” (4:50). t his sign indicated that Jesus was more than a mere mortal; He possessed the power not only to defeat disease, but to transcend space. Jesus did not have to be physically present to heal. o nce again, the sign produced belief (4:52).

But with the third sign, another reaction to Jesus’ miracles can be seen. A man at the pool of Bethesda had been sick for a long time. w hen Jesus told him, “Rise, take up your bed and walk” (5:8), immediately he was well. But this healing took place on the Sabbath. t he Jewish leaders’ traditions and ideas kept them from believing in the clear signs of Jesus.

t he fourth sign was Jesus’ miraculous feeding of the five thousand (6:1–15). By creating a great quantity of food out of five loaves and two fishes, Jesus was again demonstrating His deity, for only God can create. But the crowd, instead of submitting to Jesus’ teaching and following Him, wanted to make Him their king. t hey sought out Jesus for the food for their stomachs, and not for the spiritual food that would give them eternal life (6:26, 27).

t he fifth sign was Jesus’ walking on the water (6:16–21). After the feeding of the five thousand, the disciples took a boat to cross the Sea of Galilee on their way to Capernaum. w hen they were three or four miles out, they saw Jesus walking on the water toward them. t his time, Jesus demonstrated His complete control of nature, from the winds above to the water below. t his was another sign of His deity, and another reason for the disciples to place complete trust in Him.

Jesus’ sixth sign highlights the different responses to Jesus’ miraculous works. in this account, the Pharisees’ spiritual blindness is clearly contrasted with the vibrant faith of the blind man. After being healed, this man told others about Jesus and correctly concluded that He was from God. t he blind man saw clearly what Jesus’ sign meant, and believed (9:38). But the Pharisees refused to believe. t hey ridiculed the man’s faith and arrogantly questioned Jesus (9:34, 40, 41).

t he seventh sign was Jesus’ raising of Lazarus from the dead (11:1–44). Lazarus had been buried for four days when Jesus arrived in Bethany. w ith the simple words “Lazarus, come out,” Jesus restored to life the brother of mary and martha. t his last sign was the greatest: Jesus at once demonstrated His power over the grave and pointed to His own resurrection. n ot even death could limit Him, for He was truly God.

t hese seven signs certainly should have been enough to convince anyone that Jesus was the promised messiah. Yet the miracles singled out by John were no more than “samples” of the enormous scope of Jesus’ signs and wonders (21:25). For John, all these signs pointed to the two miracles that are the greatest of all: Jesus’ incarnation (1:14) and resurrection (20:1–18). Jesus is God’s only Son become man. Although He died for our sins, He was raised from the dead. today, He still lives and intercedes for all who believe in Him.

He said, “I do not know.”

<sup>13</sup>They brought him who formerly was blind to the Pharisees. <sup>14</sup>Now it was a Sabbath when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes. <sup>15</sup>Then the Pharisees also asked him again how he had received his sight. He said to them, “He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.”

<sup>16</sup>Therefore some of the Pharisees said, “This Man is not from God, because He does not <sup>5</sup>keep the Sabbath.”

Others said, <sup>j</sup>“How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?” And <sup>k</sup>there was a division among them.

<sup>17</sup>They said to the blind man again, “What do you say about Him because He opened your eyes?”

He said, <sup>l</sup>“He is a prophet.”

<sup>18</sup>But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind and received his sight, until they called the parents of him who had received his sight. <sup>19</sup>And they asked them, saying, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?”

<sup>20</sup>His parents answered them and said, “We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind; <sup>21</sup>but by what means he now sees we do not know, or who opened his eyes we do not know. He is of age; ask him. He will speak for himself.”

<sup>25</sup>He answered and said, “Whether He is a sinner or not I do not know. One thing I know: that though I was blind, now I see.”

<sup>30</sup>The man answered and said to them, <sup>t</sup>“Why, this is a marvelous thing, that you do not know where He is from; yet He has opened my eyes! <sup>31</sup>Now we know that <sup>u</sup>God does not hear sinners; but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does His will, He hears him. <sup>32</sup>Since the world began it has been unheard of that anyone opened the eyes of one who was born blind. <sup>33</sup><sup>v</sup>If this Man were not from God, He could do nothing.”

<sup>40</sup>Then some of the Pharisees who were with Him heard these words, <sup>e</sup>and said to Him, “Are we blind also?”

9:16 some of the Pharisees said . . . Others said: t he Pharisees could not believe that Jesus was from God because He had healed on the Sabbath, thereby breaking the oral traditions that had grown up around the Law. But those who fairly evaluated Jesus’ miraculous signs came to the conclusion that He was from God.

9:17 t he blind man concluded that Jesus was a prophet. t his does not mean he had decided that Jesus was the messiah (1:20, 21; 6:14).

9:22 t to be put out of the synagogue was to be excommunicated. t he Jews had three types of excommunication: one lasting 30 days, during which the person could not come within six feet of anybody else; one for an indefinite time, during which the person was excluded from all fellowship and worship; and one that meant absolute expulsion forever. t these judgments were very serious because no one could conduct business with a person who was excommunicated.

9:24 t he command to Give God the glory was a solemn charge to declare the whole truth (see Josh. 7:19; 1 Sam. 6:5). Attempting to put words in the man’s mouth, the Jewish leaders said they knew Jesus was a sinner. in their view, healing on the Sabbath was breaking the Law. So to them, Jesus was a sinner (5:16).

9:28 You are His disciple: t he healed man had not claimed to be Jesus’ disciple. He only asked the Jewish leaders if they were interested in this case because they wished to become Jesus’ disciples (v. 27).

9:30–33 unheard of: t here is no healing of a blind man recorded anywhere in the ot .

9:36 Who is He: Faith must have a proper object. Jesus, not faith, saves. Faith is only a channel to the worthy object, the Lord Jesus Christ.

9:38 note the progression throughout this chapter of the healed man’s understanding of the person of Christ. First, he called Jesus “a man” (v. 11); then “a prophet” (v. 17); and finally he realized that Jesus is the Son of God (vv. 35–38).

9:39 For judgment I have come into this world: Jesus did not come into the world to execute judgment (3:17). n evertheless, the inevitable result of His coming is judgment, because some refuse to believe (3:18). As the light of the world, Jesus came that the blind might see and those who think they can see will be made blind.

<sup>41</sup>Jesus said to them, <sup>f</sup>“If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you say, ‘We see.’ Therefore your sin remains.

“I Am the Good Shepherd”

10 “Most assuredly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door, but climbs up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. <sup>2</sup>But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. <sup>3</sup>To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by <sup>a</sup>name and leads them out. <sup>4</sup>And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them; and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. <sup>5</sup>Yet they will by no means follow a <sup>b</sup>stranger, but will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.” <sup>6</sup>Jesus used this illustration, but they did not understand the things which He spoke to them.

<sup>7</sup>Then Jesus said to them again, “Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep. <sup>8</sup>All who ever came <sup>1</sup>before Me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. <sup>9</sup>“I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture. <sup>10</sup>The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy. I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly.

shepherd gives His life for the sheep. <sup>12</sup>But a <sup>2</sup>hireling, he who is not the shepherd, one who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and <sup>e</sup>leaves the sheep and flees; and the wolf catches the sheep and scatters them. <sup>13</sup>The hireling flees because he is a hireling and does not care about the sheep. <sup>14</sup>I am the good shepherd; and <sup>f</sup>I know My sheep, and <sup>g</sup>am known by My own. <sup>15</sup><sup>h</sup>As the Father knows Me, even so I know the Father; <sup>i</sup>and I lay down My life for the sheep. <sup>16</sup>And <sup>j</sup>other sheep I have which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they will hear My voice; <sup>k</sup>and there will be one flock and one shepherd.

The Opposition at the Feast of Dedication in Jerusalem

10:1 In John 7, Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem for the Feast of tabernacles (see 7:2, 10). All of the events between 7:10 and 10:39 take place on that visit to Jerusalem. t has chs. 9 and 10 are closely connected, suggesting that Jesus had the Pharisees of ch. 9 in mind when He spoke the opening words of ch. 10. A sheepfold was a walled enclosure or high fence made with stakes, and having one door or gate; often the enclosure was a cave. some other way: t he Pharisees had secured their power by illegitimate means. A thief steals in secret; a robber plunders openly with violence.

10:3 The doorkeeper was the undershepherd. Calls expresses personal address rather than a general or authoritative invitation. by name: t he naming of sheep was an ancient practice (see Ps. 147:4; is. 40:26). t his was good practice for the undershepherd who has been given the charge of a portion of God’s flock (see 1 Pet. 5:2).

10:4 Brings out is a translation of the same Greek word used in 9:34, 35 of the Pharisees casting out the man born blind. t he false shepherds put out the sheep to rid themselves of trouble. t he true shepherd puts out the sheep in order to feed them. t he sheep know the voice of the true shepherd.

10:5 A stranger is anyone whom the sheep do not know, not necessarily a thief and a robber. Sheep would not follow a stranger’s voice even if he used the shepherd’s call and imitated his tone.

10:7 in vv. 1–5, Jesus is the shepherd; here He is the door. Some shepherds lay down across the entry of the sheepfold at night to sleep. wild beasts would be discouraged from entering, and sheep would not exit. t has the shepherd was also the door.

10:8 t he thieves and robbers were the Pharisees (v. 1).

10:9 Jesus, the shepherd, gives spiritual life and access to spiritual food.

10:10 more abundantly: t he thieves take life; the shepherd gives it. Abundant life includes salvation, nourishment, healing (v. 9), and much more. Life here refers to eternal life, God’s life. it speaks not only of endlessness, but of quality of life. with Christ, life on earth can reach much higher quality, and then in heaven it will be complete and perfect.

10:11 Jesus is the good shepherd who gives His life for the sheep (see 3:16; 1 John 3:16), as opposed to the wicked thief who takes their lives. while life in v. 10 refers to eternal life, life here refers to physical life. Jesus laid down His physical life in order to give us eternal life.

10:12 t he hireling is a hired shepherd, a mercenary, who tends the flock for his own interest. w hen a hired shepherd sees a wolf coming he flees, not caring about the sheep.

10:16 t he other sheep were not Jews in heathen lands, but Gentiles. t he Jewish people had asked if Jesus would go and teach the Gentiles (7:35). Jesus now declared that He had sheep among the despised heathen. One flock anticipates the salvation of the Gentiles and the formation of the church, in which converted Jews and Gentiles would form one spiritual body (see 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:28; eph. 2:16).

10:18 As the good shepherd, Jesus had the power—that is, the authority—not only to voluntarily lay down His life for the sheep (vv. 11, 15, 17), but also to take it up again. n o one but God can do that.

10:19–21 After Jesus’ analogy of the good shepherd, the editorial comment by John is fitting. in the analogy, Jesus was the good shepherd whose sheep hear His voice, implying that there are sheep who do not hear His voice. John’s comment, true to the purpose of his Gospel, indicates that some believe and others do not. t his is the same division that occurred in 9:16.

10:22 t he events of 7:1—10:21 occurred during the Feast of tab-

Herod's Temple

King Herod sought to appease his Jewish subjects by constructing an enormous, ornate, cream-colored temple of stone and gold. Building began in 19 B.C. the main building was finished by 9 B.C., but the entire structure was not completed until A.D. 64. The temple building occupied an area that measured about 490 yards from north to south and 325 yards from east to west. The entire temple complex was enclosed by a massive stone wall, the southeast corner of which stood about 50 yards above the floor of the Kidron ravine. The parapet above this corner may have been the "pinnacle of the temple" referred to in Matt. 4:5. In A.D. 70, the Romans destroyed the temple and burned it to the ground. All that currently remains is the western wall, also called the wailing wall, where Jews still gather to pray.

in Jerusalem, and it was winter. <sup>23</sup> And Jesus walked in the temple, <sup>t</sup> in Solomon's porch. <sup>24</sup> Then the Jews surrounded Him and said to Him, "How long do You keep us in <sup>4</sup> doubt? If You are the Christ, tell us plainly."

the man born blind (9:35-37). His works include all the miracles He performed as signs pointing to His messiahship (see 20:31).
10:26 as I said to you: At the Feast of tabernacles, Jesus had told the leaders that they were not among His sheep (see vv. 14, 15; 8:42-44, 47).
10:27-29 Jesus described three characteristics of His sheep: (1) they hear His voice (v. 4). He knows them (see Rom. 8:29). (2) They follow Him. The following of the sheep is a metaphor for faith. Other metaphors for faith in this Gospel include drinking water (4:14), eating bread (6:50, 51), eating flesh and drinking blood (6:54). (3) They shall never perish; their eternal life can never be taken away. The Father's hand is more powerful than that of any enemy.
10:30 I and My Father are one: The Jewish opponents understood that Jesus was claiming to be God (vv. 31, 33).
10:31 again: This was not the first time that the Jewish leaders took up stones against Jesus (see 8:59).
10:32, 33 The Jewish antagonizers revealed the reason for their ernacles, which fell in the middle of October. The Feast of Dedication was celebrated for eight days in December; thus there was a period of about two months between vv. 21 and 22. In 167 B.C., Antiochus Epiphanes desecrated the temple in Jerusalem, as prophesied in Dan. 11:31. The Maccabees restored and purified the temple. In commemoration of the restoration, the Feast of Dedication was instituted. Today it is also known as the Feast of Lights or Hanukkah. John notes that the events of 10:22 occurred in winter to explain why the Lord chose a sheltered spot in which to teach (v. 23).

10:23 A pavilion surrounded the temple. Solomon's porch was a long, covered cloister or colonnade in the temple court, probably on the east side.
10:25 Jesus answered: Jesus reminded the Jewish leaders of His words and works. Jesus was the Messiah and said so. He told the woman at the well that He was the Messiah (4:25, 26), as well as them, “Many good works I have shown you from My Father. For which of those works do you stone Me?”

<sup>40</sup>And He went away again beyond the Jordan to the place <sup>p</sup>where John was baptizing at first, and there He stayed. <sup>41</sup>Then many came to Him and said, “John performed no sign, <sup>q</sup>but all the things that John spoke about this Man were true.” <sup>42</sup>And many believed in Him there.

Christ Raises Lazarus

<sup>4</sup>When Jesus heard that, He said,

“This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it.”

<sup>5</sup>Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup>So, when He heard that he was sick, <sup>c</sup>He stayed two more days in the place where He was. <sup>7</sup>Then after this He said to the disciples, “Let us go to Judea again.”

<sup>8</sup>The disciples said to Him, “Rabbi, lately the Jews sought to <sup>d</sup>stone You, and are You going there again?”

<sup>12</sup>Then His disciples said, “Lord, if he sleeps he will get well.” <sup>13</sup>However, Jesus spoke of his death, but they thought that He was speaking about taking rest in sleep.

<sup>14</sup>Then Jesus said to them plainly, “Lazarus is dead. <sup>15</sup>And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, that you may believe. Nevertheless let us go to him.”

<sup>16</sup>Then <sup>i</sup>Thomas, who is called the Twin, said to his fellow disciples, “Let us also go, that we may die with Him.”

opposition to Jesus—He was claiming a unique unity with the Father, a unity that clearly indicated His own deity. t he Jewish leaders considered this to be blasphemy.

10:34 in the ot t, judges were called gods. *t*hey exercised godlike judicial sovereignty. Psalm 82:6, the verse quoted here, refers to judges who violate the Law. Jesus’ argument was that if the divine name had been applied by God to mere men, there could be neither blasphemy nor folly in its application to the incarnate Son of God Himself.

10:35 Broken actually means “to loose, untie.” *t*his is a strong statement of the inerrancy of the Holy Scriptures. *n*otice how Jesus made the veracity of His argument rest on the absolute trustworthiness of Scripture.

10:38 believe the works: Jesus asked the Jewish leaders to at least consider His miracles because these indicated and demonstrated His deity. *n*ote that the heart of the issue is belief. John never deviates from this single condition for being born again. *t*he word translated believe is used 99 times in this book.

10:40 beyond the Jordan: *t*his sojourn into Perea is also noted in matt. 19:1; mark 10:1.

11:1 Bethany, a small village on the southeast slope of the mount of olives, was located about two miles from Jerusalem (v. 18).

11:2 Mary who anointed: *t*he anointing had not yet taken place (12:1–3). *w*hen John wrote, the anointing was well known, so he used the event to distinguish this Mary from other women with the same name.

11:4 Not unto death means not having death as its final result. may be glorified: By raising Lazarus from the dead, Jesus would demonstrate His deity in an undeniable way.

11:6–8 stayed two more days: God’s purpose was to glorify His Son (v. 4) and to cause the disciples to grow (v. 15). Had Jesus immediately rushed to Lazarus’s bedside and healed him, Lazarus would not have died and Jesus would not have been able to manifest His glory by raising Lazarus. God’s timing to accomplish His purpose is perfect. *t*he disciples were skeptical. in their minds, for Jesus to go back to Judea would mean death.

11:15 Jesus was not glad that Lazarus was dead. He was glad for the opportunity the disciples would soon have to see an amazing miracle. *t*he disciples had already believed (2:11), but each new trial offered an opportunity for their faith to grow.

11:16 the Twin: in *t*homas, the twins of belief and unbelief condescended with each other for mastery. He seems to have combined devotion to Jesus with a tendency to see the dark side of things. Jesus said, “Let us go,” that the disciples might believe (v. 15). *t*homas said, Let us also go, that we may die. *w*hile the Lord saw their development in faith, *t*homas saw their deaths. Yet in his loyalty, he followed anyway.

Jesus' Seven "I Am" Statements

Jesus' "I am" statements would have particular significance to the first-century Jewish listener. God had revealed Himself to Moses with a resounding "I AM" (Ex. 3:14). Now Jesus was using the same words to describe Himself (4:26; 6:20; 13:19).

Title	Reference	Context	Significance
"I am the bread of life."	6:35, 41, 48, 51	After Jesus had fed the five thousand and the people wanted more free food.	As bread sustains physical life, so Christ offers and sustains spiritual life. The nourishment and satisfaction He offers are permanent.
"I am the light of the world."	8:12	During the Feast of Tabernacles. At this feast a huge candelabra was lit in the women's court of the temple. It reminded the Israelites of the pillar of fire which guided their ancestors during the wilderness wanderings.	To a world stumbling about in the darkness of sin, Christ offers Himself as a constant guide. Light is also symbolic of holiness.
"I am the door of the sheep."	10:7, 9	During a discourse with Israel's religious leaders in which Jesus in essence declared them to be unfit shepherds of the nation.	Shepherds guided their flocks into stone enclosures each night to protect them. These structures had no doors. The shepherd would sit or lie in the opening to prevent predators from attacking. Thus Jesus was describing His care and constant devotion to those who are His.
"I am the good shepherd."	10:11, 14	Same as above.	Unlike hirelings who might run away and leave the flock unprotected, Jesus is committed to caring for and keeping watch over His people.
"I am the resurrection and the life."	11:25	After Lazarus had died.	Jesus is the Lord of all life and possesses the power to raise the dead. Death is not the final word, for all who are in Christ will live forever.
"I am the way, the truth, and the life."	14:6	When the disciples were confused about Jesus' statements about heaven.	Jesus is the one and only way to the Father. He is the source of all truth and the source for all knowledge about God. He offers to spiritually dead people the very life of God.
"I am the true vine."	15:1, 5	In the Upper Room discourse on the night of His arrest.	The Old Testament contains many references to Israel as God's vine (Ps. 80:8; Is. 5:1-7; Ezek. 15; Hos. 10:1). But because of the nation's unfruitfulness, Jesus came to fulfill God's plan. By attaching ourselves to Christ, we enable His life to flow in and through us. Then we cannot help but bear fruit that will honor the Father. In this metaphor, He is the Gardener.

<sup>20</sup>Now Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met Him, but Mary was sitting in the house. <sup>21</sup>Now Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died. <sup>22</sup>But even now I know that <sup>j</sup>whatever You ask of God, God will give You."

<sup>26</sup>And whoever lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?"

lieve that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is to come into the world."

<sup>28</sup>And when she had said these things, she went her way and secretly called Mary her sister, saying, "The Teacher has come and is calling for you." <sup>29</sup>As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly and came to Him. <sup>30</sup>Now Jesus had not yet come into the town, but <sup>2</sup>was in the place where Martha met Him. <sup>31</sup><sup>p</sup>Then the Jews who were with her in the house, and comforting her, when they saw that Mary rose up quickly and went out, followed her, <sup>3</sup>saying, "She is going to the tomb to weep there."

<sup>32</sup>Then, when Mary came where Jesus was, and saw Him, she <sup>q</sup>fell down at His feet, saying to Him, <sup>r</sup>"Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died."

11:25-27 Christ is the resurrection for those who believe and are physically dead. He is the life for those who believe and have not yet died. when Jesus asked martha if she believed, she responded with words similar to the ones John used to describe the purpose of his book (20:31). in order to have eternal life, a person must place his or her faith in Jesus, who is the Christ, the Son of God, who came into the world to bring eternal life to those who believe.

11:32 if You had been here: mary said the same thing to the Lord as martha had (v. 21). no doubt they had expressed this thought to one another often in the previous few days.

<sup>33</sup> Therefore, when Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, He groaned in the spirit and was troubled. <sup>34</sup> And He said, “Where have you laid him?”

They said to Him, “Lord, come and see.”

<sup>35</sup> Jesus wept. <sup>36</sup> Then the Jews said, “See how He loved him!”

Martha, the sister of him who was dead, said to Him, “Lord, by this time there is a stench, for he has been dead four days.”

<sup>40</sup> Jesus said to her, “Did I not say to you that if you would believe you would <sup>3</sup> see the glory of God?” <sup>41</sup> Then they took away the stone <sup>4</sup> from the place where the dead man was lying. And Jesus lifted up His eyes and said, “Father, I thank You that You have heard Me. <sup>42</sup> And I know that You always hear Me, but <sup>5</sup> because of the people who are standing by I said this, that they may believe that You sent Me.” <sup>43</sup> Now when He had said these things, He cried with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come forth!” <sup>44</sup> And he who had died came out bound hand and foot with <sup>6</sup> graveclothes, and <sup>7</sup> his face was wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Loose him, and let him go.”

The Pharisees Plan to Kill Christ

<sup>55</sup> <sup>k</sup> And the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went from the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to <sup>l</sup> purify themselves. <sup>56</sup> <sup>m</sup> Then they sought Jesus, and spoke among themselves as they stood in the temple, “What do you think—that He will not come to the feast?” <sup>57</sup> Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a command, that if anyone knew where He was, he should report it, that they might <sup>n</sup> seize Him.

Mary Anoints Christ

12 Then, six days before the Passover, Jesus came to Bethany, <sup>a</sup> where Lazarus was <sup>1</sup> who had been dead, whom

11:33 Groaned means to be deeply moved. Troubled means to be stirred up, disturbed. Jesus was moved by the mourning of Mary and indignant at the hypocritical lamentations of His enemies.

11:35 Wept simply means “shed tears.” Jesus did not weep aloud in hopeless grief like the others (v. 33). He knew what He was about to do, but His compassion for their pain moved Him to tears.

11:37 Some people misinterpreted Jesus’ tears as powerlessness. They complained that He had healed others, but now was incapable.

11:38 a cave: Having a private burial place indicates that the family was wealthy.

11:43 cried: His loud cry was either the result of strong emotion or in order that the multitude might hear. Lazarus: Augustine once said that if Jesus had not designated Lazarus by name, all the graves would have been emptied at His command (5:28). Raising Lazarus from the dead is the seventh sign of Jesus’ messiahship, the greatest miracle of all, giving life back to the dead.

11:48 Place refers either to Jerusalem or to the temple. The real concern of the Jewish leaders is seen here. They were not as upset at Jesus’ supposed blasphemy as they were about losing their positions of authority.

11:49–52 in the opinion of Caiaphas, Jesus should die rather than plunge the nation into destruction. John adds that by virtue of his office, Caiaphas pronounced a message of God unconsciously: one man should die for the people. Caiaphas was a prophet in spite of himself. John also saw in Caiaphas’s words a prophecy that Jesus should die not only for Israel but for the Gentiles as well.

11:53 Humanly speaking, the resurrection of Lazarus was a major factor that led to the plot by the Jewish religious leaders to kill Christ. At this point the council decided informally, if not formally, to put Jesus to death. John marks the growth of the hostility step by step (5:16; 7:1, 32, 45; 8:59; 9:22; 10:39). It is ironic that these men believed they could put to death permanently one who could raise the dead.

11:54 no longer walked openly: Jesus withdrew from public life for a while. He met privately with His disciples. Wilderness usually refers to the desert of Judea which extended to Jericho.

12:1 six days before the Passover: if Jesus’ crucifixion took place on a Friday, this dinner occurred during the evening of the previous Saturday. Verse 12 seems to support this conclusion, because the Jerusalem entry took place on Sunday.

He had raised from the dead. <sup>2b</sup> There they made Him a supper; and Martha served, but Lazarus was one of those who sat at the table with Him. <sup>3</sup> Then <sup>c</sup> Mary took a pound of very costly oil of <sup>d</sup> spikenard, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped His feet with her hair. And the house was filled with the fragrance of the oil.

<sup>7</sup> But Jesus said, "Let her alone; <sup>3</sup> she has kept this for the day of My burial. <sup>8</sup> For <sup>g</sup> the poor you have with you always, but Me you do not have always."

<sup>9</sup> Now a great many of the Jews knew that He was there; and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might also see Lazarus, <sup>h</sup> whom He had raised from the dead. <sup>10i</sup> But the chief priests plotted to put Lazarus to death also, <sup>11j</sup> because on account of him many of the Jews went away and believed in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

Matt. 21:1-9; Mark 11:1-10; Luke 19:29-38

<sup>12k</sup> The next day a great multitude that had come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, <sup>13</sup> took branches of palm trees and went out to meet Him, and cried out:

<sup>14m</sup> Then Jesus, when He had found a young donkey, sat on it; as it is written:

<sup>16o</sup> His disciples did not understand these things at first; <sup>p</sup> but when Jesus was glorified, <sup>q</sup> then they remembered that these things were written about Him and that they had done these things to Him.

<sup>17</sup> Therefore the people, who were with Him when He called Lazarus out of his tomb and raised him from the dead, bore witness. <sup>18r</sup> For this reason the people also met Him, because they heard that He had done this sign. <sup>19</sup> The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, <sup>s</sup> "You see that you are accomplishing nothing. Look, the world has gone after Him!"

The Messiah Teaches

12:2 They probably refers to the people of the village. t he inhabitants of Bethany wished to express their thanks to Jesus, who by a glorious miracle had honored their obscure village. Lazarus was the guest of honor.

12:3 very costly oil: Judas iscariot said that this oil cost three hundred denarii (v. 5). o ne denarius was a laborer's wage for one day (see matt. 20:2). t hus the oil cost approximately a year's wages. anointed the feet: mary also anointed Jesus' head (see matt. 26:7; mark 14:3). t he custom of that time was to anoint the heads of guests. Anointing Jesus' head was an act of honor; anointing His feet was a display of devotion.

12:7 My burial: Anointing was the first stage of embalming (19:39). w hether mary knew it or not, she was anticipating Jesus' death, which would come within the week.

12:8 the poor you have with you always: we will never lack an opportunity to care for the poor (see deut. 15:11).

12:10, 11 plotted to put Lazarus to death also: t he chief priests were mostly Sadducees. t hey had an additional reason to kill Lazarus. He was a living refutation of their doctrine that there was no resurrection (see 11:57; Acts 23:8). Yet this was not a meeting of the Jewish council, nor was it a formal sentence of death. on account of him: t he ultimate motivation for wanting to kill Lazarus was that because of him many were believing in Jesus. Went away implies that these individuals were withdrawing from the Jewish leaders.

12:13-15 took branches of palm trees: t his was the Sunday before Christ arose, today called Palm Sunday. cried out . . . King of Israel: Until this point, Jesus had discouraged expressions of support from the people (6:15; 7:1-8). Here He allowed public enthusiasm. He entered Jerusalem on the back of a young donkey, t his act fulfilled prophecy (see Zech. 9:9) and as such was a symbolic proclamation that Jesus is the messiah.

12:16 did not understand: t he disciples did not catch the prophetic significance of Jesus' act. when Jesus was glorified: After Christ's death, resurrection, and ascension, the disciples finally understood that the o t prophecies concerning the messiah had been fulfilled in Jesus.

12:17-19 t hese verses explain the series of events that led to the condemnation and crucifixion of Jesus.

12:20 t he fact that these Greeks came to Jerusalem to worship at the feast indicates that they were Jewish proselytes. By recording this incident, perhaps John was hinting that the salvation rejected by many of the Jews was already passing to the Gentiles.

12:23 The hour has come: Prior to this, Jesus had stated that His hour had not yet come (2:4; 7:6, 30; 8:20). n ow the time had come for Christ to die and be raised from the dead (see 13:1; 16:32; 17:1).

12:24 unless a grain . . . dies: w hen a seed dies, it produces fruit. Life comes by death. t his principle is true not only in nature, but it is also true spiritually. Jesus was speaking first and foremost of Himself. He is the grain of wheat. His death would produce much fruit and would result in many living for God.

alone; but if it dies, it produces much <sup>4</sup>grain. <sup>25</sup>y He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. <sup>26</sup>If anyone serves Me, let him <sup>z</sup>follow Me; and <sup>a</sup>where I am, there My servant will be also. If anyone serves Me, him My Father will honor.

<sup>d</sup>Then a voice came from heaven, say-ing, “I have both glorified it and will glorify it again.”

<sup>29</sup>Therefore the people who stood by and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, “An angel has spoken to Him.”

<sup>34</sup>The people answered Him, <sup>j</sup>“We have heard from the law that the Christ remains forever; and how can You say, ‘The Son of Man must be lifted up?’ Who is this Son of Man?”

while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you; <sup>m</sup>he who walks in darkness does not know where he is going. <sup>36</sup>While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become <sup>n</sup>sons of light.” These things Jesus spoke, and departed, and <sup>o</sup>was hidden from them.

<sup>37</sup>But although He had done so many <sup>p</sup>signs before them, they did not believe in Him, <sup>38</sup>that the word of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spoke:

<sup>q</sup>“*Lord, who has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?*”

<sup>39</sup>Therefore they could not believe, because Isaiah said again:

<sup>40</sup>“*He<sup>r</sup> has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts,
<sup>s</sup>Lest they should see with their eyes, Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
So that I should heal them.*”

12:25, 26 t he phrase loves his life describes those who serve only themselves. in a very short time, Jesus was going to give the disciples an opportunity to identify this problem in their lives (13:1–7). Hates his life involves serving Christ. each believer must establish his or her priorities. we cannot give ourselves fully to this life and yet be committed to the life to come. Follow Me in this context means to follow Jesus’ example of self-sacrifice (13:15). Jesus set the example of “hating” His life in this world so that He could accomplish eternal purposes (see Phil. 2:5–8).

12:27 My soul is troubled: Jesus’ agony over His impending death was not confined to Gethsemane, where He prayed, “o my Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me” (see matt. 26:39). He felt the agony and expressed it almost a week before Gethsemane.

(Gk. sêmeion) (2:11; 3:2; 4:54; 10:41; 11:47; 12:37; 20:30) Strong’s #4592

t he Greek word John uses for signs means “a distinguishing mark” or “an indication” of the authenticity of a person or an object. Paul uses the word to refer to his signature, which authenticated his letter to the t hessalonians (see 2 t hess. 3:17). in the Gospel of John, sêmeion means “a portent,” a miracle that points to the divine Creator. in his Gospel, John speaks of Jesus’ miracles as signs pointing people to the truth that Jesus is the divine Son of God who came down from heaven. in contrast, the authors of the synoptic Gospels typically speak of Jesus’ miracles as demonstrations of His divine power (see matt. 11:20–23; mark 3:15).

12:34 Christ remains forever: t he people understood that lifted up meant removal from the earth by death. t hey argued that Scripture teaches that the messiah would abide forever (see Ps. 110:4; is. 9:7; ezek. 37:25). to them, the messiah would not have to die. t hey did not understand that He would be raised.

12:35, 36 instead of answering the people’s questions (v. 34), Jesus gave them a warning. Walk while you have the light: Jesus is the light (1:4; 8:12; 9:5). He wanted the people to believe and abide in Him (v. 46).

12:37 they did not believe: t heir unbelief is startling. However Jesus’ predicted suffering and death did not fit the people’s idea of the messiah.

12:38 the word of Isaiah . . . might be fulfilled: John quotes is. 53:1 to prove that their unbelief is predictable.

12:39, 40 t he consequence of repeated rejection is loss of the capacity to believe. isaiah taught that some could not believe because God hardened their hearts (see is. 6:10) after they repeatedly rejected the truth.

12:41 John uses the words His glory to speak of the manifestation of God Himself. John quotes is. 6:9 (see v. 40) as a prophecy of the people’s unbelief and their rejection of Christ. in that verse, isaiah was talking about God Himself. t herefore in this passage John is teaching that Jesus is God.

12:42, 43 Rulers refers to members of the council. Because the rulers did not confess Him, some claim that their faith was not genuine. t he text, however, says that they believed in Him, a construction in Greek that typically indicates saving faith (8:30). moreover, the word nevertheless marks a stark contrast between these believers and the unbelief spoken of in vv. 37–41. t hese men were genuine believers. t heir problem was that they feared the opinions of their fellow leaders. Such believers will be ashamed at Christ’s return (see 1 John 2:28).

Christ Washes the Disciples' Feet

had given all things into His hands, and that He <sup>l</sup>had come from God and <sup>o</sup>was going to God, <sup>4h</sup>rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself. <sup>5</sup>After that, He poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe <sup>them</sup> with the towel with which He was girded. <sup>6</sup>Then He came to Simon Peter. And Peter said to Him, <sup>i</sup>“Lord, are You washing my feet?”

<sup>8</sup>Peter said to Him, “You shall never wash my feet!”

Jesus answered him, <sup>l</sup>“If I do not wash you, you have no part with Me.”

<sup>9</sup>Simon Peter said to Him, “Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head!”

<sup>10</sup>Jesus said to him, “He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean; and <sup>m</sup>you are clean, but not all of you.” <sup>11</sup>For <sup>n</sup>He knew who would betray Him; therefore He said, “You are not all clean.”

<sup>12</sup>So when He had washed their feet, taken His garments, and sat down again, He said to them, “Do you <sup>2</sup>know what I have done to you? <sup>13</sup><sup>o</sup>You call Me Teacher

13 <sup>o</sup> matt. 23:8, 10; Luke 6:46; [1 Cor. 8:6; 12:3]; eph. 6:9; [Phil. 2:11]

12:44, 45 not in Me but in Him: Jesus insisted that anyone who believed in Him was at the same time exercising belief in God the Father. Jesus explained that He was the personal manifestation of God (see 1:18; Col. 1:15; Heb. 1:3).

12:47 I do not judge may be rephrased as “I do not execute judgment.” Christ will judge, but at His first coming He did not come to judge but to save (3:17).

13:1 To the end means either “to the last” or “utterly and completely.” what follows in vv. 1–11 demonstrates Jesus' complete love. Jesus loved His disciples, even though He knew that one would betray Him, another would deny Him, and all would desert Him for a time.

13:2 Being ended may also be translated “having begun.” it was customary for slaves to wash guests' feet as the guests arrived, before they sat down to eat (vv. 4, 5). in any case, it appears that the supper had not ended, but was in progress. t he statement of Jesus' complete love in v. 1 is contrasted with the fact that Judas would soon betray Him.

13:4 His garments: Jesus laid aside His outer garment, which would have impeded His movements. towel: By putting on an apron, Christ looked like the slave to whom the task of washing the feet of guests was assigned. t hough the disciples realized what Jesus was doing, none of them offered himself for the task. Servanthood was not on their minds. Jesus loved them knowing all about them, including the worst one of them, Judas.

13:8 no part with Me: t he washing was a symbol of spiritual cleansing (vv. 10, 11). if Peter did not participate in the cleansing, he would not enjoy fellowship with Christ (see 1 John 1:9).

13:9, 10 but also my hands and my head: Given Jesus' dramatic statement, Peter had no choice but to submit. o nly this time he went too far in the other direction. At first he wanted to tell the Lord what to do (v. 8). now he wanted to dictate the manner in which Jesus did it. But Jesus told him he did not need a bath; he only needed Jesus to wash his feet that were dusty from the road. t his is symbolic.

A believer has already been “cleansed.” He or she only needs the cleansing of daily sins that comes through confession (see 1 John 1:9). t hus Jesus' washing of the disciples' feet not only is a model of service, but it represents the ultimate in service—forgiveness of sins.

13:11 You are not all clean: t his is the second indication of the presence of a traitor among the apostles (6:70). Apparently this comment did not attract much attention.

13:13 Teacher and Lord were the ordinary titles of respect given to a rabbi.

bathed

(Gk. louō) (13:10; Acts 9:37; Rev. 1:5) Strong's #3068

in speaking to Peter, Jesus used two different Greek words to indicate two different kinds of washing. t he Greek word nīptō (13:5, 6, 8, 10) is used to indicate the washing of the extremities, the hands and the feet. t he Greek word louō specifically means “bathing.” According to the social customs of those times, once a person had bathed his entire body, he needed only to wash his feet before partaking of a meal. in His response to Peter, Jesus used both words in order to advance a precious truth: just as those who have bathed need only to wash their feet, so believers who have been bathed by the Lord through His word and the Spirit (see 15:3; eph. 5:26; titus 3:5) need only to wash themselves daily from the filth and defilement they accumulate by their contact with the world.

and Lord, and you say well, for so I am. <sup>14</sup>p If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, <sup>q</sup> you also ought to wash one another's feet. <sup>15</sup> For <sup>r</sup> I have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you. <sup>16</sup> <sup>s</sup> Most assuredly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him. <sup>17</sup> <sup>t</sup> If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them.

Christ Announces Judas, the Betrayer

<sup>21</sup> <sup>z</sup> When Jesus had said these things, <sup>aa</sup> He was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, "Most assuredly, I say to you, <sup>ab</sup> one of you will betray Me." <sup>22</sup> Then the disciples looked at one another, perplexed about whom He spoke.

<sup>26</sup> Jesus answered, "It is he to whom I shall give a piece of bread when I have dipped it." And having dipped the bread, He gave it to <sup>af</sup> Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon. <sup>27</sup> <sup>ag</sup> Now after the piece of bread,

Then Jesus said to him, "What you do, do quickly." <sup>28</sup> But no one at the table knew for what reason He said this to him. <sup>29</sup> For some thought, because <sup>ar</sup> Judas had the money box, that Jesus had said to him, "Buy those things we need for the feast," or that he should give something to the poor.

<sup>30</sup> Having received the piece of bread, he then went out immediately. And it was night.

Christ Announces His Departure

<sup>31</sup> So, when he had gone out, Jesus said, <sup>as</sup> "Now the Son of Man is glorified, and <sup>at</sup> God is glorified in Him. <sup>32</sup> If God is glorified in Him, God will also glorify Him in Himself, and <sup>au</sup> glorify Him immediately. <sup>33</sup> Little children, I shall be with you a <sup>av</sup> little while longer. You will seek Me; <sup>aw</sup> and as I said to the Jews, 'Where I am going, you cannot come;' so now I say to you. <sup>34</sup> <sup>ax</sup> A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another. <sup>35</sup> <sup>ay</sup> By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

Christ Foretells Peter's Denial

<sup>36</sup> Simon Peter said to Him, "Lord, where are You going?"

Jesus answered him, "Where I <sup>az</sup> am going you cannot follow Me now, but <sup>ba</sup> you shall follow Me afterward."

<sup>37</sup> Peter said to Him, "Lord, why can I not follow You now? I will <sup>bb</sup> lay down my life for Your sake."

mark 14:29-31; Luke 22:33, 34

13:14, 15 you also ought to wash one another's feet: t he Lord was using His practical action to give an example of love to His disciples (v. 1).

13:18 Jesus quoted Ps. 41:9 to explain the action of Judas. Lifting up his heel was a gesture of insult, or a preparation to kick. t he blow had not yet been given. t his was the attitude of Judas at that moment. He was eating with the disciples, but he was ready to strike.

13:21 troubled: Faced with bereavement (11:33), His own death (12:27), and betrayal, Jesus was deeply stirred.

13:23 leaning on Jesus' bosom: At this time people did not generally sit at a table to eat. t they reclined on the left side of a low platform, resting on the left elbow and eating with the right hand, their feet extended outward. Reclining in such a way, a man's head was near the bosom of the person on his left. t he disciple whom Jesus loved is never named in Scripture, but the tradition of the early church designates him as John, the author of this Gospel.

13:24 Peter ... motioned to him to ask: evidently Peter was not sitting next to Jesus. He was nearer to John, so he beckoned John to ask Jesus who was going to betray Him.

13:27 First, the devil put ideas in the head of Judas (v. 2); here Satan entered Judas. note that Judas's actions were the result of the deepest thoughts of his heart.

13:30 it was night: not only did Judas go out into the darkness of the night, he had also entered into spiritual darkness, separated from Jesus, the Light of the world (8:12; 9:5).

13:31, 32 the Son of Man is glorified: Jesus would be revealed as the divine Son of God and Savior of the world by His death and resurrection, and the gift of the Holy Spirit. God would be glorified in Him in that God's love, truth, and righteousness would be revealed in what Jesus was doing.

13:33 t he time had come for Jesus to announce His departure to His disciples. Little children is an expression of tender affection used nowhere else in the Gospels. John did not forget the expression; he used it repeatedly in 1 John.

13:34 t he command to love was new because Jesus gave it a new standard. moyses said, "Love your neighbor as yourself" (see Lev. 19:18). Jesus said the new standard was as I have loved you. Jesus gave His disciples the example of love that they were to follow (vv. 1-17).

13:35 By this: Unbelievers recognize Jesus' disciples not by their doctrinal distinctives, nor by dramatic miracles, nor even by their love for the lost. t hey recognize His disciples by their deeds of love for one another.

13:36 Lord, where are You going: t his question, which Jesus had already addressed twice before, indicates that Peter completely missed the point of what Jesus said in vv. 34, 35.

13:37 I will lay down my life: Peter was ready to die for Jesus.

<sup>38</sup>Jesus answered him, “Will you lay down your life for My sake? Most assuredly, I say to you, the rooster shall not <sup>p</sup>crow till you have denied Me three times.

Christ Comforts His Disciples

14 “Let <sup>a</sup>not your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me. <sup>2</sup>In My Father’s house are many <sup>1</sup>mansions; if it were not so, <sup>2</sup>I would have told you. <sup>b</sup>I go to prepare a place for you. <sup>3</sup>And if I go and prepare a place for you, <sup>c</sup>I will come again and receive you to Myself; that <sup>d</sup>where I am, there you may be also. <sup>4</sup>And where I go you know, and the way you know.”

Christ Answers Thomas

<sup>5</sup>Thomas said to Him, “Lord, we do not know where You are going, and how can we know the way?”

<sup>7k</sup>“If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also; and from now on you know Him and have seen Him.”

Christ Answers Philip

<sup>8</sup>Philip said to Him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is sufficient for us.”

Unfortunately, he was not ready, at this point, to live for Him. He was ready to attack single-handed a cohort of soldiers with his sword (see 18:10), but he was not willing to wash the feet of his brothers as Jesus had just done (see 13:4). Actually, Peter had things backwards. Christ was about to lay down His life for Peter, instead of Peter laying down his life for Christ. In spite of all this, Christ did not give up on Peter (see Luke 22:31, 32). Later Peter would die for Christ (21:18, 19). Church tradition states that Peter was crucified upside down, at his request, for he felt himself unworthy to be crucified like his Lord.

13:38 till you have denied Me three times: At these words of Jesus, Peter was stunned and said nothing. He is not mentioned again until 18:10.

14:1 After announcing Judas’s betrayal (13:21), His own imminent departure (13:33), and Peter’s denial (13:38), Jesus told His disciples not to be troubled, but to trust Him.

14:2 Mansions refers to dwelling places. everybody has a longing for a permanent, secure place. Such places have already been set aside for all of God’s children.

14:3 I will come again and receive you: Peter may have failed Jesus (13:38), but Christ will not fail to return for Peter and for everyone else who has believed in Him (see 1 Thess. 4:16, 17).

14:6 t through His death and resurrection, Jesus is the way to the Father. He is also the truth and the life. As truth, He is the revelation of God. As life, He is the communication of God to us.

14:7, 8 known My Father also: Jesus came to reveal the Father (1:18). to know Jesus is to know the Father (see 1 John 2:23). show us the Father: Jesus had just said that to see Him is to see the Father. Yet Philip asked to see the Father. Like t homas, Philip seems to have been slow to comprehend (v. 5).

14:9 t he Lord rebuked Philip because he should have known the answer to the question he asked. He who has seen Me has seen the Father: t he Lord patiently explained again that He was revealing God the Father to them (v. 7). it is impossible to escape the claim Jesus was making. Clearly, He was claiming to be God.

14:12 Jesus had accomplished the greatest works possible, including raising the dead. How could He say that believers would do greater works? t he answer is seen in the extent of what the apostles did. Jesus’ work on earth was confined to Palestine; the apostles would preach everywhere and see the conversion of thousands. Peter’s message at Pentecost brought more followers to Jesus than did Jesus’ entire earthly ministry. t he disciples were able to do this work because Christ would go to the Father and send the Holy Spirit to empower them.

14:16 All three members of the trinity are mentioned here. Jesus prayed to the Father who would give the Holy Spirit.

14:17 t he Holy Spirit is called the Spirit of truth (see 15:26; 16:13; 1 John 4:6) because He is truth and guides us into all truth (see 1 Cor.

believe

t he Greek word for believe literally means “to place one’s trust in another”; it occurs over 90 times in the Gospel of John alone. to believe in Jesus is to believe in His person and to trust in Him completely for salvation (3:15, 16). many of Jesus’ contemporaries believed in Jesus’ miraculous powers, but they would not believe in Jesus Himself (6:23–26). others wanted to believe in a political messiah, but would not believe in the one who suffered for their sins (mark 15:32). But we must be careful to believe and trust in the Jesus presented in the Scriptures, in the Son of God who sacrificed His life for our sins (Gal. 1:3, 4; Phil. 2:5–8).

<sup>22d</sup>Judas (not Iscariot) said to Him, “Lord, how is it that You will manifest Yourself to us, and not to the world?”

The Relationship of Believers to Christ
15 “I am the true vine, and My Father is the vinedresser. <sup>2a</sup>Every branch in Me that does not bear fruit

2:13; 2 Pet. 1:21). Neither sees Him nor knows Him does not mean merely that the world is not able to visually identify the Holy Spirit because He is spirit. Something more is meant: t he Spirit of God is active in the world, but His acts go unnoticed by the world (see 1 Cor. 2:14).

14:18 orphans: earlier, Jesus called the disciples “little children” (13:33). Here He told them He would not leave them fatherless; He would come to them. t here are three suggested interpretations as to when that statement would be fulfilled: (1) after the Resurrection, (2) at Pentecost, in the person of the Holy Spirit, and (3) at the Second Coming.

14:19 you will see Me: Jesus would come to the disciples (v. 18), but not with the same kind of presence they experienced at that moment. t he world saw Jesus only in the flesh; the disciples would see Him in a spiritual sense.

14:20, 21 t hese two verses are the conclusion of Jesus’ answer to Philip’s request, “show us the Father” (v. 8). As the believer lovingly obeys Christ’s commandments, he or she will experience a more intimate knowledge of Him.

vine

(Gk. ampelos) (15:1, 4, 5; matt. 26:29; James 3:12) Strong’s #288

t his word can describe a single grapevine or an entire vineyard. either way, the image evokes the picture of corporate dependence. israel was the vine of God’s planting, but it failed to bear the proper fruit (is. 5:1–7; Jer. 2:19–21). Jesus, with His believers incorporated in Him, is the true vine—the true fulfillment and actualization of the vine. As the entire race of israel sprang from the patriarch israel, the new generation of God’s people is here viewed as originating from Christ, organically united to Him, as branches emanating from the vine. t his is a fulfillment of Ps. 80:17, in which “the son of man” is said to be the vine planted by God.

14:22 t he disciples had expected the messiah to come publicly and deliver israel from Rome and the corrupt priesthood of the temple. Jesus had said that the disciples would see Him, but the world would not (v. 19). Judas (not iscariot) wanted to know how that could be.

14:23 loves Me . . . keep My word: in response to Judas’s question (v. 22), Jesus explained that His manifestation to the disciples would be in response to their love and obedience. make Our home with him: if a believer loves and obeys the Lord, he or she will experience fellowship with God.

14:24 not love . . . not keep: if a person does not love Jesus, he or she will not obey Him. disobedience is a serious matter, for Jesus’ words are the words of God.

14:25, 26 Jesus told His disciples these things while He was with them, but when the Holy Spirit came, He would remind the disciples of all things that Jesus had said, and would teach . . . all things (see 1 Cor. 2:13). t his promise was primarily fulfilled through the lives of the apostles in the writing of the n t. matthew and John wrote down Jesus’ words. Peter wrote about the gospel in his two letters and may have dictated some of his memories of Jesus to mark.

14:27 Peace: t he customary good-bye among the Jews was to say shalom, meaning “peace.” t he Lord was about to depart, so He added to this farewell by saying, My peace. t he word My is emphatic. t his is no conventional wish; this is Jesus’ personal, special grant of peace. t he peace that Christ gives banishes fear and dread from the heart, for Jesus is in control of all circumstances.

14:28 My Father is greater than I: t his does not mean that Jesus is less than deity. Greater indicates a difference in rank. As the humble, submissive Son, Jesus submitted Himself to the authority of His Father (1 Cor. 11:3; 15:28).

14:30 He has nothing in Me indicates Jesus’ sinlessness. Jesus’ yielding to what was about to happen did not mean that Satan had any power over Him. Jesus would soon voluntarily yield to the death of the Cross, in loving obedience to the Father (v. 31).

15:1 true vine: in this phrase the word true is emphatic. My Father: with such a vinedresser, the branches can experience complete confidence and security.

15:2 Every branch is said to be in Christ. Paul uses the phrase “in

He <sup>1</sup>takes away; and every branch that bears fruit He prunes, that it may bear <sup>b</sup>more fruit. <sup>3c</sup>You are already clean because of the word which I have spoken to you. <sup>4d</sup>Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in Me.

<sup>5</sup>“I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much <sup>e</sup>fruit; for without Me you can do <sup>f</sup>nothing. <sup>6</sup>If anyone does not abide in Me, <sup>g</sup>he is cast out as a branch and is withered; and they gather them and throw them into the fire, and they are burned. <sup>7</sup>If you abide in Me, and My words <sup>h</sup>abide in you, <sup>i</sup>you<sup>2</sup> will ask what you desire, and it shall be done for you. <sup>8j</sup>By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit; <sup>k</sup>so you will be My disciples.

<sup>9</sup>“As the Father <sup>l</sup>loved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love. <sup>10m</sup>If you keep My commandments, you will abide in My love, just as I have kept My Father’s commandments and abide in His love.

<sup>11</sup>“These things I have spoken to you, that My joy may remain in you, and <sup>n</sup>that your joy may be full.

The Relationship of Believers to Each Other

The Relationship of Believers to the World

<sup>18w</sup>“If the world hates you, you know that it hated Me before it hated you. <sup>19x</sup>If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet <sup>y</sup>because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you.

1 John 3:13 19 <sup>x</sup> 1 John 4:5 <sup>y</sup> John 17:14

Christ” to speak of a Christian’s legal and family position as a result of God’s grace. t the emphasis of in Me in this passage, however, is on deep, abiding fellowship. Jesus’ purpose was to move His disciples from servants to friends (vv. 13–15). t this would involve a process of discipline in regard to His commandments. not bear fruit: n o plant produces fruit instantaneously; fruit is the result of a process. Such is also the case with believers. Prunes means “cleanses.” o nce the fruit is on the vine, the vinedresser cleanses the fruit of bugs and diseases. t the spiritual counterpart is cleansing which is done through the word (v. 3).

15:4 For the branch to produce more fruit, it must abide, which means to dwell, to stay, to settle in, to sink deeper. t the way to abide in Christ is to obey (see 15:10; 1 John 3:24). t the believer who lovingly obeys the word of God produces much fruit.

15:5 can do nothing: Apart from Christ, a believer cannot accomplish anything of permanent spiritual value.

15:6 not abiding in Christ has serious consequences: (1) t the person is cast out as a branch, indicating the loss of fellowship; (2) the person is withered, indicating a loss of vitality; (3) the person is burned, indicating a loss of reward. The fire here is figurative, symbolizing either fiery trials (see 1 Pet. 1:7; 4:12) or the fire at the judgment seat of Christ (see 1 Cor. 3:11–15). Failure to abide produces spiritual disaster. they gather them: n ote the movement from “He” (the Father who is the vinedresser, v. 2) to “you” (the believer who does or does not abide, v. 4) to “they” (unbelievers looking for signs of life; see 13:35).

15:8 By this: notice the striking parallel between this verse and 13:35. t the love of 13:35 is pictured as fruit here. t the text has come full circle in showing how strategic it is for disciples to love each other, as Christ’s method of evangelizing the lost. “t hey shall know” becomes so you will be Christ’s disciples. w here there is good fruit, there are also seeds for propagation.

15:9 As the Father loved Me, I also have loved you: t the love of God the Father for God the Son is the measure of the love of the Son for believers.

15:10 abide in My love: Christ loves believers unconditionally (v. 9). But as believers obey Christ’s word and abide in His love, they come to experience and understand His love for them more and more (see eph. 3:14–19).

15:11 That your joy may be full is an expression peculiar to John (see 3:29; 16:24; 17:13; 1 John 1:4; 2 John 12). it describes a believer’s experience of Christ’s love: complete joy.

15:12 love one another: t o abide, a believer must obey (v. 10). t o obey, a believer must love other believers (13:34, 35).

15:13 lay down one’s life: in rashness and with confidence in the flesh, Peter had offered to lay down his life for Jesus. in actuality, he was not ready to die for Jesus; he was not even ready to live for Him (18:17, 18, 25–27). t the supreme example of love is Jesus’ humility in sacrificial service (13:15).

15:14 if you do: Jesus is our model for love (v. 13). intimacy with Him is the motive for loving as He loves. if believers obey His command to love, they enjoy the intimacy of His friendship. n ote that friendship, unlike sonship, is not a once-for-all gift, but develops as the result of obeying Jesus’ command to love.

15:15 No longer . . . servants: Until this point, Jesus had called His disciples servants (12:26; 13:13–16). A servant does what he is told and sees what his master does, but does not necessarily know the meaning or purpose of it. friends: A friend knows what is happening because friends develop deep fellowship by communicating with one another.

15:16 I chose you: Jesus had initiated the relationship with His disciples (see 1 John 4:10). it started with selection, moved to servanthood, and grew to friendship. that you should go and bear fruit: Having chosen the disciples, Jesus commissioned them to bring forth permanent fruit through prayer.

15:18 hated Me: As Jesus spoke these words, the Pharisees were planning to kill Him (11:45–57). t the world hated Him, so it should not be surprising that the world hates His followers.

<sup>20</sup>Remember the word that I said to you, <sup>21</sup>“A servant is not greater than his master.” If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. <sup>22</sup>“If they kept My word, they will keep yours also. <sup>23</sup>But <sup>24</sup>all these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him who sent Me. <sup>25</sup>“If I had not come and spoken to them, they would have no sin, <sup>26</sup>but now they have no excuse for their sin. <sup>27</sup>He who hates Me hates My Father also. <sup>28</sup>If I had not done among them <sup>29</sup>the works which no one else did, they would have no sin; but now they have <sup>30</sup>seen and also hated both Me and My Father. <sup>31</sup>But this happened that the word might be fulfilled which is written in their law, <sup>32</sup>“They hated Me without a cause.”

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

15:22, 23 no sin . . . no excuse: t he world’s hatred of Jesus was a sin against God, for He revealed the Father Himself to them. My Father also: Since Christ and the Father are one, those who hate Christ hate the Father.

15:26, 27 He will testify . . . you also will bear witness: As the disciples spoke, the Holy Spirit would bring inner conviction to unbelievers concerning Christ. t his in turn would make the disciples witnesses for Jesus.

16:2 They will put you out of the synagogues . . . kills you: t he persecution that the disciples would face included excommunication and even execution. excommunication had economic as well as religious implications, because much of the life of an ancient Jew revolved around the synagogue. Offers expresses the idea of offering a sacrifice. t he murderers of believers would imagine that they were offering a sacrifice to God.

16:4 at the beginning: Jesus had been preparing His disciples to assimilate the truth (see Prov. 22:6). in His wisdom, the Lord never gives us more than we can handle.

16:5 none of you asks Me, ‘Where are You going?’: Peter had asked this very question (13:36) and t homas had suggested it (14:5). However, things were different now. t he disciples had learned about denials, suffering, and death. t o go with Jesus involved the most serious consequences.

16:7 t he disciples must have thought, “How can it be to our advantage to be alone? t he Romans hate us because they see us as disturbers of the peace. t he Jewish leaders hate us because they see us as blasphemers. You alone love us, and You are leaving us.” So Jesus explained the benefits of His departure. when Jesus left, the believers would have (1) the provision of the Holy Spirit (vv. 7–15); (2) the potential of full joy (vv. 16–24); (3) the possibility of fuller knowledge (vv. 25–28); (4) the privilege of peace (vv. 29–33). I will send Him: Jesus explained that the Holy Spirit will convict the world (vv. 7–11) and communicate truth to the apostles (vv. 12–15). to you: t he Holy Spirit would not be given to the world, but to believers. t he coming of the Spirit would be more profitable to believers than even the physical presence of Christ, since the Spirit could dwell in all believers at the same time.

16:8 Convict means “convince” or “reprove.” t he Holy Spirit would demonstrate the truth of Christ beyond the fear of contradiction. t he Holy Spirit convicts unbelievers through believers who witness about Christ (15:26, 27). Believers are the mouthpiece for God’s voice. t he content of the witness that the Spirit reinforces includes truth about sin, righteousness, and judgment.

16:9 of sin: note the singular sin, not sins. o ur witness should not focus on sins (adultery, gluttony, pride, and other sins), but on the full payment that Christ has made for all sin. Reception of the full pardon is the only cure for the disease of sin.

16:10 of righteousness: After Christ’s departure the Holy Spirit would convict the world of the nature of righteousness and the need for righteousness. Jesus’ work on the Cross was completely righteous. t his is demonstrated by the Father’s emptying of the tomb, signifying His satisfaction with the righteous payment and His acceptance of Christ into His presence.

16:11 of judgment: Satan, the ruler of this world, rules in the hearts of unregenerate people and blinds their minds (see 1 Cor. 2:6–8). Satan was judged at the Cross, and the Holy Spirit would convince people of the judgment to come. Satan has been judged, so all who side with him will be judged with him. t here is no room for neutrality. A person is either a child of God or a child of the devil.

16:12 You refers to the apostles. technically, what the Lord says about the ministry of the Holy Spirit in vv. 12–15 applies primarily to the apostles. t he Holy Spirit’s ministry to them was threefold: (1) He would guide them into all truth (v. 13); (2) He would tell them of the future (v. 13); (3) He would help them glorify Christ (vv. 14, 15). Jesus’ words were fulfilled in the apostles’ preaching and writings. t he Holy Spirit guided the apostles by revealing to them not only the truths embodied in Jesus’ life and death, but also the glorious future of all believers. t he apostles, in turn, wrote it down in the nt, which glorifies—that is, reveals—Jesus Christ. t he word bear means “to carry a burden” and is used later of Christ carrying the <sup>13</sup> However, when He, <sup>o</sup> the Spirit of truth, has come, <sup>p</sup> He will guide you into all truth; for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears He will speak; and He will tell you things to come. <sup>14q</sup> He will glorify Me, for He will take of what is Mine and declare it to you. <sup>15r</sup> All things that the Father has are Mine. Therefore I said that He <sup>3</sup> will take of Mine and declare it to you.

The Prediction of Christ's Death and Resurrection

<sup>17</sup> Then some of His disciples said among themselves, “What is this that He says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’; and, ‘because I go to the Father?’” <sup>18</sup> They said therefore, “What is this that He says, ‘A little while?’ We do not <sup>4</sup> know what He is saying.”

<sup>19</sup> Now Jesus knew that they desired to ask Him, and He said to them, “Are you inquiring among yourselves about what I said, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’?” <sup>20</sup> Most assuredly, I say to you that you will weep and <sup>u</sup> lament, but the world will rejoice; and you will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will be turned into <sup>v</sup> joy. <sup>21</sup> <sup>w</sup> A woman, when she is in labor, has sorrow because her hour has come; but as soon as she has given birth to the child, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world. <sup>22</sup> Therefore you now have sorrow; but I will see you again and <sup>x</sup> your heart will rejoice, and your joy no one will take from you.

<sup>23</sup> “And in that day you will ask Me nothing. <sup>y</sup> Most assuredly, I say to you, whatever you ask the Father in My name He will give you. <sup>24</sup> Until now you have asked nothing in My name. Ask, and you will receive, <sup>z</sup> that your joy may be <sup>a</sup> full.

<sup>25</sup> “These things I have spoken to you in figurative language; but the time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figurative language, but I will tell you <sup>b</sup> plainly about the Father. <sup>26</sup> In that day you will ask in My name, and I do not say to you that I shall pray the Father for you; <sup>27</sup> <sup>c</sup> for the Father Himself loves you, because you have loved Me, and <sup>d</sup> have believed that I came forth

Cross (19:17). in other words, there were truths that they could not understand (v. 13) or handle until the Holy Spirit came at Pentecost.

16:13 Spirit of truth: t he phrase means that the Holy Spirit is the source of truth (14:17; 15:26). guide: t he Holy Spirit would not compel or carry the disciples into truth. He would lead; their job was to follow. All truth refers to the truth necessary to be mature saints and thoroughly equipped servants (see 2 t im. 3:16, 17). Things to come includes truths about the church (see eph. 3:1-7), as well as future events.

16:14 For indicates that the last part of the verse explains glorify Me, t he Holy Spirit glorifies Christ by declaring Him or making Him known. it is the work of the Holy Spirit to throw light on Jesus Christ, who is the image of the invisible God. Christ is to be on center stage; that is the desire of both the Father and the Spirit. t he apostles received truth from the Holy Spirit, truth about things to come, and truth about Christ. t hen under the guidance of the Holy Spirit they wrote those truths in documents known today as the nt (see 14:25, 26; 1 Cor. 2:13).

16:15 t o say that the Holy Spirit will take what belongs to Christ (v. 14) does not mean He will concentrate on Christ to the exclusion of the Father. t here is no division within the Godhead. what the Father has, the Son has (17:10). what the Son has, the Spirit will declare (see 1 Cor. 2:13). However, the focus will be on Christ because He is the “image of the invisible God” (see Col. 1:15). His steps are the only ones we can follow because He is the only one we have “seen.”

16:16 You will see Me has been interpreted to mean: (1) the disciples would literally see Jesus after the Resurrection; (2) the disciples would spiritually see Jesus after the ascension because of the work of the Holy Spirit. Verse 22 seems to support the literal sight after the Resurrection.

16:18 A little while: t he biggest question weighing on the disciples’ minds was the time factor. t hey simply did not understand the strange intervals marked by their separation from Jesus.

16:20, 21 weep and lament: when Jesus died, the disciples would openly express their intense sorrow. The world would rejoice, assuming that it was rid of Jesus. But the sorrow of the disciples would be turned into joy. t his is not merely a case of sorrow being followed by joy, but of sorrow becoming joy. t he sorrow itself would be transformed. t he death of Jesus would be first a sorrow and then a joy. t o explain His words (in v. 20), Jesus used the example of a pregnant woman. A woman . . . in labor has sorrow, but the very sorrow is transformed into joy in the birth of the child.

16:22 I will see you again refers to Jesus’ postresurrection appearances. your joy no one will take: t he disciples’ sorrow would depart; their joy would remain. Jesus’ death and resurrection brings the joy of forgiven sins (see 1 Pet. 1:8) that the world cannot take away.

16:25 An example of figurative language is the allegory of the grapevine in 15:1-8, which presents the work of the Father in producing the fruit of love in believers. A figure of speech can be more vivid and graphic than ordinary prose.

16:26, 27 In My name means by Christ’s authority. I do not say . . . I shall pray the Father for you: Because Jesus provides forgiveness of sins through His death and now intercedes for all believers at the right hand of the Father (see Heb. 7:25), we have direct access to the Father. we do not need the intercession of a priest, because Jesus acts as our High Priest before God. For indicates that v. 27 explains t he Greek word can mean “proverb” (as in 2 Pet. 2:22), “enigmatic saying” (as in 16:25, 29), or “similitude.” John did not use the Greek word parabolē, meaning “parable,” which is common in the synoptic Gospels; and the synoptic Gospels do not have the word paroimia. t he two words are nearly synonymous. t he only difference is that in John’s Gospel the word paroimia may connote the idea of a similitude or analogy. w hatever the exact definition, Jesus’ similitude was not understood by His listeners because their sin had hardened their hearts and had made them unable to comprehend the spiritual truths about which Jesus spoke (see matt. 13:10-17).

(Gk. paroimia) (10:6; 16:25, 29; 2 Pet. 2:22) Strong’s #3942

<sup>31</sup>Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe? <sup>32h</sup>Indeed the hour is coming, yes, has now come, that you will be scattered, <sup>i</sup>each to his <sup>5</sup>own, and will leave Me alone. the previous verse. After Jesus’ departure, the disciples would be able to pray directly to God the Father, who loves them because they believed in and loved His Son, Jesus.

16:29, 30 we believe: Jesus had read the disciples’ hearts (v. 19) and answered their questions. Like the Samaritan woman, they concluded that He knew all things (4:39). to the disciples, Jesus’ supernatural knowledge proved His divine mission.

16:31 now believe: we continue in the Christian life the same way we begin, by believing in Jesus. t he more we learn of Christ, the more we have to believe. t he more we place our trust in Jesus, the more we receive. t he more we receive, the more we can accomplish for His glory.

glorify

(Gk. doxazō) (7:39; 12:23; 13:31, 32; 17:5; Rom. 1:21; 8:30; Gal. 1:24) Strong’s #1392

t his Greek term means “to give glory,” or “to make glorious.” it was one of John’s favorite expressions concerning what would happen to Jesus as the result of His crucifixion and resurrection (see 7:39; 12:23, 24). t hese events would show the world that Jesus was no ordinary man. t he resurrection, especially, would show that He was the glorious Son of God worthy of all honor. in His final prayer, Jesus asked the Father to be glorified alongside of Him (that is, in the Father’s presence) by means of the glory He had with the Father before the world existed. in other words, Jesus was praying to enter into that pristine state of coequal glory with the Father, a position He possessed from eternity as God’s only Son (see 1:1, 18). He would enter into that glory in a new way—as the God-man, the crucified and risen Lord Jesus Christ.

16:32 you will be scattered: t he disciples would desert Jesus. Knowing this, Jesus still loved them, an amazing example of unconditional love.

16:33 Tribulation is literally “pressure,” and figuratively means “affliction” or “distress.” Be of good cheer means “be confident and courageous.” w hen we place our trust in God, He can give us peace in the midst of pressure. See Phil. 1:27–30 for Paul’s explanation of the principle of joy in suffering.

17:1, 2 the hour has come: t hroughout the Gospel of John, Jesus referred to the Cross as His “hour” (2:4; 7:30; 8:20; 12:23; 13:1). t he time for Him to die had arrived. Glorify Your Son: Jesus was asking that His mission to the world would be made known through the Cross. t he reasons for this request are twofold: (1) that Your Son also may glorify You. in the Cross, Jesus reveals the Father to the world, that is, His love and justice; and (2) that through Jesus’ death on the Cross, God would provide forgiveness of sins and give eternal life to all those who believe in His Son.

17:3 that they may know You: eternal life consists of a growing knowledge of the only true God, as opposed to false gods.

17:4, 5 I have glorified You: Jesus made known the Father by completing the work God gave Him to do. glorify Me: Jesus looked to the Father to restore Him to the glory He had in heaven before He left (see Phil. 2:6). t his is another indication of Christ’s preexistence and deity (1:1–14).

17:9 I do not pray for the world indicates that Jesus was praying only for present and future believers (see 17:20; Luke 23:34).

17:11 t his verse reveals Jesus’ keen sensitivity to the plight of His disciples brought on by His departure. He was going to the Father, but they would be left behind. Jesus asked the Father to keep the disciples through His name, that is, to keep them true to the revelation of God that Jesus had given to them while He was with them. t he disciples would have a new union with the Father and Son through the future indwelling of the Holy Spirit.

ther, <sup>t</sup>keep<sup>d</sup> through Your name those whom You have given Me, that they may be one <sup>u</sup>as We are. <sup>12</sup>While I was with them <sup>5</sup>in the world, <sup>v</sup>I kept them in <sup>6</sup>Your name. Those whom You gave Me I have kept; and <sup>w</sup>none of them is <sup>7</sup>lost <sup>x</sup>except the son of <sup>8</sup>perdition, <sup>y</sup>that the Scripture might be fulfilled. <sup>13</sup>But now I come to You, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have My joy fulfilled in themselves. <sup>14</sup>I have given them Your word; <sup>z</sup>and the world has hated them because they are not of the world, <sup>a</sup>just as I am not of the world. <sup>15</sup>I do not pray that You should take them out of the world, but <sup>b</sup>that You should keep them from the evil one. <sup>16</sup>They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. <sup>17c</sup>Sanctify<sup>9</sup> them by Your truth. <sup>d</sup>Your word is truth. <sup>18e</sup>As You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world. <sup>19</sup>And <sup>f</sup>for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they also may be sanctified by the truth.

Christ Prays for All Believers

17:12 none of them is lost: Jesus protected the disciples during His earthly ministry (18:9). Judas, the son of perdition, is distinguished from the rest of the apostles. He was never really one of those given to Christ (18:8, 9). He had never really been a believer (6:64–71); he had not been cleansed (13:11).

17:13 I speak in the world: Jesus prayed aloud (v. 1) so that His words would comfort the apostles when they remembered that Jesus gave them into His Father’s keeping.

17:14–16 of the world: t his verse has profound implications for discipleship. o ur desire should not be to isolate ourselves from the world, but to use Christ’s word and the Holy Spirit’s power to serve Him while our life lasts. Yet at the same time, we should not become like the world, succumbing to the evil influences of the world. t he term evil one can be translated as a common noun, evil, or as a reference to a person, Satan.

17:17 Sanctify means “to set apart.” t here are two ways to understand this statement: (1) as separate for holiness, or (2) as set apart for service. According to the first view, Jesus was praying not only that the disciples should be kept from evil, but that they should advance in holiness. However in v. 18, sanctification seems to refer to the disciples’ mission, indicating that sanctify may also mean that Jesus was setting apart His disciples for this. Your word is truth is a strong statement of Jesus’ confidence in the veracity of Scripture. People’s opinions may vary, and experiences are notoriously untrustworthy, but God’s word always remains true.

17:20 those who will believe: Jesus not only prayed for those the Father had given Him (v. 9) but for all future believers—for their unity (vv. 20–23) and their future glory (vv. 24–26). if you are a believer, these words are Jesus’ prayer for you.

17:21 all may be one: t he present tense of the verb “to be” indicates that Jesus was praying for the unity that takes place through the sanctification of believers. t his is what Jesus was commanding in 13:34, 35: His followers had to love each other so that the world may believe in the reality of Jesus’ love. t he loving relationship of believers to each other is the greatest witness to Jesus Christ.

17:22 The glory, the revelation of Jesus Christ through His disciples, is the means to unity. Such unity begins with belief and correct thinking about Jesus and God the Father, that is, with doctrine. But correct belief must bear fruit—a life that demonstrates God’s love and produces the unity between all the believers.

17:23 I in them, and You in Me: t he mutual indwelling of the Father in the Son and the Son in the church is also the means to unity, the ultimate expression of God’s love (see 13:35; Rom. 8:17).

17:24 May be with Me is a prayer for the future glorification of believers. may behold My glory: t he apostles saw Christ’s glory in His words and works (v. 22). Christ prayed for all believers to behold His glory, unveiled in the full revelation of His deity.

17:25, 26 t he ultimate reason for future believers to know the love of God is so that God’s love may be replicated in them, thus drawing the entire world to Christ.

18:1 The Brook Kidron was a ravine between Jerusalem and the mount of olives.

18:3 A detachment was a cohort of about six hundred men, or one-tenth of a legion. However, sometimes this Greek word was used for one-third of a cohort, or two hundred men. t hese soldiers were probably the experienced Roman troops stationed at the Antonia, a fortress near the temple. t he officers who came with the detachment were members of the temple police under the command of the Jewish council, the Sanhedrin.

The Function of the Synagogue

A distinction must be made between synagogue worship and tabernacle or temple worship. The tabernacle of Moses' day was enclosed by curtains. No one but the priests could enter this area. The later temples of Solomon, Zerubbabel, and Herod (the temple of Jesus' day) had courts or porches where the people could pray or have discussions (Matt. 26:55; Luke 2:46; Acts 2:46), but the temple precincts proper were for the priests only.

In synagogues, on the other hand, the people took part in worship, reading of the Scriptures, and prayer. By many times, synagogues were very numerous and popular. They became centers of community activity, playing a number of roles. Sometimes they were local courts of justice (Matt. 10:17; 23:34).

troops, and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, came there with lanterns, torches, and weapons. <sup>4</sup>Jesus therefore, knowing all things that would come upon Him, went forward and said to them, "Whom are you seeking?"

First Jewish Trial Before Annas

<sup>12</sup> Then the detachment of troops and the captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound Him. <sup>13</sup> And they led Him away to <sup>1</sup> Annas first, for he was the father-in-law of <sup>m</sup> Caiaphas who was high priest that year. <sup>14</sup> Now it was Caiaphas who advised the Jews that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

<sup>15</sup> And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did <sup>p</sup> another <sup>3</sup> disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and went with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest. <sup>16</sup> But Peter stood at the door outside. Then the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went

18:4 knowing all things: Knowing He was about to be arrested, Jesus could have escaped, but He did not. He submitted Himself voluntarily to the ordeal that was ordained by God.

18:6 fell to the ground: For a moment, Christ unveiled His majesty. His statement of deity, I am, manifested such glory that it literally threw the soldiers to the ground.

18:8 For the third time in this passage, Jesus claimed to be I am (vv. 5, 6), echoing God's self-revelation in ex. 3:14. let these go: As He was being arrested, Jesus demonstrated His love for the apostles.

18:10 note the contrast between Peter and Jesus. By fighting the guard, Simon Peter vehemently exercised his own self-will; Jesus in contrast voluntarily submitted to the will of God. One swung the sword of self-will; the other drank from the cup of God's will. See Matt. 16:22, 23 for another attempt by Peter to control God's plan for Jesus. cut off his right ear: Jesus mercifully restored the ear (Luke 22:51) that Peter cut off. He often does the same in our lives when we act rashly. His purposes are fulfilled in spite of us.

18:12 A captain was the chief officer of a Roman cohort (v. 3).

18:13 Annas was high priest from A.D. 7 to 14. He was deposed by the Romans. Then Caiaphas, Annas's son-in-law, was appointed to the position and served from A.D. 18 to 37. However, according to Jewish law the high priest was a lifetime position, so the Jews still considered Annas to be high priest. So they took Jesus to Annas first. Caiaphas would soon be involved, however, since he had the authority to carry out the plan (see v. 14).

18:14 In passing, John reminds the reader of the earlier prediction of Caiaphas (11:50-52): Jesus would die for the entire nation.

18:15 another disciple: Although this other disciple is never identified, the consensus is that he was John, the author of this Gospel.

He said, “I am <sup>r</sup>not.”

<sup>18</sup>Now the servants and officers who had made a fire of coals stood there, for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter stood with them and warmed himself.

<sup>23</sup>Jesus answered him, “If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why do you strike Me?”

First Roman Trial Before Pilate

Matt. 27:2, 11-14; Mark 15:1-5; Luke 23:1-5

<sup>30</sup>They answered and said to him, “If He were not <sup>7</sup>an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him up to you.”

<sup>31</sup>Then Pilate said to them, “You take Him and judge Him according to your law.”

Therefore the Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death,” <sup>32</sup><sup>e</sup>that the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled which He spoke, <sup>f</sup>signifying by what death He would die.

<sup>33</sup><sup>g</sup>Then Pilate entered the <sup>8</sup>Praetorium again, called Jesus, and said to Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered him, “Are you speaking for yourself about this, or did others tell you this concerning Me?”

18:17 I am not: t his was the first of Peter’s three denials prophesied by Jesus (13:38).

18:21 Ask those who have heard Me: According to the law, the witnesses for the defense had to be called first. Jesus should not have been questioned until witnesses had testified.

18:22 the officers . . . struck Jesus: t his was illegal according to Jewish law. t here was to be no punishment before conviction.

18:23 bear witness: Jesus invited His accusers to present evidence that He had done something wrong.

18:25 I am not: t his was the second of Peter’s three denials prophesied by Jesus (13:38).

18:27 Peter then denied again: For the third time, Peter denied the Lord, as Jesus had said he would (13:38). in the Upper Room, Peter had boasted that he would remain true to the Lord to the end (see 13:37; matt. 26:33, 35). in the garden he surrendered to the desires of his body, by sleeping three times when the Lord had commanded the disciples to stay up in prayer (mark 14:32–42). n ow he submitted to the pressure of the world and denied the Lord three times.

18:28 The Praetorium was the Roman governor’s official residence, probably the Fortress Antonia near the temple. early morning refers to the fourth watch of the night, from 3 to 6 A.M. A Roman court could have been held immediately after sunrise, and this scene could have taken place around 6 A.M. defiled: d uring Passover, if a Jew entered a house that contained leaven, he or she would be ceremonially defiled and unable to celebrate the feast. t hus Jews would not enter the residence of any Gentile for fear of being ceremonially defiled. Passover: t he main meal of the Passover had taken place. t he synoptic Gospels report that Jesus celebrated that meal the night before (see matt. 26:17–29; mark 14:12–25; Luke 22:7–22). However, there were other ceremonial meals during the Passover, which lasted the entire week.

18:29, 30 What accusation: Pilate was not ignorant of the accusation. He was merely requesting that it be formally stated. If He were not an evildoer: Jesus’ accusers had no charge that would stand up in a Roman court. t herefore they sullenly replied, “if He were not an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him up to you.”

18:31 You take Him and judge Him: t he accusations did not warrant a trial before Pilate. It is not lawful: t he Romans did not allow the Jews to impose capital punishment. t hese Jewish leaders had no interest in a just trial; they simply wanted permission from Rome to have Jesus executed.

18:32 signifying by what death He would die: Jesus had said, “if i am lifted up from the earth,” indicating the method of His death, crucifixion (12:32, 33). t he Jewish method of execution was stoning. However, Jesus had already indicated that He would be crucified. John is pointing out that the Jewish leaders’ inability to impose capital punishment themselves fulfilled Jesus’ prediction describing His death.

18:33 Are You the King of the Jews: t he Jews charged that Jesus claimed to be their king. From their standpoint, this was the most damaging accusation possible because it would be regarded by the Romans as treason and would be punishable by death. in the Greek text, you is emphatic, perhaps indicating that Pilate did not think the forlorn figure before him looked like the defiant rebels he was used to dealing with as claimants to the Jewish throne.

18:34 Are you speaking for yourself: in reply to Pilate, Jesus gave no violent protest of innocence, nor was He sullenly defiant. Jesus

<sup>35</sup>Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered You to me. What have You done?”

<sup>36</sup><sup>h</sup>Jesus answered, <sup>i</sup>“My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here.”

<sup>37</sup>Pilate therefore said to Him, “Are You a king then?”

Jesus answered, “You say rightly that I am a king. For this cause I was born, and for this cause I have come into the world, <sup>j</sup>that I should bear <sup>k</sup>witness to the truth. Everyone who <sup>l</sup>is of the truth <sup>m</sup>hears My voice.”

<sup>38</sup>Pilate said to Him, “What is truth?” And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, <sup>n</sup>“I find no fault in Him at all.

<sup>39</sup><sup>o</sup>“But you have a custom that I should release someone to you at the Passover. Do you therefore want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”

<sup>4</sup>Pilate then went out again, and said to them, “Behold, I am bringing Him out to you, <sup>c</sup>that you may know that I find no fault in Him.”

Pilate said to them, “You take Him and crucify Him, for I find no fault in Him.”

<sup>7</sup>The Jews answered him, <sup>e</sup>“We have a law, and according to <sup>2</sup>our law He ought to die, because <sup>f</sup>He made Himself the Son of God.”

<sup>8</sup>Therefore, when Pilate heard that saying, he was the more afraid, <sup>9</sup>and went again into the Praetorium, and said to Jesus, “Where are You from?” <sup>g</sup>But Jesus gave him no answer.

<sup>10</sup>Then Pilate said to Him, “Are You not speaking to me? Do You not know that I have <sup>3</sup>power to crucify You, and <sup>3</sup>power to release You?”

<sup>12</sup>From then on Pilate sought to release Him, but the Jews cried out, saying, “If politely but directly asked whether Pilate was asking on his own initiative or whether the charge was secondhand. if Pilate’s question originated with him, he was using king in the Roman sense of a political ruler. if not, then king was being used in the Jewish sense of the messianic King.

18:35 Am I a Jew: Pilate was asking, “is it likely that i, a Roman governor, would have any interest in a Jewish question?”

18:36 My kingdom is not of this world: Pilate pointed out that though He was a king, he was no threat to Rome because His kingdom would not come by a worldly revolution.

18:37 bear witness to the truth: t he truth was the seal of God. hears My voice: if Pilate wanted to know the truth, he would understand what Jesus was saying.

18:38 What is truth: t his question has been interpreted as (1) a cynical denial of the possibility of knowing truth; (2) a contemptuous jest at anything so impractical as abstract truth; and (3) a desire to know what no one had been able to tell him. No fault is a legal term meaning that there were no grounds for a criminal charge. teaching the truth was not against the law. Pilate pronounced Jesus not guilty.

18:39 you have a custom: it appears that some in the crowd suggested that a prisoner should be released in honor of the Passover (see mark 15:8, 11). Pilate jumped at the possible compromise. By promising to release Jesus on account of the custom rather than by proclaiming Him innocent, Pilate would avoid insulting the Jewish leaders, who had already pronounced Him guilty.

18:40 t he people demanded that Pilate release Barabbas, who was not only a robber, but a rebel (mark 15:7) and a murderer (Luke 23:19).

19:1 scourged Him: Scourging was part of a capital sentence. But in this case it was inflicted before formal judgment.

19:2 t he crown of thorns was in mockery of a kingly crown. Placing a purple robe on Jesus made Him a caricature of a royal conqueror. 19:3 Hail, King of the Jews was probably a sarcastic echo of what the soldiers had heard at Jesus’ triumphal entry or at His trial.

19:4 I am bringing Him out to you: Perhaps Pilate was appealing to the people’s compassion so that he could release Jesus.

19:6 Crucify Him: t he Jewish leaders anticipated an outburst of pity. t herefore they began demanding Jesus’ death. You . . . crucify Him: Pilate was enraged. I find no fault in Him: t his was the third time Pilate declared that he could find no legal grounds for capital punishment (18:38; 19:4).

19:7 We have a law: t he Jewish leaders were telling Pilate, “if you are appealing to us, we say that according to our law, He must die.” As governor, Pilate was bound by Roman custom to respect Jewish law. He made Himself the Son of God: t he Jewish leaders were accusing Jesus of violating the laws against blasphemy (see Lev. 24:16).

19:8 he was the more afraid: t hough not mentioned earlier, Pilate had no doubt become fearful. t he claim of Jesus’ deity further excited his fears.

19:9 Jesus gave . . . no answer: t hree times Pilate had publicly pronounced Jesus innocent (18:38; 19:4, 6). if he had really wanted to know the truth, he would have believed what Jesus had already told him (18:37).

19:11 given you from above: Jesus acknowledged that Pilate had the power to take His life, but only because God allowed him that power. The one who delivered Me to you is a reference to Caiaphas (18:24, 28), who had the greater sin because as a religious leader he had that much greater a responsibility to recognize the messiah.

19:12 not Caesar’s friend: t he Jews shifted their focus from the religious charge (v. 7) to the political charge (18:33), which they backed

Jesus' Trials

Before Jewish Religious Authorities
Preliminary hearing before Annas (18:12–24)	Although the Romans had deposed Annas, in the eyes of the Jews he still functioned as the high priest because the office was for life. Annas questioned Jesus, but Jesus demanded a legal hearing.
Hearing before Caiaphas (Matt. 26:57–67; Mark 14:53–65)	Caiaphas was the high priest appointed by the Romans. Two false witnesses testified against Jesus and Caiaphas asked Jesus if He was the Messiah. Jesus answered yes, and Caiaphas concluded that Jesus was guilty of blasphemy.
Trial before the Sanhedrin (Matt. 27:1, 2; Mark 15:1; Luke 22:66–71)	The council of Jewish religious leaders confirmed Caiaphas's conclusion. In this trial, Jesus admitted He was the Son of God and declared that He would sit on the right hand of God the Father.
Before the Roman Authorities
First hearing before Pilate (18:28–37; Matt. 27:11–14; Mark 15:2–5; Luke 23:1–5)	The Jewish religious leaders brought Jesus to Pilate in order to get permission to execute Him. They accused Him of treason. Pilate saw Jesus' innocence, but briefly questioned Him. In this interview, Jesus revealed to Pilate that His kingdom was not of this earth.
Hearing before Herod (Luke 23:6–12)	Pilate sent Jesus to Herod because Jesus was from Galilee, the region ruled by Herod. Jesus remained silent before Herod.
Final hearing before Pilate (18:38—19:16; Matt. 27:15–26; Mark 15:6–15; Luke 23:13–25)	Pilate did not want to condemn an innocent man, but he was afraid of another Jewish uprising. Therefore, he finally gave in to the cries of the crowd: "Crucify Him."

you let this Man go, you are not Caesar's friend. <sup>j</sup>Whoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar."

<sup>13</sup><sup>k</sup>When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus out and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called The Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha. <sup>14</sup>Now <sup>l</sup>it was the Preparation Day of the Passover, and about the sixth hour. And he said to the Jews, "Behold your King!"

<sup>15</sup>But they cried out, "Away with Him, away with Him! Crucify Him!"

Pilate said to them, "Shall I crucify your King?"

The chief priests answered, <sup>m</sup>"We have no king but Caesar!"

<sup>16</sup><sup>n</sup>Then he delivered Him to them to be crucified. Then they took Jesus <sup>4</sup>and led Him away.

Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but, ‘He said, “I am the King of the Jews.””

<sup>23</sup> Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and also the tunic. Now the tunic was without seam, woven from the top in one piece. <sup>24</sup> They said therefore among themselves, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be,” that the Scripture might be fulfilled which says:

*“They divided My garments among them,
And for My clothing they cast lots.”*

Therefore the soldiers did these things.

<sup>31</sup> Therefore, because it was the Preparation Day, <sup>d</sup> that the bodies should not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a <sup>e</sup> high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away. <sup>32</sup> Then the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first and of the other who was crucified with Him. <sup>33</sup> But when they came to Jesus and saw that He was already dead, they did not break His legs. <sup>34</sup> But one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear, and immediately <sup>f</sup> blood and water came out. <sup>35</sup> And he who has seen has testified, and his testimony is <sup>g</sup> true; and he knows that he is telling the truth, so that you may <sup>h</sup> believe. <sup>36</sup> For these things were done that the Scripture should be fulfilled, <sup>i</sup> “Not one of His bones shall be broken.” <sup>37</sup> And again an-

19:22 Pilate refused to change the title. As did Caiaphas, Pilate affirmed more than he ever intended. <sup>t</sup> he title proclaimed to all that Jesus is indeed the promised messiah.

19:23 the soldiers: According to Roman law, the garments of a condemned criminal belonged to the executioners. Jesus had two items of clothing. <sup>t</sup> he cloak was a large, loose garment. <sup>t</sup> he tunic was a close-fitting garment that went from the neck to the knees.

19:24 <sup>t</sup> he outer garment could be conveniently divided, but the inner garment could not. <sup>t</sup> hus the soldiers divided the outer one and cast lots for the inner one. Unknowingly, the soldiers fulfilled david’s prophecy in Ps. 22:18. <sup>t</sup> his passage had long been considered a messianic prophecy.

19:26 The disciple whom He loved refers to John, the author of this Gospel.

19:27 Behold your mother: Jesus placed mary in the care of John.

19:28 that the Scripture might be fulfilled: everything foretold concerning the earthly life of Jesus had been accomplished.

19:29 Sour wine was not the same as the drugged wine that had been offered to Jesus earlier (“wine mingled with myrrh”; see mark 15:23). Jesus did not take that wine because He wanted to die fully conscious. He did take a sip of this wine; one of the agonies of crucifixion was incredible thirst, added to the terrible pain.

19:30 It is finished . . . He gave up His spirit: Having fulfilled every command of the Father and every prophecy of Scripture, Jesus voluntarily died. <sup>t</sup> his was not a cry of exhaustion, but of completion. Jesus had done what He had agreed to do.

19:31 The Preparation Day was Friday, the day before the Sabbath (see v. 14). bodies should not remain on the cross: it is ironic that in the midst of a deliberate judicial murder the Jews were scrupulous about keeping the ceremonial law. According to Jewish law (deut. 21:23), it was necessary to remove the bodies of executed criminals before sunset. to avoid breaking the Law, the Jews requested that the legs of the condemned be broken so that the men would die quickly and could be removed from their crosses. Breaking the legs was not always part of crucifixion. But with his legs broken, a victim could no longer lift his body in order to breathe and would soon suffocate. High day is literally “great day.” <sup>t</sup> he coming Sabbath was especially important because it was the Sabbath of the Passover week. 19:34 to make certain that Jesus was dead, one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear. After the soldier did this, blood and water came out, indicating that Jesus was already dead. o nly blood would have flowed from a living body.

19:35 he who has seen: John’s words can be trusted because he is giving an eyewitness account, so that his readers will believe that Jesus is the Savior.

19:36 o ne should trust Christ not only because John gives an accurate account of His death (v. 35), but also because He fulfilled Scripture (v. 37), proving that He is

The Death of Jesus

The Jews viewed Jesus’ death as a scandal. The church understood His death as fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy.

The Burial of Christ

Matt. 27:57-60; Mark 15:42-46; Luke 23:50-54

<sup>38k</sup> After this, Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly, <sup>l</sup>for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took the body of Jesus. <sup>39</sup> And <sup>m</sup>Nicodemus, who at first came to Jesus by night, also came, bringing a mixture of <sup>n</sup>myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds. <sup>40</sup> Then they took the body of Jesus, and <sup>o</sup>bound it in strips of linen with the spices, as the custom of the Jews is to bury. <sup>41</sup> Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid. <sup>42</sup> So <sup>p</sup>there they laid Jesus, <sup>q</sup>because of the Jews’ Preparation Day, for the tomb was nearby.

The Resurrection of Christ

20 Now the <sup>a</sup>first day of the week Mary Magdalene went to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the <sup>b</sup>stone had been taken away from the tomb. <sup>2</sup> Then she ran and came to Simon Peter, and to the <sup>c</sup>other disciple, <sup>d</sup>whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid Him.”

<sup>3</sup> Peter therefore went out, and the other disciple, and were going to the tomb. <sup>4</sup> So they both ran together, and the other disciple outran Peter and came to the tomb first. <sup>5</sup> And he, stooping down and looking in, saw <sup>f</sup>the linen cloths lying there; yet he did not go in. <sup>6</sup> Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb; and he saw the linen cloths lying there, <sup>7</sup> and <sup>g</sup>the <sup>1</sup>handkerchief that had been around His head, not lying with the linen cloths, but folded together in a place by itself. <sup>8</sup> Then the <sup>h</sup>other disciple, who came to the tomb first, went in also; and he saw and believed. <sup>9</sup> For as yet they did not <sup>2</sup>know the <sup>i</sup>Scripture, that He must rise again from the dead. <sup>10</sup> Then the disciples went away again to their own homes.

Christ Appears to Mary Magdalene

<sup>11</sup> But Mary stood outside by the tomb weeping, and as she wept she stooped down and looked into the tomb. <sup>12</sup> And she saw two angels in white sitting, one at the head and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain. <sup>13</sup> Then they said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?”

She said to them, “Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid Him.”

<sup>14k</sup> Now when she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, and <sup>l</sup>did not know that it was Jesus. <sup>15</sup> Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?”

She, supposing Him to be the gardener, said to Him, “Sir, if You have carried Him away, tell me where You have laid Him, and I will take Him away.”

She turned and said to <sup>3</sup>Him, “Rabboni!” (which is to say, Teacher).

the messiah. Both the lack of broken bones and the piercing of His side fulfilled prophecies recorded in the ot (see ex. 12:46; Zech. 12:10).

19:38 Joseph, a rich member of the Jewish council (see matt. 27:57; mark 15:43), had not agreed with their decision (see Luke 23:50).

19:39 Nicodemus, like Joseph (v. 38), was a member of the council (3:1). At last, nicodemus identified himself with the one who had come from above (12:42). A hundred pounds was a large amount. nicodemus intended to cover Jesus’ entire body with spices—a common burial custom.

19:41 a new tomb: matthew specifies that the tomb belonged to Joseph (see matt. 27:60). t his too was a fulfillment of a prophecy: t he messiah would be buried in a rich man’s grave (see is. 53:9).

20:1 while it was still dark: Apparently Mary Magdalene arrived ahead of the other women (see matt. 28:1; mark 16:1; Luke 24:10). mary magdalene, out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons, was the last one at the Cross and the first one at the grave.

20:2 The other disciple, whom Jesus loved, was John, the author of this Gospel. They have taken away the Lord: mary magdalene jumped to the wrong conclusion. we: o ther women were with mary magdalene (matt. 28:1; mark 16:1; Luke 24:10).

20:5 the linen cloths lying there: n o one who came to steal the body would have taken the time to unwrap it and leave the cloths behind.

20:6 saw: t he Greek term implies an intense stare, in contrast to the more casual look described in v. 5. Peter went into the tomb to get a good look. He carefully examined the place where Jesus’ body had been.

20:7 folded together: t he handkerchief around Christ’s head had not been thrown aside, as might have been done by a thief. it had been folded and laid aside. Perhaps the implication is that Christ did not rush out of the tomb, but left His grave clothes neatly folded.

20:8 t he other disciple, commonly believed to be the apostle John, saw the tomb and the grave clothes and believed that Christ had been raised from the dead.

20:9 they did not know the Scripture: t he disciples believed because of what they saw in the tomb (v. 8), not because of what they knew from ot passages describing the Savior’s resurrection (see Luke 24:25–27). Jesus had prophesied His death and resurrection in the disciples’ presence, but the disciples had not understood what He was talking about. Later Jesus would instruct them about how His life and death fulfilled the Scriptures (see Luke 24:13–27, 44–47).

20:16 when Christ uttered her name, Mary recognized His voice. mary addressed Christ as Rabboni, an Aramaic term which John translates for his Greek readers.

20:17 Cling means “to fasten oneself to” or “to hold.” mary had grabbed Christ and was holding on to Him as if she would never turn Him loose. Christ explained to her that He could not stay because He

Me, for I have not yet <sup>n</sup>ascended to My Father; but go to <sup>o</sup>My brethren and say to them, <sup>p</sup>“I am ascending to My Father and your Father, and to <sup>q</sup>My God and your God.”

<sup>18</sup> Mary Magdalene came and told the <sup>4</sup>disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that He had spoken these things to her.

Christ Appears to the Disciples (Thomas Absent)

Mark 16:14; Luke 24:36-43

<sup>19</sup> Then, the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were <sup>5</sup>assembled, for <sup>r</sup>fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and said to them, <sup>u</sup>“Peace be with you.” <sup>20</sup> When He had said this, He <sup>v</sup>showed them His hands and His side. <sup>w</sup> Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord.

<sup>21</sup> So Jesus said to them again, “Peace to you! <sup>x</sup> As the Father has sent Me, I also send you.” <sup>22</sup> And when He had said this, He breathed on them, and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>23</sup> If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained.”

Christ Appears to the Disciples (Thomas Present)

1 Cor. 15:5

<sup>26</sup> And after eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus came, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, “Peace to you!” <sup>27</sup> Then He said to Thomas, “Reach your finger here, and look at My hands; and <sup>a</sup>reach your hand here, and put it into My side. Do not be <sup>b</sup>unbelieving, but believing.”

<sup>28</sup> And Thomas answered and said to Him, “My Lord and my God!”

The Purpose of John's Gospel

had to ascend to His Father. My brethren referred to the disciples (v. 18). Jesus sent Mary to them with the first postresurrection testimony. t though it may be that Mary was formerly a woman of ill-repute, this did not keep Jesus from commissioning her to bring the gospel message to the apostles (see mark 16:11). My Father and your Father: God is the Father of Christ and of believers (1:14, 18; 3:16, 18).

20:19 Jesus came and stood in the midst: Christ's appearance was miraculous, because the doors were shut. Jesus, as God, could perform a variety of miracles without requiring a change in His humanity. Here Christ's body was a physical body, the same body in which He died and was buried. t he difference is that His flesh had been changed to take on immortality and incorruptibility (see 1 Cor. 15:53).

20:21 As indicates that the disciples were commissioned to carry on Christ's work, not to begin a new one.

life

(Gk. zōē) (1:4; 6:35; 11:25; 14:6; 20:31; eph. 4:18; 1 John 5:11) Strong's #2222

t his word in classical Greek was used for life in general. t here are a few examples of this meaning in the nt (see Acts 17:25; James 4:14; Rev. 16:3), but in most instances the word is used to designate divine, eternal life, the life of God (eph. 4:18). t his life resided in Christ, and He has made it available to all who believe in Him. Human beings are born with the natural life, called psuchē in Greek, which can be translated “soul,” “personality,” or “life.” eternal life can be received only by believing in the one who is Himself life, Jesus Christ.

20:22 Receive the Holy Spirit: t he ministry to which Jesus called the disciples (v. 21; see also matt. 28:16-20; Luke 24:47-49) required spiritual power. t he reference here is to a special preparation of the apostles who were to become the foundation of the church at Pentecost. Here Jesus breathed the Spirit into the disciples. At Pentecost the Spirit unified the believers into one body and empowered them to testify of Jesus (see 1 Cor. 12:13). t he reception of the Spirit here is reminiscent of the creative breath of God into Adam in Gen. 2:7. Yet the gift here was not a human spirit, but the Spirit of the living God.

20:23 If you forgive: t he apostles did not take Jesus' words to mean that they had the power to forgive sins (see Acts 8:22). t hey knew that only God could forgive sins (see mark 2:7). n either the apostles nor the church had the power to forgive specific sins or to prevent forgiveness for any individual. Fundamentally Jesus was speaking of the responsibility of the church to declare the gospel to all the world, so that those who believe in Jesus can find the precious gift of forgiveness (see matt. 16:19).

20:24, 25 Thomas was not present when Jesus appeared to the disciples in the closed room (vv. 19-23). Unless I see in His hands: when Jesus appeared to the other disciples, He showed them His hands and His side (v. 20). n o doubt they told t homas about it; hence his request.

20:28 My Lord and my God: in awestruck wonder, t homas not only believed that Christ was risen from the dead, but he also saw that the Resurrection proved His deity.

20:29 Those who have not seen includes all who have believed in Christ since His ascension to the Father (see 1 Pet. 1:8, 9).

20:31 John states the purpose of his book. His purpose was to convince his readers that Jesus is the Christ, the messiah who fulfilled God's promises to israel. Jesus is the Son of God, God in the flesh. By believing these things, a person obtains eternal life (1:12).

Christ Appears to the Seven Disciples

They said to him, “We are going with you also.” They went out and <sup>4</sup>immediately got into the boat, and that night they caught nothing. <sup>5</sup>But when the morning had now come, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples <sup>f</sup>did not know that it was Jesus. <sup>6</sup>Then <sup>g</sup>Jesus said to them, “Children, have you any food?”

They answered Him, “No.”

<sup>7</sup>And He said to them, <sup>h</sup>“Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some.” So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish.

<sup>8</sup>Therefore <sup>i</sup>that disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, “It is the Lord!” Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on <sup>j</sup>his outer garment (for he had removed it), and plunged into the sea. <sup>9</sup>But the other disciples came in the little boat (for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits), dragging the net with fish. <sup>10</sup>Then, as soon as they had come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid on it, and bread. <sup>11</sup>Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish which you have just caught.”

<sup>12</sup>Simon Peter went up and dragged the net to land, full of large fish, one hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not broken. <sup>13</sup>Jesus said to them, <sup>k</sup>“Come and eat breakfast.” Yet none of the disciples dared ask Him, <sup>14</sup>This is now <sup>k</sup>the third time Jesus showed Himself to His disciples after He was raised from the dead.

Christ Speaks to Peter

<sup>15</sup>So when they had eaten breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of <sup>2</sup>Jonah, do you love Me more than these?”

He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I <sup>3</sup>love You.”

He said to him, <sup>4</sup>“Feed My lambs.”

<sup>16</sup>He said to him again a second time, “Simon, son of <sup>4</sup>Jonah, do you love Me?”

<sup>17</sup>He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of <sup>6</sup>Jonah, do you <sup>7</sup>love Me?” Peter was grieved because He said to him the third time, “Do you <sup>7</sup>love Me?”

And he said to Him, “Lord, <sup>o</sup>You know all things; You know that I <sup>7</sup>love You.”

Jesus said to him, “Feed My sheep. <sup>18</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, when you were younger, you girded yourself and walked where you wished; but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish.”

21:2 John, the author of this Gospel, was one of the sons of Zebedee. t he omission of his name here is consistent with his reserve about everything connected with himself in his book.

21:4 the disciples did not know: Perhaps the apostles did not recognize Jesus because they were preoccupied with their work as mary magdalene had been with her sorrow (20:14). in addition, there was not much light at this time of day. When the morning had now come refers to daybreak.

21:5 have you any food: t he question from the shore was probably regarded as a request to buy fish. t he disciples answered that they had nothing to sell.

21:7 That disciple whom Jesus loved is commonly considered to be John, the author of this Gospel. Peter . . . plunged into the sea: John was the first to recognize the Lord; Peter was the first to act. t hough Peter often made bad decisions, he had zeal that would eventually be channeled to good use (see Acts 2:14–41).

21:8 Two hundred cubits is about a hundred yards.

21:14 t he phrase the third time applies to the disciples as a group. John himself has related three appearances before this one, the first being to mary magdalene (20:19–23, 26–29).

21:15 More than these means more than the other disciples (see matt. 26:22). o n two different occasions Peter had claimed extraordinary love for Christ, even comparing himself to other men (see 13:37; matt. 26:33).

21:16 Tend means to shepherd. Lambs need to be fed (v. 15); sheep need to be guided. Peter would need to care for diverse people in different ways, as Christ had done with His disciples.

21:17 Peter denied the Lord at least three times. Here he affirmed his love for the Lord for the third time.

21:18 Peter must have been bewildered by Christ’s words to him. Jesus had just spoken of the future ministry of Peter; now He spoke of Peter’s death. when Peter was younger, he walked where he wished, moving about without restriction. when Peter became older, he would stretch out his hands, looking for help. Another will gird you means that Peter would be bound as a condemned criminal. t he day would come when Peter would be totally under the control of Roman executioners, who would carry him where he would not wish to go, to death (v. 19). His death is hinted at in 2 Pet. 1:13, 14. Jesus’ words here confirm the early church tradition that Peter was crucified upside down.

21:20, 21 The disciple whom Jesus loved is commonly considered to be John, the author of this Gospel. what about this man: Peter wanted to know if John too would suffer a violent death.

The Restoration of Peter

John is the only Gospel writer who records the account of Jesus restoring Peter to His ministry after Peter's three denials (18:17, 25–27; 21:15–19). Only a short time before this dramatic encounter with the risen Lord, Peter had boldly announced that he would give his life for Jesus. Jesus responded by informing Peter that he would actually deny Him three times that same night (13:37, 38).

Later that evening, Jesus was arrested. While He stood trial before the chief priest, Peter hid outside in the courtyard. Three times Peter was recognized as one of Jesus' followers; three times he denied knowing Jesus, thus fulfilling Jesus' words. Luke 22:62 tells us that when Peter realized what he had done, he "wept bitterly."

Imagine, then, Peter's emotions during his encounter with the resurrected Savior by the Sea of Tiberias. On the one hand, he was no doubt overjoyed to see the risen Lord. On the other hand, he may still have been ashamed and embarrassed about his desertion of Jesus in the hour of His greatest need.

The first time the Lord asked Peter if Peter loved Him, the first two times, Christ used the word agapaō, signifying a love of commitment, a love of the will. Peter responded with the word phileō, indicating his strong emotion for the Lord. The word suggests warmth, fondness, and friendship.

When Peter acknowledged that he loved Christ, the Lord gave him the task of feeding His lambs and taking care of His sheep. Expressing love for Christ implies accepting a duty to do the work of God and to be faithful. Peter had some difficulty with such faithfulness during Christ's earthly ministry. As Christ was getting ready to depart, He wanted to elicit a commitment from Peter.

The third time Jesus asked Peter if he loved Him, He used the word phileō, indicating strong friendship. Christ had taught that a friend who loves will lay down his life for a friend. Peter, instead, had denied Christ three times. With Peter's final response, "You know that I love You," Christ had drawn a commitment from Peter and assured the other disciples of the bond between Himself and Peter. In the process, He demonstrated His complete forgiveness of Peter. With this exchange, the Lord restored Peter to a position of leadership in the ongoing ministry of the gospel.

said to Jesus, "But Lord, what about this man?"

<sup>22</sup> Jesus said to him, "If I <sup>s</sup> will that he remain <sup>u</sup> till I come, what is that to you? You follow Me."

<sup>23</sup> Then this saying went out among the brethren that this disciple would not die. Yet Jesus did not say to him that he would not die, but, "If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you?"

<sup>22</sup> <sup>u</sup> [Matt. 16:27, 28; 25:31; 1 Cor. 4:5; 11:26; Rev. 2:25; 3:11; 22:7, 20]

The Conclusion of John's Gospel

<sup>24</sup> This is the disciple who <sup>v</sup> testifies of these things, and wrote these things; and we know that his testimony is true.

<sup>25</sup> <sup>w</sup> And there are also many other things that Jesus did, which if they were written one by one, <sup>x</sup> I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that would be written. Amen.

21:22, 23 You follow Me: The Lord told Peter that he should be concerned with following God's will himself and not worrying about God's will for others. this disciple would not die: The rumor was that Jesus would return before John died.

21:24 This is the disciple: The disciple was the one whom Jesus loved (v. 20). This is basically John's signature to his Gospel.

21:25 there are also many other things that Jesus did: The Gospel of John is truthful (v. 24), but it is not exhaustive.

THE ACTS

OF THE APOSTLES

THE INFECTIOUS NEWS first appeared in Jerusalem, then spread quickly from person to person and from city to city. It faced opposition everywhere it went. But the world was ill-equipped to fight it. Empowered by the Holy Spirit, the followers of Christ relayed the Good News about Jesus everywhere. In less than 35 years, the gospel had reached cities from Jerusalem to Rome.

Luke wrote the Book of Acts to show the fulfillment of Jesus' words, "I will build My church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it" (see Matt. 16:18). Before Jesus ascended to heaven, He commanded His followers to make disciples of all nations (see Luke 24:46–49). Luke begins Acts with a reiteration of that commission and a description of how it would be carried out (1:8). This commission not only ties the Book of Acts to the Gospel of Luke, but it also provides an outline for the book: the witness in Jerusalem and Judea (1:1—6:7); the witness in Judea and Samaria (6:8—9:31); and the witness to the ends of the earth (9:32—28:31).

The Book of Acts begins in Jerusalem with the disciples huddled in a room on the Day of Pentecost. Then the Holy Spirit came upon them and authorized them to be His witnesses. The rest of Acts describes the ripple effect of that great event. Jesus' followers first witnessed to the Jews in Jerusalem, with Peter at the center of the movement. Then persecution broke out (7:60), scattering believers into Samaria and the rest of the known world. Saul of Tarsus, once a leader of the persecution, became a leader of the persecuted. In chapter 11, the focus of the Book of Acts moves from Peter's ministry to the Jews to Saul's ministry to the Gentiles. Under his more familiar name Paul, this converted persecutor established churches in Asia Minor and Europe. The Book of Acts records three of Paul's missionary journeys, as well as his voyage to Rome to face his trial. The book ends abruptly with Paul under house arrest in Rome. The ending is fitting, because the entire Book of Acts is itself just a prologue. Jesus has not finished His work on earth. The narrative begun by Luke in this book will not end until Jesus Christ returns in glory (see 1:11; 1 Cor. 15:28).

Author The Book of Acts begins with a reference to the author's "former account" written to a man named Theophilus (1:1), a clear reference to the Gospel of Luke (see Luke 1:3). Even though the author does not mention himself by name in either the Gospel or Acts, early tradition identifies Luke as the author of both volumes. As early as the second century, ancient authors, such as Irenaeus (c. A.D. 180) indicate this.

Called “the beloved physician” by Paul (see Col. 4:14), Luke was a doctor Paul met in Troas (see 16:8–11). He cared for Paul during the illnesses he suffered on his missionary endeavors. Paul’s references to Luke in 2 Timothy 4:11 and Philemon 24 portray Luke as Paul’s faithful traveling companion. After the two met in Troas, Luke included himself with the missionary team recorded in Acts (see 16:10, the beginning of the so-called “we” sections in the book). Luke’s faithful friendship to Paul continued until Paul’s death in Rome, for Luke was one of the few people who did not desert him (see 2 Timothy 4:11).

Date The Book of Acts does not record Paul’s death. Instead it ends abruptly during Paul’s residence in Rome (see 28:30). Paul’s house arrest in Rome occurred around A.D. 61, marking the earliest possible date for the book’s completion. Acts makes no reference to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 or to Nero’s persecution of Christians following the fire of Rome in A.D. 64. Surely Luke would have mentioned these significant events if they had occurred when he wrote. Moreover, the many references to Paul’s vindication before Roman officials would not make sense if Nero had already started his vehement persecution of Christians. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that Acts was written between A.D. 61 and 64.

Purpose The Book of Acts provides a condensed history of the early church, an eyewitness account of the miraculous spread of the gospel from Jerusalem to Rome. The book details how the Holy Spirit authorized our spiritual forebears to carry out Jesus’ mandate to be His witnesses throughout the world. The accounts in Acts include stirring examples for us to follow, but the recurring theme of the Book of Acts is that our spiritual ancestors were empowered by the Holy Spirit. That same power is available to us. God has not left us at the mercy of our own weaknesses; He has sent the Holy Spirit to help us follow their example (see Eph. 5:17, 18), and to be Jesus’ witnesses in all of the earth.

Theology The Book of Acts is a historical narrative, but at the same time it has profound theological significance. A believer’s faith rests upon the facts of history: the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. These historical events were recorded by Luke in his Gospel in order to evoke belief. If the historical fact of Christ’s resurrection is not true, then a believer’s faith has no foundation. As Paul states, “if Christ is not risen, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins” (1 Cor. 15:17). The Book of Acts reassures believers that their faith in Christ rests on fact. The extraordinary growth of the early church was based directly on the resurrected Christ. His command and empowerment of the disciples through the Holy Spirit is the only reasonable explanation for the incredible and rapid spread of the gospel in the first century. The early Christians were not testifying about a dead Christ, but a living Christ whom they had seen with their own eyes (1:1–5; Luke 24:36–53; 2 Pet. 1:16). The same is true for us today. Jesus lives and continues to work through the church.

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

Although Jesus ascends into heaven in chapter 1, He figures significantly in the rest of the Book of Acts. The resurrected Christ is the central theme of the sermons, defenses, and the life of the church through the entire book.

Luke intended Acts to be an apologetic that logically attests to Jesus’ divinity. And he accomplished his purpose. Notice his references to the eyewitness accounts of Jesus’ resurrection, the firsthand testimonies of Jesus’ followers (including a converted critic of Christianity by the name of Saul), and the evidence of the Holy Spirit’s supernatural power. No wonder Luke quotes Peter as saying, “to Him all the prophets witness that, through His name, whoever believes in Him will receive remission of sins” (10:43). “nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved” (4:12).

BIBLE TIMES &amp; CULTURE NOTES

Sabbath Day's Journey

“A Sabbath day’s journey” (1:12) referred to the distance a Jew could travel on the Sabbath without breaking the law. <sup>t</sup> This distance was usually reckoned to be about “two thousand cubits” (about a thousand yards) because of the distance between the ark of the covenant and the rest of the israelite camp in the wilderness (Josh. 3:4). <sup>t</sup> The idea was that every person within the camp or city would be close enough to the center of worship to take part in the services without having to travel such a great distance that the Sabbath became a harried and busy day. <sup>t</sup> His law, although noble in intent, was soon abused by a strict legalism. In the <sup>n</sup> t, Jesus often clashed with the Pharisees because of their blind legalism over observance of the Sabbath (matt. 12:1–9).

upon you; and <sup>m</sup> you shall be <sup>3</sup> witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and <sup>n</sup> Samaria, and to the <sup>o</sup> end of the earth.”

Jesus Ascends to Heaven

1:1 Luke addressed his Gospel to the “most excellent Theophilus” (see Luke 1:3), using a title that indicates <sup>t</sup> theophilus was a person of high rank. <sup>t</sup> The formal title is dropped here.

1:2, 3 Taken up refers to Christ’s ascension, the end of His earthly ministry. <sup>t</sup> These verses look back to Luke 24:51 and ahead to vv. 9, 22. the apostles . . . to whom He also presented Himself alive: <sup>t</sup> He resurrected Jesus presented Himself “not to all the people, but to witnesses chosen before by God” (10:41). in the forty days between Jesus’ resurrection and ascension, there are recorded some 10 or 11 appearances of Jesus to believers confirming His resurrection from the dead. <sup>o</sup> n the last of these appearances, Jesus gathered His apostles together and commanded them not to leave Jerusalem (v. 4). Many infallible proofs serve as the basis for the believer’s confidence in the resurrection of our Lord. <sup>t</sup> The Greek word translated infallible proofs speaks of “convincing, decisive proof.” Christian belief is not built on speculation or myth but on the sovereign acts and words of God incarnate in the time-space universe. The kingdom of God was the central topic of discussion between Christ and His apostles during the 40 days between Jesus’ resurrection and ascension. <sup>t</sup> The goal of history is not the Cross, but the crown—the time when King Jesus reveals Himself in all His majesty and reigns in glory (see is. 11; dan. 7:13, 14; 1 Cor. 15:24–28; Rev. 20:4–6).

1:4 As predicted by John the Baptist (see matt. 3:11; mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; John 1:33) and reiterated by Jesus Himself, the Promise of the Father was the promise of baptism in the Holy Spirit. <sup>t</sup> There are seven references in Scripture to baptism in the Spirit. Five are prophetic (see v. 5; matt. 3:11; mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; John 1:33); one is historical (11:15, 16), referring to the day of Pentecost; and one is doctrinal (see 1 Cor. 12:13), explaining the meaning of baptism in the Spirit.

1:5 shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit: <sup>t</sup> The passive tense of the verb indicates that baptism does not depend upon our efforts to obtain the promise, but upon the Lord’s will. <sup>t</sup> The simple future tense demonstrates that there is no uncertainty or doubt in the promise. <sup>t</sup> The Greek word for baptized means “to immerse” or “to dip.” <sup>t</sup> It also connotes being identified with someone or something. Spirit baptism means we have been placed in spiritual union with one another in the body of Jesus Christ, the church (see 1 Cor. 12:12, 13).

1:6 Therefore: Christ’s statement that the Spirit was about to be given evidently triggered concern among the disciples about the establishment of the kingdom. Connecting the coming of the Spirit and the coming of the kingdom was consistent with <sup>o</sup> t thought (see 3:21; is. 32:15–20; 44:3–5; ezek. 39:28, 29; Joel 2:28–3:1; Zech. 12:8–10). At this time expresses the anxiety of the apostles as they anticipated the kingdom rule that Christ had spoken of in the preceding days and weeks (v. 3). <sup>t</sup> The popular expectation and hope was that Christ would establish His kingdom immediately.

1:7 It is not for you to know: Jesus did not correct His disciples’ views concerning the restoration of the kingdom to israel (v. 6). instead He corrected their views concerning the timing of the event. <sup>t</sup> His was the same erroneous thinking that He had sought to correct with His parable in Luke 19:11–27, the parable of the minas. times or seasons: <sup>t</sup> These words speak to the issue of timing differently. Times refers to chronology or the duration of time—“how long.” Seasons refers to the epochs or “events” that occur within time. <sup>t</sup> The disciples were not to know how long it would be before Christ set up His kingdom, nor were they to know what events would transpire before the establishment of it. Peter points out that even the <sup>o</sup> t prophets did not know the timing between the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow (1 Pet. 1:11).

1:8 instead of being concerned about the date of Christ’s return, the disciples’ job was to carry His message throughout the world. you shall receive power: <sup>t</sup> This does not refer to personal power for godly living, as demonstrated in the lives of <sup>o</sup> t saints (see Abraham in Gen. 22; Joseph in Gen. 39; Moses in ex. 14; daniel in dan. 6). <sup>t</sup> His was power for a new task—namely, to take the gospel to the ends of the earth. Be witnesses is Christ’s command to His disciples to tell others about Him regardless of the consequences. Church tradition tells us that all but one of the 11 apostles who heard this promise became martyrs. (John died in exile.) God empowered His disciples to be faithful witnesses even when they faced the most vehement opposition.

1:9–11 Jesus promised that He would not leave nor forsake us, but would be with us always, even to the end of the age (see matt. 28:20; taken up, and a cloud received Him out of their sight. <sup>10</sup> And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as He went up, behold, two men stood by them <sup>r</sup> in white apparel, <sup>11</sup> who also said, “Men of Galilee, why do you stand gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, <sup>s</sup> will so come in like manner as you saw Him go into heaven.”

The Upper Room Prayer Meeting

<sup>12</sup> Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day’s journey. <sup>13</sup> And when they had entered, they went up <sup>u</sup> into the upper room where they were staying: <sup>v</sup> Peter, James, John, and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James the son of Alphaeus and <sup>w</sup> Simon the Zealot; and <sup>x</sup> Judas the son of James. <sup>14</sup> <sup>y</sup> These all continued with one <sup>z</sup> accord in prayer <sup>5</sup> and supplication, with <sup>2</sup> the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with <sup>a</sup> His brothers.

John 14:18). He fulfilled this promise in the form of the Holy Spirit, who dwells within believers (see John 16:4–7). taken up . . . cloud received Him . . . He went up: t hese three statements portray the gradual, majestic departure of Jesus from the earth. will so come: t he Second Coming of Christ and the establishment of His kingdom (vv. 6, 7) will occur the same way Jesus ascended: physically, visibly, and in the clouds.

1:12 A Sabbath day’s journey was the distance permitted by Jewish custom for travel on a Sabbath day (see ex. 16:29; num. 35:5; Josh. 3:4), about a half mile. Anyone who traveled farther than this would be regarded as breaking the fourth commandment.

1:13 The upper room could have been the room where Jesus spent the last Passover with His disciples, or the room in which He appeared to them after His resurrection (recorded in Luke 24). It is possible that the same room was the site of both events. t his room may have belonged to mary, the mother of John mark. Her house is mentioned in 12:12 as a meeting place of disciples. Jesus’ followers were staying in this upper room, waiting in Jerusalem as the Lord had directed, until they received the power Jesus had promised (v. 5).

1:14 with one accord: t his phrase, which is found 11 times in the Book of Acts, is made up of two words that mean “same” and “mind.” t he phrase speaks of people sharing the same mind or thinking like-mindedly. it does not refer to people who all think and feel the same way about everything, but to people who set aside personal feelings and commit themselves to one task—in this case witnessing to others about the Lord Jesus Christ (see Rom. 15:5, 6). Jesus said the world would know that He was sent from the heavenly Father when people saw the love between believers (see John 17:21): t he unity among the believers described in Acts was a demonstration of this love. Mary the mother of Jesus receives special recognition in the group. <sup>w</sup> hile on the Cross, Jesus had requested that John care for His mother (see John 19:25–27).

1:15, 16 From the earliest days of the apostles’ calling, Peter assumed a position of leadership. t hough he often made mistakes, he was never bashful about dealing with problems. it was inevitable that the matter of Judas iscariot be dealt with. in the upper room a hundred and twenty people gathered. n o doubt the majority of them were among those who saw the risen Christ (see 1 Cor. 15:6). t hough Christ spent most of His time with the twelve, there were many other disciples who traveled with Jesus (see John 6:66). Holy Spirit spoke . . . mouth of David: Peter equated the speech of david with the voice of the Holy Spirit. t his is an example of the biblical doctrine of inspiration, which asserts that the words of Scripture are equally the words of God and the words of men, with no error (see 2 t im. 3:16; 1 Pet. 1:11; 2 Pet. 1:20, 21).

1:18, 19 purchased a field: t he field that was obtained with the money Judas received for betraying Jesus was actually purchased by the priests after Judas hanged himself (see matt. 27:6–8). Since the money legally belonged to Judas, the priests purchased the field in his name. burst open . . . entrails gushed out: Apparently the noose Judas used to hang himself broke and his body fell, rupturing in the middle. t his is why the place was called the Field of Blood. 1:20–22 Peter applied Psalms 69 and 109 to the apostles’ situation. Psalm 69:25 speaks of the removal of the psalmist’s enemy. Psalm 109:8 mentions the replacement of an enemy by someone else. Peter, enlightened by the teaching of Jesus (see 1:3; Luke 24:44–46), regarded these scriptural references as ultimately speaking of Judas the traitor. it was the defection of Judas, not his death, that caused Peter to ask the disciples to choose another to replace him. when James was later killed (12:2), no replacement was chosen for him.

All the members of the church not only gathered together regularly, they shared all things in common and were committed to each other and Christ with united fervor.

The Crowd's Response

Peter specified two qualifications for the appointed apostle. First, he had to have accompanied the disciples from the beginning of Jesus' ministry, His baptism. <sup>t</sup>he replacement had to be someone who had seen what the apostles had seen and heard what they had heard, an eyewitness to the miracles and teachings of Jesus. Second, he had to be an eyewitness of Jesus' resurrection.

1:24–26 cast their lots: it was customary for the Jews to determine the will of God on certain questions by this method. <sup>t</sup>he names of matthias and Justus, probably written on stones, were put in a jar that was shaken until one of the names fell out. <sup>t</sup>he name that fell out of the vessel would be the one that God had chosen to take the place of Judas. <sup>t</sup>he fall of the lot was determined not by chance but by God's sovereignty.

2:1 Pentecost was one of the three major Jewish festivals; the other two are the Passover and the Feast of tabernacles. From the Greek word for “fifty,” Pentecost was so named because it fell on the fiftieth day after the Sabbath of the Passover. Pentecost was also known as “the Feast of weeks,” “the Firstfruits of the wheat Harvest,” and “the day of Firstfruits.” <sup>t</sup>during this harvest celebration, the Jews brought to God the firstfruits of their harvest in thanksgiving, expecting that God would give the rest of the harvest as His blessing. <sup>t</sup>his particular day of Pentecost was the day of firstfruits of Christ's church, the beginning of the great harvest of souls who would come to know Christ and be joined together through the work of the Holy Spirit. they were all . . . in one place: <sup>t</sup>he place may have been part of the temple. it is difficult to imagine how the large crowd mentioned in v. 5 could have observed the activities in the upper room or congregated in the narrow streets outside the house where the disciples were meeting.

2:2 A sound like a rushing mighty wind was needed to attract the multitudes to the small gathering of apostles who were sitting, the normal position for listening to someone speak, rather than standing for prayer.

2:3 there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire: After the great crowd-gathering sound of v. 2 came the visual manifestation of God. Fire often indicated the presence of God. God initially appeared to moyses in a burning bush that was not consumed (see ex. 3). God guided the children of israel with a pillar of fire by night

(see ex. 13:21, 22), and He descended before them in fire on mt. Sinai (see ex. 19:18). God sent fire to consume elijah's offering on mt. Carmel (see 1 Kin. 18:38, 39), and He used a vision of fire to warn ezekeil of His coming judgment (see ezeke. 1:26, 27).

2:4 <sup>t</sup>he word translated tongues here is the normal Greek word for known languages. Speaking in “tongues” or diverse languages underscored the universal outreach of the church. <sup>t</sup>hese witnesses were speaking foreign dialects to the people who had gathered for Pentecost from other nations. <sup>t</sup>he day of Pentecost, as one of the three major Jewish celebrations, was a pilgrimage event. People who lived outside israel traveled to Jerusalem to celebrate the festival. <sup>t</sup>hey came from Arabia, Crete, Asia, and even as far away as Rome. many of these people stayed in Jerusalem for the entire 50-day celebration. Spirit gave them utterance: <sup>n</sup>ote that the text does not say that the Spirit spoke through the apostles, but that the Spirit gave them the ability to speak in languages that they had not previously known.

2:5–11 men, from every nation under heaven: People from all over the known world were in Jerusalem. most of them probably knew Greek, but they also spoke the various languages of the mediterranean world. everyone heard them speak in his own language: <sup>t</sup>he visitors to Jerusalem probably expected the apostles to use Aramaic or Greek, but instead they heard their own dialect. <sup>t</sup>he visitors were astonished because they knew this was most unlikely unless the speakers had come from their land. <sup>t</sup>his was a sign from heaven, a supernatural event. the wonderful works of God: it appears that the “speaking in tongues” did not consist of proclaiming the gospel. Rather, the apostles were praising God's mighty works (see 10:46; 1 Cor. 14:16).

2:12, 13 A contrast is made between two groups of people, the Hellenists and the Hebraists (6:1). Both groups heard the apostles speaking in tongues. Verse 12 speaks of the reaction of the Hellenists, who were from various parts of the world: they understood the dialects in which the apostles spoke and consequently viewed the event as miraculous. <sup>o</sup>n the other hand, those mentioned in v. 13 were Judeans and did not understand the foreign languages the apostles were speaking. <sup>t</sup>hey concluded the apostles were drunk and speaking gibberish.

2:14 Peter, the first disciple to recognize the truth about Jesus (see matt. 16:13–19), was also the first to bear witness of Him. Peter preached his sermon to men of Judea who had judged the whole episode as being the effect of too much wine (vv. 13, 15).

2:16–21 Peter began his sermon by quoting Joel 2:28–32 from the Greek translation of the ot. In that passage, God had promised that there would be a time when all those who followed Him would receive His Spirit, and not just prophets, kings, and priests. Peter pointed out that that time had come to pass. God would speak to and through all those who would come to Him, whether in visions, dreams, or prophecy. This was the beginning of the last days. God’s final act of salvation began with the pouring out of His Spirit. This final act of deliverance will continue to the end of this age.

2:23 being delivered by the determined purpose: Jesus Christ was God’s provision for the judgment of sin; yet it was our sinfulness that made His death necessary. In other words, it was both the sinfulness of humanity and God’s plan to save humanity that put Jesus to death on the Cross (see is. 53:10). God exercises sovereign control over all events—even the death of His Son. Yet at the same time, people are still responsible for their own sinful actions.

- <sup>g</sup> *“The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
<sup>35</sup> Till I make Your enemies Your
footstool.”’*

<sup>36</sup>“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God has made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Christ.”

<sup>37</sup>Now when they heard this, <sup>h</sup> they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, “Men and brethren, what shall we do?”

2:25-36 Joel prophesied that the Spirit would come; Jesus fulfilled that promise when He sent the Spirit (see John 14:16). if Jesus was dead, He could not have sent the Spirit. t therefore, He must be alive. Furthermore, Jesus could not have sent the Spirit unless He had ascended as Lord to heaven. t therefore, Jesus is both our master and our Savior. let me speak freely: Peter knew (v. 29) that no one could dispute the point he was about to make from Ps. 16:8-11, in which the messiah is described as not decaying. Because david had been buried and had not come back to life, the psalm had to be speaking about someone else, david’s heir. Peter pointed out that this heir is Jesus, who was put to death and resurrected. n not only had Jesus been raised from the dead, He is now at the right hand of God. As further proof of this Peter quoted david again. According to Ps. 110:1, the messiah would sit at the right hand of God. david had not ascended to the heavens. But the apostles declared themselves to be witnesses of the very ascension spoken of in this psalm, the ascension of Jesus. Based on these points, Peter’s conclusion is clear: Jesus, the one who had been crucified, is both Lord and Christ.

2:37 Peter’s argument was irrefutable. Cut to the heart, the Judeans asked what they should do. t this was the point of new birth. t the Spirit of God brought conviction to their hearts, the springboard of action.

2:38 Repent: Repentance for the Judeans involved rejecting their former attitudes and opinions concerning who Jesus was. be baptized: w hen a person recognizes who Jesus Christ really is, the result is the desire to do what He commands. t the first action that Jesus requires of a new believer is baptism (see matt. 28:19, 20), the outward expression of inward faith. t the idea of an unbaptized Christian is foreign to the nt (v. 41; 8:12, 36; 9:18; 10:48; 16:15, 33; 18:8). for the remission of sins: is Peter saying that we must be baptized to receive forgiveness of our sins? Scripture clearly teaches that we are justified by faith alone, not by works (see Rom. 4:1-8; eph. 2:8, 9). t he critical word in this phrase is the word for, which may also be translated “with a view to.” A comparison of Peter’s message in 10:34-43 makes it clear that “remission of sins” comes to “whoever believes.” Believers are baptized in view of God’s work of forgiveness, not in order to receive that forgiveness. God’s forgiveness in Christ gives baptism its significance. Baptism is a public declaration that a person’s sins have been forgiven because of the finished work of Christ on the Cross. The gift of the Holy Spirit was the promise of Jesus in John 14:16, 17. t the Holy Spirit puts us in communion with the Father and the Son. t his indwelling of the Spirit is a beautiful promise of the new Covenant (see Jer. 31:33, 34), an indication not only that our sins are forgiven, but also that the Lord has placed His law within us.

2:39 Peter exhorted his listeners to repent. in other words, each person had to make the decision to turn away from his or her sinful habits and turn to God in faith (16:31, 33, 34). t hen God would forgive that person’s sins and declare them righteous because of Jesus’ work on the Cross. to you and to your children: in first-century israel, a father held tremendous influence in his home. when a father chose to receive Christ and be baptized, his children would follow his lead.

foreknowledge

(Gk. prognōsis) (2:23; 1 Pet. 1:2) Strong’s #4268

t he Greek term indicates “knowledge beforehand,” either of things that are seen or things that are intended or arranged. t hese meanings are illustrated in Acts 26:5; Rom. 11:2; 1 Pet. 1:2, 20; 2 Pet. 3:17. in the present context, the word denotes God’s knowledge of His Son’s death on the Cross long before the event occurred. t his is clearly affirmed by Peter (see 1 Pet. 1:20) and is the implication of Rev. 13:8. Jesus’ death for our redemption was not an afterthought; it was part of God’s eternal plan.

A Vital Church Grows

<sup>40</sup> And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, “Be saved from this <sup>3</sup>perverse generation.” <sup>41</sup> Then those who <sup>4</sup>gladly received his word were baptized; and that day about three thousand souls were added to them.

2:40–43 three thousand souls: t he response to Peter’s sermon was tremendous. Such impressive growth in the number of believers created additional needs and responsibilities. t he apostles had the duty of training this large group and bringing them into fellowship with the other believers. t his was a four-step process: (1) t he new believers were to be trained in the apostles’ doctrine. Uniformity of belief concerning the person of Jesus Christ—based on the eyewitness testimony of His followers—was essential. (2) t he new believers were to be trained in the fellowship of the church. t he Greek word translated fellowship means sharing in the lives of other believers. (3) t he new believers were to be trained in the breaking of bread, probably a reference to the Lord’s Supper (see 1 Cor. 11:23, 24). Some believe this is a broader reference to the “love feast,” a meal of fellowship in the early church. (4) t he new believers were to be trained in the discipline of prayer. Corporate prayers were viewed as an essential part of the spiritual growth of the church. Wonders and signs apparently were given by the Lord to the apostles to validate their divinely ordained position and to verify the truthfulness of their witness in the establishment of the early church (see Heb. 2:3, 4).

persevere

(Gk. proskartereō, proskarterēsis) (2:42, 46; Rom. 12:12; 13:6) Strong’s #4342; 4343

t he n t makes it clear that faith alone can save. But it makes it equally clear that perseverance in doing good works is the greatest indication that an individual’s faith is genuine (James 2:14–26). indeed, perseverance springs from a faithful trust that God has been steadfast toward His people. t hrough persevering in God’s work, Christians prove their deep appreciation for God’s saving grace (1 Cor. 15:57, 58). As a result of perseverance, the Christian can expect not only to enhance the strength of the church, but also to build up strength of character (Rom. 5:3, 4). in short, Christians can expect to become closer to God. t hey learn that they can persevere primarily because God is intimately related to them (Rom. 8:25–27) and especially because they have the assurance of a final reward in heaven (1 John 5:13).

Missionary Efforts

Christ had established His church at the crossroads of the ancient world. t rade routes brought merchants and ambassadors through Palestine where they came into contact with the gospel. t hus in the Book of Acts we see the conversion of officials from Rome (10:1–48), ethiopia (8:26–40), and other lands.

Soon after Stephen’s death, the church began a systematic effort to carry the gospel to other nations. Peter visited the major cities of Palestine, preaching to both Jews and Gentiles. o thers went to Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch of Syria. Hearing that the gospel was well received in these areas, the church in Jerusalem sent Barnabas to encourage the new Christians in Antioch (11:22, 23). Barnabas then went to tarsus to find the young convert named Saul. Barnabas took Saul back to Antioch, where they taught in the church for over a year (11:26).

A prophet named Agabus predicted that the Roman empire would suffer a great famine under emperor Claudius. Herod Agrippa was persecuting the church in Jerusalem; he had already executed James the brother of Jesus, and had thrown Peter into prison (12:1–4). So the Christians in Antioch collected money to send to their friends in Jerusalem, and they dispatched Barnabas and Saul with the relief. Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem with a young man named John mark (12:25).

By this time, several evangelists had emerged within the church at Antioch so the congregation sent Barnabas and Saul on a missionary trip to Asia minor (chs. 13–14). t his was the first of three great missionary journeys that Saul (later known as Paul) made to carry the gospel to the far reaches of the Roman empire.

t he early Christian missionaries focused their teachings upon the Person and work of Jesus Christ. t hey declared that He was the sinless Servant and Son of God who had given His life to atone for the sins of all people who put their trust in Him (Rom. 5:8–10). He was the o ne whom God raised from the dead to defeat the powers of sin (Rom. 4:24, 25; 1 Cor. 15:17).

A Lame Man Healed

Preaching in Solomon's Portico

<sup>11</sup>Now as the lame man who was healed held on to Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the porch <sup>i</sup>which is called Solomon's, greatly amazed. <sup>12</sup>So when Peter saw <sup>it</sup>, he responded to the people: "Men of Israel, why do you marvel at this? Or why look so intently at us, as though by our own power or godliness we had made this man walk?" <sup>13</sup>*j*The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers, <sup>k</sup>glorified His Servant Jesus, whom you <sup>l</sup>delivered up and <sup>m</sup>denied in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let <sup>Him</sup> go. <sup>14</sup>But you denied <sup>n</sup>the Holy One <sup>o</sup>and the Just, and <sup>p</sup>asked for a murderer to be granted to you, <sup>15</sup>and killed the <sup>2</sup>Prince of life, <sup>q</sup>whom God raised from the dead, <sup>r</sup>of which we are witnesses. <sup>16</sup>*s*And His name, through faith in His name, has made this man strong, whom you see and know. <sup>17</sup>"Yet now, brethren, I know that <sup>t</sup>you did <sup>it</sup> in ignorance, as <sup>did</sup> also your rulers. <sup>18</sup>But <sup>u</sup>those things which God foretold <sup>v</sup>by the mouth of all His prophets, that the Christ would suffer, He has thus fulfilled.

Zech. 13:6; 1 Pet. 1:10

2:44, 45 t the disposal and distribution of possessions in the early church was directed among all, as anyone had need. when a physical or spiritual need became known in the church, action was taken to address it (see 1 John 3:17). t the *n*t believers demonstrated their love for one another by giving self-sacrificially.

3:1 went up . . . to the temple: the disciples of Jesus continued to follow Jewish tradition. A prayer service accompanied each of the two daily sacrifices, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The ninth hour would have been 3 p.m.

3:2 the lame man was laid near the gate called Beautiful. t his gate opened into the Court of the women from the outer Court of the Gentiles. i served, in a sense, as the front door to the temple proper. t he Beautiful Gate would have been an ideal place for the man to position himself for begging. t hose who ignored the man's pleas may have found it difficult to worship due to the guilt they felt for refusing to help such a powerless person. moreover, as people left the temple they would be more apt to give to someone who was waiting there for help.

3:6 t he apostles indicated immediately that they did not represent themselves in what they were about to do. t hey represented Jesus Christ. Because of His name—who He is—the beggar would receive the miracle of God. t he phrase "in the name of Jesus" is not a magical formula used to give some affirmation or guarantee to a prayer. A person's name represented that person's authority and influence. t he power in the name of Jesus comes from what the Holy Spirit will do because of that name. note that Peter and John did not lay their hands on the beggar and pray for God to heal him. Rather as apostles with the power of God to perform signs and wonders, they simply told him to rise up and walk.

3:7 his feet and ankle bones received strength: Luke, a physician by profession, described what took place. instantly strength was given to the portions of the body that needed it. Blood supply was increased to the muscle. t he brain sent signals to the nerve endings of the ankles and feet. t he hardened fluid between the joints was softened, and the atrophied muscles and ligaments regained flexibility. t he feet suddenly could bear the man's weight. 3:10 t he people had seen the beggar day after day, maybe year after year. His healing was not a staged event. when the beggar stood and walked, the only reasonable explanation was that God had healed him.

3:11, 12 the people ran together to them: People were following after them, but the apostles immediately gave all the glory to Jesus.

3:13–16 glorified His Servant Jesus: Peter's reference to "His Servant" comes from is. 52:13, a messianic psalm. Jesus can be considered the Servant of God because He gave His life as a guilt offering for the sins of all humanity, t he Father raised Jesus from the dead as confirmation that His sacrifice was accepted. Peter pointed to the healing of the beggar as a sign of the glorification of Christ. t he people had handed Jesus over to Pilate to be crucified. Yet God had raised the crucified Jesus from the dead. it was in the name of this very same Jesus that the crippled man was healed.

3:17, 18 you did . . . God foretold: t throughout Peter's sermon in ch. 2, he balances the human responsibility of the Jews and Romans with the eternal plan of God.

19<sup>w</sup> Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord,<sup>20</sup> and that He may send<sup>3</sup> Jesus Christ, who was<sup>4</sup> preached to you before,<sup>21</sup><sup>x</sup> whom heaven must receive until the times of<sup>y</sup> restoration of all things,<sup>z</sup> which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since<sup>5</sup> the world began.<sup>22</sup> For Moses truly said to the fathers,<sup>a</sup> *‘The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. greatly disturbed that they taught the people and preached in Jesus the resurrection from the dead.<sup>3</sup> And they laid hands on them, and put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening.<sup>4</sup> However, many of those who heard the word believed; and the number of the men came to be about five thousand.

Addressing the Sanhedrin

<sup>5</sup> And it came to pass, on the next day, that their rulers, elders, and scribes,<sup>6</sup> as well as<sup>b</sup> Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the family of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem.<sup>7</sup> And when they had set them in the midst, they asked,<sup>c</sup> “By what power or by what name have you done this?”

<sup>8</sup> <sup>d</sup> Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, “Rulers of the people and elders of Israel: <sup>9</sup> If we this day are judged for a good deed done to a helpless man, by what means he has been made well, <sup>10</sup> let it be known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, <sup>e</sup> that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, <sup>f</sup> whom God raised from the dead, by Him this man stands here before you whole. <sup>11</sup> This is the <sup>g</sup> ‘stone which was rejected by you builders, which has become the

3:19 t he word translated refreshing refers to restoration of strength and nourishment. Strength is restored when hope is restored. Peter challenged the people to repent and be converted, to change their thinking about Jesus as their messiah and to serve Him.

4:1–4 t he Sadducees were greatly disturbed for two reasons. First, the Sadducees were skeptics who rejected all the ot except the books of Moses, and who denied the resurrection from the dead. Peter’s teaching about the resurrection challenged their beliefs and teaching. Second, the Sadducees were leaders of the Jews at that time. t hey came from wealthy families and consorted with the Roman government in order to maintain their position, influence, and wealth. t he last thing the Sadducees wanted was for a couple of Jewish men to declare the resurrection of a king. laid hands on them . . . believed: t he attempt to silence God’s truth by arresting His messengers did not hinder His work. t hough God’s servants are chained, His word is never chained (see 2 t im. 2:9). t he result of the Sadducees’ taking two men into custody was that five thousand people believed the gospel message.

4:6 were gathered together: t he Sanhedrin, which consisted of 70 men plus the high priest, was the highest Jewish court. t he group consisted of the wealthiest, most educated, and most powerful Jewish men in Israel. Annas the high priest: Annas had been removed as high priest in A.D. 14 by the Romans. At the time of Christ, the high priests were appointed by the Roman governors. Apparently Annas had become a political threat to Rome. t he Jewish people refused to acknowledge Roman authority over such matters; so even though Annas was officially removed from his office, the Jewish people still considered him high priest. Caiaphas, the son-in-law of Annas, was the actual high priest. John was most likely the son of Annas who succeeded Caiaphas in A.D. 37.

4:7 Because the healing of the lame man was indisputable (3:1–10), the question was how the man was healed and by whose authority or name the healing had been performed.

4:8–10 Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit: t his is the second description in the Book of Acts of someone being filled with the Holy Spirit (see v. 31; 2:4; 9:17; 13:9). t he initial filling accompanied the baptism in the Spirit. t his filling brought boldness for God’s work. Jesus had promised His disciples that they would stand before kings and rulers and that the Spirit of God within them would implant in their minds exactly what to say to these leaders (see matt. 10:16–20).

4:11 the chief cornerstone: t he ot refers to the cornerstone as the foundation of the earth (Job 38:6), the foundation (is. 28:16), the stone for the corner (Jer. 51:26), the head cornerstone (Ps. 118:22), or the headstone (Zech. 4:7). t hus the image of a cornerstone is used as both the chief stone and the stone at the corner of a foundation. in the first century A.D., the expression chief cornerstone was also used to refer to the stone placed on the summit of the Jerusalem temple. t hus Peter used the phrase to point out that when the people rejected Jesus Christ, they rejected the one who completed the plan of God for humankind. t he phrase and its significance here would

t he Greek word plēthō is used for describing the filling of anything from a sponge to a boat (matt. 27:48; Luke 5:7). Luke uses this common term to describe how the Holy Spirit influences a person. He uses the expression filled with the Holy Spirit eight times in his writings. in every case, the filling of the Holy Spirit enables the person so endowed to speak or preach for God. t hus, the filling of the Spirit is directly related to the prophetic ministry, the revelation or explanation of God’s word.

chief cornerstone.<sup>12h</sup> Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.”

The Name of Jesus Forbidden

<sup>13</sup> Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, <sup>i</sup> and perceived that they were uneducated and untrained men, they marveled. And they realized that they had been with Jesus. <sup>14</sup> And seeing the man who had been healed <sup>j</sup> standing with them, they could say nothing against it. <sup>15</sup> But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves, <sup>16</sup> saying, <sup>k</sup> “What shall we do to these men? For, indeed, that a <sup>l</sup> notable miracle has been done through them is <sup>l</sup> evident<sup>2</sup> to all who dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. <sup>17</sup> But so that it spreads no further among the people, let us severely threaten them, that from now on they speak to no man in this name.”

<sup>18m</sup> So they called them and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus. <sup>19</sup> But Peter and John answered and said to them, <sup>n</sup> “Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you more than to God, you judge. <sup>20o</sup> For we cannot but speak the things which <sup>p</sup> we have seen and heard.” <sup>21</sup> So when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way of punishing them, <sup>q</sup> because of the people, since they all <sup>r</sup> glorified God for <sup>s</sup> what had been done. <sup>22</sup> For the man was over forty years old on whom this miracle of healing had been performed.

Prayer for Boldness

<sup>23</sup> And being let go, <sup>t</sup> they went to their own companions and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said to them. <sup>24</sup> So when they heard that, they raised their voice to God with one accord and said: “Lord, <sup>u</sup> You are God, who made heaven and earth and the sea, and all that

<sup>31</sup> And when they had prayed, <sup>e</sup> the place where they were assembled together was shaken; and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, <sup>f</sup> and they spoke the word of God with boldness.

Sharing in All Things

have been well understood in the first century, especially among the Jewish rabbis and people who knew the Scriptures.

4:12 no other name: only by placing faith in the historical Jesus—the one who came, died, and was raised again—can a person be saved.

4:13 even though Peter and John were uneducated Galilean fishermen, they spoke with confidence and freedom. t heir presentation of the gospel was powerful because they were personal witnesses of everything they spoke about (1:22).

4:14–18 they could say nothing: t he Sanhedrin knew that the miracle was real. t he apostles offered their explanation: t he miracles were the work of the resurrected Christ. But instead of believing, the members of the Sanhedrin concerned themselves with “damage control.” t hey tried to intimidate the apostles by warning them not to speak or teach in the name of Jesus.

4:19 listen to you more than to God: t here is no authority apart from God. when human authority rejects God’s authority, it becomes twisted and loses its right to demand compliance (5:29). From the beginning, God’s people have resisted any command that was against God’s will (for example, the Jewish midwives of ex. 1; mooses’ parents in Heb. 11:23; Shadrach, meshach, and Abed-nego in dan. 3). 4:23–31 t he response of Peter and John’s companions after the apostles’ release was a spontaneous outburst of praise, song, and prayer.

4:32–37 Luke notes that for the early Christians, being filled with the Holy Spirit meant not only proclaiming the word of God, but also sharing their possessions with those in need.

Barnabas by the apostles (which is translated Son of <sup>5</sup>Encouragement), a Levite of the country of Cyprus, <sup>37</sup>o having land, sold it, and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

Lying to the Holy Spirit

5 But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession. <sup>2</sup> And he kept back part of the proceeds, his wife also being aware of it, and brought a certain part and laid it at the apostles' feet. <sup>3a</sup> But Peter said, "Ananias, why has <sup>b</sup>Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back part of the price of the land for yourself? <sup>4</sup> While it remained, was it not your own? And after it was sold, was it not in your own control? Why have you conceived this thing in your heart? You have not lied to men but to God."

<sup>5</sup> Then Ananias, hearing these words, <sup>c</sup>fell down and breathed his last. So great fear came upon all those who heard these things. <sup>6</sup> And the young men arose and <sup>d</sup>wrapped him up, carried him out, and buried him.

<sup>7</sup> Now it was about three hours later when his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. <sup>8</sup> And Peter answered her, "Tell me whether you sold the land for so much?"

She said, "Yes, for so much."

<sup>9</sup> Then Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together <sup>e</sup>to test the Spirit of the Lord? Look, the feet of

And the young men came in and found her dead, and carrying her out, buried her by her husband. <sup>11g</sup> So great fear came upon all the church and upon all who heard these things.

Continuing Power in the Church

Imprisoned Apostles Freed

<sup>17n</sup> Then the high priest rose up, and all those who were with him (which is the sect of the Sadducees), and they were filled with <sup>i</sup>indignation, <sup>18o</sup>and laid their hands on the apostles and put them in the common prison. <sup>19</sup> But at night <sup>p</sup>an

5:1, 2 Ananias and Sapphira wanted to have a reputation like that of Barnabas (4:36, 37), but they did not have the same character he had. At a time when others were seeking to serve their fellow believers, Ananias and Sapphira were seeking to serve themselves.

5:3 why has Satan filled your heart: Ananias and Sapphira believed in the Lord Jesus Christ; however, they had succumbed to the temptations of greed and pride. Note that the same word filled is used here in connection with Satan as is used in 4:8 of the Holy Spirit. The term means to take possession of or control. God's children, who have been freed from the tyranny of Satan, have the ability to choose whom they will allow to control them. When we choose to sin, we open the door to Satan. The evil one tempted Ananias and Sapphira with wicked desires and thoughts, and they yielded their will to these temptations. lie to the Holy Spirit: The author of all lies is Satan (see John 8:44). When Ananias and Sapphira deliberately lied, they took upon themselves the moral character of the one who is behind all lies, the devil himself.

5:4 You have not lied to men but to God: The Holy Spirit is the third person of the triune Godhead. To lie to Him (v. 3) is to lie to God. in your own control: Ananias and Sapphira could have kept a part of their proceeds or they could have kept it all; their stewardship was between them and the Lord. But the problem was that they wanted others to believe they had sacrificed everything when in fact they had given only a portion to the Lord.

5:5 fell down and breathed his last: The severity of the punishment may seem extreme to some people, much like the story of Achan in Josh. 7:16–26. However, Prov. 6:16–19 tells us how God feels about deception and division. The early church was vulnerable to great spiritual danger. Yet Jesus had promised (matt. 16:18) that the power of hell would not destroy this fledgling church in its infant stage. God would move with great discipline to ensure its purity and survival.

5:8 Peter gave Ananias's wife an opportunity to tell the truth. Sapphira would not be disciplined for the sin of her husband, even though Ananias and Sapphira were married, they were also brother and sister in Jesus Christ. Sapphira was responsible for her own personal relationship with God. When Sapphira committed the same sin of rebellion and deception that her husband had committed, she received her own punishment.

5:12 Signs refers to supernatural occurrences that point to a warning, instruction, or encouragement from God. A sign gave credibility to the fact that what was being said was from God. Wonders points to the response to a sign. By its very nature a wonder caused awe in those who saw or heard it. Signs and wonders were given by God to confirm His word (see matt. 12:38, 39).

5:15 in the ancient world many people believed that a person's shadow could possess magical healing powers. The people referred to in this verse were not necessarily Christians, but those who believed that Peter, as an advocate of a new religion, had magical powers. The people imposed their superstitions upon this new faith. 5:16 they were all healed: God, working miracles through the apostles, never failed to bring complete physical restoration.

5:18 the imprisonment of the apostles apparently was a common event in the early church.

5:19 an angel of the Lord: The word for angel basically means "messenger." The phrase "angel of the Lord" is commonly used in the OT to refer to spiritual messengers of God. Sometimes these messengers were human beings and other times they were angelic

Gamaliel

Gamaliel is only mentioned twice in the nt (5:34; 22:3), but he exerted a profound influence on the course of Christianity. In the first instance, the Sanhedrin met to deal with the Christians, who insisted that the Sanhedrin was responsible for the messiah's death. In this emotionally heated session, Gamaliel rose and gave a surprisingly insightful speech that obviously swayed the Sanhedrin (5:38, 39). Rather than the flogging they anticipated, Peter and the apostles were given a severe warning and were released. The second reference was made by Paul, Gamaliel's former pupil. Paul was appealing to a Jewish mob, and he was not hesitant to link himself to this great teacher. Gamaliel's further influence on Paul can only be surmised. Paul's clear and logical manner of explaining the great doctrines of the Christian faith was no doubt the result, at least in part, of his schooling "at the feet of Gamaliel."

angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, <sup>20</sup> "Go, stand in the temple and speak to the people <sup>q</sup> all the words of this life."

<sup>21</sup> And when they heard that, they entered the temple early in the morning and taught. <sup>r</sup> But the high priest and those with him came and called the <sup>2</sup> council together, with all the <sup>3</sup> elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.

Apostles on Trial Again

doors; but when we opened them, we found no one inside!" <sup>24</sup> Now when <sup>5</sup> the high priest, <sup>s</sup> the captain of the temple, and the chief priests heard these things, they wondered what the outcome would be. <sup>25</sup> So one came and told them, <sup>6</sup> saying, "Look, the men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people!"

Gamaliel's Advice

beings. In some places the phrase may even refer to the preincarnate Christ. Considering the events of this particular passage, it is clear that a supernatural visitor is in view.

5:20 Note that the angel's orders were not to escape from the city, but to return to the temple courts, where the disciples had been first arrested, and speak to the people. The fact that the disciples would return to the place of their arrest was an open testimony to the Jewish leaders and the general public that these men were willing to die for the truth they were proclaiming.

5:29 We ought to obey God: As to the accusation of disobedience to authority, Peter put the charge in context. Jesus had said, "You shall be witnesses to me" (1:8). The council said in effect, "You shall not be His witnesses" (see v. 28). All authority comes from God. When any authority commands what God has forbidden, or forbids what God has commanded, a Christian must obey the Author of all authority, God Himself. We submit to governmental authority because the one who instituted the authority is God Himself. When we submit to government, we are submitting to God.

5:30 Tree here refers to the Cross (see deut. 21:22, 23; 1 Pet. 2:24).

5:31 The declaration that God has exalted Him to His right hand would have been understood by the Sanhedrin as a reference to the Resurrection. The apostles' claim regarded the resurrected Jesus as equal with God (see John 5:18; 10:33).

5:34 Gamaliel was a highly respected Pharisee, the grandson of the famous Rabbi Hillel, a brilliant spiritual leader. Gamaliel was the teacher of Saul, who would later become the apostle Paul (22:3). Gamaliel was given the honored title of "Rabban," meaning "our teacher." It is said in the Mishna—the commentary on the Torah, the first five books of the OT—that when Gamaliel died, "the glory of the Torah ceased, and purity and sanctity died out also." This is an impressive eulogy for a Jewish teacher.

5:36, 37 A certain Theudas is mentioned by the Jewish historian Josephus, who places Theudas's revolt against Rome around A.D. 44. According to Gamaliel, the revolution by Theudas took place before Judas of Galilee, who began the Zealot movement around A.D. 6. The Romans quickly punished Theudas and his followers, forcing the movement underground. Some scholars believe Luke erred in placing Theudas before Judas of Galilee. However, it is more likely that Gamaliel and Josephus spoke of two different men. Theudas was a very common name. There were a number of insurrections and revolution attempts recorded: Josephus himself refers to ten thousand of them. Most likely, the revolution of Theudas that Gamaup, claiming to be somebody. A number of men, about four hundred,<sup>9</sup> joined him. He was slain, and all who obeyed him were scattered and came to nothing.<sup>37</sup> After this man, Judas of Galilee rose up in the days of the census, and drew away many people after him. He also perished, and all who obeyed him were dispersed.<sup>38</sup> And now I say to you, keep away from these men and let them alone; for if this plan or this work is of men, it will come to nothing;<sup>39</sup> but if it is of God, you cannot overthrow it—lest you even be found j to fight against God.”

<sup>40</sup> And they agreed with him, and when they had k called for the apostles l and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go.<sup>41</sup> So they departed from the presence of the council, m rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for l His name.<sup>42</sup> And daily n in the temple, and in every house, o they did not cease teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ.

liel referred to took place before A.B. 6 and was led by a different t heudas than the person Josephus mentions in his history.

5:40 they agreed with him: God first delivered the disciples from jail by supernatural means, sending an angel from heaven (vv. 19, 20). t hen God delivered them through natural means, causing an enemy of Christianity to argue for their release. t his passage is proof of the work of God’s sovereign hand in history. He can even use the thoughts of those who oppose the gospel to preserve and protect His servants.

5:41 t his verse provides the first instance of physical persecution against the followers of Jesus Christ—in this case against the leaders of the Christian movement. t he apostles’ response would set a precedent for other Christians who would be persecuted. instead of complaining or feeling sorry for themselves, they rejoiced that they were counted worthy by God to endure the abuse. t he apostles knew that more important things than preserving their health and life were at stake. God was using the suffering of the disciples to bring people into His kingdom (see matt. 5:10–12; Phil. 1:29; 2 tim. 2:12).

6:1 The Hellenists were those of Jewish descent who grew up outside the land of israel. t hey spoke Greek, were raised in Hellenistic culture, and used the Greek translation of the Hebrew ot, the Septuagint (2:5). The Hebrews were Palestinian Jews who spoke Aramaic and used the Hebrew ot. t here may have been an animosity between the groups, even among the new believers, which gave rise to distrust and tension over the care of the widows who were neglected. in Jewish law, a woman did not receive an inheritance. She was dependent on her husband or another relative.

6:2 should leave the word of God: t he issue here was not blame, but rather what could be done to remedy the apparent injustice. t he apostles knew that the problem of supporting the needy required attention. t ough the apostles were sensitive enough to recognize the problem, they were also careful to recognize the priorities that are placed on church leaders by God. t hey could not leave what God had called them to do—declaring and teaching the word of God and establishing the church in prayer. serve tables: in nt times, business was transacted over tables. t he work of administering and distributing care to those in need would have been carried on over tables and thus was a ministry of service rather than a ministry of speaking. t he words serve here and ministry in v. 4 translate Greek words that are related to the english word deacon.

6:3 seek out: t he leaders of the church included the congregation in the search process. t he local council in Jewish communities usually consisted of seven men known as the “seven of the town.” t he men who would be chosen would be known among the people for their good reputation because they were full of the Holy Spirit and wisdom. t he men’s lives were consistent with their confession of faith. t hey knew the will of God and understood how to carry it out in their lives (see eph. 5:15–18). t hey could be trusted with responsibility and authority.

6:4 prayer and . . . word: note the order here. Prayer was primary for the apostles (2:42).

6:5 they chose Stephen . . . Nicolas: All these names are Greek. t he selection of Hellenists no doubt was a wise and gracious gesture to the people who had initially raised the complaint concerning the widows (v. 1).

6:6 t he laying on of hands was not for these men to receive the Holy Spirit, because the seven men were already “full of the Holy Spirit” (vv. 3, 5). instead the apostles were conferring on these men the responsibility of carrying out the ministry. t he laying on of hands was a meaningful tradition that dated back to the days of moyses (see num. 27:15–23), and it identified people with the ministries to be performed.

6:7 the word of God spread: what Jesus Christ had done in the lives of these people was spreading throughout the region. men and women became disciples who lived in submission to Christ’s lordship. t hey were not ashamed of their faith, but with great boldness they went out to bear witness to the truth of the gospel that had changed their lives. t his is what Jesus promised would happen. a great many of the priests: it is estimated that in Jerusalem there were some eight thousand priests. Luke is not referring here to those who attacked the faith (4:1, 2; 5:17, 18). most priests were not from the high priestly families. t hey had ordinary vocations that permitted them to serve their turn in the temple periodically—much like Zacharias, the father of John the Baptist. t hese were humble, devoted men of God who became obedient this place and change the customs which Moses delivered to us.” <sup>15</sup>And all who sat in the council, looking steadfastly at him, saw his face as the face of an angel.

Stephen Accused of Blasphemy

Stephen's Address: The Call of Abraham

7 Then the high priest said, “Are these things so?”

<sup>2</sup>And he said, <sup>a</sup>“Brethren and fathers, listen: The <sup>b</sup>God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in <sup>c</sup>Haran, <sup>3</sup>and said to him, <sup>d</sup>“Get out of your country and from your relatives, and come to a land that I will show you.” <sup>4</sup>Then <sup>e</sup>he came out of the land of the Chaldeans and dwelt in Haran. And from there, when his father was <sup>f</sup>dead, He moved him to this land in which you now dwell. <sup>5</sup>And God gave him no inheritance in it, not to the faith, recognizing Jesus as the Christ. t heir service in the temple was enhanced because they understood the truth behind the rituals they performed.

6:8 Stephen was full of wisdom (v. 3), full of the Holy Spirit (v. 5), and full of faith and power. He had the gifts, the boldness, and the brilliance to be a powerful witness; yet even his witness would be rejected by the religious leaders. Hearts are opened only by God, not by our gifts, boldness, or brilliance.

6:9 the Synagogue of the Freedmen: A synagogue was a local place of worship, a community center for worship and studying the Scriptures. in contrast, the temple was the one worship center for all Judaism, the focus of Jewish rituals such as sacrifice. t here were many synagogues both in Judea and throughout the Roman world. t he one referred to in this verse was for Hellenistic Jews from outside Jerusalem.

6:12 Resistance to the gospel had gone from discussion to debate, from debate to slander, and from slander to violence. t he antagonist stirred up the people by convincing them that the essence of the Jewish faith—the things held as most sacred: the temple, the Law, Moses, and even God—was under attack by Stephen. t he issue was not the work of Christ on the Cross but the core of traditional Jewish religion.

7:1 The high priest presumably was Caiaphas, the man who had presided over the Sanhedrin’s trial of Jesus.

7:2 The God of glory appeared: God intervened in history again and again to speak to His people. when God first spoke to Abraham, it was not in the temple of Jerusalem; it was not even in Palestine.

7:4 t he text does not explain why Abraham settled in Haran when the Promised Land was Canaan. All we know is that Abraham chose to wait for his father to die before he journeyed to the Promised Land (see Gen. 12:1).

7:5 gave him no inheritance in it: God moved Abraham along his spiritual pilgrimage from blessing to blessing. Possession was in the Book of Acts, the infant church faced opposition from Jew and Gentile alike. But with every successive wave of persecution, the church grew more and more. in hardships and trials, Christians depended increasingly on the Lord for strength and guidance. in so doing, they demonstrated their faith to others.

Stephen, one of the seven men chosen to minister to the needs of the neglected in the early church, became the first martyr of the Christian faith, but he certainly was not the last. Although falsely accused of blaspheming Moses and God, his unfair treatment and violent death would serve as an example to persecuted believers throughout the centuries who would face similar trials for upholding the name of Christ.

t he Book of Acts tells us that right after the stoning of Stephen, a zealous young Pharisee named Saul continued the persecution of the new faith by hunting its members down and imprisoning them to face similar charges and similar fates. Although Saul was trying to stop the spread of the Christian faith, other eventual persecutors such as the Roman emperor Nero (A.D. 37–68) cared little about the blaspheming of a Jewish deity. Nero was merely looking for scapegoats to take the blame for the great fire that destroyed most of Rome in A.D. 64.

Later Christian martyrs would face death at the hands of their so-called fellow believers. William Tyndale (1494–1536) was burned at the stake for heresy because he dared to translate the Bible into the English language, thus making it more accessible to the common person. Others have traveled into remote areas fully aware of the dangers of retribution from pagans. in 1956, five American missionaries were murdered in the jungles of Ecuador by headhunters called the Aucas. t his same tribe was eventually converted to Christianity through the persistence of missionaries, who emulated the perseverance of the martyred missionaries who had gone before them.

Since Stephen’s death, countless Christians have died for their witness to the truth of the gospel. t hey set their eyes on Jesus instead of on this world. t hey did not value the approval of people over the approval of their Savior. t herefore, they refused to disown Jesus. For their courage to stand up for the truth, Jesus promises to acknowledge them before His Father in heaven (see Matt. 10:32, 33).

even enough to set his foot on. But even when Abraham had no child, <sup>g</sup>He promised to give it to him for a possession, and to his descendants after him. <sup>6</sup>But God spoke in this way: <sup>h</sup>that his descendants would dwell in a foreign land, and that they would bring them into <sup>i</sup>bondage and oppress them four hundred years. <sup>7j</sup>‘And the nation to whom they will be in bondage I will <sup>k</sup>judge,’ said God, <sup>l</sup>‘and after that they shall come out and serve Me in this place.’ <sup>8m</sup>Then He gave him the covenant of circumcision; <sup>n</sup>and so Abraham begot Isaac and circumcised him on the eighth day; <sup>o</sup>and Isaac begot Jacob, and <sup>p</sup>Jacob begot the twelve patriarchs.

The Patriarchs in Egypt

<sup>9q</sup>“And the patriarchs, becoming envious, <sup>r</sup>sold Joseph into Egypt. <sup>s</sup>But God was with him <sup>10</sup>and delivered him out of all his troubles, <sup>t</sup>and gave him favor and wisdom in the presence of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; and he made him governor over Egypt and all his house. <sup>11u</sup>Now a famine and great <sup>l</sup>trouble came over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and our fathers found no sustenance. <sup>12v</sup>But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first. <sup>13</sup>And the <sup>w</sup>second time Joseph was made known to his brothers, and Joseph’s family became known to the Pharaoh. <sup>14x</sup>Then Joseph sent and called his father Jacob and <sup>y</sup>all his relatives to him, <sup>2</sup>seventy-five people. <sup>15z</sup>So Jacob went down to Egypt; <sup>a</sup>and he died, he and our fathers. <sup>16</sup>And <sup>b</sup>they were carried back to Shechem and laid in <sup>c</sup>the tomb that Abraham bought for a sum of money from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem.

God Delivers Israel by Moses

<sup>23m</sup>“Now when he was forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel. <sup>24</sup>And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended and avenged him who was oppressed, and struck down the Egyptian. <sup>25</sup>For he supposed that his brethren would have understood that God would deliver them by his hand, but they did not understand. <sup>26</sup>And the next day he appeared to two of them as they were fighting, and tried to reconcile them, saying, ‘Men, you are not the goal, apparently, since God would not let Abraham settle down—to stagnate in God’s past blessing.

7:6, 7 Before Abraham’s descendants would be allowed to enjoy the land as their home, they would be tested in a furnace of affliction in a foreign land.

7:8 The covenant of circumcision was the symbol given to Abraham that he might never forget that God had promised to bless him. The sign of this promise was transmitted from generation to generation, from Gen. 17 to the time of Stephen’s confrontation with the Sanhedrin. Abraham was saved by faith (Gen. 15:6), and the symbol of circumcision was an outward sign demonstrating the genuineness of his faith. Similarly, God would bless Stephen’s audience not because of their circumcision, but because of their faith.

7:9 The patriarchs refers to Jacob, the grandson of Abraham, and his 12 sons. Jacob’s name, meaning “Usurper,” was changed by God to Israel, meaning something like “God’s defender.” His 12 sons were the founders of the 12 tribes of Israel.

7:11 The famine proved to be the providential means of bringing Joseph’s brethren to Egypt in search of grain—and more importantly, of reconciling them with Joseph.

7:14 Stephen stated that seventy-five people in all went to Egypt. Genesis 46:26 indicates that 66 people accompanied Jacob to Egypt, not including Jacob, Joseph, and the 2 sons of Joseph. Stephen derived the number 75 from the Septuagint translation of the OT. The translators apparently added 9 wives (Gen. 46:26 says the number 66 did not include the wives). It was only 9 and not 12 because the wives of Judah and Simeon had died and Joseph’s wife was already in Egypt.

7:16 Why did Stephen make the point that the patriarchs were buried in Shechem? At the time of Stephen’s defense, Shechem was the center of Samaritan life. Nearby was Mt. Gerizim, the site of another temple (see John 4:20). Stephen was charged with speaking against the temple in Jerusalem as if this were tantamount to speaking against God Himself. Stephen’s point was that God had been speaking and moving in the lives of His people in and out of Jerusalem, with and without a temple. The most important address God made to His people was at Mt. Sinai, which was nowhere near Jerusalem.

7:17-19 Abraham’s descendants enjoyed prosperity and great growth that proved threatening to the Egyptians and to Pharaoh, who did not know Joseph.

7:22 No person has been given the attention in Jewish tradition that Moses has. It is said that Pharaoh initially had no son; therefore, Moses was being prepared by Pharaoh’s daughter to succeed to the throne. For this reason, Moses was educated in all the wisdom of the Egyptians. Later, Pharaoh had a son of his own to succeed him instead of Moses. Jewish tradition also states that Moses became a great captain among the Egyptians, leading them to victory against the Ethiopians. Thus he was mighty in words and deeds.

7:23-29 In the opinion of some Jewish rabbis, forty was the age at which a man had grown to maturity. Moses’ life is divided into three parts: the first 40 years in the palace of Pharaoh, the second 40 years in the desert, and the third 40 years carrying out God’s will to deliver His people. Moses began his period of wilderness training after he had tried to free the Israelites in a way that God had not chosen. We must be careful to do God’s work in God’s way, in God’s time, and for God’s reasons. It has been said that Moses spent 40 years thinking he was somebody, then spent 40 years finding out he was nobody. Finally, he spent 40 years finding out what God could do with somebody who was nobody.

Jewish History

Political change can often lead to changed perspectives on history. The destruction of Jerusalem and its temple by the Romans in A.D. 70 forced the Hebrews to radically rethink the significance of Jerusalem and its institutions. Stephen and his fellow Christians had already departed from the earlier Jewish view that the world revolved around Israel, which in turn revolved around the temple and the Law. They still saw Jerusalem as more than just a city, but they made it into a new symbol of a higher ideal. Stephen's view of history brought the conflict between the new movement and the city fathers to a boil. Outraged, the council stoned Stephen to death and allowed Saul to start persecuting believers. Stephen's perspective on Jerusalem challenges us as modern Christians to reflect on our loyalty to beloved institutions. Our highest allegiance must be to Christ.

7:30-34 in relating the burning bush incident, Stephen once again underscored the fact that God is free to reveal Himself wherever He pleases. wherever God does so, that ground becomes holy ground.

7:35-40 Stephen pointed out that Moses, the very one the Jewish leaders accused him of speaking against (6:11), was rejected by the leaders' forefathers as God's appointed leader and redeemer—just as the leaders were rejecting Jesus. it was this same Moses who spoke of the coming of Jesus in deut. 18. Stephen challenged the religious leaders of his day either to believe all of what Moses taught or none of it. our fathers would not obey: the talmud, the Jewish commentary on the ot, calls the rebellion involving the golden calf "that unspeakable deed." the rabbis did not want to talk about it, forbidding a translation of the account in the vernacular for the synagogue services. the Jewish religious leaders wanted to bury the incident, but Stephen wanted to dig it back up.

God's True Tabernacle

Stephen the Martyr

54<sup>e</sup>When they heard these things they were <sup>s</sup>cut to the heart, and they gnashed at him with their teeth. <sup>55</sup>But he, <sup>j</sup>being full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the <sup>g</sup>glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God, <sup>56</sup>and said, “Look! <sup>h</sup>I see the heavens opened and the <sup>i</sup>Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!”

57Then they cried out with a loud voice, stopped their ears, and ran at him with one accord; <sup>58</sup>and they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And <sup>j</sup>the witnesses laid down their clothes at the feet of a young man named Saul. <sup>59</sup>And they stoned Stephen as he was calling on God and saying, “Lord Jesus, <sup>k</sup>receive my spirit.” <sup>60</sup>Then he knelt down and cried out with a loud voice, <sup>l</sup>“Lord, do not charge them with this sin.” And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Saul Persecutes the Church

8 Now Saul was consenting to his death. At that time a great persecution arose against the church which was at Jerusalem; and <sup>a</sup>they were all scattered

7:44 t he ancient tabernacle had been the focus of the israelites’ national worship, even after the miraculous deliverance from egypt there was a tendency among the people to forget God’s presence with them. t he tabernacle was a constant testimony of God’s presence no matter where the people went. Paul tells us that we are the tabernacle, the temple of God (see 1 Cor. 3:16). we can never move out of the presence of God, for we carry His presence with us (see Ps. 139).

7:46–48 it was david’s desire to give God a permanent dwelling. t he danger of david’s request was that some might identify the presence of God with one place, as if God were confined to that location. God honored david’s desire by permitting his son Solomon to build such a house and by filling it with the Shekinah glory, a demonstration of His presence. But God did not live in the temple. t he Creator cannot be confined by anything He has made. His presence fills all that He has made. Solomon understood this when he dedicated the temple (see 1 Kin. 8:27–30). in his speech, Stephen emphasized that God could not be confined to temples made with hands.

7:52 Which of the prophets: Stephen put the council on the spot. t he members of the council wanted to appear open to God’s truth, but they and their ancestors rarely wanted to hear God’s truth through His messengers. Jesus made essentially the same charges in matt. 23:34–36. Stephen did not shrink from accusing the Sanhedrin of handing Jesus over to death, thus becoming His murderers. He used even stronger language than Peter had (3:13–15).

7:55 Stephen at that moment was full of the Holy Spirit, which was evidenced by the fact that all he wanted to do was please God. He was consumed only with doing God’s will by responding to this terrifying moment in the way that would glorify Him. Stephen completely trusted the Holy Spirit to empower him to respond in the proper way.

7:56 I see . . . the Son of Man: Gazing at death may be terrifying, but gazing past death to the presence of Jesus waiting for the believer is the hope that dissolves the fear. we have the opportunity to glorify God in the face of death, boldly declaring our confidence in the fact that we will spend eternity in the presence of God. Stephen’s use of the title Son of Man is similar to the Lord’s appellation of Himself in matt. 16:13 and the apocalyptic statements about the messiah in dan. 7:13.

7:59, 60 Because Jewish law did not allow an execution within the walls of the Holy City, the religious leaders took Stephen outside the city walls. Jewish custom was that the first witness would push the condemned person face forward into a pit some 12 feet deep. if the man survived the fall, the body would be turned over and large boulders would be thrown down on his chest to crush his ribs. if he remained alive, stones would be thrown by the whole congregation. t he situation may have been a little different with Stephen, perhaps due to the executioners’ haste; the text indicates that Stephen knelt (v. 60). Lord Jesus, receive my spirit: Stephen’s work was done. He was immediately ushered into the presence of Jesus (see Luke 23:43; 2 Cor. 5:8; Phil. 1:21–23). Lord, do not charge them: As Jesus had done, Stephen requested mercy for his killers.

8:1 t he church father Augustine wrote that the church owes Paul to the prayer of Stephen. Saul, who later became the apostle Paul, never forgot the way Stephen died—he also did not conceal that he was in full agreement with the killing (22:20). God promises in Rom. 8:28 that all things work together for good, even though Paul throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles. <sup>2</sup>And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and <sup>b</sup>made great lamentation over him.

<sup>3</sup>As for Saul, <sup>c</sup>he made havoc of the church, entering every house, and dragging off men and women, committing them to prison.

Christ Is Preached in Samaria

in the city and <sup>h</sup>astonished the <sup>3</sup>people of Samaria, claiming that he was someone great, <sup>10</sup>to whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, “This man is the great power of God.” <sup>11</sup>And they heeded him because he had astonished them with his <sup>4</sup> sorceries for a long time. <sup>12</sup>But when they believed Philip as he preached the things <sup>i</sup> concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, both men and women were baptized. <sup>13</sup>Then Simon himself also believed; and when he was baptized he continued with Philip, and was amazed, seeing the miracles and signs which were done.

The Sorcerer's Sin

was struggling against the work of the early church and the church was experiencing its worst persecution up to that time, it was this struggle that would eventually lead Paul, the man who wrote at least half of the NT, to eternal life. they were all scattered: t his phrase speaks of scattering seeds on the ground so that something will grow. t he members of the church in Jerusalem may not have understood what was happening to them, but Jesus would not let His church become limited racially, culturally, or geographically. t hese early believers became missionaries as much as refugees. At this point the entire church began to pay the price of discipleship. except the apostles: t he initial target of the great persecution was the Hellenistic or Greek-speaking Jewish believers, in the person of Stephen.

8:3 Stephen's death supplied the spark for the persecution, and Saul supplied the leadership (v. 1). He made havoc describes a wild boar ravaging something in an attempt to destroy it (22:4, 19; 26:9–11). Saul had all the legal papers he needed to direct this persecution, and he had the authority to put people to death. Saul was arresting the Christians, men and women, and taking them to prison. After Saul was converted to Christ, the Lord appeared to Ananias, instructing him to go minister to Saul. However, because Ananias had heard about the tremendous pain and suffering Saul had afflicted upon the Jewish believers, he was afraid to go (ch. 9).

8:5 Philip went to preach the gospel to Samaria as Jesus had commissioned (1:8). in the first century, the Jews and the Samaritans hated each other. t he Jews considered the Samaritans half-breeds and religious deviants. Following the fall of the northern kingdom of Israel in 722 BC., Samaria had been resettled by colonists brought to the land by the Assyrians. t hese colonists intermarried with the remaining Jews, and the Samaritans were descendants of these mixed marriages. t he Samaritans rejected the OT Scriptures beyond the five books of Moses. Furthermore, they built a rival temple on Mt. Gerizim. to express their disdain for the Samaritans, Jews traveling to Galilee would generally avoid Samaria by crossing over the Jordan River into Perea. But the gospel message transcended the first-century barrier between the Jews and Samaritans. t he Spirit of God created a loving fellowship of believers out of the hate that existed. t he formation of the Samaritan church indicates that there is no room for racism in the church (see 1 Cor. 12; Gal. 3:26–28), for Jesus died for the sins of the whole world.

8:13 Simon himself also believed: t hough this man was baptized, he had a long way to go in Christian doctrine and personal growth. Some people believe Peter's words in v. 21 indicate that Simon's confession and baptism were not genuine. Church history later associates Simon with heresy and identifies him as an enemy of the Christian faith. His actions have given to the vocabulary of the church the word “simony,” which means buying and selling of church offices.

8:14 the apostles . . . sent Peter and John: Jesus had given “the keys of the kingdom” (see Matt. 16:19) to Peter. He was the one God would use to open the doors to the Jews (ch. 2), the Samaritans (ch. 8), and the Gentiles (ch. 10).

8:15 that they might receive the Holy Spirit: Peter and John were the official messengers from Jerusalem to tell the Samaritans what had occurred at Pentecost. t he Samaritans had to know that salvation came from the Jews; the Jews, in turn, had to understand that the same salvation had come to the Samaritans. Jesus said in John 17 that the world would know that Jesus came from the Father when the world saw the unity of the body of Christ. w ith the tremendous hatred that existed between the Jews and Samaritans, God demonstrated to both sides that they would be united together as a church. t he dependence of the Samaritans upon the Jews to ## persecution

(Gk. diōgmos) (8:1; 2 Hess. 1:4; 2 Cor. 12:10) Strong's #1375

Persecution is the hatred and affliction that follows the witness and holy life of God's people in a hostile world. Jesus taught that God's prophets always faced persecution (Matt. 5:12); so His disciples should expect the same (Matt. 10:23). t he early Christians saw the persecution of Jesus' followers as a participation in His redemptive suffering: filling up “what is lacking in the afflictions of Christ” (Col. 1:24). t he idea of the coming messiah held that the suffering of God's people was part of the coming of the kingdom—evidence that a person is truly one of God's own. t herefore they are “blessed” (Matt. 5:10) and should “rejoice” and “glorify God” since “the time has come for judgment to begin at the house of God” (1 Pet. 4:13–17).

laid hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

<sup>18</sup>And when Simon saw that through the laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Spirit was given, he offered them money, <sup>19</sup>saying, "Give me this power also, that anyone on whom I lay hands may receive the Holy Spirit."

<sup>24</sup>Then Simon answered and said, "Pray to the Lord for me, that none of the things which you have spoken may come upon me."

<sup>25</sup>So when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel in many villages of the Samaritans.

8:18–25 Simon saw . . . the Holy Spirit was given: t he text does not indicate what exactly Simon saw. t he gift of tongues was a sign to the nation of israel (see 1 Cor. 14:20–22), so it is likely that the same sign was present at each step of the opening of the gospel—at Jerusalem, at Samaria, and at the home of Cornelius (ch. 10). Alternatively, the word saw may simply mean that Simon perceived what was happening. Give me this power: Verse 13 indicates that Simon was a believer. However, he confused the work of God with his previous magical practices. Because others had paid him for the secrets of his magic, he may have simply thought that this was the best way to approach Peter. He soon learned the error of his ways.

8:26 go toward the south along the road: t his road descended from Jerusalem to Gaza, southwest of Jerusalem, near the mediterranean coast of Palestine. Gaza was the last settlement before the desert wasteland stretching to egypt. t his was the road most travelers took to Africa. God had a divine appointment for Philip to meet the ethiopian eunuch. t he gospel would take a leap from the Samaritans to the "end of the earth" (1:8)—in this case, Africa.

8:27 he arose and went: Compare Philip's response with the unquestioning obedience of Abraham (see Gen. 22:3). Faith in God means being ready to move without explanation. a eunuch of great authority: technically a eunuch is a man who has been emasculated. However, by the first century the term had become a government title used for important military or political officials. t he ancient kingdom of ethiopia was ruled by a queen mother or Candace, who ruled on behalf of her son the king. Because the king was considered the child of the sun, he was too holy to become involved in secular affairs. t herefore, his mother took over the responsibility. t he eunuch in this passage was the minister of finance, a prominent position in the ethiopian regime. He was responsible for distributing the funds of the treasury based on the desires of the queen mother. had come to Jerusalem to worship: many Gentiles in the first century had grown weary of the multiple gods and loose morals of their nations. t hey were searching in Judaism for the truth. if they accepted Judaism as their faith, they would obey all the rules and regulations of the Law of moses. t his would include being circumcised and baptized. t his type of convert was called a proselyte. Gentiles who did not become proselytes but did attend the Jewish synagogues to listen to the Scriptures were called God-fearers. <sup>w</sup> e cannot be sure which the ethiopian eunuch was.

8:28, 29 t he chariot referred to in this passage was probably an ox-drawn wagon. most likely the eunuch was part of a caravan journeying in the same direction, moving slowly down the road. As was the practice of the day, the man was reading aloud. Philip, prompted by the Spirit, spoke to the man about the prophecy of isaiah, explaining the prophetic words about Christ.

8:30 Do you understand what you are reading: t his question indicates the diligence that is required in the study of Scripture (see 2 t im. 2:15). t he Spirit of God does not eliminate the need for human teachers or diligent study. t he Spirit is not given to make study needless but to make study effective.

t he n t writers often identified Jesus as being "the lamb," or "the Lamb of God." t hey were drawing upon many images in the ot concerning sacrificial lambs. n o doubt, the title "Lamb of God" would be associated in the minds of the Jews with the Passover lamb (see ex. 12), the lamb led to the slaughter in isaiah's prophecies (is. 53:7), and the lambs used in the daily sacrifices of sin offerings (Lev. 14:12, 21, 24; num. 6:12). in depicting Jesus as a lamb, the Scriptures were declaring that Jesus was the substitutionary sacrifice provided by God for our sins. t he announced messiah came not to be a philosopher, nor to be a teacher of morality. He came to do what we could not do for ourselves—take away our sin.

<sup>34</sup>So the eunuch answered Philip and said, “I ask you, of whom does the prophet say this, of himself or of some other man?” <sup>35</sup>Then Philip opened his mouth, <sup>c</sup>and beginning at this Scripture, preached Jesus to him. <sup>36</sup>Now as they went down the road, they came to some water. And the eunuch said, “See, here is water. <sup>d</sup>What hinders me from being baptized?”

And he answered and said, <sup>f</sup>“I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.”

<sup>38</sup>So he commanded the chariot to stand still. And both Philip and the eunuch went down into the water, and he baptized him. <sup>39</sup>Now when they came up out of the water, <sup>g</sup>the Spirit of the Lord caught Philip away, so that the eunuch saw him no more; and he went on his

The Damascus Road: Saul Converted

9 Then <sup>a</sup>Saul, still breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest <sup>2</sup>and asked <sup>b</sup>letters from him to the synagogues of Damascus, so that if he found any who were of the Way, whether men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.

3 <sup>c</sup> Acts 22:6; 26:12, 13; 1 Cor. 15:8 4 <sup>d</sup> [matt. 25:40]

8:35 preached Jesus to him: First-century Jews did not speak much about a suffering messiah. the Jewish people, facing the yoke of Roman rule, believed that the messiah would come as the Lion of Judah, a delivering King, not a weak lamb. they believed and taught that the suffering one spoken of by isaiah was the suffering nation of israel. most likely this eunuch had heard the “official” teaching of this passage in Jerusalem but still had some questions. Philip showed him that suffering one was Jesus. He had to suffer on the Cross for the sins of all of humanity.

8:36 What hinders me from being baptized: Having heard the message of Christ’s sacrifice for sin, the eunuch responded to the conviction of the Holy Spirit. irenaeus, an early church father who lived between A.D. 130 and 202, wrote that the eunuch returned to ethiopia and became a missionary to his own people.

8:39, 40 caught Philip away . . . Philip was found: the Greek word translated caught here is also used in 1 t hess. 4:17 for the catching away of the church into the air. though this passage may say only that Philip went from the desert to Azotus, most likely the terminology indicates a miraculous transportation.

9:1 Saul was still restless in his zeal to defend his Jewish faith from the new, supposedly dangerous Jewish messianic sect (8:3). the disciples: Christians were originally referred to as “disciples” and “belonging to the way.” Jesus Himself had used both of these titles (see matt. 28:19; John 14:6). Disciple means a follower, an imitator, one who has a master.

9:2 the letters were documents authorizing Saul to arrest Christians in damascus, 140 miles northeast of Jerusalem. Rome permitted the Jewish Sanhedrin to control Jewish affairs. At this time the new church was a Jewish affair. synagogues: the early Jewish believers in Jesus were still attending the synagogues. the synagogues in damascus had to cooperate with anyone who had the authorization that Saul possessed. Saul planned to take the followers of Jesus who had escaped to damascus back to Jerusalem to stand trial before the Sanhedrin (26:9–11), and probably to face a death sentence. The Way was a title for the followers of Jesus (see 19:9, 23; 22:4; 24:14, 22; John 14:6).

9:3–9 A light shone that was brighter than the sun and continued to shine around Saul (26:13). the light was so intense and penetrating that Saul fell to the ground, as did everyone who was with him (26:14). persecuting Me: in persecuting the church, Saul was persecuting the body of Christ whose individual members are in Christ (see 1 Cor. 12:27). the arguments of Stephen in his final speech, the spread of the gospel, and the extraordinary response of believers to the gospel were like goads to Saul, but Saul in his fury continued to resist such promptings from the Holy Spirit. hearing a voice but seeing no one: the men with Saul stood speechless, hearing the voice but not seeing the individual speaking. in ch. 22, Paul indicates that those with him saw the light but did not understand the voice, even though they heard the sound of it. when his eyes were opened he saw no one: ironically while Saul was blind, he would see his own spiritual blindness.

damascus represented much more to Saul, the strict Pharisee, than any other stop on his campaign of repression. it was the hub of a vast commercial network with far-flung lines of caravan trade reaching into north Syria, mesopotamia, Anatolia, Persia, and Arabia. if the new “way” of Christianity flourished in damascus, it would quickly reach all these places. From the viewpoint of the Sanhedrin and of Saul, the archpersecutor, it had to be stopped in damascus.

the dominant political figure at the time of Paul’s escape from damascus (2 Cor. 11:32, 33) was Aretas IV, king of the nabateans (9 B.C.–A.D. 40), though normally the decapolis cities were attached to the province of Syria and were thus under the influence of Rome.

the city itself was a veritable oasis, situated in a plain watered by the biblical rivers Abana and Pharpar. Roman architecture overlaid the Hellenistic town plan with a great temple to Jupiter and a mile-long colonnaded street, the “Straight Street” of Acts 9:11. the city gates and a section of the town wall may still be seen today, as well as the lengthy bazaar that runs along the line of the ancient street.

<sup>5</sup> And he said, “Who are You, Lord?”

Then the Lord said, “I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting. †It is hard for you to kick against the goads.”

<sup>6</sup> So he, trembling and astonished, said, “Lord, what do You want me to do?”

Then the Lord said to him, “Arise and go into the city, and you will be told what you must do.”

<sup>7</sup> And <sup>e</sup> the men who journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice but seeing no one. <sup>8</sup> Then Saul arose from the ground, and when his eyes were opened he saw no one. But they led him by the hand and brought him into Damascus. <sup>9</sup> And he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

Ananias Baptizes Saul

<sup>10</sup> Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus <sup>f</sup> named Ananias; and to him the Lord said in a vision, “Ananias.”

And he said, “Here I am, Lord.”

<sup>11</sup> So the Lord said to him, “Arise and go to the street called Straight, and inquire at the house of Judas for one called Saul <sup>g</sup> of Tarsus, for behold, he is praying. <sup>12</sup> And in a vision he has seen a man named Ananias coming in and putting his hand on him, so that he might receive his sight.”

9:10 not an apostle but a layman, a certain disciple . . . named Ananias was ready and available to be used by God. He did not know that God would send him to Saul, the man who had been vigorously persecuting the Christians.

9:11 in ancient damascus, the street called Straight went from one end of the city to the other.

9:13 So far in Acts, Christians have been called “disciples,” “believers,” and those belonging to “the way” (5:14; 6:1; 9:2). Here the word saints is used. it means those set apart by God for use in His service.

authority from the chief priests to bind all <sup>i</sup>who call on Your name.”

<sup>19</sup>So when he had received food, he was strengthened. <sup>s</sup>Then Saul spent some days with the disciples at Damascus.

Saul Preaches Christ

<sup>20</sup>Immediately he preached <sup>5</sup>the Christ in the synagogues, that He is the Son of God.

<sup>21</sup>Then all who heard were amazed, and said, “Is this not he who destroyed those who called on his name in Jerusalem, and has come here for that purpose, so that he might bring them bound to the chief priests?”

<sup>22</sup>But Saul increased all the more in strength, <sup>u</sup>and confounded the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, proving that this Jesus is the Christ.

plot became known to Saul. And they watched the gates day and night, to kill him. <sup>25</sup>Then the disciples took him by night and <sup>x</sup>let him down through the wall in a large basket.

Saul at Jerusalem

<sup>26</sup>And <sup>y</sup>when Saul had come to Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples; but they were all afraid of him, and did not believe that he was a disciple. <sup>27</sup><sup>z</sup>But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles. And he declared to them how he had seen the Lord on the road, and that He had spoken to him, <sup>a</sup>and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus. <sup>28</sup>So <sup>b</sup>he was with them at Jerusalem, coming in and going out. <sup>29</sup>And he spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus and disputed against the <sup>c</sup>Hellenists, <sup>6</sup><sup>d</sup>but they attempted to kill him. <sup>30</sup>When the brethren found out, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him out to Tarsus.

The Church Prospers

Aeneas Healed

<sup>32</sup>Now it came to pass, as Peter went <sup>j</sup>through all parts of the country, that he also came down to the saints who dwelt in Lydda. <sup>33</sup>There he found a certain man named Aeneas, who had been bedridden eight years and was paralyzed. <sup>34</sup>And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, <sup>k</sup>Jesus

9:17 Jesus, who appeared to you: Saul was not dreaming on the road to Damascus but instead had seen the resurrected Lord.

9:21 The people in Damascus were amazed that Saul was preaching, because Saul had come to kill Christians, not defend their faith. Saul’s fame as a persecutor of Christians was well known to the Jews in Damascus. The leaders of the synagogues were probably notified of his coming and instructed by the high priest to welcome this zealous defender of Judaism. They seem to have been unnerved at first, not only by the fact that Saul had become a Christian, but by the strength of his faith and of his argument from Scripture that Jesus was indeed the promised Savior of Israel, the messiah.

9:22, 23 So powerful was Saul’s argument from Scripture that Jesus is the Christ that the Jews plotted to kill him. They even enlisted the cooperation of the governor of Damascus under King Aretas IV of Arabia, who reigned from 9 B.C. to A.D. 40.

9:25 let him down through the wall in a large basket: If the Jewish leaders had caught the Damascus disciples helping Saul pursue his service to the Lord, the result probably would have been widespread persecution. In ancient times city walls contained all kinds of openings—windows without glass. Saul’s escape here recalls the spies’ escape from Jericho in Josh. 2:15 and David’s escape from King Saul in 1 Sam. 19:12. Basket here refers to a wide, flexible container used to carry large quantities of things. This was the first of many attempts on Paul’s life.

9:26, 27 It is no wonder that the disciples in Jerusalem were cautious about Saul, wondering whether his “conversion” was actually an attempt to infiltrate their ranks and catch them all. Barnabas, who had the gift of encouragement, saw Paul’s true heart and defended him to the other apostles.

9:29 Stephen had also debated the Hellenistic Jews (6:9). In a sense, Saul picked up where Stephen left off.

9:30 Tarsus, the birthplace of Saul, was about three hundred miles north of Jerusalem and about ten miles inland from the Mediterranean Sea. Tarsus was a well-known university city, surpassed in educational opportunities only by Athens and Alexandria.

9:31 Then the churches . . . had peace: This peace was not due solely to Saul’s conversion. Tiberius, the emperor of Rome, died around this time. He was replaced by Caligula, who wanted to erect a statue of himself in the temple at Jerusalem. This Jewish energy was directed away from persecuting Christians and toward Caligula. Here we see God’s sovereign hand at work, giving the early church a short season of respite.

9:34, 35 Jesus the Christ heals you: Everyone who witnessed the healing believed. The outcome of the one physical healing was many spiritual healings. Many turned to the Lord because they saw more than a crippled man walking around; they saw proof that Jesus was alive from the dead and had authority over disease.

the Christ heals you. Arise and make your bed.” Then he arose immediately.<sup>35</sup> So all who dwelt at Lydda and <sup>l</sup>Sharon saw him and <sup>m</sup>turned to the Lord.

Dorcas Restored to Life

Cornelius Sends a Delegation

<sup>4</sup>And when he observed him, he was afraid, and said, “What is it, lord?”

So he said to him, “Your prayers and your alms have come up for a memorial before God.<sup>5</sup> Now <sup>e</sup>send men to Joppa, and send for Simon whose surname is Peter.<sup>6</sup> He is lodging with <sup>f</sup>Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.<sup>9</sup> He<sup>4</sup> will tell you what you must do.”<sup>7</sup> And when the angel who spoke to him had departed, Cornelius called two of his household servants and a devout soldier from among those who waited on him continually.<sup>8</sup> So when he had explained all these things to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter's Vision

<sup>9</sup>The next day, as they went on their journey and drew near the city, <sup>h</sup>Peter went up on the housetop to pray, about <sup>5</sup>the sixth hour.<sup>10</sup> Then he became very hungry and wanted to eat; but while they made ready, he fell into a trance <sup>11</sup>and <sup>i</sup>saw heaven opened and an object like

9:43 to be a tanner was not desirable or socially acceptable in Israel. A tanner had to deal with dead animals, contrary to Jewish ceremonial practices, not to mention the unpleasantness of the work itself and its attendant odor.

10:1, 2 the following two chapters mark an important turning point in the Book of Acts. Those who were scattered by persecution from Jerusalem had been preaching the gospel only to Jews (11:19). At this point, they began to overcome their prejudices and carry the message of Christ to the Gentiles. As a centurion, Cornelius would have been part of a cohort, a regiment of the Roman military. A legion numbered about six thousand men. Each legion had ten cohorts of about six hundred men each. The cohorts were divided into centuries of a hundred men, and each century was commanded by a centurion, something like a modern sergeant. Cornelius was a Gentile of Italian descent. He and his family were “God-fearers,” similar to the Ethiopian eunuch (8:27). Caesarea, which was about 30 miles north of Joppa on the coast, was the capital of Judea under the Roman procurators.

10:6 lodging with Simon, a tanner: God cut away Peter’s prejudices by having him stay for many days not only with a Gentile, but with one whose trade Peter likely considered repulsive.

10:7 when the angel . . . departed, Cornelius called: Cornelius’s desire was to be pleasing to God. The fact that he readily obeyed the angel is a sign of how much he desired the truth. With this kind of attitude, there is no question that Cornelius was open to receiving the truth of the gospel the moment he heard it.

10:9–16 While his host was preparing the noon meal, Peter fell into a trance during which he was commanded to kill and eat all kinds of animals, reptiles, and birds. The problem was that the animals were mixed: clean and unclean beasts were gathered together (see Lev. 11). Jewish people were taught from childhood never to touch or eat any animal that was unclean. However, here Peter was being commanded by God to do just that. Three times God corrected Peter’s resistance with the words, what God has cleansed you must not call common. Food may have been his first consideration, but Peter would soon understand the greater message. The vision was a sign from heaven that Jews were no longer to call Gentiles unclean. From that point on, these two groups would be on equal footing before the Father. God was breaking down Peter’s prejudices.

one who feared God

(Gk. phoboumenos ton theon) (10:2, 22; 13:16, 26) Strong’s #5399; 2316

Simply stated, this expression means “God-fearer.” Luke identifies such a category of people throughout the Book of Acts (see 10:2, 22, 35; 13:16, 26 for the expression “fearing God,” and 13:43, 50; 16:14; 17:4, 17; 18:7 for the expression “devout” or “worshiping God”). The God-fearers were Gentiles who were interested in Judaism but were not necessarily converts or proselytes. They worshiped the same God and observed the same laws as the Jews did, but they did not become circumcised. Many of these God-fearers were the first Gentiles to become Christians. Cornelius was the prototype of such a God-fearer.

a great sheet bound at the four corners, descending to him and let down to the earth. <sup>12</sup>In it were all kinds of four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air. <sup>13</sup>And a voice came to him, “Rise, Peter; kill and eat.”

<sup>14</sup>But Peter said, “Not so, Lord! <sup>j</sup>For I have never eaten anything common or unclean.”

<sup>15</sup>And a voice spoke to him again the second time, <sup>k</sup>“What God has <sup>6</sup>cleansed you must not call common.” <sup>16</sup>This was done three times. And the object was taken up into heaven again.

Summoned to Caesarea

<sup>17</sup>Now while Peter <sup>7</sup>wondered within himself what this vision which he had seen meant, behold, the men who had been sent from Cornelius had made inquiry for Simon’s house, and stood before the gate. <sup>18</sup>And they called and asked whether Simon, whose surname was Peter, was lodging there.

<sup>21</sup>Then Peter went down to the men <sup>8</sup>who had been sent to him from Cornelius, and said, “Yes, I am he whom you seek. For what reason have you come?”

<sup>22</sup>And they said, “Cornelius the centurion, a just man, one who fears God and <sup>n</sup>has a good reputation among all the nation of the Jews, was divinely instructed by a holy angel to summon you to his house, and to hear words from you.” <sup>23</sup>Then he invited them in and lodged them.

On the next day Peter went away with them, <sup>o</sup>and some brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

Peter Meets Cornelius

talked with him, he went in and found many who had come together. <sup>28</sup>Then he said to them, “You know how <sup>q</sup>unlawful it is for a Jewish man to keep company with or go to one of another nation. But <sup>r</sup>God has shown me that I should not call any man common or unclean. <sup>29</sup>Therefore I came without objection as soon as I was sent for. I ask, then, for what reason have you sent for me?”

Preaching to Cornelius’ Household

10:23 Peter went away with them: t hough Peter chose to travel in public with three Gentiles, he was careful to take six believing Jewish brethren with him (11:12) as witnesses.

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

<sup>44</sup> While Peter was still speaking these words, <sup>q</sup> the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who heard the word. <sup>45</sup>r And <sup>6</sup> those of the circumcision who believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, <sup>s</sup> because the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out on the Gentiles also. <sup>46</sup> For they heard them speak with tongues and magnify God.

Then Peter answered, <sup>47</sup> “Can anyone forbid water, that these should not be baptized who have received the Holy Spirit <sup>t</sup> just as we have?” <sup>48</sup>u And he commanded them to be baptized <sup>v</sup> in the name of the Lord. Then they asked him to stay a few days.

Peter Defends God’s Grace

11 Now the apostles and brethren who were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God. <sup>2</sup> And when Peter came up to Jerusalem, <sup>a</sup> those of the circumcision contended with him, <sup>3</sup> saying, <sup>b</sup> “You went in to uncircumcised men <sup>c</sup> and ate with them!”

<sup>4</sup> But Peter explained it to them <sup>d</sup> in order from the beginning, saying: <sup>5</sup>e “I was in the city of Joppa praying; and in a trance I saw a vision, an object descending like a great sheet, let down from heaven by four corners; and it came to me. <sup>6</sup> When I observed it intently and considered, I saw four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air. <sup>7</sup> And I heard a voice saying to me, ‘Rise, Peter; kill and eat.’ <sup>8</sup> But I said, ‘Not so, Lord! For nothing common or unclean has at any time entered my mouth.’ <sup>9</sup> But the voice answered me again from heaven, ‘What God has cleansed you must not call common.’ <sup>10</sup> Now this was done three times, and all were drawn up again into heaven. <sup>11</sup> At that very moment, three men stood before the house where I was, having been sent to me from Caesarea. <sup>12</sup> Then <sup>f</sup> the Spirit told me to go with them, doubting nothing. Moreover <sup>g</sup> these six brethren accompanied me, and we entered the man’s house. <sup>13</sup>h And he told us how he had seen an angel standing in his house, who said to him, ‘Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon whose surname is Peter, <sup>14</sup> who will tell you words by which you and all your household will be saved.’ <sup>15</sup> And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them, <sup>i</sup> as upon us at the beginning. <sup>16</sup> Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how He said, <sup>j</sup> ‘John indeed baptized with water, but <sup>k</sup> you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’ <sup>17</sup> If therefore God gave them the same gift as He gave us when we believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>m</sup> who was I that I could withstand God?”

<sup>18</sup> When they heard these things they became silent; and they glorified God, saying, <sup>n</sup> “Then God has also granted to the Gentiles repentance to life.”

10:43 in order to receive remission of sins, one has to believe—nothing more, nothing less.

10:44–46 the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who heard: t the Jewish believers present were amazed because they saw that the Gentiles had received the same gift of speaking in tongues that they had received (ch. 2). t the good news had reached the Jews, the Samaritans, and now the Gentiles. All were united by the same faith in the same Lord with the same gift of the Holy Spirit.

10:47, 48 willingness to be baptized is the consistent response in the Book of Acts of all who placed their faith in Christ. it is the appropriate response (see matt. 28:19, 20) of a regenerated heart (2:36–38).

11:1 t the Jews were not fond of the Gentiles. in some rabbinical writings, the Gentiles were considered to have been created by God to kindle the fires of hell. t they were called dogs (see matt. 15:26) and unclean (10:14).

11:2 Those of the circumcision refers to Jewish Christians who believed that Gentiles had to become Jews when they became Christians. t the Jewish Christians had been circumcised as a seal of the mosaic covenant and had kept the Jewish laws. t they were not pleased that the Gentiles were considered equal to them in the eyes of God, based on nothing more than their faith in Christ. t they wanted the Gentiles to be circumcised and to keep the Law of Moses in order to become Christians. contended with him: t his was not a polite discussion, but an intense quarrel. t the Jewish Christians were upset because Peter had broken Jewish law by going into the home of a Gentile and eating with him. t the Jewish Christians justified their prejudice by claiming that it was God who had forbidden eating with Gentiles. However, the Levitical laws were not intended to teach ostracism.

11:4–10 in a trance I saw a vision: Because of the importance of the issue of personal prejudice, Luke repeats the account of the vision of the sheet and the unclean animals that God used to free Peter from his racial bigotry (10:9–16).

11:12 Peter had wisely taken six brethren with him when he visited Cornelius’s home (10:23). He anticipated the argument from “those of the circumcision” (v. 2).

11:15 began to speak: Apparently Peter considered the words he spoke in Caesarea (10:34–43) to be just the introduction to the sermon he had intended to preach. as upon us: t the manifestation of the Holy Spirit was the same to the Gentiles at Caesarea as it was to the Jews at Jerusalem (10:44). At the beginning is a reference to the day of Pentecost (2:4).

11:16 baptized with the Holy Spirit: t his statement is found seven times in the n t (see also 1:5; matt. 3:11; mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; John 1:33; 1 Cor. 12:13). t the reference is to a once-for-all act whereby Christ places believers in the care and safekeeping of the Holy Spirit until the day He returns.

11:18 granted to the Gentiles repentance to life: t his section begins a bold new step in the mission of the church. t the Samaritans were part Jewish; the Ethiopian eunuch and Cornelius were Jewish proselytes. Finally the Jewish Christians that made up the early church understood Jesus’ commission to them: they were to bring the gospel message to the Gentile too (1:8).

Barnabas and Saul at Antioch

<sup>19</sup> Now those who were scattered after the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no one but the Jews only. <sup>20</sup> But some of them were men from Cyprus and Cyrene, who, when they had come to Antioch, spoke to <sup>p</sup> the Hellenists, preaching the Lord Jesus. <sup>21</sup> And <sup>q</sup> the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number believed and <sup>r</sup> turned to the Lord.

<sup>22</sup> Then news of these things came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent out <sup>s</sup> Barnabas to go as far as Antioch. <sup>23</sup> When he came and had seen the grace of God, he was glad, and <sup>t</sup> encouraged them all that with purpose of heart they should continue with the Lord. <sup>24</sup> For he was a good man, <sup>u</sup> full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. <sup>v</sup> And a great many people were added to the Lord.

<sup>25</sup> Then Barnabas departed for <sup>w</sup> Tarsus to seek Saul. <sup>26</sup> And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. So it was that for a whole year they assembled with the church and taught a great many people. And the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

Relief to Judea

showed by the Spirit that there was going to be a great famine throughout all the world, which also happened in the days of <sup>z</sup> Claudius Caesar. <sup>29</sup> Then the disciples, each according to his ability, determined to send <sup>a</sup> relief to the brethren dwelling in Judea. <sup>30</sup> <sup>b</sup> This they also did, and sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

Herod's Violence to the Church

12 Now about that time Herod the king stretched out his hand to harass some from the church. <sup>2</sup> Then he killed James <sup>a</sup> the brother of John with the sword. <sup>3</sup> And because he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to seize Peter also. Now it was during <sup>b</sup> the Days of Unleavened Bread. <sup>4</sup> So <sup>c</sup> when he had arrested him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four <sup>1</sup> squads of soldiers to keep him, intending to bring him before the people after Passover.

Peter Freed from Prison

<sup>5</sup> Peter was therefore kept in prison, but <sup>2</sup> constant prayer was offered to God for him by the church. <sup>6</sup> And when Herod was about to bring him out, that night Peter was sleeping, bound with two chains between two soldiers; and the guards before the door were <sup>3</sup> keeping the prison. <sup>7</sup> Now behold, <sup>d</sup> an angel of the Lord stood

11:19 t his persecution began when Stephen was murdered for his faith (ch. 7). God often uses tough times to accomplish His will. Jesus said, "You shall be witnesses to me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth" (1:8). God allowed persecution to be the impetus for spreading Christ's witness throughout the land. t those who face such persecution will receive "great reward" in heaven (see matt. 5:10–12). the Jews only: At this time it was primarily the Jewish believers who were being persecuted. Consequently, the Jewish Christians were the ones who were moving out and sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ in various regions. t they shared the gospel with the Jews because they still met in the local synagogues and held on to many of the Jewish customs.

11:22, 23 Seleucus i founded the city of Antioch, naming it after his father. t he city was cosmopolitan, attracting people of various cultures and ethnic backgrounds—including people from Persia, india, and even China. t he gospel proclaimed in Antioch would have had tremendous potential for reaching other areas of the world. moreover, because the city was culturally diverse, it was not controlled by one religious group, making the people there more open to hearing the truth of the gospel message. Barnabas, nicknamed "Son of encouragement" by the apostles (4:36), was sent to discern what God was doing in the lives of the new converts. w hen Barnabas saw the grace of God in these converts, he was true to his name and encouraged them in their new faith. Purpose of heart describes a resolve of the will to make up one's mind about one thing. t he resolve here was to remain with the Lord.

11:25 Barnabas departed . . . to seek Saul: Because Barnabas was sensitive to the leading of the Holy Spirit (v. 24), God was able to bring Saul of tarsus to his mind again. t he disciples in Jerusalem were afraid of Saul and refused to believe that he was a disciple (9:26). Barnabas, however, had defended Saul before the apostles (9:27).

11:26 t he believers were called Christians because they worshiped Christ, the messiah. t he historian Josephus called them "that tribe of Christians." tacitus, the Roman historian, referred to them as "Christians, a name derived from Christ." o riginally, the church called themselves "t he way." But later they began to refer to themselves as Christians, despite the fact that the name most likely was originally used to ridicule the believers.

12:1–3 Herod the king is Herod Agrippa i, the nephew of Herod Antipas who murdered John the Baptist, and the grandson of Herod the Great who had the children of Bethlehem put to death in his search for Jesus. Herod was not a Jew but an edomite. t he Jews resented this fact, and Herod knew it. James was the first of the twelve to die for the sake of the gospel, and the only one whose death is recorded in the nt. Being put to death with the sword meant being beheaded. Jesus had told both James and his brother John that they would drink the same cup of suffering He did (see matt. 20:20–23). For James, this suffering was execution. For John, it was exile. t he killing of James by Herod was an attempt to win the favor of the Jewish leaders.

12:5, 6 Peter was arrested and slated to be executed like James (v. 2). However, Peter's execution was delayed because it was against Jewish law to have a trial or sentencing during the Feast of Unleavened Bread, better known as Passover. t his was Peter's third arrest (4:3; 5:18). d uring a previous incarceration, Peter had miraculously escaped with the help of an angel of the Lord who opened the gates of the prison (5:19, 20). t his time Peter was placed under maximum security in the care of four squads of soldiers of four men each. t he soldiers worked three-hour shifts. Both of Peter's wrists were chained, and he had a soldier on each side. o utside Peter's cell, two more soldiers stood guard.

by him, and a light shone in the prison; and he struck Peter on the side and raised him up, saying, “Arise quickly!” And his chains fell off his hands. <sup>8</sup>Then the angel said to him, “Gird yourself and tie on your sandals”; and so he did. And he said to him, “Put on your garment and follow me.” <sup>9</sup>So he went out and followed him, and <sup>e</sup>did not know that what was done by the angel was real, but thought <sup>f</sup>he was seeing a vision. <sup>10</sup>When they were past the first and the second guard posts, they came to the iron gate that leads to the city, <sup>g</sup>which opened to them of its own accord; and they went out and went down one street, and immediately the angel departed from him.

<sup>16</sup>Now Peter continued knocking; and when they opened the door and saw him, they were astonished. <sup>17</sup>But <sup>n</sup>motioning to them with his hand to keep silent, he declared to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, “Go, tell these things to James and

<sup>18</sup>Then, as soon as it was day, there was no small <sup>4</sup>stir among the soldiers about what had become of Peter. <sup>19</sup>But when Herod had searched for him and not found him, he examined the guards and commanded that they should be put to death.

And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and stayed there.

Herod’s Violent Death

Barnabas and Saul Appointed

13 Now <sup>a</sup>in the church that was at Antioch there were certain prophets and teachers: <sup>b</sup>Barnabas, Simeon who was called Níger, <sup>c</sup>Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. <sup>2</sup>As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the

12:11 delivered me from the hand of Herod: why was Peter’s life spared while James’s life was taken? t he answer is the sovereign will of God. if we believe that God is good and wise, we can trust that what He allowed to happen was part of His wise plan for the good of all of His people. when we place our complete trust in the goodness of God, we can find true peace. God is in control despite any appearance to the contrary.

12:15 You are beside yourself: it is interesting to note that those who were praying so fervently for Peter’s deliverance (v. 12) should regard as insane the person who informed them that their prayers had been answered. It is his angel: t his statement may imply a belief in individual guardian angels being assigned to believers (see dan. 10:21; matt. 18:10).

12:20 it is unclear why Herod was so angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon. Both cities were seaports, like Caesarea, the provincial capital of Judea. t he dispute may have been an issue of seaport business, since competition was great. t he important point was that the cities did not want the angry king to set an economic embargo against them. t hrough the royal official Blastus, the people of tyre and Sidon received an appointment to present their case to the king.

12:22 The voice of a god: t he Jewish historian Josephus also provides an account of this display, informing us that in an attempted appeasement of the king the people confessed that he was “more than a mortal.” Herod, instead of rebuking the address of deity, enjoyed the adulation—until he discovered the consequence of such blasphemy.

13:1 Prophets functioned in the early church as proclaimers of God’s revelation. Teachers explained the meaning of the revelation and helped the people apply it to their lives. in the early church the prophets were the preachers—the ones who communicated revelation directly from the Spirit of God. evangelists, pastors, and teachers (see eph. 4:11) took what was taught or declared and made it applicable for the daily nurture of people’s lives. Antioch was the base of operation for Saul.

13:2 ministered to the Lord: As the people carried out what God had given them to do as prophets or teachers, their ministry to the church became their ministry to the Lord. w henever we serve each other, God accepts that service as directly unto Him (see matt. 25:31–46).

Holy Spirit said, <sup>d</sup>“Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work <sup>e</sup> to which I have called them.” <sup>3</sup>Then, <sup>f</sup>having fasted and prayed, and laid hands on them, they sent them away.

Preaching in Cyprus

<sup>4</sup>So, being sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to <sup>g</sup>Cyprus. <sup>5</sup>And when they arrived in Salamis, <sup>h</sup>they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. They also had <sup>i</sup>John as their assistant.

And immediately a dark mist fell on him, and he went around seeking someone to lead him by the hand. <sup>12</sup>Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had been done, being astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

At Antioch in Pisidia

<sup>13</sup>Now when Paul and his party set sail from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia; and <sup>o</sup>John, departing from them,

13:3 t he laying on of hands was the church’s way of identifying with and affirming the mission to which God had called a particular person.

13:5 John was John mark, the nephew of Barnabas (12:25).

13:6–12 Luke presents Sergius Paulus as the first Gentile ruler to believe the gospel. t he island of Cyprus was a senatorial island, which means it was Roman-controlled. As a Roman official, Sergius was a Gentile. Unlike Cornelius (10:2), there is no evidence that Sergi-us attended the temple or was a God-fearer. t his pagan government official was amazed at the power of God and believed the truth.

13:9 Saul, who also is called Paul: it was not unusual for a person to have two names. in Paul’s Jewish surroundings, the name Saul was used. But in his mission to the Gentiles, his Roman name Paul was used. t he name Paul means “Small o ne.”

13:13 John, departing from them: w hatever the trouble was between Paul and John mark, it was enough for Paul not to want

John mark to accompany him on a later journey (15:36–39). John mark would prove faithful later in Paul’s ministry (see 2 t im. 4:11).

13:14 why did Paul and his party pass through Perga without any reported sharing of the gospel there? Paul might have had some physical affliction that forced him from the lowlands of Perga to the cooler, higher altitudes of Antioch in Pisidia, some 3,600 feet above sea level. Later, when Paul wrote to the Galatian churches, he spoke about an illness (see Gal. 4:13). Paul’s affliction may have affected his eyes in some way. Some think Paul had malaria, which left him with disabling headaches, described by the ancients as like a red-hot bar thrust through the forehead. Possibly this was what Paul meant when he referred to his “thorn in the flesh” (see 2 Cor. 12:7). Antioch in Pisidia was a different city from the Antioch located just north of Palestine in Syria (11:22).

13:20 Some early manuscripts apply the four hundred and fifty years to the period before the judges referred to in vv. 17–19. in either case the intended extent of the time reference is vague.

13:22 David . . . a man after My own heart: what God saw in david was a deep desire to do His will. t throughout david’s entire life that drive never changed. Unlike King Saul, who was a self-willed man, david confessed his sins and quickly repented of them (see Ps. 51).

He put up with

t his Greek word, which occurs only here in the nt, means “to bear with.” But other manuscripts read “cared for” (literally “carried them as a nurse”). t he two Greek words differ in only one letter: etrophophorēsēn (meaning “nourished”) and etrophophorēsēn (meaning “bore with”). Nourished is probably a quote from the Septuagint (Greek ot ) translation of deut. 1:31. w with that as the reading, Paul in this sermon to Jews at Antioch was emphasizing God’s great care for the israelites in the wilderness. o otherwise, Paul was using the expression He put up with as a graphic portrayal of God’s patience.

asleep, was buried with his fathers, and <sup>3</sup>saw corruption; <sup>37</sup>but He whom God raised up <sup>4</sup>saw no corruption. <sup>38</sup>Therefore let it be known to you, brethren, that <sup>a</sup>through this Man is preached to you the forgiveness of sins; <sup>39</sup>and <sup>b</sup>by Him everyone who believes is justified from all things from which you could not be justified by the law of Moses. <sup>40</sup>Beware therefore, lest what has been spoken in the prophets come upon you:

<sup>41</sup> ‘Behold,<sup>c</sup> you despisers, Marvel and perish! For I work a work in your days, A work which you will by no means believe, Though one were to declare it to you.’

words might be preached to them the next Sabbath. <sup>43</sup> Now when the congregation had broken up, many of the Jews and devout proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who, speaking to them, <sup>d</sup> persuaded them to continue in <sup>e</sup> the grace of God.

13:37 He whom God raised up saw no corruption: Paul argued that David could not have been speaking of himself in Ps. 16:10 (see v. 35). When David died, his body returned to dust just like everyone else’s (see Peter’s comments in 2:29–31). David was speaking of the Messiah, who would be raised from the dead as the final proof of His divine Sonship (see Rom. 1:4).

13:39 everyone who believes is justified: Justification is a legal term meaning “declared innocent” it is a legal declaration that a person is acquitted and absolved. It is by justification that a person is righteous and acceptable to God. The death of Christ was the payment of our sin debt, so that we might be forgiven.

13:45 when Luke refers to the Jews, he is not speaking of all Jews. The Jews mentioned in v. 43, those who were urging Paul and Barnabas “to continue in the grace of God,” honestly wanted to know the truth. The Jews in this verse were the Jewish leaders, those in the positions of religious authority. When the Jewish leaders saw the crowds following Paul, they changed their minds about Paul and became filled with jealousy, especially since many of the people who had gathered were Jews.

13:46 judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life: A person who convinces himself that he does not need forgiveness from the Holy One has already condemned himself.

The Spread of the Gospel

After Stephen's martyrdom, the believers in Jerusalem were scattered over Judea and Samaria because of Jewish persecution of the Christians (8:1–3). Wherever the Christians went, they preached the gospel, obeying Christ's command to be witnesses to Him "in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth." The Book of Acts records the spread of the gospel throughout the Mediterranean world.

Destination	Travelers	Purpose of the Journey	Response	Reference
Samaria	Peter and John	In response to Saul's persecution and Stephen's martyrdom, the believers scattered throughout Judea and Samaria. Peter and John went to Samaria to preach to them.	The Samaritans listened to Philip and believed in Jesus. The whole city was filled with joy.	8:4–40
The Gaza road	Philip	The angel of the Lord told Philip to go to the Gaza road. There Philip witnessed to an Ethiopian.	The Ethiopian believed and was baptized.	8:26–38
Damascus	Paul	Paul was persecuting the Christians. Some Christians were staying in Damascus, so he pursued them there. However the Lord Jesus Himself appeared in a blinding vision.	Paul submitted to the Lord, and was eventually baptized by Ananias.	9:1–19
Joppa	Peter	Peter went to Joppa and raised Tabitha from the dead.	Many believed on the Lord.	9:36–43
Caesarea	Peter	In response to a vision, Peter went to the home of Cornelius, a Gentile, to preach the gospel.	The Holy Spirit was poured out on the Gentiles, and Peter baptized them as believers.	10:1–48
Antioch; Tarsus	Barnabas	The church at Jerusalem sent Barnabas to investigate the church at Antioch, because many Greeks were becoming Christians.	Barnabas encouraged the Christians, and then brought Paul to Antioch to teach them.	11:19–26
Cyprus; Pamphylia; Galatia	Barnabas; Paul; John Mark	The first missionary journey: The church at Antioch commissioned Paul and Barnabas for missionary work to preach the gospel.	Churches were established in the cities of Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch in Pisidia.	13:1—14:28
Jerusalem	Barnabas; Paul	Paul and Barnabas went to Jerusalem to settle the question of whether Gentile Christians should obey Jewish laws.	The Jerusalem council agreed that salvation was only through Christ.	15:1–29
Cyprus	Barnabas; John Mark	After a break with Paul, Barnabas took John Mark to visit the churches in Cyprus.		15:36–41
Galatia; Asia Minor; Macedonia; Achaia	Paul; Silas; Timothy; Luke	The second missionary journey: Paul and Silas revisited the churches in Galatia and then the Holy Spirit led them to go to Macedonia. Eventually Paul was able to preach in Athens.	Churches were established in the cities of Philippi, Thessalonica, and Corinth.	15:36—18:22
Ephesus; Achaia	Apollos	Apollos traveled from Alexandria to Ephesus, where he learned the gospel from Priscilla and Aquila. Then he went to Corinth and Athens to preach the gospel.		18:24–28; 19:1
Galatia; Asia; Macedonia; Achaia	Paul; Timothy; Erastus	The third missionary journey: Paul revisited the churches of his previous journeys, especially the church that was developing in Ephesus.	The churches were strengthened.	19:1—21:14
Rome	Paul	On trial in Jerusalem, Paul appealed to Caesar. Therefore he was transported to Rome. On the way, the ship wrecked near the island of Malta.	The inhabitants of Malta honored Paul. The Gentiles and Jews in Rome listened to Paul's preaching.	27:1—28:31

The Origin of the Synagogue

in nearly every city in which we find Jesus or Paul in the nt, we also find a synagogue. most scholars agree that the nt form of the synagogue probably began taking shape after the temple in Jerusalem had been destroyed and during the exile. with their people scattered around the world, displaced Jews needed meeting places where they could learn about the faith and worship God.

By the time of Jesus and Paul, synagogues served as local centers of worship, education, and government in the Jewish community. According to tradition, a synagogue was established wherever there were as many as ten Jewish men. the rebuilt temple in Jerusalem remained the center for sacrificial worship and the site at which to celebrate appointed feasts. But the synagogue played an ever-increasing role in the religious instruction of the Jews.

At Iconium

walked. <sup>9</sup>This man heard Paul speaking. <sup>3</sup>Paul, observing him intently and seeing that he had faith to be healed, <sup>10</sup>said with a loud voice, <sup>i</sup>“Stand up straight on your feet!” And he leaped and walked. <sup>11</sup>Now when the people saw what Paul had done, they raised their voices, saying in the Lycaonian language, <sup>j</sup>“The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!” <sup>12</sup>And Barnabas they called <sup>4</sup>Zeus, and Paul, <sup>5</sup>Hermes, because he was the chief speaker. <sup>13</sup>Then the priest of Zeus, whose temple was in front of their city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, <sup>k</sup>intending to sacrifice with the multitudes.

<sup>14</sup>But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard this, <sup>l</sup>they tore their clothes and ran in among the multitude, crying out <sup>15</sup>and saying, “Men, <sup>m</sup>why are you doing these things? <sup>n</sup>We also are men with the same nature as you, and preach to you that you should turn from <sup>o</sup>these useless things <sup>p</sup>to the living God, <sup>q</sup>who made the heaven, the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, <sup>16</sup><sup>r</sup>who in bygone generations allowed all nations to walk in their own ways. <sup>17</sup><sup>s</sup>Nevertheless He did not leave Himself without wit-

14:1 Paul and Barnabas spoke with authority because they spoke the truth. t the power of God is not in the person who witnesses, but in what is witnessed to.

14:8–13 The gods have come down: the Roman poet Ovid told of an ancient legend in which Zeus and Hermes came to the Phrygian hill country disguised as mortals seeking lodging. After being turned away from a thousand homes, they found refuge in the humble cottage of an elderly couple. in appreciation for the couple's hospitality, the gods transformed the cottage into a temple with a golden roof and marble columns. All the houses of the inhospitable people were then destroyed. t his ancient legend may be the reason that the people treated Paul and Barnabas as gods. After witnessing the healing of the cripple, they did not want to make the same mistake as their ancestors.

14:14 tore their clothes: the tearing of robes was a Jewish expression of distress and grief.

14:15–17 t he sermon by Paul in these three verses is a condensed version of his sermon on the Areopagus in 17:22–31. t he Gentiles did not know or believe in the Scriptures, so Paul preached truths that were self-evident to all and led his listeners to biblical truth.

ness, in that He did good, <sup>f</sup>gave us rain from heaven and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with <sup>g</sup>“food and gladness.” <sup>18</sup>And with these sayings they could scarcely restrain the multitudes from sacrificing to them.

Stoning, Escape to Derbe

<sup>19</sup>Then Jews from Antioch and Iconium came there; and having persuaded the multitudes, <sup>w</sup>they stoned Paul and dragged <sup>him</sup> out of the city, supposing him to be <sup>x</sup>dead. <sup>20</sup>However, when the disciples gathered around him, he rose up and went into the city. And the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

Strengthening the Converts

<sup>21</sup>And when they had preached the gospel to that city <sup>y</sup>and made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch, <sup>22</sup>strengthening the souls of the disciples, <sup>z</sup>exhorting <sup>them</sup> to continue in the faith, and saying, <sup>a</sup>“We must through many tribulations enter the kingdom of God.” <sup>23</sup>So when they had <sup>b</sup>appointed elders in every church, and prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed. <sup>24</sup>And after they had passed through Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia. <sup>25</sup>Now when they had preached the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia. <sup>26</sup>From there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work which they had completed.

<sup>27</sup>Now when they had come and gathered the church together, <sup>c</sup>they reported all that God had done with them, and that He had <sup>d</sup>opened the door of faith to the Gentiles. <sup>28</sup>So they stayed there a long time with the disciples.

Conflict over Circumcision

<sup>3</sup>So, <sup>d</sup>being sent on their way by the church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, <sup>e</sup>describing the conversion of the Gentiles; and they caused great joy to all the brethren. <sup>4</sup>And when they had come to Jerusalem, they were received by the church and the apostles and the elders; and they reported all things that God had done with them. <sup>5</sup>But some of the sect of the Pharisees who believed rose up, saying, “It is necessary to circumcise them, and to command <sup>them</sup> to keep the law of Moses.”

14:19 supposing him to be dead: <sup>t</sup>he physician Luke may be saying that Paul did not die here. However, some believe that the text speaks of Paul's resurrection.

14:23 appointed elders: it is difficult to know whether these elders were appointed by Paul and Barnabas or by a vote of the people. However, the process outlined in 6:1-7 for selecting the seven men may provide a clue to the process used for selecting elders here. Both the assembly and the apostles were involved in the selection process.

15:1-4 Later those who taught the need for circumcision among new believers were known as Judaizers. <sup>t</sup>hey wanted the Christian faith to become a sect of Judaism. in other words, they wanted Gentile believers to become Jewish proselytes. As proselytes, the Gentile believers would need to be circumcised as a sign of coming into the covenant of God along with the Jews.

15:5 some of the sect of the Pharisees: <sup>t</sup>hese people believed in Jesus Christ but were still identified as Pharisees. Jews who became followers of Christ could still be Pharisees. <sup>t</sup>he same could not be said for the Sadducees, for they denied that there was a resurrection, and thus could not believe that Jesus had been raised from the dead. It is necessary to circumcise them: <sup>t</sup>his statement summarizes the problem. is salvation granted through faith alone? or does a person have to have faith plus the works of the law in order to be forgiven by God?

15:7 it was from the mouth of Peter that Cornelius and his Gentile friends heard the gospel of Jesus Christ (10:11-43).

there had been much dispute, Peter rose up and said to them: <sup>f</sup>“Men and brethren, you know that a good while ago God chose among us, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe. <sup>8</sup>So God, <sup>g</sup>who knows the heart, <sup>1</sup>acknowledged them by <sup>h</sup>giving them the Holy Spirit, just as He did to us, <sup>9</sup>and made no distinction between us and them, <sup>j</sup>purifying their hearts by faith. <sup>10</sup>Now therefore, why do you test God <sup>k</sup>by putting a yoke on the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? <sup>11</sup>But <sup>l</sup>we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus <sup>2</sup>Christ we shall be saved in the same manner as they.”

The Jerusalem Decree

15:10 Yoke here refers to the law (see Gal. 5:1).

15:11 we shall be saved in the same manner as they: t these are the last words of Peter in the Book of Acts. He leaves us with the eternal truth that we are saved through faith by grace alone. t he emphasis in the Book of Acts now moves from Peter to Paul, from the presentation of the gospel message among the Jews to its presentation to the Gentiles.

15:12 Barnabas and Paul reported what God was doing in changing the lives of Gentiles with the gospel of Jesus Christ. t heir testimony at this council was critical.

15:13 t he council listened to James because he was the first of the three pillars of the church (see Gal. 2:9). He was the leader of the church in Jerusalem until he was stoned to death at the insistence of the high priest in A.D. 62. James was the Lord’s half brother, the one who did not believe until the Lord appeared to him privately after the Resurrection (see 1 Cor. 15:7).

15:15–18 w hile the testimony of Peter, Barnabas, and Paul was important for the council in making their decision, something more than the experience of the Gentiles had to be taken into consideration. t he council needed to know what the word of God said. James pointed out that what was happening among the Gentiles was in full agreement with the ot (Amos 9:11, 12).

15:19, 20 t he testimony of Paul and Barnabas—those who worked among the Gentiles—and most importantly the teaching of Scripture, indicated to James that God was truly at work (v. 18). in view of this, he suggested that a letter be drafted that alleviated Jewish requirements for Gentiles who placed their trust in Jesus. t hough James did not want to trouble Gentiles with Jewish ceremonial regulations, he believed certain practices should be followed. He mentioned four issues: eating food offered to idols, sexual immorality, eating food from animals that had been strangled, and eating food with blood. if Gentiles continued such practices, there would continually be tension between the Gentile and Jewish Christian communities. t here is a debate as to whether these requirements were ceremonial or moral in nature. if they were ceremonial, “things polluted by idols” would refer to food offered in pagan temples (see 1 Cor. 8–10). “Sexual immorality” would refer to the marriage laws of Lev. 18:6–20. t he prohibition against eating blood preceded the Law of Moses and extended back to the contract God made with Noah (see Gen. 9:3, 4; see also Lev. 17:10–14). o n the other hand, if these prohibitions were moral in nature, the food polluted by idols would relate to the problem of Rev. 2:14, 20. evidently some Gentile Christians were attending the celebrations and banquets held in pagan temples that frequently involved sexual immorality.

15:21 For Moses has had . . . those who preach him: James may have been saying that since there were Jewish communities in every city, it would be wise to remain sensitive to Jewish convictions. He may also have been saying that since the Gentile believers would learn more and more about the Scriptures, the Spirit of God would cultivate godly convictions in their hearts.

15:22 it pleased the apostles and elders: it is interesting to note the process the council followed in resolving this conflict. First, the

grace

(Gk. charis) (15:11; Rom. 3:24; 5:15; eph. 2:5; titus 2:11) Strong’s #5485

t he Greek word for grace is probably equivalent to the Hebrew word chesed meaning “lovingkindness,” a word frequently used by the psalmists to describe God’s character. in the nt, the word charis usually means divine favor or goodwill, but it also means “that which gives joy” and “that which is a free gift.” t his is a noteworthy occurrence of the word grace, because while it was one of Paul’s favorite words for God’s free gift of salvation, here we see Peter using it in the same way.

<sup>23</sup> They wrote this letter by them:

The apostles, the elders, and the brethren,

To the brethren who are of the Gentiles in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia:

Greetings.

<sup>24</sup> Since we have heard that <sup>1</sup> some who went out from us have troubled you with words, <sup>2</sup> unsettling your souls, <sup>3</sup> saying, “You must be circumcised and keep the law”—to whom we gave no such commandment—<sup>4</sup> it seemed good to us, being assembled with one <sup>5</sup> accord, to send chosen men to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, <sup>6</sup> men who have risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>7</sup> We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who will also report the same things by word of mouth. <sup>8</sup> For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things: <sup>9</sup> that you abstain from things offered to idols, <sup>10</sup> from blood, from things strangled, and from <sup>11</sup> sexual <sup>12</sup> immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well.

Farewell.

it, they rejoiced over its encouragement. <sup>32</sup> Now Judas and Silas, themselves being <sup>e</sup> prophets also, <sup>f</sup> exhorted and strengthened the brethren with many words. <sup>33</sup> And after they had stayed there for a time, they were <sup>g</sup> sent back with greetings from the brethren to <sup>2</sup> the apostles. <sup>34,3</sup> However, it seemed good to Silas to remain there. <sup>35</sup> <sup>h</sup> Paul and Barnabas also remained in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

Division over John Mark

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

16 Then he came to <sup>a</sup> Derbe and Lystra. And behold, a certain disciple was there, <sup>b</sup> named Timothy, <sup>c</sup> the son of a certain Jewish woman who believed, but his father was Greek. <sup>2</sup> He was well spoken of by the brethren who were at Lystra and Iconium. <sup>3</sup> Paul wanted to problem was clearly stated: each side was presented in a debate. Second, the facts were presented by those who were acquainted with them. <sup>t</sup> hird, the counsel was given by a person who was trusted for his objectivity and wisdom. Fourth, unanimity was sought in the decision. Fifth, the attitude of preserving the unity of the Spirit remained utmost on the council’s mind. <sup>t</sup> his same formula would be helpful in resolving conflicts found within the church today. chosen men of their own company: <sup>t</sup> he apostles and elders sent a representative from both sides of the dispute—a Judean (Judas) and a Hellenist (Silas)—along with Paul and Barnabas to bolster and confirm the ruling of the council.

15:38 Paul was adamant that John mark not accompany him on his impending journey. earlier John mark had deserted Paul and Barnabas in Pamphylia (13:13). it is unclear why he did so. Some have speculated that John mark returned to Jerusalem because he did not like the idea of Gentiles coming into the church by faith alone. whatever the reason for the desertion, it is interesting to note that John mark was reconciled to Paul and again helped him in his ministry. in 2 t im. 4:11, Paul, who was in prison, writes, “Get mark and bring him with you, for he is useful to me for ministry.”

15:39 the contention became so sharp that they parted: <sup>t</sup> here was a heated argument between Paul and Barnabas over John mark’s usefulness to them. note that Luke does not assign blame for the disagreement. <sup>t</sup> here are times when Christians will not agree on certain aspects of ministry. Perhaps the best course of action in some of those situations is to work separately. Barnabas left with John mark, refusing to make the disagreement an issue before the church at Antioch. Barnabas had led the church in its early days (11:22–25). He was the church’s main representative at the Jerusalem council, but he did not use his prominence to seek a reprimand of Paul. instead he accepted the situation and proceeded to faithfully serve the Lord.

16:1 Timothy was the son of eunice, a Jewish woman of great faith (see 2 t im. 1:5). eunice had taught the Holy Scriptures to t imothy from infancy (see 2 t im. 3:15). <sup>t</sup> he nt’s silence about the faith of t imothy’s father suggests he was not a believer.

16:2 Well spoken of may be rephrased as “well witnessed.” in other words, people did not have to be told that t imothy was a Christian.

16:3 took him and circumcised him: in Jewish law, t imothy should have been circumcised and raised a Jew, even with a Gentile father. But in Greek law, the father dominated the home. <sup>t</sup> he fact that t imothy was an uncircumcised Jew would have limited his effectiveness in ministering to the Jewish Christians. Salvation was not the issue here. instead t imothy became circumcised so that God could use him to reach all people—even the Jews—with the message of the gospel.

have him go on with him. And he <sup>d</sup> took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in that region, for they all knew that his father was Greek. <sup>4</sup> And as they went through the cities, they delivered to them the <sup>e</sup> decrees to keep, <sup>f</sup> which were determined by the apostles and elders at Jerusalem. <sup>5g</sup> So the churches were strengthened in the faith, and increased in number daily.

The Macedonian Call

next day came to Neapolis, <sup>12</sup> and from there to <sup>l</sup> Philippi, which is the <sup>3</sup> foremost city of that part of Macedonia, a colony. And we were staying in that city for some days. <sup>13</sup> And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city to the riverside, where prayer was customarily made; and we sat down and spoke to the women who met there. <sup>14</sup> Now a certain woman named Lydia heard us. She was a seller of purple from the city of <sup>m</sup> Thyatira, who worshiped God. <sup>n</sup> The Lord opened her heart to heed the things spoken by Paul. <sup>15</sup> And when she and her household were baptized, she begged us, saying, “If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay.” So <sup>o</sup> she persuaded us.

Paul and Silas Imprisoned

But Paul, <sup>r</sup> greatly <sup>4</sup> annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of 16:4, 5 t he council’s decision (15:24–29) brought great joy and comfort to the Gentiles. Apparently the decrees from the Jerusalem council were considered reasonable and not burdensome.

16:10 sought to go to Macedonia: with both the southwesterly route and the northern path closed by the Holy Spirit (vv. 6, 7), Paul headed in the only direction left open to him—northwest—until he came to the Aegean port of Troas, where he could go no further. Paul was at the right place at the right time to receive the call to go to Macedonia. We: t his is the first of four “we” sections in the Book of Acts (16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1–28:16). t his indicates that Luke, the author of Acts, accompanied Paul at least these four times.

the Spirit

(Gk. to pneuma) (16:7; Rom. 8:9; Phil. 1:19; 1 Pet. 1:11) Strong’s #4151

t he Greek word for Spirit is derived from the verb pneō, meaning “to breathe” or “to blow.” it is sometimes used to refer to the wind and sometimes to life itself (see John 3:8; Rev. 13:15). it can refer to the life of angels (Heb. 1:14), demons (Luke 4:33), and human beings (7:59). Yet this word is also used for the Spirit of God (see 1 Cor. 2:11)—that is, the Holy Spirit (Matt. 28:19), the third Person of the trinity, the one who lives inside believers (see James 4:5; 1 John 4:13). t his same Spirit is called “the Spirit of Jesus Christ” (Phil. 1:19), and as the marginal note indicates, many older manuscripts have the title the Spirit of Jesus in 16:7. t his title emphasizes the unity of action between Jesus and the Spirit that permeates this book and its companion volume, the Gospel of Luke. d uring the days of Jesus’ earthly ministry, the disciples were directed by Jesus; now, after His resurrection and ascension, by the Spirit of Jesus.

16:12 named after the father of Alexander the Great, Philippi was a Roman colony loyal to the empire. t he city itself was organized by the state of Rome and functioned as a military outpost. t he people who settled the city were probably army veterans, who were given the rights of Roman citizens. typically such a colony would possess an autonomous government and be immune from tribute and taxation. Because of its proximity to the sea as well as to one of the major roads to Europe, Philippi was a commercial center in Macedonia. its influence throughout the region made it a good place to begin preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ.

16:13 where prayer was customarily made: According to Jewish custom, a congregation consisted of ten households. if ten male household heads could be found in a city, a synagogue was formed. if not, a place of prayer was established, usually near a river under the open sky. Paul’s habit was to go first to the synagogue of a new city. However in Philippi, he searched for a Jewish prayer meeting.

16:14 Thyatira was well known for purple dyes and cloth dyeing. Purple dye had to be gathered drop by drop from a certain shellfish. Because it was so expensive, purple dye was used on garments worn by royalty. As an artisan in purple dyes, Lydia was a wealthy woman who had come to Philippi to practice her trade. Paul preached the gospel, but the Lord opened Lydia’s heart to it.

16:16 Luke’s description of the slave girl in Greek indicates that she had a “spirit of Python.” t he python was a mythical serpent killed by Apollo, who took both the serpent’s gift of predictions and sometimes its form. Apollo became known as Pythian Apollo. when it was said that one had a “spirit of Python,” it meant that the person was controlled by an evil force. Apparently those who knew the girl did not regard her as insane or fraudulent. Rather they viewed her ability to foretell events as genuine. People paid the girl for her divination services, earning her masters a lot of money.

16:17, 18 greatly annoyed: Paul was upset not because what the girl said was untrue, but because the girl was being viewed as the source of truth.

her.”<sup>s</sup> And he came out that very hour.<sup>19</sup> But when her masters saw that their hope of profit was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and <sup>u</sup>dragged them into the marketplace to the authorities.

<sup>20</sup> And they brought them to the magistrates, and said, “These men, being Jews, <sup>v</sup>exceedingly trouble our city; <sup>21</sup> and they teach customs which are not lawful for us, being Romans, to receive or observe.”<sup>22</sup> Then the multitude rose up together against them; and the magistrates tore off their clothes <sup>w</sup>and commanded them to be beaten with rods.<sup>23</sup> And when they had laid many stripes on them, they threw them into prison, commanding the jailer to keep them securely.<sup>24</sup> Having received such a charge, he put them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Saved

<sup>25</sup> But at midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them.<sup>26</sup><sup>x</sup> Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately <sup>y</sup>all the doors were opened and everyone’s chains were loosed.<sup>27</sup> And the keeper of the prison, awaking from sleep and seeing the prison doors open, supposing the prisoners had fled, drew his sword and was about to kill himself.<sup>28</sup> But Paul called with a loud voice, saying, “Do yourself no harm, for we are all here.”

<sup>29</sup> Then he called for a light, ran in, and fell down trembling before Paul and Silas.<sup>30</sup> And he brought them out and said, <sup>z</sup>“Sirs, what must I do to be saved?”

<sup>31</sup> So they said, <sup>a</sup>“Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, you

And immediately he and all his family were baptized.<sup>34</sup> Now when he had brought them into his house, <sup>b</sup>he set food before them; and he rejoiced, having believed in God with all his household.

Paul Refuses to Depart Secretly

<sup>36</sup> So the keeper of the prison reported these words to Paul, saying, “The magistrates have sent to let you go. Now therefore depart, and go in peace.”

<sup>37</sup> But Paul said to them, “They have beaten us openly, uncondemned <sup>c</sup>Romans, and have thrown us into prison. And now do they put us out secretly? No indeed! Let them come themselves and get us out.”

<sup>38</sup> And the officers told these words to the magistrates, and they were afraid when they heard that they were Romans.<sup>39</sup> Then they came and pleaded with them and brought them out, and <sup>d</sup>asked them to depart from the city.<sup>40</sup> So they went out of the prison <sup>e</sup>and entered the house of Lydia; and when they had seen the brethren, they encouraged them and departed.

Preaching Christ at Thessalonica

17 Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to <sup>a</sup>Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews.<sup>2</sup> Then Paul, as his custom was, <sup>b</sup>went

16:20, 21 t these claims were as false as those leveled first against Jesus and then Stephen. t those who desire to stop the truth of God are often unscrupulous about the truthfulness of their statements. n nothing Paul and Silas had preached remotely related to Roman customs or laws.

16:22 Before prisoners were beaten with rods, their garments were literally torn off so that their flesh would be exposed for the flogging. Paul experienced this particular Roman ordeal on three separate occasions. Later Paul would refer to this beating with wooden rods (see 2 Cor. 11:23, 25).

16:25 praying and singing . . . prisoners were listening: t the word translated listening here means “to listen with pleasure,” as if listening to beautiful music. it is in times of darkness that the light of a Christian witness shines brightest (see Phil. 2:14–16).

16:26 immediately all the doors were opened: in ancient prisons each door was secured by a bar. t he earthquake, as it passed along the ground, probably forced the doorposts apart so that the bars fell to the ground.

16:27 Under Roman law, a guard who allowed the escape of a prisoner was generally put to death. Believing that all the prisoners had escaped, the keeper of the prison assumed that death was certain for him.

16:30–34 what must I do to be saved: t he events surrounding the arrest of Paul and Silas, the way they responded to suffering, and the mighty acts of God brought the jailer to his knees. He finally knew he needed God’s salvation. But how could he be reconciled to God? Paul and Silas’s answer was simple—just believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. n o other work was needed. t he jailer and his family placed their trust in God and immediately expressed that faith by being baptized.

16:37–40 o nce the magistrates learned that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens, they realized that they were in danger of the wrath of Rome. it was unlawful to whip a Roman citizen or deny that person the right to due process. Paul refused to leave when he had the opportunity because he was protecting the infant church in Philippi. Because Paul and Silas were beaten in public, people probably believed that they had done something wrong. if Paul left quietly, then the perception would be that those associated with him, in particular the members of the Philippian church, had also done something wrong.

17:2 reasoned with them from the Scriptures: t here was a great deal of evidence in Scripture that Paul could use in his argument. For example, Ps. 22, written over a thousand years earlier by david, describes the crucifixion of the messiah. Paul could quote is. 53 and in to them, and for three Sabbaths <sup>c</sup>reasoned with them from the Scriptures, <sup>3</sup>explaining and demonstrating <sup>d</sup>that the Christ had to suffer and rise again from the dead, and saying, “This Jesus whom I preach to you is the Christ.” <sup>4e</sup>And some of them were persuaded; and a great multitude of the devout Greeks, and not a few of the leading women, joined Paul and <sup>f</sup>Silas.

Assault on Jason’s House

Ministering at Berea

men. <sup>13</sup>But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was preached by Paul at Berea, they came there also and stirred up the crowds. <sup>14 m</sup>Then immediately the brethren sent Paul away, to go to the sea; but both Silas and Timothy remained there. <sup>15</sup>So those who conducted Paul brought him to Athens; and <sup>n</sup>receiving a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him with all speed, they departed.

The Philosophers at Athens

Others said, “He seems to be a proclaimer of foreign gods,” because he preached to them <sup>9</sup>Jesus and the resurrection.

<sup>19</sup>And they took him and brought him to the <sup>8</sup>Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this new doctrine is of which you speak? <sup>20</sup>For you are bringing some strange things to our ears. Therefore we want to know what these things mean.” <sup>21</sup>For all the Athenians and the foreigners who were there spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or to hear some new thing.

Addressing the Areopagus

<sup>22</sup>Then Paul stood in the midst of the <sup>9</sup>Areopagus and said, “Men of Athens, I perceive that in all things you are very religious; <sup>23</sup>for as I was passing through

Zech. 12 to demonstrate that the suffering, death, and resurrection of the coming messiah was predicted by the prophets. <sup>t</sup>he <sup>o</sup>t <sup>o</sup>abounds with evidence of the messiah’s character and life that clearly matches that of Jesus (see Luke 24:25–27).

17:5 The Jews here refers to the Jewish leaders of the synagogue who felt threatened by the gospel because it contradicted their own teachings.

17:7 acting contrary to the decrees of Caesar: in A.D. 49 the Roman emperor Claudius expelled all Jews from Rome due to riots that were ignited by a group of zealous Jews. <sup>t</sup>hese insurrectionists were advocating revolution against Rome and were opposing the installation of a new king. Paul’s accusers were trying to paint him as a revolutionary who was bringing sedition to <sup>t</sup>hessalonica.

17:9, 10 had taken security from Jason: taking security was similar to posting bond today. it was meant as an assurance that there would be no repetition of the trouble caused by the apostle Paul, and that he would not return to <sup>t</sup>hessalonica. instead, Paul and Silas traveled 50 miles southwest to the city of Berea.

17:16 Paul was greatly distressed at the sight of numerous pagan temples and altars in Athens. in his letter to the Corinthians Paul explained why he was indignant (see 1 Cor. 10:20). <sup>t</sup>he people’s offerings were being sacrificed to demons. By doing this, the Gentiles were having fellowship with the powers of darkness. For these people to be so deceived by the devil was deeply troubling to Paul.

17:18 this babblar: Some of the philosophers in Athens mocked Paul, calling him a “seed picker” or gutter sparrow, a small bird that snatches up scraps of food. Paul was being accused of grabbing at bits of knowledge without fully digesting or thinking through what he taught. Because Paul did not speak eloquently (1 Cor. 2:1), some philosophers in Athens arrogantly ridiculed him, arguing that he was not sophisticated enough to be taken seriously. <sup>o</sup>thers thought that Paul was advocating foreign gods named Jesus and Resurrection, incorrectly understood to be a male and female deity.

17:19 the Areopagus: Just southwest of the Acropolis in Athens was a hill called the Hill of Ares (mars in Latin), the god of war. <sup>t</sup>his was where court was held concerning questions of religion and morals. in Athens, the gospel message was examined by the supposed experts of philosophy and religion.

17:22–31 Because the men of Athens had scant knowledge of the Hebrew Scriptures, Paul started with the general revelation visible in creation itself. in the sixth century B.C. it was said that a poet from Crete named epimenides turned aside a horrible plague from and considering the objects of your worship, I even found an altar with this inscription:

TO THE UNKNOWN GOD.

Therefore, the One whom you worship without knowing, Him I proclaim to you: <sup>24</sup> God, who made the world and everything in it, since He is <sup>r</sup> Lord of heaven and earth, <sup>s</sup> does not dwell in temples made with hands. <sup>25</sup> Nor is He worshiped with men's hands, as though He needed anything, since He <sup>t</sup> gives to all life, breath, and all things. <sup>26</sup> And He has made from one <sup>1</sup> blood every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined their preappointed times and <sup>u</sup> the boundaries of their dwellings, <sup>27</sup> <sup>v</sup> so that they should seek the Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, <sup>w</sup> though He is not far from each one of us; <sup>28</sup> for <sup>x</sup> in Him we live and move and have our being, <sup>y</sup> as also some of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring.' <sup>29</sup> Therefore, since we are the offspring of God, <sup>z</sup> we ought not to think that the Divine Nature is like gold or silver or stone, something shaped by art and man's devising. <sup>30</sup> Truly, <sup>a</sup> these times of ignorance God overlooked, but <sup>b</sup> now commands all men everywhere to repent, <sup>31</sup> because He has appointed a day on which <sup>c</sup> He will judge the world in righteousness by the Man whom He has ordained. ### Ministering at Corinth

the people of Athens by appealing to a god of whom the people had never heard. An altar was built to honor this god, whom the Athenians now called the UNKNOWN GOD. Paul obviously knew of epimenides; he quoted the poet in t itus 1:12. t hus Paul began his presentation of the gospel by appealing to natural revelation and to certain true statements of the Athenian poets. He has made from one blood: God sovereignly created one man, Adam. As Adam's descendants multiplied and formed nations, it was God who designed their course (see dan. 2:20, 21). that they should seek the Lord: God has placed within each one of us the yearning to worship and seek Him. we grope for Him by creating images to worship. But Paul points out that God is not far away; we can have fellowship with Him. in fact, every day we depend upon Him for our life and breath. 17:32 Paul's reference to the resurrection of the dead ignited a reaction among the Athenians. t he Greeks repudiated the idea of a bodily resurrection. t hough they embraced the concept of the soul living forever, they were repulsed by the idea of a bodily resurrection because they considered the body to be evil, something to be discarded. t his idea, known as dualism, was derived from the teachings of the Greek philosophers Socrates and Plato. it held that everything physical is evil and everything spiritual is good, and that it makes no difference what one does with one's body so long as the spirit is good. t ragicly, the Athenians' adherence to this philosophy blinded them to the truth of the gospel.

18:1 Corinth was the political capital of Achaia. it was also a center for the worship of Aphrodite, the goddess of fertility, and it housed the major temple of Apollo. Because of the sensuous nature of the religious cult of Aphrodite, Corinth had a reputation for being a city of immorality. Beginning in the fifth century B.C., the Greeks used a word meaning "to act like a Corinthian" as a synonym for sexual immorality.

18:3 All young rabbinical students had to learn a trade. Tentmakers were leather workers. t he province of Cilicia, from which Paul came, was noted for its cloth made from goats' hair. it is likely that Paul's skill involved making such cloth.

18:5, 6 Paul's custom was to go to the Jews first whenever he entered a new city. t hus in Corinth, he began his proclamation of Jesus in the synagogues. After several attempts to reach the Jews of Corinth (v. 4), attempts that had few results, Paul turned his attention almost exclusively to the Gentiles.

18:7 Justus: most Romans had three names. t his man's name was t itius Justus. Based on Paul's letter to the Corinthians, it is likely that Justus was the man called Gaius in 1 Cor. 1:14.

18:10 in view of the severe treatment he had received elsewhere, Paul must have been very comforted by Christ's statement that he would not be hurt or beaten in Corinth (16:22-24).

am with you, and no one will attack you to hurt you; for I have many people in this city.”<sup>11</sup> And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

<sup>14</sup>And when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, “If it were a matter of wrongdoing or wicked

But Gallio took no notice of these things.

Paul Returns to Antioch

<sup>18</sup>So Paul still remained <sup>5</sup>a good while. Then he took leave of the brethren and

18:12 in the spring of A.D. 52, a proconsul named Gallio was appointed by the Roman senate to govern the province of Achaia (Greece). Gallio was a brother of the famous stoic philosopher Seneca, who possessed great influence in Rome. The Jewish leaders thought they would take advantage of the new governor and rid themselves of Paul and the gospel of Jesus Christ. Bringing Paul before the judgment seat of the governor was a momentous event. If the Roman governor ruled Christianity illegal, it would set a precedent and encourage immediate persecution of all Christians.

18:14 Paul did not even have to open his mouth to defend the faith. God had already provided for Paul's defense; he had prepared Gallio to make the correct decision. No crime had been committed against Rome. Gallio considered Christianity to be a Jewish sect. Because Judaism was an established religion in the Roman empire, this “sect” was not in violation of Roman law. Gallio had his bailiffs drive the accusers out of his presence. Once again the sovereign hand of God preserved the life of His faithful servant.

18:18 Paul had his hair cut as part of a nazirite vow he had made (see num. 6). Such a vow had to be fulfilled in Jerusalem, where the hair would be presented to God. Vows were made either in gratitude for God's blessing (like Paul's safekeeping in Corinth) or as part of a petition for future blessing. The vow involved abstinence from drinking wine and a commitment not to cut one's hair for a period of time. At the end of this set period, the hair was cut and then burned along with other sacrifices as a symbol of offering oneself to God (21:23–26). Paul redirected his entire travel schedule because he wanted to get to Jerusalem in time to make this vow.

Paul's Second Missionary Journey c. A.D. 49–52 (Acts 15:39–18:22)

sailed for Syria, and Priscilla and Aquila were with him. <sup>18</sup>He had his hair cut off at <sup>q</sup>Cenchrea, for he had taken a vow. <sup>19</sup>And he came to Ephesus, and left them there; but he himself entered the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews. <sup>20</sup>When they asked him to stay a longer time with them, he did not consent, <sup>21</sup>but took leave of them, saying, <sup>r</sup>“I <sup>6</sup> must by all means keep this coming feast in Jerusalem; but I will return again to you, <sup>s</sup>God willing.” And he sailed from Ephesus.

Ministry of Apollos

of God more accurately. <sup>27</sup>And when he desired to cross to Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receive him; and when he arrived, <sup>28</sup>he greatly helped those who had believed through grace; <sup>28</sup>for he vigorously refuted the Jews publicly, <sup>a</sup>showing from the Scriptures that Jesus is the Christ.

Paul at Ephesus

19 And it happened, while <sup>a</sup>Apollos was at Corinth, that Paul, having passed through <sup>b</sup>the upper regions, came to Ephesus. And finding some disciples <sup>2</sup>he said to them, “Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?”

So they said to him, <sup>c</sup>“We have not so much as heard whether there is a Holy Spirit.”

<sup>3</sup>And he said to them, “Into what then were you baptized?”

So they said, <sup>d</sup>“Into John’s baptism.”

<sup>5</sup>When they heard this, they were baptized <sup>f</sup>in the name of the Lord Jesus.

18:19 Paul had tried to go to Ephesus before but was forbidden by the Holy Spirit (16:6). we are not told how or why, but during his second missionary trip, the Holy Spirit kept Paul from traveling the southwestern route, which would have taken him to ephesus. instead, Paul went northwest to the Aegean port of troas, where he received the macedonian call to take the gospel to europe. if we will entrust our way to God’s timing as Paul did, we will end up at the right place at the right time.

18:22 Paul completed his vow (vv. 18–21) when he went to Jerusalem and greeted the church there. Paul then returned to his sending church in Antioch, completing his second missionary journey, one that covered over three hundred miles. he went down: Antioch was north of Jerusalem but lower in elevation.

18:23 he departed and went over the region: on his third missionary journey Paul traveled back through Asia minor to visit the churches that had been established on his previous trips. the cities included derbe, Lystra, iconium, Antioch, and ephesus.

18:24 Apollos, born at Alexandria: t his Jew with a Greek name was from the second largest city in the Roman empire. Alexandria was a seaport on the northern coast of egypt. Founded by Alexander the Great, the city was very cosmopolitan. egyptians, Romans, and Greeks all lived there; over a quarter of the population was Jewish. t he Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures had been produced in that city about 150 years before the birth of Jesus. t he city was famous for its great library and was considered the cultural and educational center of the world.

18:25 John’s baptism was a baptism of repentance in preparation for the coming of the messiah. John’s followers had scattered throughout Asia minor and into egypt. Apollos was a disciple of John the Baptist. Apparently he did not know about the finished work of Jesus Christ on the Cross, the Resurrection, the Ascension, and the sending of the Holy Spirit.

18:28 he vigorously refuted the Jews: many of the believers in Corinth were Gentiles and were easy targets for opponents who knew the Hebrew Scriptures. However, the arguments of these Jews did not stand up against the brilliance of Apollos, the new Jewish Christian apologist (v. 26).

19:2 t hese 12 men (v. 7) had been baptized into the baptism of John the Baptist, but they had never heard about the Holy Spirit. All they knew was that o ne mightier than John was to come. t hey did not know that Jesus the messiah, the o ne mightier than John had already come. He had died for their sins, had been raised from the dead, had ascended to the Father, and had already sent the Holy Spirit. t hey needed to hear the rest of the gospel. As soon as this happened, these men could place their faith in Jesus and receive the Holy Spirit.

19:3 Baptism was a ritual used by the Jews as a picture of cleansing and purification. Gentiles who converted to Judaism would go through the rite of purification as their first act of worship. t hey would dip themselves in water as a sign of being cleansed from their old way of life. Before entering into the temple to worship, Jews would dip themselves in ritual bathing pools to show their desire for purification. But the dipping performed by John the Baptist was a call for repentance rather than mere ritual cleansing. His baptism was a call to people to turn to God and to identify with the coming messiah who would forgive their sins (see matt. 3:1–12).

19:5 in the name of the Lord Jesus: t his phrase was a declaration of ownership, an identification with Jesus as Lord and Savior of one’s life.

19:6 laid hands on them: t he Holy Spirit was received without the laying on of hands in 10:44–48. By laying on his hands here, Paul was demonstrating his apostolic authority. He was also affirming the unity of the new church in ephesus with the church in Jerusalem, whose members were also empowered by the Holy Spirit to speak in foreign languages (2:4, 11). t his speaking in tongues was a sign to others that they were part of the body of Christ (see 1 Cor. 14:22).

them, the Holy Spirit came upon them, and <sup>h</sup>they spoke with tongues and prophesied. <sup>7</sup>Now the men were about twelve in all.

<sup>8</sup>I And he went into the synagogue and spoke boldly for three months, reasoning and persuading <sup>j</sup>concerning the things of the kingdom of God. <sup>9</sup>But <sup>k</sup>when some were hardened and did not believe, but spoke evil <sup>l</sup>of the Way before the multitude, he departed from them and withdrew the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus. <sup>10</sup>And <sup>m</sup>this continued for two years, so that all who dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

Miracles Glorify Christ

<sup>15</sup>And the evil spirit answered and said, “Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are you?”

many who had believed came <sup>t</sup>confessing and telling their deeds. <sup>19</sup>Also, many of those who had practiced magic brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all. And they counted up the value of them, and it totaled fifty thousand pieces of silver. <sup>20</sup><sup>u</sup>So the word of the Lord grew mightily and prevailed.

The Riot at Ephesus

<sup>28</sup>Now when they heard this, they were full of wrath and cried out, saying, “Great is Diana of the Ephesians!” <sup>29</sup>So

19:8–10 From ephesus, other churches were born in Asia minor—in Colosse, Smyrna, Pergamos, t hyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea. note the sequence of events. Paul tried explaining the things of the kingdom of God to the Jews in the synagogue for three months. After he was finally rejected, he took those who had believed and started a new “school” for the study of the Scriptures in the facilities of a philosopher named Tyrannus. during the two years that Paul conducted these classes, all who dwelt in Asia heard the gospel. t his indicates that Paul and the students of the school did more than to study; they must have witnessed to others as well.

19:11 God confirmed Paul’s apostolic authority by performing miracles through him. t he writer of the Book of Hebrews helps us understand why miracles were accomplished through the apostles (see Heb. 2:3, 4). t he miracles verified that the apostles represented God and that the gospel they preached was from heaven.

19:12 handkerchiefs or aprons: A handkerchief was a cloth used to wipe away perspiration and was usually worn tied around the head. t he apron was tied around the waist. t hese were sweat rags used by Paul in his tentmaking trade as he worked with leather. why would God perform healings in this way? ephesus was a focal point for magicians and wandering priests. t he city was filled with wizards attempting to exercise power over the dark forces. God may have used such unusual means in order to show that His miraculous power was greater than the powers of darkness.

19:13–16 to call the name of the Lord Jesus: t he use of magical names in incantations was common in the ancient world. Jewish practitioners of magic enjoyed great prestige because they claimed to know the true pronunciation of the sacred name of God, and thus were able to release God’s full power. t hese practitioners had latched onto the name of Jesus to use as an incantation. overpowered them: t he seven so-called exorcists found out that it was not enough to know the name of Jesus; they needed to know Jesus personally.

19:19 t hese books were filled with formulas, spells, and astrological forecasts. t he volumes were expensive; fifty thousand pieces of silver would have taken 10 laborers 20 years to earn. Burning the books indicated real repentance on the part of those who had practiced magic.

19:24–27 Silver shrines of Diana refers to small shrines containing a miniature image of the fertility goddess of ephesus. Sales of these idols were falling off as people were introduced to the truth of Jesus Christ.

19:29 into the theater: t his amphitheater seated about 25,000 people.

the whole city was filled with confusion, and rushed into the theater with one accord, having seized <sup>f</sup>Gaius and <sup>g</sup>Aristarchus, Macedonians, Paul's travel companions. <sup>30</sup>And when Paul wanted to go in to the people, the disciples would not allow him. <sup>31</sup>Then some of the <sup>7</sup>officials of Asia, who were his friends, sent to him pleading that he would not venture into the theater. <sup>32</sup>Some therefore cried one thing and some another, for the assembly was confused, and most of them did not know why they had come together. <sup>33</sup>And they drew Alexander out of the multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And <sup>h</sup>Alexander <sup>i</sup>motioned with his hand, and wanted to make his defense to the people. <sup>34</sup>But when they found out that he was a Jew, all with one voice cried out for about two hours, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

<sup>35</sup>And when the city clerk had quieted the crowd, he said: "Men of Ephesus, what man is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple guardian of the great goddess <sup>8</sup>Diana, and of the image which fell down from <sup>9</sup>Zeus? <sup>36</sup>Therefore, since these things cannot be denied, you ought to be quiet and do nothing rashly. <sup>37</sup>For you have brought these men here who are neither robbers of temples nor blasphemers of <sup>1</sup>your goddess. <sup>38</sup>Therefore, if Demetrius and his fellow craftsmen have a <sup>2</sup>case against anyone, the courts are open and there are proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another. <sup>39</sup>But if you have any other inquiry to make, it shall be determined in the lawful assembly. <sup>40</sup>For we are in danger of being <sup>3</sup>called in question for today's uproar, there being no reason which we may give to account for this disorderly gathering." <sup>41</sup>And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Journeys in Greece

20 After the uproar had ceased, Paul called the disciples to himself, embraced them, and <sup>a</sup>departed to go to Macedonia. <sup>2</sup>Now when he had gone over that region and encouraged them with many words, he came to <sup>b</sup>Greece <sup>3</sup>and stayed three months. And <sup>c</sup>when the Jews plotted against him as he was about to sail to Syria, he decided to return through Macedonia. <sup>4</sup>And Sopater of Berea accompanied him to Asia—also <sup>d</sup>Aristarchus and Secundus of the Thessalonians, and <sup>e</sup>Gaius of Derbe, and <sup>f</sup>Timothy, and <sup>g</sup>Tychicus and <sup>h</sup>Trophimus of Asia. <sup>5</sup>These men, going ahead, waited for us at <sup>i</sup>Troas. <sup>6</sup>But we sailed away from Philippi after <sup>j</sup>the Days of Unleavened Bread, and in five days joined them <sup>k</sup>at Troas, where we stayed seven days.

<sup>7</sup>Now on <sup>l</sup>the first day of the week, when the disciples came together <sup>m</sup>to break bread, Paul, ready to depart the next day, spoke to them and continued his message until midnight. <sup>8</sup>There were many lamps <sup>n</sup>in the upper room where <sup>l</sup>they were gathered together. <sup>9</sup>And in a window sat a certain young man named Eutychus, who was sinking into a deep sleep. He was overcome by sleep; and as Paul continued speaking, he fell down from the third story and was taken up dead. <sup>10</sup>But Paul went down, <sup>o</sup>fell on him, and embracing him said, <sup>p</sup>"Do not trouble yourselves, for his life is in him." <sup>11</sup>Now when he had come up, had broken bread and eaten, and talked a long while, even till daybreak, he departed. <sup>12</sup>And they brought the young man in alive, and they were not a little comforted.

From Troas to Miletus

<sup>13</sup>Then we went ahead to the ship and sailed to Assos, there intending to take

19:33, 34 t he Jews wanted to distance themselves from Paul, so they put Alexander forward to explain that the Jews had nothing to do with Paul. However, Alexander never got the chance to speak once the crowd discovered he was a Jew.

19:35–41 we are in danger: t he riot at ephesus could have brought the discipline of Rome down upon the city. t he Pax Romana, the peace that the Roman empire brought to the mediterranean world, was important to Rome. t herefore, the empire severely disciplined unruly cities. t he Romans would not tolerate any kind of uprising or rebellion. ephesus risked losing its freedom and being ruled directly by the Roman army.

20:2 t he word translated encouraged has a full range of meanings, from rebuking to comforting. encouragement included instruction, appeal, affirmation, warning, and correction.

20:3 he decided to return through Macedonia: often Jewish pilgrim ships left for Syria taking Jews to the Passover. Paul had intended to sail on such a ship, but after the plot against his life was discovered he decided he would celebrate the Passover with his friends in Philippi. it would have been easy for his enemies to arrange for Paul to "disappear" over the side of the boat and never be heard from again. Paul was very sensitive to the leading of the Holy Spirit in his life and ministry. Sometimes the Spirit of God led him into difficult circumstances; other times the Spirit protected him from such circumstances.

20:7 The first day of the week was Sunday. t he people gathered to worship on this day for the same reason we do today, to celebrate the day of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. t he Jewish believers continued to worship on the Sabbath, which is Saturday. t he Book of Hebrews tells us that Christ and His finished work is our Sabbath, our rest (see Heb. 4:8–10). to break bread: t he primary purpose of the gathering was the Lord's Supper.

20:8–12 Because the rooms had many lamps, it was probably stuffy and hot. n o wonder Eutychus had difficulty staying awake.

20:13–16 to go on foot: Luke and the others left troas for Assos, some 30 miles south by sea. Paul wanted to walk to Assos alone. Paul may have felt the need to spend some time alone with God, to pray

Paul on board; for so he had <sup>2</sup>given orders, intending himself to go on foot. <sup>14</sup>And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and came to Mitylene. <sup>15</sup>We sailed from there, and the next day came opposite Chios. The following day we arrived at Samos and stayed at Trogyllium. The next day we came to Miletus. <sup>16</sup>For Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he would not have to spend time in Asia; for <sup>q</sup>he was hurrying <sup>r</sup>to be at Jerusalem, if possible, on <sup>s</sup>the Day of Pentecost.

The Ephesian Elders Exhorted

<sup>17</sup>From Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called for the elders of the church. <sup>18</sup>And when they had come to him, he said to them: “You know, <sup>t</sup>from the first day that I came to Asia, in what manner I always lived among you, <sup>19</sup>servicing the Lord with all humility, with many tears and trials which happened to me <sup>u</sup>by the plotting of the Jews; <sup>20</sup>how <sup>v</sup>I kept back nothing that was helpful, but proclaimed it to you, and taught you publicly and from house to house, <sup>21</sup>w testifying to Jews, and also to Greeks, <sup>x</sup>repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>22</sup>And see, now <sup>y</sup>I go bound in the spirit to Jerusalem, not knowing the things that will happen to me there, <sup>23</sup>except that <sup>z</sup>the Holy Spirit testifies in every city, saying that chains and tribulations await me. <sup>24</sup><sup>3</sup>But <sup>a</sup>none of these things move me; nor do I count my life dear to myself, <sup>b</sup>so that I may finish my <sup>4</sup>race with joy, <sup>c</sup>and the ministry <sup>d</sup>which I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify to the gospel of the grace of God.

<sup>25</sup>“And indeed, now I know that you all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, will see my face no more. <sup>26</sup>Therefore I testify to you this day that I am <sup>e</sup>innocent<sup>5</sup> of the blood of all men. <sup>27</sup>For I have not <sup>6</sup>shunned to declare to you <sup>f</sup>the whole counsel of God. <sup>28</sup><sup>g</sup>Therefore take heed to yourselves and to all the flock, among which the Holy Spirit <sup>h</sup>has made you overseers, to shepherd the church <sup>7</sup>of God <sup>i</sup>which He purchased <sup>j</sup>with His own blood. <sup>29</sup>For I know this, that after my departure <sup>k</sup>savage wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock. <sup>30</sup>Also <sup>l</sup>from among yourselves men will rise up, speaking <sup>8</sup>perverse things, to draw away the disciples after themselves. <sup>31</sup>Therefore watch, and remember that <sup>m</sup>for three years I did not cease to warn everyone night and day with tears.

Warnings on the Journey to Jerusalem

21 Now it came to pass, that when we had departed from them and set sail, running a straight course we came and reflect on what God wanted him to do. When Paul met up with the others in Assos, it is clear that he had received guidance. He was now in a hurry to get to Jerusalem to deliver the offering taken by the Gentile churches for the suffering church there.

20:17 The Greek term for elders is presbuteros, a term borrowed from the Jewish synagogue. It referred to those who were held in respect as the leaders of a particular fellowship. In v. 28 the elders are called “overseers” (Gk. episkopos, translated bishop in t itus 1:7). The terms appear to be interchangeable in the n t (see t itus 1:5–7).

20:22 I go bound in the spirit: Some say that Paul was out of the will of God in going to Jerusalem after the warnings of bonds and afflictions. But there is no evidence that Paul was rebelling against God. On the contrary, Jesus Himself confirmed that the trip was part of His good and perfect will (23:11), while Paul was in a Jerusalem prison, Jesus appeared to him to tell him to take courage. The Lord explained to Paul that just as he had solemnly witnessed for the cause of Christ at Jerusalem, he would do the same in Rome. There was no condemnation, but rather affirmation, of the fact that Paul bore witness to Jesus Christ in Jerusalem.

20:24 nor do I count my life dear to myself: Paul no longer desired to hold on to his life. He sought only the furtherance of God’s kingdom and the honor of Christ, no matter what the earthly cost was.

20:28 with His own blood: it was the blood of the Son of God that was shed for the sins of the church.

20:29, 30 wolves . . . men: there are always two threats to the church, one from the outside and one from the inside. Unbelievers are a dangerous threat from the outside; the arrogant and self-serving are a threat from within.

20:31 Watch is reminiscent of Peter’s warning about the devil in 1 Pet. 5:8. elders protect the flock by their care and teaching.

20:35 It is more blessed to give: t his saying of Jesus is not found in the Gospels, but through Paul’s knowledge of it has been recorded here.

21:1 When we had departed from them may be rephrased as “after tearing ourselves away from them.” The apostle Paul’s affection for his fellow believers ran deep (20:37). It must have been a difficult life for Paul, constantly leaving friends and family as he traveled about proclaiming the gospel. In Patara, a seaport, Paul and his companions could find a larger ship that would sail the four hundred miles directly to Phoenicia, with its ports at Tyre and Sidon. In the summer months, the wind of the Aegean Sea blows from the north, beginning very early in the morning. In the late afternoon the wind dies away. Sunset brings a dead calm, and later a gentle south breeze blows. If a ship was heading down the coast, it would typically anchor at evening and wait for the winds of the morning. 21:2 finding a ship: Paul wasted no time because he wanted to get to Jerusalem by Pentecost, which occurs just 50 days after Passover. Paul had celebrated Passover with his friends in Philippi more than three weeks earlier, so he had less than 30 days to reach Jerusalem in time for the festival. 21:4 in this verse, a warning was being given by the Holy Spirit of the danger that was waiting for Paul in Jerusalem. It is doubtful that the warning meant that Paul was actually not supposed to go. The warning did cause the disciples, who loved Paul and did not want to see him hurt, to discourage Paul from continuing his journey. But Paul had already demonstrated sensitivity to the leading of the Holy Spirit (16:6). He had already said that he was "bound in the spirit" to go to Jerusalem (20:22). Later Jesus Himself encouraged Paul concerning his decision to go (23:11). 21:8 Some believe that Philip's house was the place where the believers of Caesarea assembled to worship God. 21:9 four virgin daughters: Here we see a fulfillment of what Peter said in ch. 2 about how young men and women both would be gifted by the Spirit of God to prophesy and proclaim the truth of God. 21:10–14 Agabus had predicted in 11:27–30 the famine that would days, a certain prophet named <sup>h</sup>Agabus came down from Judea. <sup>11</sup>When he had come to us, he took Paul's belt, bound his own hands and feet, and said, "Thus says the Holy Spirit, <sup>i</sup>"So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man who owns this belt, and deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles?"

<sup>12</sup>Now when we heard these things, both we and those from that place pleaded with him not to go up to Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>Then Paul answered, <sup>j</sup>"What do you mean by weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be bound, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus."

<sup>14</sup>So when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, <sup>k</sup>"The will of the Lord be done."

Paul Urged to Make Peace

<sup>15</sup>And after those days we <sup>3</sup>packed and went up to Jerusalem. <sup>16</sup>Also some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us and brought with them a certain Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we were to lodge.

<sup>17</sup>l And when we had come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly. <sup>18</sup>On the following day Paul went in with us to <sup>m</sup>James, and all the elders were present. <sup>19</sup>When he had greeted them, <sup>n</sup>he told in detail those things which God had done among the Gentiles <sup>o</sup>through his ministry. <sup>20</sup>And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord. And they said to him, "You see, brother, how many myriads of Jews

The assembly must certainly meet, for they will hear that you have come. <sup>23</sup>Therefore do what we tell you: We have four men who have taken a vow. <sup>24</sup>Take them and be purified with them, and pay their expenses so that they may <sup>q</sup>shave their heads, and that all may know that those things of which they were informed concerning you are nothing, but that you yourself also walk orderly and keep the law. <sup>25</sup>But concerning the Gentiles who believe, <sup>r</sup>we have written and decided <sup>5</sup>that they should observe no such thing, except that they should keep themselves from things offered to idols, from blood, from things strangled, and from <sup>6</sup>sexual immorality."

Arrested in the Temple

<sup>27</sup>Now when the seven days were almost ended, <sup>u</sup>the Jews from Asia, seeing him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd and <sup>v</sup>laid hands on him, <sup>28</sup>crying out, "Men of Israel, help! This is the man fall upon Judea. in response to his prediction, the Gentile believers had collected money for the suffering believers in Jerusalem. Here Agabus predicted Paul's imprisonment and suffering, <sup>t</sup>he Holy Spirit did not forbid Paul to go to Jerusalem, but warned him of what it would cost him.

21:15, 16 we packed and went up to Jerusalem: Although they had been told repeatedly that Paul would be beaten and arrested in Jerusalem, Paul's traveling companions continued to travel with him. <sup>t</sup>hey would not leave Paul in his moment of crisis. <sup>d</sup>uring times of suffering, true friends stick close to provide comfort and assistance (see Prov. 17:17). Mnason of Cyprus possibly was one of the original 120 mentioned in 1:15.

21:18 James and the elders were the leaders of house churches meeting in Jerusalem. it is interesting that none of the apostles are mentioned here. Seven years had passed since the Jerusalem council meeting of ch. 15. At that time, the apostles and the leaders of the church had gathered to settle the question of whether Gentiles had to become Jews before becoming Christians. <sup>t</sup>hat question was settled in the negative; the Scriptures and the Holy Spirit both taught that the gospel was for all people. Apparently the apostles left Jerusalem after that conference to carry out Jesus' commission to be witnesses to the "end of the earth" (1:8).

21:19 things which God had done: <sup>t</sup>he evidence of how God changed the lives of Gentiles was presented to the Christians in Jerusalem. <sup>t</sup>he strongest evidence was the Gentile believers themselves who had accompanied Paul to Jerusalem. At this time, Paul may have also given the money he had been collecting from the Gentile Christians (11:27–30; 1 Cor. 16:1). <sup>t</sup>he love the Gentiles expressed to their suffering Jewish brethren was a mark of their genuine conversion.

21:21 informed about you: Reports were circulating that Paul had been urging Jews to abandon mosaic traditions. However, Paul never derided his Jewish heritage nor demanded that Jewish Christians renounce the Law of Moses. He only made it clear to everyone that the law could not function as a means of salvation. <sup>t</sup>here is evidence that Paul was continuing to keep the Law when he stood before Felix in 24:11, 12. <sup>t</sup>he fact that he was coming to Jerusalem to worship was evidence of this. <sup>w</sup>hat Paul did resist was any attempt to force Gentiles to become Jews. Salvation was through faith alone. Relying on adherence to the Jewish law was repudiation of the gospel message that salvation proceeds from faith in Christ and that alone.

21:24 Paul paid the expenses of the four men who had taken a vow, because the men were impoverished by the famine in Judea and did not have enough money to complete their vow by offering a sacrifice in the temple. But there might have been another reason as well. <sup>t</sup>he Jewish historian Josephus tells us that when Herod Agrippa i began his reign over Judea in A.D. 41, he paid for a considerable number of nazirite vows to show his respect for the mosaic Law. For the sake of showing his Jewish brethren that he had not forsaken the laws of Moses, Paul did what they asked. Reputation was an issue for the apostle, as it is for all believers (see 1 tim. 3:7).

21:25 they should keep themselves: <sup>t</sup>he Christian leaders were not asking Gentiles to live like Jews; neither did they want to compel Jews to live like Gentiles. <sup>t</sup>he spiritual unity of the body of believers is realized in its diversity, not in its conformity. From our diverse backgrounds and cultures we honor the same Lord.

<sup>u</sup> who teaches all men everywhere against the people, the law, and this place; and furthermore he also brought Greeks into the temple and has defiled this holy place.” <sup>29</sup> (For they had <sup>s</sup> previously seen <sup>x</sup> Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)

So when he could not ascertain the truth because of the tumult, he commanded him to be taken into the barracks. <sup>35</sup> When he reached the stairs, he had to be carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the mob. <sup>36</sup> For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, <sup>d</sup> “Away with him!”

Addressing the Jerusalem Mob

<sup>37</sup> Then as Paul was about to be led into the barracks, he said to the commander, “May I speak to you?”

He replied, “Can you speak Greek? <sup>38</sup> <sup>e</sup> Are you not the Egyptian who some time ago stirred up a rebellion and led

<sup>39</sup> But Paul said, <sup>f</sup> “I am a Jew from Tarsus, in Cilicia, a citizen of no <sup>1</sup> mean city; and I implore you, permit me to speak to the people.”

<sup>40</sup> So when he had given him permission, Paul stood on the stairs and <sup>8</sup> motioned with his hand to the people. And when there was a great silence, he spoke to them in the <sup>h</sup> Hebrew language, saying,

22 “Brethren <sup>a</sup> and fathers, hear my defense before you now.” <sup>2</sup> And when they heard that he spoke to them in the <sup>b</sup> Hebrew language, they kept all the more silent.

Then he said: <sup>3</sup> “I am indeed a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city <sup>d</sup> at the feet of <sup>e</sup> Gamaliel, taught <sup>f</sup> according to the strictness of our fathers’ law, and <sup>8</sup> was zealous toward God <sup>h</sup> as you all are today. <sup>4</sup> <sup>i</sup> I persecuted this Way to the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women, <sup>5</sup> as also the high priest bears me witness, and <sup>j</sup> all the council of the elders, <sup>k</sup> from whom I also received letters to the brethren, and went to Damascus <sup>l</sup> to bring in chains even those who were there to Jerusalem to be punished.

<sup>6</sup> “Now <sup>m</sup> it happened, as I journeyed and came near Damascus at about noon, suddenly a great light from heaven shone around me. <sup>7</sup> And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?’ <sup>8</sup> So I answered, ‘Who are You, Lord?’ And He said to me, ‘I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.’

where Jewish men could offer their sacrifices. Only consecrated priests actually entered the temple building itself, and only the high priest could enter the inner sanctuary of the most Holy Place—once a year on the day of Atonement (see Heb. 9:7). The second court was the Court of the women where Jewish families could gather for prayer and worship. The outer court was the Court of the Gentiles, open to all who would worship God. If any Gentile went beyond the barrier into the second court, he or she would be liable to the death penalty. The Roman authorities, out of respect for the Jewish religion, authorized the death sentence for this trespass even for their own Roman citizens.

21:31 garrison: Between six hundred and a thousand men were stationed in the Fortress Antonia on the northwest side of the temple. From a tower overlooking the temple courts they could watch for any trouble. When the riot broke out against Paul, at least two hundred soldiers were dispatched from the fortress into the Court of the Gentiles.

21:38 When Paul spoke Greek, the commander realized that he was not the Egyptian assassin who had come to Jerusalem in A.D. 54 claiming to be a prophet. The Egyptian had led four thousand fanatical Jews up to the mount of olives, promising that at his word the walls of Jerusalem would fall and the Roman empire would be destroyed. Felix, the governor of Jerusalem at the time, ordered his men up the mount of olives, where they killed some four hundred Jews and captured another two hundred. However, the Egyptian and some of his followers slipped away into the desert. These followers were called sicarii, meaning “dagger men.” They would mingle with the crowds in Jerusalem during festivals and murder pro-Roman Jews.

22:1 hear my defense: This was the first of five defenses Paul would make.

22:2 After speaking Greek to the commander (21:37), Paul addressed the people in the Hebrew dialect, most likely Aramaic. When the people heard him speaking to them in their own language they were reminded that Paul was not a Gentile but a Jew like themselves. Therefore, they listened to what he had to say.

22:3-5 as you all are today: Paul explained to the crowd that he understood why they were beating him and wanted him dead. They were zealous for God. Paul was not blaming them for what they had done to him. He pointed out that in his former zeal he would have done the same thing. Paul showed compassion even to his attackers; we should model that same type of compassion for all people who have not yet placed their faith in Jesus.

22:6-8 Now it happened: Paul shared his personal testimony. God has given to each of us a testimony of how He has changed our lives. We must share that testimony to everyone who will listen (1:8). Peter exhorts us in 1 Pet. 3:15 always to be ready to give an answer for the hope that lies within us.

22:9 did not hear the voice: The men who had accompanied Paul they did not hear the voice of Him who spoke to me.<sup>10</sup> So I said, ‘What shall I do, Lord?’ And the Lord said to me, ‘Arise and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all things which are appointed for you to do.’<sup>11</sup> And since I could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of those who were with me, I came into Damascus.

<sup>12</sup>“Then <sup>a</sup>a certain Ananias, a devout man according to the law, <sup>p</sup>having a good testimony with all the <sup>q</sup>Jews who dwelt there, <sup>13</sup>came to me; and he stood and said to me, ‘Brother Saul, receive your sight.’ And at that same hour I looked up at him.<sup>14</sup> Then he said, <sup>r</sup>‘The God of our fathers <sup>s</sup>has chosen you that you should <sup>t</sup>know His will, and <sup>u</sup>see the Just One, <sup>v</sup>and hear the voice of His mouth.<sup>15</sup> <sup>w</sup>For you will be His witness to all men of <sup>x</sup>what you have seen and heard.<sup>16</sup> And now why are you waiting? Arise and be baptized, <sup>y</sup>and wash away your sins, <sup>z</sup>calling on the name of the Lord.’

<sup>26</sup>When the centurion heard that, he went and told the commander, saying, “Take care what you do, for this man is a Roman.”

<sup>27</sup>Then the commander came and said to him, “Tell me, are you a Roman?”

He said, “Yes.”

<sup>28</sup>The commander answered, “With a large sum I obtained this citizenship.”

And Paul said, “But I was born a citizen.”

<sup>29</sup>Then immediately those who were about to examine him withdrew from him; and the commander was also afraid after he found out that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.

The Sanhedrin Divided

<sup>30</sup>The next day, because he wanted to know for certain why he was accused by the Jews, he released him from his bonds, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to appear, and brought Paul down and set him before them.

23 Then Paul, looking earnestly at the council, said, “Men and brethren, <sup>a</sup>I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day.”<sup>2</sup> And the high priest Ananias commanded those who stood by him <sup>b</sup>to strike him on the mouth.<sup>3</sup> Then Paul said to him, “God will strike you, you whitewashed wall! For you sit to judge me according to the law, and <sup>c</sup>do you command me to be struck contrary to the law?”

heard the sound but could not understand the words that were being spoken to Paul. we are not told why they could not understand the sound they heard.

22:16 Calling on the name of the Lord saves us. Baptism is the declaration of that calling (see Rom. 10:9–13).

22:22 they listened to him: t he Jews did not hate all Gentiles. in fact, they permitted God-fearing Gentiles to worship in the Court of the Gentiles. A Gentile could even become a proselyte, recognized as a Jew, by being circumcised and obeying the laws of Moses. t hus the Jews in this passage were not upset about allowing Gentiles to worship God, but at the idea that Gentiles could be on an equal footing with them before God without being proselytes. t he fact that the Gentiles could come to God directly by faith in Jesus Christ was offensive to them.

22:24 t he scourge was a leather whip, studded with pieces of metal or bone, fastened to a wooden handle. Paul had been beaten before with whips and rods (see 2 Cor. 11:24, 25). But scourging was worse. t he punishment was used to cripple for life or to kill. t he victim endured this torture either stretched out on the floor, tied to a pillar, or tied to a hook suspended from the ceiling.

22:25 Is it lawful: t he Roman law was that no Roman citizen could be chained, scourged, or killed without a proper trial. Failure to obey this law resulted in severe punishment for the one who commanded the illegal punishment. Paul had been chained and was about to be scourged without any formal charges having been made.

22:28 o riginally the privileges of Roman citizenship were limited to free people living in the city of Rome. Later, citizenship was granted to others living in the Roman empire. Sometimes the emperor would offer citizenship to those who had rendered outstanding service. Possibly Paul’s father or grandfather had become a citizen this way with the result that Paul was born a Roman. Ultimately God used Paul’s Roman citizenship to spread the gospel to Rome.

23:3 whitewashed wall: whitewash is a thin paint used to make something dirty look clean. Ananias deserved this rebuke. t he fact that Ananias had someone else “do his dirty work” did not absolve him from the ordering of the act.

<sup>5</sup>Then Paul said, <sup>d</sup>“I did not know, brethren, that he was the high priest; for it is written, <sup>e</sup> You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.”

<sup>6</sup>But when Paul perceived that one part were Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, “Men and brethren, <sup>f</sup>I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee; <sup>g</sup>concerning the hope and resurrection of the dead I am being judged!”

<sup>7</sup>And when he had said this, a dissension arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees; and the assembly was divided. <sup>8</sup><sup>h</sup>For Sadducees say that there is no resurrection—and no angel or spirit; but the Pharisees confess both. <sup>9</sup>Then there arose a loud outcry. And the scribes of the Pharisees’ party arose and protested, saying, <sup>i</sup>“We find no evil in this man; <sup>j</sup>but <sup>k</sup>if a spirit or an angel has spoken to him, <sup>l</sup>let us not fight against God.”

<sup>10</sup>Now when there arose a great dissension, the commander, fearing lest Paul might be pulled to pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him by force from among them, and bring him into the barracks.

The Plot Against Paul

<sup>12</sup>And when it was day, <sup>o</sup>some of the Jews banded together and bound themselves under an oath, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had <sup>p</sup>killed Paul. <sup>13</sup>Now there were more than forty who had formed this conspiracy. <sup>14</sup>They came to the chief priests and <sup>q</sup>elders, and said, “We have bound ourselves under a great oath that we will eat nothing until we have killed Paul. <sup>15</sup>Now you, therefore, together with the council, suggest to the commander that he be brought down to you <sup>3</sup>tomorrow, as though you were going to make further inquiries concerning him; but we are ready to kill him before he comes near.”

<sup>16</sup>So when Paul’s sister’s son heard of their ambush, he went and entered the barracks and told Paul. <sup>17</sup>Then Paul called one of the centurions to him and said, “Take this young man to the commander, for he has something to tell him.” <sup>18</sup>So he took him and brought him to the commander and said, “Paul the prisoner called me to him and asked me to bring this young man to you. He has something to say to you.”

<sup>19</sup>Then the commander took him by the hand, went aside, and asked privately, “What is it that you have to tell me?”

<sup>20</sup>And he said, <sup>r</sup>“The Jews have agreed to ask that you bring Paul down to the council tomorrow, as though they were going to inquire more fully about him. <sup>21</sup>But do not yield to them, for more than forty of them lie in wait for him, men who have bound themselves by an oath that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him; and now they are ready, waiting for the promise from you.”

<sup>22</sup>So the commander let the young man depart, and commanded him, “Tell no one that you have revealed these things to me.”

Sent to Felix

<sup>26</sup> Claudius Lysias,

To the most excellent governor Felix:

Greetings.

<sup>27</sup> <sup>t</sup>This man was seized by the Jews and was about to be killed by them.

23:5 note that Paul did not defend his behavior (v. 3), but rather repented of it. Idid not know: t here are several possible reasons why Paul did not know Ananias was the high priest. it could be that Paul’s eyesight was poor, and he could not see Ananias clearly. o r perhaps this was not a normal assembly of the Sanhedrin, and the high priest was not wearing his normal robes or sitting in his usual place.

23:6 t he Sadducees did not believe in the resurrection of the dead, miracles, life after death, or the existence of angels. o n the other hand, the Pharisees believed in the supernatural and affirmed the very things the Sadducees denied.

23:11 bear witness at Rome: warned by friends not to go to Jerusalem, Paul may have begun to doubt his decision. t he Lord encouraged Paul not to be afraid because he was under the sovereign care of God. As Paul had borne witness to Jesus as a prisoner in Jerusalem, so he would do as a prisoner in Rome. Paul’s chains would glorify God in ways that would have been impossible without them. 23:12–15 t he willingness of the Jewish council to cooperate with the assassination plot against Paul shows how conscious they were of their weak case against him.

23:23 Paul was to be escorted out of the city under cover of darkness surrounded by hundreds of soldiers. Apparently the commander thought the threat of assassination was serious enough to commit almost half of the entire garrison at the Fortress of Antonia to escorting Paul at least part of the way to Rome.

23:25 He wrote a letter: Roman law required a subordinate officer to send a written statement of the case with a prisoner when he referred the case to his superior.

Coming with the troops I rescued him, having learned that he was a Roman. <sup>28</sup>u And when I wanted to know the reason they accused him, I brought him before their council. <sup>29</sup>I found out that he was accused <sup>v</sup>concerning questions of their law, <sup>w</sup>but had nothing charged against him deserving of death or chains. <sup>30</sup>And <sup>x</sup>when it was told me that <sup>4</sup>the Jews lay in wait for the man, I sent him immediately to you, and <sup>y</sup>also commanded his accusers to state before you the charges against him.

Farewell.

<sup>31</sup>Then the soldiers, as they were commanded, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris. <sup>32</sup>The next day they left the horsemen to go on with him, and returned to the barracks. <sup>33</sup>When they came to <sup>z</sup>Caesarea and had delivered the <sup>a</sup>letter to the governor, they also presented Paul to him. <sup>34</sup>And when the governor had read it, he asked what province he was from. And when he understood that he was from <sup>b</sup>Cilicia, <sup>35</sup>he said, <sup>c</sup>“I will hear you when your accusers also have come.” And he commanded him to be kept in <sup>d</sup>Herod’s <sup>5</sup>Prætorium.

Accused of Sedition

24 Now after <sup>a</sup>five days <sup>b</sup>Ananias the high priest came down with the elders and a certain orator named Tertullus. These gave evidence to the governor against Paul.

<sup>2</sup>And when he was called upon, Tertullus began his accusation, saying: “Seeing that through you we enjoy great peace, and <sup>1</sup>prosperity is being brought to this nation by your foresight, <sup>3</sup>we accept it always and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankfulness. <sup>4</sup>Nevertheless, not to be tedious to you any further, I beg you to hear, by your <sup>2</sup>courtesy, a few words from us. <sup>5</sup>e For we have found this man a plague, a creator of dissension among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes. <sup>6</sup>d He even tried to profane the temple, and we seized him, <sup>3</sup>and wanted <sup>e</sup>to judge him according to our law. <sup>7</sup>f But the commander Lysias came by and with great violence took him out of our hands, <sup>8</sup>g commanding his accusers to come to you. By examining him yourself you may ascertain all these things of which we accuse him.” <sup>9</sup> And the Jews also <sup>4</sup>assented, maintaining that these things were so.

The Defense Before Felix

<sup>10</sup>Then Paul, after the governor had nodded to him to speak, answered: “Inasmuch as I know that you have been for many years a judge of this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself, <sup>11</sup>because you may ascertain that it is no more than twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem <sup>h</sup>to worship. <sup>12</sup>i And they neither found me in the temple disputing with anyone nor inciting the crowd, either in the synagogues or in the city. <sup>13</sup>Nor can they prove the things of which they now accuse me. <sup>14</sup>But this I confess to you, that according to <sup>j</sup>the Way which they call a sect, so I worship the <sup>k</sup>God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in <sup>l</sup>the Law and in the Prophets. <sup>15</sup>m I have hope in God, which they themselves also accept, <sup>n</sup>that there will be a resurrection <sup>5</sup>of the dead, both of the just and the unjust. <sup>16</sup>o This being so, I myself always strive to have a conscience without offense toward God and men.

<sup>17</sup>“Now after many years <sup>p</sup>I came to bring alms and offerings to my nation, <sup>18</sup>q in the midst of which some Jews from Asia found me <sup>r</sup>purified in the temple,

23:31, 32 Slipping out of Jerusalem when the city was quiet, the foot soldiers and cavalry probably attracted little attention. Ahead lay Antipatris, 40 miles away, by way of a winding downhill road where an ambush would have been disastrous. Antipatris was used by the Romans as a relay station for their troops. The rest of the journey was over open plain where there was no need for a large number of soldiers. The foot soldiers returned to Jerusalem, leaving the 70 horsemen to escort Paul the remaining distance to Caesarea, the capital of Judea. The hand of God over Paul’s life can be seen in the provision of such extraordinary protection.

23:34 the governor: Antonius Felix governed Judea from A.D. 52 to 60. Felix had been a slave, but had gained the status of freedman under the emperor Claudius. Because Felix’s brother was a friend of the emperor, Felix’s political career blossomed, even though he was not popular among his peers. Felix was known for indulging in every kind of lust, and the writer Tacitus described him as “exercising the powers of a king with the character of a slave.” he was from Cilicia: After reading the letter from Jerusalem, Felix wanted to know Paul’s home province. When he learned it was Cilicia he decided to hear the case, because the political status of Cilicia did not require its natives to be sent back there for trial.

23:35 As the official residence built by Herod the Great, Herod’s Prætorium included cells for prisoners (see John 18:28; Phil. 1:13). 24:5 we have found this man: There were three basic charges against Paul: political treason, religious heresy, and temple desecration. His opponents argued that Paul had been causing riots throughout the empire, that he spoke against the Law of Moses, and that he had brought a Gentile into the Jewish temple courts.

24:11, 12 Paul first addressed the charge of sedition, knowing that if he was found guilty it would mean his life. He demonstrated how ridiculous the charge was in that it had only been twelve days since he had come to Jerusalem. This was hardly enough time to incite riots or start revolutions in Judea.

24:14 Paul openly admitted that he was a follower of the Way, but he contended that he still believed the Law and the Prophets. That is, he was a follower of Judaism, a religion protected by Rome. 24:18, 19 The reference to Jews from Asia indicated to Felix that Paul’s real accusers were not present, creating some suspicion about the charges against the apostle.

neither with a mob nor with tumult.<sup>19</sup> They ought to have been here before you to object if they had anything against me.<sup>20</sup> Or else let those who are here themselves say <sup>6</sup>if they found any wrongdoing in me while I stood before the council,<sup>21</sup> unless it is for this one statement which I cried out, standing among them, “Concerning the resurrection of the dead I am being judged by you this day.”

Felix Procrastinates

<sup>22</sup> But when Felix heard these things, having more accurate knowledge of the “Way, he adjourned the proceedings and said, “When <sup>v</sup>Lysias the commander comes down, I will make a decision on your case.”<sup>23</sup> So he commanded the centurion to keep Paul and to let him have liberty, and <sup>w</sup>told him not to forbid any of his friends to provide for or visit him.

<sup>24</sup> And after some days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, he sent for Paul and heard him concerning the <sup>x</sup>faith in Christ.<sup>25</sup> Now as he reasoned about righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix was afraid and answered, “Go away for now; when I have a convenient time I will call for you.”<sup>26</sup> Meanwhile he also hoped that <sup>y</sup>money would be given him by Paul, <sup>z</sup>that he might release him. Therefore he sent for him more often and conversed with him.

Paul Appeals to Caesar

Jews informed him against Paul; and they petitioned him,<sup>3</sup> asking a favor against him, that he would summon him to Jerusalem—<sup>c</sup>while they lay in ambush along the road to kill him.<sup>4</sup> But Festus answered that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself was going there shortly.<sup>5</sup> “Therefore,” he said, “let those who have authority among you go down with me and accuse this man, to see <sup>d</sup>if there is any fault in him.”

<sup>6</sup> And when he had remained among them more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea. And the next day, sitting on the judgment seat, he commanded Paul to be brought.<sup>7</sup> When he had come, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood about <sup>e</sup>and laid many serious complaints against Paul, which they could not prove,<sup>8</sup> while he answered for himself,<sup>f</sup> “Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar have I offended in anything at all.”

<sup>9</sup> But Festus, <sup>g</sup>wanting to do the Jews a favor, answered Paul and said, <sup>h</sup>“Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem and there be judged before me concerning these things?”

<sup>10</sup> So Paul said, “I stand at Caesar’s judgment seat, where I ought to be judged. To the Jews I have done no wrong, as you very well know.<sup>11</sup> <sup>i</sup>For if I am an offender, or have committed anything deserving of death, I do not object to dying; but if there is nothing in these things of which these men accuse me, no one can deliver me to them. <sup>j</sup>I appeal to Caesar.”

<sup>12</sup> Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, “You have appealed to Caesar? To Caesar you shall go!”

Paul Before Agrippa

<sup>13</sup> And after some days King Agrippa and Bernice came to Caesarea to greet

24:22 having more accurate knowledge of the Way: How did Felix know about the Christian faith? His wife drusilla was Jewish. She was the great-granddaughter of Herod the Great, who had tried to kill the baby Jesus. She was the great-niece of the Herod who killed John the Baptist. Her father was the man who had the apostle James put to death (12:1, 2). Also, Felix was well acquainted with Christianity from having governed Judea and Samaria for six years. 24:25 Felix had taken drusilla from her former husband, the king of emesa in Syria. She was Felix’s third wife. His first wife was the granddaughter of mark Antony and Cleopatra. His second wife was a princess whom he also divorced. when Paul talked about righteousness, self-control, and the coming judgment, Felix must have been reminded of his immoral life. He refused to talk any more about the way because of the guilt he felt.

24:26 Felix may have hoped that Paul had money from the Gentile churches or that perhaps Paul’s friends would pay a ransom for him. Felix wanted to talk about a payoff; Paul wanted to talk about righteousness (v. 25).

24:27 after two years: it may be that this was the time Luke wrote most of the Book of Acts, considering that he had access to people in Jerusalem and Caesarea for information about the early church.

After two years, another riot broke out in Caesarea. Felix crushed it with such force that he was removed as governor around A.D. 60. 25:1–4 t he Jews hated Felix, and they wrote letters to Rome detailing their outrage over his brutality against them. As a result, Felix was replaced as governor by Porcius Festus. Festus learned from the mistakes of Felix. t hree days after arriving in Caesarea, Festus headed to Jerusalem to meet with the Jewish leaders to establish some sort of working arrangement with the high priest and the Sanhedrin. they petitioned him: t he Jewish leaders pressured Festus not for a concession or a favor. t hey wanted Festus to send Paul back to Jerusalem for trial. t heir plan was to assassinate Paul on the way (23:15).

25:5 see if there is any fault in him: Festus reopened Paul’s case in an attempt to appease the Jewish leaders.

25:11 Paul knew that as a citizen of Rome he could insist on a trial before the Roman judgment seat, and not the Jewish Sanhedrin, where he would find little justice. t he appeal to Caesar was the right of any Roman citizen. if a citizen thought he was not getting justice in a provincial court, he could appeal to the emperor himself. if the appeal was declared valid, all other proceedings in the lower courts ceased and the prisoner was sent to Rome for disposition of his case.

Roman Citizenship

Paul was born a Roman citizen, but how his family gained that citizenship is unknown. There were several ways to become a Roman citizen: being born to a Roman parent; retiring from the Roman army; having citizenship granted by an emperor or a Roman general to an individual or to an entire group; purchasing it. A Roman citizen was guaranteed a fair trial and was protected against certain forms of harsh punishment. A citizen could even appeal to Caesar in order to be tried in Rome.

Paul was intelligent enough to know all of his rights and savvy enough to know how to use them to his and especially God's advantage. Not only did his rights as a Roman citizen often save his life in dangerous situations (22:25), they also allowed him to carry the gospel message to jailers, shipmates, kings, and to the emperor in Rome (25:11).

Festus. <sup>14</sup>When they had been there many days, Festus laid Paul's case before the king, saying: <sup>k</sup>“There is a certain man left a prisoner by Felix, <sup>15</sup><sup>l</sup>about whom the chief priests and the elders of the Jews informed me, when I was in Jerusalem, asking for a judgment against him. <sup>16</sup><sup>m</sup>To them I answered, ‘It is not the custom of the Romans to deliver any man <sup>2</sup>to destruction before the accused meets the accusers face to face, and has opportunity to answer for himself concerning the charge against him.’ <sup>17</sup>Therefore when they had come together, <sup>n</sup>without any delay, the next day I sat on the judgment seat and commanded the man to be brought in. <sup>18</sup>When the accusers stood up, they brought no accusation against him of such things as I <sup>3</sup>supposed, <sup>19</sup><sup>o</sup>but had some questions against him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus, who had died, whom Paul affirmed to be alive. <sup>20</sup>And because I was uncertain of such questions, I asked whether he was willing to go to Jerusalem and there be judged concerning these matters. <sup>21</sup>But when Paul <sup>p</sup>appealed to be reserved for the decision of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I could send him to Caesar.”

Paul's Early Life

26 Then Agrippa said to Paul, “You are permitted to speak for yourself.”

So Paul stretched out his hand and answered for himself: <sup>2</sup>“I think myself <sup>a</sup>happy, King Agrippa, because today I shall answer <sup>b</sup>for myself before you concerning all the things of which I am <sup>c</sup>accused by the Jews, <sup>3</sup>especially because you are expert in all customs and questions which have to do with the Jews. Therefore I beg you to hear me patiently.

<sup>4</sup>“My manner of life from my youth, which was spent from the beginning among my own nation at Jerusalem, all the Jews know. <sup>5</sup>They knew me from the first, if they were willing to testify, that according to <sup>d</sup>the strictest sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee. <sup>6</sup><sup>e</sup>And now I stand and am judged for the hope of <sup>f</sup>the promise made by God to our fathers. <sup>7</sup>To this <sup>g</sup>promise <sup>g</sup>our twelve tribes, earnestly

25:14–21 Festus laid Paul's case before the king: Festus had a problem. In the case of an appeal, a letter had to be written providing the details of the case. Festus did not understand what was going on with Paul or why the Jewish leaders hated him. When King Agrippa arrived to bring his official greetings, it gave Festus an opportunity to get an opinion from one who might have understood such things.

26:5 I lived a Pharisee: The Jewish historian Josephus described the Pharisees as “a body of Jews with the reputation of excelling the rest of the nation in the observances of religion, and as exact exponents of the laws.” Paul pointed out that he was not some stranger or foreigner trying to start a new religion. He was a Jew, a Pharisee, who lived out his Jewish faith better than most.

26:6 for the hope of the promise: Paul was not being judged because he had done something wrong. He had not turned against his own Jewish heritage. Instead he fervently believed in the promises God had made to the nation of Israel: the promise of a coming messiah and the reestablishment of the kingdom of God. Paul did not reject the hope of salvation for Israel. Instead he saw that hope fulfilled in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. The fact that servicing God <sup>h</sup> night and day, <sup>i</sup> hope to attain. For this hope's sake, King Agrippa, I am accused by the Jews. <sup>8</sup> Why should it be thought incredible by you that God raises the dead?

<sup>9</sup> "Indeed, I myself thought I must do many things <sup>l</sup> contrary to the name of <sup>k</sup> Jesus of Nazareth. <sup>10</sup> This I also did in Jerusalem, and many of the saints I shut up in prison, having received authority <sup>m</sup> from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I cast my vote against them. <sup>11</sup> And I punished them often in every synagogue and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly enraged against them, I persecuted them even to foreign cities.

Paul Recounts His Conversion

<sup>12</sup> "While thus occupied, as I journeyed to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests, <sup>13</sup> at midday, O king, along the road I saw a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, shining around me and those who journeyed with me. <sup>14</sup> And when we all had fallen to the ground, I heard a voice speaking to me and saying in the Hebrew language, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.' <sup>15</sup> So I said, 'Who are You, Lord?' And He said, 'I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting. <sup>16</sup> But rise and stand on your feet; for I have appeared to you for this purpose, <sup>n</sup> to make you a minister and a witness both of the things which you have seen and of the things which I will yet reveal to you. <sup>17</sup> I will <sup>2</sup> deliver you from the Jewish people, as well as from the Gentiles, <sup>q</sup> to whom I <sup>3</sup> now send you, <sup>18</sup> to open their eyes, in order <sup>s</sup> to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, <sup>t</sup> that they may receive forgiveness

Paul's Post-Conversion Life

Agrippa Parries Paul's Challenge

<sup>24</sup> Now as he thus made his defense, Festus said with a loud voice, "Paul, <sup>d</sup> you are beside yourself! Much learning is driving you mad!"

<sup>25</sup> But he said, "I am not <sup>5</sup> mad, most noble Festus, but speak the words of truth and reason. <sup>26</sup> For the king, before whom I also speak freely, <sup>e</sup> knows these things; for I am convinced that none of these things escapes his attention, since this thing was not done in a corner. <sup>27</sup> King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know that you do believe."

<sup>29</sup> And Paul said, <sup>f</sup> "I would to God that not only you, but also all who hear me today, might become both almost and altogether such as I am, except for these chains."

<sup>30</sup> When he had said these things, the

Jesus had been raised from the dead confirmed to Paul that all believers would be raised from the dead to enjoy the blessings of the promised kingdom of God.

26:10 I cast my vote against them: Some have concluded that Paul must have been a member of the Sanhedrin at some time, since he mentions casting a vote. However, Paul was probably too young to belong to such a body of aged men or elders. Paul may have been the Sanhedrin's chief prosecutor, urging a verdict of guilty against those Christians he had hunted down in the course of his campaign of persecution.

26:11 The imperfect tense of the verb compelled does not tell us whether or not Paul had actually been successful in causing believers to blaspheme their faith, only that he had tried to compel them to do so.

26:14 kick against the goads: A young ox, when it was first yoked, usually resented the burden and tried kicking its way out. If the ox was yoked to a single-handed plow, the plowman would hold a long staff with a sharpened end close to the heels of the ox. Every time the ox kicked, it struck the spike. If the ox was yoked to a wagon, a studded bar with wooden spikes served the same purpose. The point was that the ox had to learn submission to the yoke the hard way. Before his encounter with Jesus on the Damascus road, Paul was resisting God in a similar manner (see 1 Tim. 1:13).

26:20 Repentance indicates a complete change in thinking. In Rom. 12:2, Paul speaks of the "renewing of your mind." We do what we think is best, what makes sense to us. Paul was killing Christians because he thought it was the correct course of action. Christ's revelation changed his thoughts, but his preaching of the Good News was visible proof that he had repented of his former ways. Genuine repentance is evidenced by changed behavior.

26:28-30 Agrippa realized that Paul was doing more than just defending his faith; he was actually trying to persuade Agrippa to become a follower of Jesus Christ. If Agrippa had told those gathered that he did not believe the prophets, he would have angered the Jews. If he had acknowledged that he did believe the prophets, he would have had to give weight to Paul's words. Agrippa avoided being maneuvered into an embarrassing corner by sidestepping the issue. The interview was becoming too personal for Agrippa's comfort, so he ended the dialogue.

king stood up, as well as the governor and Bernice and those who sat with them; <sup>31</sup>and when they had gone aside, they talked among themselves, saying, <sup>g</sup>“This man is doing nothing deserving of death or chains.”

<sup>32</sup>Then Agrippa said to Festus, “This man might have been set <sup>h</sup>free <sup>i</sup>if he had not appealed to Caesar.”

The Voyage to Rome Begins

27 And when <sup>a</sup>it was decided that we should sail to Italy, they delivered Paul and some other prisoners to one named Julius, a centurion of the Augustan Regiment. <sup>2</sup>So, entering a ship of Adramyttium, we put to sea, meaning to sail along the coasts of Asia. <sup>b</sup>Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, was with us. <sup>3</sup>And the next day we landed at Sidon. And Julius <sup>c</sup>treated Paul kindly and gave him liberty to go to his friends and receive care. <sup>4</sup>When we had put to sea from there, we sailed under the shelter of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary. <sup>5</sup>And when we had sailed over the sea which is off Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia. <sup>6</sup>There the centurion found <sup>d</sup>an Alexandrian ship sailing to Italy, and he put us on board.

<sup>7</sup>When we had sailed slowly many days, and arrived with difficulty off Cnidus, the wind not permitting us to proceed, we sailed under the shelter of <sup>e</sup>Crete off Salmone. <sup>8</sup>Passing it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near the city of Lasea.

In the Tempest

<sup>13</sup>When the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their desire, putting out to sea, they sailed close by Crete. <sup>14</sup>But not long after, a tempestuous head wind arose, called <sup>2</sup>Euroclydon. <sup>15</sup>So when the ship was caught, and could not head into the wind, we let her <sup>3</sup>drive. <sup>16</sup>And running under the shelter of an island called <sup>4</sup>Clauda, we secured the skiff with difficulty. <sup>17</sup>When they had taken it on board, they used cables to undergird the ship; and fearing lest they should run aground on the <sup>5</sup>Syrtis Sands, they struck sail and so were driven. <sup>18</sup>And because we were exceedingly tempest-tossed, the next day they lightened the ship. <sup>19</sup>On the third day <sup>g</sup>we threw the ship's tackle overboard with our own hands. <sup>20</sup>Now when neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small tempest beat on us, all hope that we would be saved was finally given up.

<sup>21</sup>But after long abstinence from food, then Paul stood in the midst of them and said, “Men, you should have listened to me, and not have sailed from Crete and in-

27:1 we: Luke accompanied Paul on this journey (for other “we” passages, see 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18). other prisoners: Some of the other prisoners may have also appealed to Caesar, or they may have been under sentence of death and were on their way to Rome to appear as combatants in the arena.

27:4–6 the winds were contrary: t this was not a good time for sailing. it was just before the winter months when sailing became difficult because of storms. Because of headwinds, the ship had to sail north of the island of Cyprus, using it and the mainland to break the force of the gale. eventually the travelers reached the port of myra where a larger ship was found to sail to italy.

27:7–9 Paul and his shipmates neared Cnidus on the southwest tip of Asia minor, some 130 miles from myra, which would have been their last port of call before sailing across the Aegean Sea to the coast of Greece. However, the wind was so strong that the ship was forced southward. t he ship sailed along the southern coast of the island of Crete, again using the island to break the force of the wind. Finally the ship docked at a small port called Fair Havens. t he season for sailing was over, and continuing the journey would have been dangerous.

27:9–12 Paul advised them: Paul had been at sea many times before. He had been shipwrecked at least two other times (see 2 Cor. 11:25), so he had some basis for what he was saying. However, his counsel was rejected. Because Fair Havens was a little town, the sailors decided to try to reach Phoenix, the major port on the west side of Crete, some 60 miles away. it could be that the owner of the ship wanted to get his grain to a larger port so that he could sell it. Furthermore Julius, the centurion in charge, probably wanted a better place to winter his men. in other words, greed and the desire for comfort may have gotten in the way of good sense.

27:13–16 in the morning there was a calm over the sea and a breeze blowing from the south, so the travelers quickly set sail, hugging the shoreline for protection. Suddenly a violent northeasterly storm called Euroclydon (a name given to all northeasterly storms) hit the ship, preventing the crew from sailing into the wind. t he word translated tempestuous is the root of our word typhoon. t he storm drove the ship south of a small island named Clauda, which broke the force of the gale long enough for the crew to take some measures to save the ship.

27:17 cables to undergird the ship: Because the ship's timbers could come apart, the sailors passed strong ropes under the ship, pulling up tight to hold the ship together. run aground on the Syrtis Sands: t he sailors were fearful of the sandbars of Syrtis, just off the northern coast of Africa. t he crew of Paul's ship let down a sea anchor, attempting to slow themselves down.

curred this disaster and loss. <sup>22</sup>And now I urge you to take <sup>6</sup>heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. <sup>23<sup>h</sup></sup>For there stood by me this night an angel of the God to whom I belong and <sup>i</sup>whom I serve, <sup>24</sup>saying, ‘Do not be afraid, Paul; you must be brought before Caesar; and indeed God has granted you all those who sail with you.’ <sup>25</sup>Therefore take heart, men, <sup>j</sup>for I believe God that it will be just as it was told me. <sup>26</sup>However, <sup>k</sup>we must run aground on a certain island.”

<sup>27</sup>Now when the fourteenth night had come, as we were driven up and down in the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors sensed that they were drawing near some land. <sup>28</sup>And they took soundings and found it to be twenty fathoms; and when they had gone a little farther, they took soundings again and found it to be fifteen fathoms. <sup>29</sup>Then, fearing lest we should run aground on the rocks, they dropped four anchors on the stern, and <sup>7</sup>prayed for day to come. <sup>30</sup>And as the sailors were seeking to escape from the ship, when they had let down the skiff into the sea, under pretense of putting out anchors from the prow, <sup>31</sup>Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless these men stay in the ship, you cannot be saved.” <sup>32</sup>Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the skiff and let it fall off.

<sup>33</sup>And as day was about to dawn, Paul implored them all to take food, saying, “Today is the fourteenth day you have waited and continued without food, and eaten nothing. <sup>34</sup>Therefore I urge you to take nourishment, for this is for your survival, <sup>l</sup>since not a hair will fall from the head of any of you.” <sup>35</sup>And when he had said these things, he took bread and <sup>m</sup>gave thanks to God in the presence of them all; and when he had broken it he began to eat. <sup>36</sup>Then they were all encouraged, and also took food themselves. <sup>37</sup>And in all we were two hundred and seventy-six <sup>n</sup>persons on the ship. <sup>38</sup>So when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship and threw out the wheat into the sea.

<sup>42</sup>And the soldiers’ plan was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim away and escape. <sup>43</sup>But the centurion, wanting to save Paul, kept them from their purpose, and commanded that those who could swim should jump overboard first and get to land, <sup>44</sup>and the rest, some on boards and some on parts of the ship. And so it was <sup>p</sup>that they all escaped safely to land.

Paul’s Ministry on Malta

28 Now when they had escaped, they then found out that <sup>a</sup>the island was called Malta. <sup>2</sup>And the <sup>b</sup>natives <sup>l</sup>showed us unusual kindness; for they kindled a fire and made us all welcome, because of the rain that was falling and because of the cold. <sup>3</sup>But when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat, and fastened on his hand. <sup>4</sup>So when the natives saw the creature hanging from his hand, they said to one another, “No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he has escaped the sea, yet justice does not allow to live.” <sup>5</sup>But he shook off the creature into the fire and <sup>c</sup>suffered no harm. <sup>6</sup>However, they were expecting that he would swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But after they had looked for a long time and saw no harm come to him, they changed their minds and <sup>d</sup>said that he was a god.

<sup>7</sup>In that region there was an estate of the <sup>2</sup>leading citizen of the island, whose name was Publius, who received us and entertained us courteously for three days. <sup>8</sup>And it happened that the father of

27:22 no loss of life: Paul had been given absolute assurance by the all-powerful and all-knowing God that no one would be lost on the ship. Yet in v. 31 Paul warned that if the sailors were successful in escaping from the ship, the Roman soldiers would lose their lives. Because of Paul’s comments, the soldiers stopped the sailors from leaving the ship and everyone made it ashore alive (v. 44). God fulfilled His purpose and promise through the warnings of Paul and the choices of the soldiers.

27:42 t he soldiers planned to kill the prisoners because they knew Roman military law. if a prisoner escaped, the soldier on guard would be liable for the punishment of the one who escaped.

28:1 Malta was part of the Roman province of Sicily and was located about 60 miles south of that island near the toe of Italy.

28:8 lay sick of a fever: t his fever was possibly Malta fever, which was common in Malta, Gibraltar, and other Mediterranean islands. t he microorganism has since been traced to the milk of the Maltese goats. t he fever usually lasted four months, but sometimes could last as long as two or three years.

Publius lay sick of a fever and dysentery. Paul went in to him and <sup>e</sup>prayed, and <sup>f</sup>he laid his hands on him and healed him. <sup>9</sup>So when this was done, the rest of those on the island who had diseases also came and were healed. <sup>10</sup>They also honored us in many <sup>g</sup>ways; and when we departed, they provided such things as were <sup>h</sup>necessary.

Arrival at Rome

<sup>16</sup>Now when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard; but <sup>k</sup>Paul was permitted to dwell by himself with the soldier who guarded him.

that Paul called the leaders of the Jews together. So when they had come together, he said to them: "Men and brethren, <sup>l</sup>though I have done nothing against our people or the customs of our fathers, yet <sup>m</sup>I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans, <sup>18</sup>who, <sup>n</sup>when they had examined me, wanted to let me go, because there was no cause for putting me to death. <sup>19</sup>But when the <sup>4</sup>Jews spoke against it, <sup>o</sup>I was compelled to appeal to Caesar, not that I had anything of which to accuse my nation. <sup>20</sup>For this reason therefore I have called for you, to see you and speak with you, because <sup>p</sup>for the hope of Israel I am bound with <sup>q</sup>this chain."

<sup>21</sup>Then they said to him, "We neither received letters from Judea concerning you, nor have any of the brethren who came reported or spoken any evil of you. <sup>22</sup>But we desire to hear from you what you think; for concerning this sect, we know that <sup>r</sup>it is spoken against everywhere."

28:15 Some Christians from Rome traveled 33 miles south to a place called Three Inns to meet Paul. o others traveled ten miles farther south to meet Paul at Appii Forum. t hree years earlier in his letter to the Roman Christians, Paul had expressed his deep desire to see them someday (see Rom. 15:24). t he day had come.

28:16 Because Paul had not been accused of a dangerous crime and was not considered a political threat, he was permitted to dwell by himself under house arrest. t his meant he could entertain his friends and minister to groups such as Roman Jews and Gentiles.

28:17 leaders of the Jews: By this time, the decree of the emperor Claudius (18:2) had been allowed to lapse, and Jews had returned to Rome.

28:21 t he Jewish leaders had not received any news about Paul from Judea. it may be that after Paul's appeal to Caesar, Paul was on the first ship that made it to Italy. o r the Jewish antagonists may have given up their attacks on Paul, having already failed with Felix, Festus, and Agrippa. A third reason may be that the Jews, only recently back in Rome after the expulsion of Claudius, wanted to avoid trouble.

Power of the Spirit

At the beginning of the Book of Acts, Jesus' followers appear confused and fearful. But by the end of the book they are well on their way to transforming the Roman world with the gospel. what accounts for this dramatic change? Acts 1:8 provides the answer: "You shall receive power." But notice:

1. t he power promised was not force or political authority. israel had enjoyed superiority under david and Solomon, but those days were a distant memory. Jesus was not indicating a revival of Jewish dominance. instead, the word "power" means ability or capacity. Jesus promised that once the Holy Spirit came upon them, His followers would have a new ability.

2. t he ability had more to do with being than doing. t he believers would "be witnesses," not just "do witnessing." evangelism is a process, not just an event. it involves a total lifestyle, not just occasional efforts.

3. t he power came from without, not from within. t he believers were not to manufacture their own ways of proclaiming the gospel but to look for supernatural ability from the Spirit to make them effective in gospel presentation. t he power came when the Holy Spirit arrived, not before.

4. t he believers were to be witnesses to Christ, not to themselves. t hey were to make disciples not to themselves but to the risen Lord (Matt. 28:18–20).

<sup>29</sup> <sup>6</sup> And when he had said these words, the Jews departed and had a great dispute among themselves.

<sup>30</sup> Then Paul dwelt two whole years in his own rented house, and received all who came to him, <sup>31</sup><sup>x</sup> preaching the kingdom of God and teaching the things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ with all confidence, no one forbidding him.

28:30 two whole years: during this time Paul was permitted to minister to anyone who came to his rented house. Paul also wrote four of the nt letters (ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon) during this period.

28:31 Luke does not reveal what happened to Paul’s case. Apparently it had not yet been decided when Luke finished Acts. t here are good reasons for believing that Paul was released, since he had been found innocent by all Roman officials up to this point. Ancient tradition tells us that Paul actually went to Spain as he desired

(see Rom. 15:24). in his captivity letters, Paul expressed his hope of being released (see Philem. 22) and his confidence that he would be released (Phil. 1:25). Paul’s pastoral epistles contain items that cannot be fitted into the Book of Acts, suggesting that they were written later. For instance, t itus 1:5 implies that Paul ministered on the island of Crete, something that is not reported in the Book of Acts. Paul most likely resumed his missionary travels for a few more years before being rearrested, retried, condemned, and executed as a martyr sometime between A.D. 64 and 67.

Rome in the Time of Paul

In terms of political importance, geographic position, and sheer magnificence, the superlative city of the empire was Rome, the capital.

Located on a series of jutting foothills and low-lying eminences east of a bend in the Tiber River some 18 miles from the Mediterranean, Rome was celebrated for its impressive public buildings, aqueducts, baths, theaters, and thoroughfares, many of which led from distant provinces. The city of the first Christian century had spread far beyond its fourth-century B.C. Servian walls and lay unwallled, secure in its greatness.

The most prominent features were the Capitoline hill, with temples to Jupiter and Juno, and the nearby Palatine, adorned with imperial palaces, including Nero's Golden House. Both hills overlooked the Roman Forum, the hub of the entire empire (see map below).

Alternatively described as the glorious crowning achievement of humankind and as the sewer of the universe to which all the scum from every corner of the empire flowed, Rome had reasons for both civic pride in its architecture and shame for staggering urban social problems not unlike those of cities today.

The apostle Paul entered the city from the south on the Appian Way. He first lived under house arrest and then, after a period of freedom, as a condemned prisoner (perhaps in the Mamertine dungeon near the Forum). Remarkably, Paul was able to proclaim the gospel among all classes of people, from the palace to the prison. According to tradition, he was executed at a spot on the Ostian Way outside Rome in A.D. 68.

The Neronian persecution in A.D. 64 was a transparent attempt by the emperor to throw the blame on Christians for the great fire that destroyed large parts of the city. The populace, however, blamed Nero and felt sorry for those unjustly tortured in the arena (cf. Tacitus, Annals, 15.44).

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE ROMANS

ROMANS SeRveS as the flagship of the fleet of Pauline letters within the New Testament. This letter has also loomed large in the history of Christianity. Countless men and women of faith have singled out Romans as the weapon God graciously used to bring about their surrender to Christ. Augustine, Martin Luther, John Wesley, and others received unexpected spiritual volleys from Romans that pierced their defenses and ended their rebellion against God.

Romans combines breadth, logic, and a mature understanding of the Old Testament Scriptures into a powerful arsenal. by the time it was written, the Holy Spirit had shaped the apostle Paul into a skillful communicator of the faith. The result is his letter to the Romans, a theological treatise that perfectly fits Paul's description of all Scripture as "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim. 3:16). The letter represents a full expression of apostolic theology. Paul's arguments challenge the secular, pagan mind, yet they also pierce the shallow spiritual confidence of many nonpagans. Romans is a mighty leveler, for it declares that "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (3:23). Since all are sinners, it comes as a delightful shock that "God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us" (5:8). This is the Good News, which Paul so eloquently and systematically defends in this theological treatise addressed to the Romans.

Author and Date The author introduces himself in the first verses of Romans by name (Paul), by identity (bondservant), by vocation (apostle), and by purpose (separated to the gospel of God). Romans has been recognized as an epistle of Paul throughout church history. The character and message of Paul, which we read so much about in Acts, appear in Romans as his signature to the letter.

This letter was written to a vibrant church in the city of Rome. Although the origins of the church are unknown, it could have been established by new believers returning from Jerusalem following the Resurrection and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. When Paul wrote this letter he had not personally visited Rome, although he had desired to do so for some time.

Few clues are included in the epistle to the Romans about the Roman believers. Paul admired their faith and prayed regularly for them. It is evident that the church included both Jews and Gentiles. On the surface it does not appear that any problem in the church at Rome was the occasion for the epistle. However, there is some indication that the believers at Rome needed to be exhorted to live in harmony (14:1—15:13). evidence in the Corinthian letters, in Romans, and in Acts indicates that Paul wrote to the Roman church from Corinth on his third missionary journey. When Paul composed the Corinthian epistles, he referred to a collection for the poor Christian believers in Jerusalem that was being gathered from the various Mediterranean churches (1 Cor. 16:1–3; 2 Cor. 8:1—9:1). by the time Romans was written that task had been completed and Paul was about to depart to Jerusalem to deliver the funds (15:22–29).

The implication is that Paul planned to sail for Judea directly from Corinth. Phoebe also, a fellow believer, was about to leave Corinth for Rome. She was presumably the bearer of the letter from Paul to the Romans. Since practically all navigation on the Mediterranean Sea ceased after November 11 and was not resumed again until March 10, Romans was likely written in the fall of A.D. 57.

A plot by the Jews, however, changed Paul's travel plans. Instead of taking a ship from Corinth, he went through Macedonia by foot (Acts 20:3) and eventually left for Jerusalem from Philippi the next spring (Acts 20:6). Little did Paul know that his eventual arrival in Rome would be in captivity (Acts 28:17–31).

Purpose All of Paul's other letters arise from a particular occasion and have a definite purpose. Romans is different; from the content it seems to have a much more general didactic aim. Having said this, it is possible to see at least three purposes Paul had in writing the book.

His first purpose was to prepare the Romans for his planned journey to Rome and later to Spain. His immediate itinerary involved a trip to Jerusalem, but his vision was toward the west. He clearly suggests that he expects assistance from them in his endeavor to carry the gospel to Spain (15:24), but if that had been his only purpose, a brief note would have been enough. Obviously Paul had more in mind.

A second purpose involved Paul's understanding that the believers needed to "be established" (1:11). Paul wanted to give them a well-instructed faith. His letter is a kind of syllabus of Paul's apostolic teaching. Romans is a masterful presentation of God's plan of salvation for Jews and Gentiles.

The third purpose for the letter was pastoral. Paul wanted to exhort Jewish and Gentile believers to live in harmony. As in most of the early churches, the gospel brought different groups of people together who otherwise would have stayed apart, whether for reasons of nationality, status, or culture. Once they came together under one roof, the challenge was to preserve their oneness in Christ. Thus throughout the letter, Paul deals with problems arising from Jewish and Gentile differences. He emphasizes what everyone shared. Since there is only one God, He is the God of both Jew and Gentile. Both groups are under sin (3:9), and both are saved through faith (3:30). This theme of Jew and Gentile living together surfaces most clearly in chapters 14 and 15, where Paul deals with the practical aspects of being together in one body. Paul hammers home his central theme: The righteous God justifies and ultimately glorifies both Jew and Gentile by grace through faith.

Theology Romans includes the most systematic presentation of theology found anywhere in Scripture. It explains the meaning of the Cross for the believer's life. While expounding why Jesus died for all of humanity, Paul clarifies the core concepts of the Christian faith: sin and righteousness, faith and works, justification and election. The letter contains (1) a detailed description of the sinfulness of man (1:18—3:20); (2) an extensive discussion of justification by faith (3:21—5:11), including a clear interpretation of the death of Christ (3:24–26); (3) an elaborate explanation of sanctification (5:12—8:39); (4) a strong section on the doctrine of election (9:1–29);

The Colosseum in Rome, one of the most impressive reminders of the might of the Roman Empire

(5) a developed exposition of what happened to the nation of Israel and the destiny of God's people (9:1—11:36); (6) an extended section addressing spiritual gifts (12:1–8); and (7) instructions on the believers' relationship to government (13:1–14). Certainly Romans is the most doctrinal book in the bible, because it provides a systematic outline of the essentials of the Christian faith, it is as useful to the mature believer as it is to someone who wants a short introduction to the Christian faith.

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

Paul explains that Jesus Christ is the Second Adam whose righteousness and substitutionary death have provided justification for all who place their faith in Him. By reading Romans we can see how the apostle breaks down a truckload of theological truth into bite-sized installments by using a question-and-answer format.

In other words, Romans presents a Jesus who offers His righteousness as a gracious gift to sinful people like us because He bore God's condemnation and wrath for our depraved nature. Paul makes it quite clear that the Savior's life, death, and resurrection are the basis for our redemption, justification, reconciliation, salvation, and glorification. What is more, Paul contends that the Spirit of Jesus can motivate us to live responsible, Christlike lives. That's what the second half of Romans is all about.

The City of Rome

Rome was founded in 753 B.C., and by the time of Paul it was the greatest city in the world with over one million inhabitants. The forum was the ancient meeting place, marketplace, and political center of Rome. The city's legendary founder, Romulus, is said to be buried in the forum. Here Cicero spoke to the Senate and Julius Caesar was murdered. The forum's monumental architecture remained intact until the sixth century A.D., but has since been destroyed by war, vandals, and the ravages of nature. Although the center of power and full of magnificent buildings, the majority of people in Rome were slaves; opulence and squalor coexisted in this imperial city.

The church in Rome was well known (1:8), and it had been established for several years by the time of this letter. The believers there were numerous, and evidently they met in several places (16:1–16).

1:1 Bondservant means “slave.” Paul is talking about a slavery undertaken voluntarily out of love (see ex. 21:1–6), unlike the forced slavery well known to many in the Roman empire. Paul emphasizes his personal subjection to Jesus Christ, by calling himself an apostle, Paul places himself on the level of the twelve apostles and claims authority from God for His work.

1:3 Humanly speaking, Jesus was a descendant of David (Matt. 1:1). He was truly and completely human; but at the same time, He was God's Son. The fact that Jesus was a descendant of David also links Him to the Davidic covenant. When Christ returns to reign over all, He will fulfill God's promise to David to give him a dynasty that will last forever (see 2 Sam. 7:8–17).

1:4 The word translated declared means “designated.” Jesus did not become Son of God by His resurrection. Instead, His resurrection proved that He was the Son of God.

1:5 for obedience to the faith: The purpose of the apostles' work was to persuade people to obey God's command to trust Christ.

1:9 always in my prayers: Paul prayed for them every time he prayed. In other words, they were on his prayer list. The greatest of saints, and even our Lord Jesus, knew they could not do their work for God or live their lives without praying.

1:11 To impart . . . some spiritual gift does not mean that Paul would bestow spiritual gifts like teaching, healing, or prophecy. It means that he would exercise his spiritual gift and in so doing would bless them.

1:16 The NT speaks of salvation in the past tense (eph. 2:8), the salvation for everyone who believes,<sup>x</sup> for the Jew first and also for the Greek.<sup>17</sup> For <sup>y</sup>in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written, <sup>z</sup>“The just shall live by faith.”

God's Wrath on Unrighteousness

present tense (2 Cor. 2:15), and the future tense (13:11). In the past, the believer has been saved from the penalty of sin. In the present, the believer is being saved from the power of sin. In the future, the believer will be saved from the very presence of sin (see Matt. 5:10-12; 8:17; 2 Cor. 5:10; 2 Tim. 2:11-13; Rev. 22:12).

1:17 From faith to faith means faith is at the beginning of the salvation process, and it is the goal as well. When a person first exercises faith in Christ, that person is saved from the penalty of sin and declared righteous. As the believer lives by faith, God continues to save him or her from the power of sin to live righteously (see v. 16).

1:18 As the next verse indicates, the truth is truth about God. Having departed from godliness and righteousness, people suppress the truth about God: that God is their loving Creator and deserves their worship and praise. Sinful people can mentally perceive the revealed truth of God (see vv. 19, 20), but they have chosen to suppress it. They are without excuse. God's anger is being revealed (the present tense) against sin and the suppression of the truth.

1:19, 20 what may be known of God: Not only are divine attributes clearly seen in humanity, but they can be seen in the material universe as well (see v. 20; 10:18; Ps. 19:1-4). Nature itself speaks eloquently of its Creator. From the intricate design of the human cell to the majestic strength of the Rocky Mountains, all of God's works testify to His wisdom and power. God's invisible attributes, such as His eternal power and Godhead, meaning His divine nature, can be clearly seen by contemplating His awesome works in all of creation.

1:21 They knew, that is “perceived,” truth about God through creation (see v. 18). Nature reveals God as great and good. Its gentle rain and rich soils provide humans with all varieties of delicious food. God is good, even with all this evidence in creation, people refuse to recognize their Creator, worship Him, or glorify Him as God.

Salvation

Generally in the OT, the term salvation concerns physical deliverance or preservation. The major Hebrew verb for salvation, yasha, carries the sense of help, deliver, or save, and is used about 205 times in the bible. It occurs in contexts of removing a burden or danger (ex. 2:17) and can be used of removing someone from the danger of defeat (Josh. 10:6). At other times the term refers to being liberated or set free (Judg. 12:2). Used in civil law, yasha pertains to the obligation of one who hears the cry of someone who needs to be saved from mistreatment (deut. 22:27; 28:29; 2 Sam. 14:4). The Hebrew word appears in many prayer petitions in reference to war and judicial issues (Ps. 3:7; 20:9; 72:4; 86:2). The noun speaks of preservation from threatened, impending, and perhaps deserved danger and suffering (Gen. 49:18; 1 Sam. 14:45; Is. 12:3).

The NT concept of salvation includes most of the elements of the OT concept and adds spiritual dimensions. The Greek term sōtēria has both national and personal aspects. National deliverance is discussed in Luke 1:69. There is personal deliverance from the sea (Acts 27:34) and prison (Phil. 1:19), and spiritual and eternal deliverance through repentance and faith in Jesus Christ (Acts 4:12; Rom. 10:10). The NT uses sōtēria and the related verb sōzō with regard to God's power to deliver from the bondage of sin (Phil. 2:12); the future deliverance of believers at the coming of Christ (Rom. 13:11; 1 Thess. 5:8, 9); and the deliverance of the nation of Israel at the second advent of Christ (Luke 1:71; 2 Thess. 2:10; Rev. 12:10).

In the letter to the Romans we find the apostle Paul's clearest and most detailed explanation of the gospel message. Paul explains that the Good News of Christ “is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes” (1:16). The Greek word for salvation used by Paul literally means “deliverance” or “preservation.” In a spiritual context, the idea is rescue from the power and dominion of sin.

Paul and the other NT writers portray Jesus Christ, on the basis of His sacrificial death on the Cross in the place of sinners, as the Author and Provider of salvation (see 3:24, 25; 5:21; Acts 4:12; Heb. 12:2). Those who repent and trust in Jesus will experience its blessings (see John 3:16; eph. 2:8, 9; Heb. 2:3).

What exactly are those blessings? Theologians use the terms justification, sanctification, and glorification. Justification is the divine act of declaring sinners to be righteous on account of their faith in Jesus. He paid for their sins completely and finally on the Cross, and through faith in Him their sins can be forgiven (see 3:21; 4:5; 5:1). Closely related to justification is regeneration, in which the Spirit of God indwells a repentant sinner and imparts eternal life to his or her spiritually dead soul (see eph. 2:1-5). Sanctification is the process in which God develops the new life of the believer and gradually brings it to perfection (see 6:11; Phil. 1:6). Glorification is the ultimate salvation of the whole person. This occurs when we are face to face with our Savior in His coming kingdom. At that time, God will completely mold us into the image of Christ (see 8:29, 30; Phil. 3:21). Then we will be able to enjoy complete fellowship with God, and His sins praises forever.

Other benefits of salvation include reconciliation and adoption. When our sins are forgiven, we move from a position of being God's enemies to being His beloved children (see John 1:12; Gal. 4:4, 5; eph. 1:5).

God's Righteous Judgment

2 Therefore you are <sup>a</sup>inexcusable, O man, whoever you are who judge, <sup>b</sup>for in whatever you judge another you condemn yourself; for you who judge practice the same things. 2 But we know that the judgment of God is according to truth against those who practice such things. 3 And do you think this, O man, you who judge those practicing such things, and doing the same, that you will escape the judgment of God? 4 Or do you despise <sup>c</sup>the riches of His goodness, <sup>d</sup>forbearance, and <sup>e</sup>longsuffering, <sup>f</sup>not knowing that the goodness of God leads you to repentance? 5 But in accordance with your hardness and your <sup>1</sup>impenitent heart <sup>g</sup>you are <sup>2</sup>treasuring up for yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God, <sup>6</sup>who <sup>h</sup>“will render to each one according to his deeds”: <sup>7</sup>eternal life to those who by patient continuance in doing good seek for glory, honor, and immortality; <sup>8</sup>but to those who are self-seeking and <sup>i</sup>do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness—indignation and wrath, <sup>9</sup>tribulation and anguish, on every soul of man who does evil, of the Jew <sup>j</sup>first and also of the <sup>3</sup>Greek; <sup>10</sup><sup>k</sup>but glory, honor, and peace to everyone who works what is good, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. 11 For <sup>l</sup>there is no partiality with God.

1:24 In God's present wrath (see v. 18; there is also a wrath to come when Christ returns, see 1 Thess. 1:10), He gave them up, that is “over,” to their sin (see vv. 26, 28). God did not give up on humanity, but He did allow them to go deeper and deeper into sin. He gives us an opportunity to see how evil sin really is and how desperately wicked people can become.

1:25 The lie refers to idols. They are satanic counterfeits of God, void of truth and power.

1:26 The next verse makes clear that this verse refers to unnatural sexual relations between women. Lesbianism is against nature; it is contrary to the intention of the Creator.

1:27 Homosexuality is sin (Lev. 18:22). In this passage, the point is not that homosexuality is a sin that should be punished. Rather homosexuality itself is the punishment. Having rejected God and become idolaters, some men have been given over to their shameful passions (v. 26). Thus they receive in themselves the penalty of their error.

1:29–32 These verses contain one of the most extensive lists of sins in all Scripture. The list shows the exhaustive sweep of human moral depravity (compare all in v. 29). Note that while society tends to rationalize certain sins, God judges all sin. These sins particularly reveal our rebellious hearts. All, without exception, deserve God's punishment.

2:1 In 1:18–32, Paul declares that all unrighteous people are without excuse. Now he demonstrates that the self-righteous (those who judge others) are inexcusable, by revealing the standards by which everyone will be judged. Judgment will be (1) according to truth (vv. 1–5), (2) according to works (vv. 6–11), and (3) according to the light one has of the law (vv. 12–16).

2:2 Truth as used in this verse is different from the truth in 1:18, 25. There it referred to the evidence of God in creation; here it refers to the true condition of humanity.

2:4 Repentance literally means “to change one's mind.” In this context, it means to reject one's sinful habits and turn to God. This is the only occurrence of this word in Romans.

2:5 Wrath as used here is different from the “wrath of God” in 1:18. There God's wrath was His present anger; here the word refers to God's future wrath. Most take this future wrath to refer to the day of Judgment. Thus people who continue in their rebellion against God are accumulating wrath for themselves.

2:7 According to this verse, it seems that eternal life can be gained by doing good. But Romans clearly teaches justification by faith (3:22), but Paul does not contradict himself. The subject of this verse is judgment, not justification. believers who continue in good works will receive rewards in the life to come. Whenever the NT speaks of eternal life as a present possession, it is a gift received by faith (John 3:16); but whenever it refers to eternal life as something to be received in the future by those who are already believers, it refers to eternal rewards (see 5:21; Gal. 6:8; 1 Tim. 6:17–19; Titus 1:2; 1 Pet. 1:7). Rewards will be based on works accomplished here on earth.

2:8 Truth refers to the gospel message (see Gal. 2:5).

2:10 All believers doing good works will be rewarded.

<sup>12</sup>For as many as have sinned without law will also perish without law, and as many as have sinned in the law will be judged by the law <sup>13</sup>(for <sup>m</sup>not the hearers of the law are just in the sight of God, but the doers of the law will be justified; <sup>14</sup>for when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do the things in the law, these, although not having the law, are a law to themselves, <sup>15</sup>who show the <sup>n</sup>work of the law written in their hearts, their <sup>o</sup>conscience also bearing witness, and between themselves their thoughts accusing or else excusing them) <sup>16</sup>v in the day when God will judge the secrets of men <sup>q</sup>by Jesus Christ, <sup>r</sup>according to my gospel.

The Jews Guilty as the Gentiles

<sup>17</sup>Indeed <sup>s</sup>you are called a Jew, and <sup>t</sup>rest<sup>5</sup> on the law, <sup>u</sup>and make your boast in God, <sup>18</sup>and <sup>v</sup>know His will, and <sup>w</sup>approve the things that are excellent, being instructed out of the law, <sup>19</sup>and <sup>x</sup>are confident that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness, <sup>20</sup>an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, <sup>y</sup>having the form of knowledge and truth in the law. <sup>21</sup>z You, therefore, who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who preach that a man should not steal, do you steal? <sup>22</sup>You who say, “Do not commit adultery,” do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, <sup>a</sup>do you rob temples? <sup>23</sup>You who <sup>b</sup>make your boast in the law, do you dishonor God through breaking the law? <sup>24</sup>For <sup>c</sup>“the name of God is <sup>d</sup>blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you,” as it is written.

Circumcision of No Avail

<sup>25</sup>e For circumcision is indeed profitable if you keep the law; but if you are a breaker of the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision. <sup>26</sup>Therefore, <sup>f</sup>if an uncircumcised man keeps the righteous requirements of the law, will not his uncircumcision be counted as circumcision? <sup>27</sup>And will not the physically uncircumcised, if he fulfills the law, <sup>g</sup>judge you who, even with your <sup>6</sup>written code and circumcision, are a transgressor of the law? <sup>28</sup>For <sup>h</sup>he is not a Jew who is one outwardly, nor is circumcision that which is outward in the flesh; <sup>29</sup>but he is a Jew <sup>i</sup>who is one inwardly, and <sup>j</sup>circumcision is that of the heart, <sup>k</sup>in the Spirit, not in the letter; <sup>l</sup>whose <sup>7</sup>praise is not from men but from God.

God's Judgment Defended

3 What advantage then has the Jew, or what is the profit of circumcision? <sup>2</sup>Much in every way! Chiefly because <sup>a</sup>to them were committed the <sup>1</sup>oracles of God. <sup>3</sup>For what if <sup>b</sup>some did not believe? <sup>c</sup>Will their unbelief make the faithfulness of God without effect? <sup>4</sup>d Certainly not! Indeed, let <sup>e</sup>God be <sup>2</sup>true but <sup>f</sup>every man a liar. As it is written:

g “That You may be justified in Your words,
 And may overcome when You are judged.”

2:12 Those without law are the Gentiles (see v. 14). Those in the law are the Jews.

2:14 by nature do the things in the law: Gentiles who do not have the Law still do such things as honor their parents, which indicates that they believe in a basic moral law (see v. 15). They know within their hearts that there is a difference between right and wrong. This “law of conscience” serves as a judge to them in place of Moses’ law.

2:15 The Law is not inscribed in our hearts, but the work of the law is written on our hearts. The Law of Moses was engraved in stone, and there is a similar moral law within every person.

2:16 According to the gospel Paul preached, God will judge not only people’s actions, but their motives, or secrets, as well (see 1 Cor. 4:5).

2:17 In this verse Paul clearly addresses Jews.

2:19, 20 The Jewish people Paul addressed were not only confident before God (vv. 17, 18), but they felt superior to others and considered themselves to be guides, lights, instructors, and teachers.

2:22 Apparently it was not unusual for their enemies to accuse the Jews of robbing temples. Paul may be using the phrase in a figurative way as an equivalent of “to be sacrilegious or impious.”

2:23, 24 Paul argues that these particular Jews who thought they were guides to the blind (v. 19) were actually breaking their own laws and dishonoring God (see Matt. 15:3-9). Paul applies Is. 52:5 as proof of his point. As a result of their hypocrisy, the Gentiles themselves blasphemed God.

2:25, 26 Circumcision becomes a useless ritual unless the person develops an obedient heart that is completely submitted to God (see 1 Sam. 15:22; Is. 1:11-20). On the other hand, if a Gentile was keeping the law, circumcision would not matter. God judges a person according to the state of his or her heart, not according to external appearances.

2:27 judge you: These self-righteous Jews believed they would escape judgment. According to them, God’s judgment was reserved for the Gentiles. However, Paul confronted their hypocrisy. A Gentile who kept the law would be able to judge a Jew who broke it.

2:28, 29 Paul pronounces circumcision as being of no value (vv. 25-27). Circumcision that is only outward is of no avail before God because God wants the outward demonstration to be the sign of an inward reality. Paul’s teaching is consistent with the Law and the OT prophets, for both proclaimed the need for internal circumcision (deut. 10:16; Jer. 4:4). in the Spirit, not in the letter: The change of heart that Paul describes with the image of internal circumcision is the work of the Holy Spirit, not the result of external obedience to the Law. In fact, God condemns external observance if it is not the product of a righteous heart (see Is. 1:10-18).

3:2 Much in every way: This verse indicates that the Jewish people have numerous advantages (see 9:4). The oracles of God refers to the entire OT, the laws and the covenants that had been given by God Himself to the nation of Israel. This phrase reaffirms the belief of the apostles of the inspiration of the OT. The bible is God’s Word for us.

3:3, 4 even if some Jews do not believe the Word of God, God will be faithful to what He has promised (Ps. 89:30-37).

<sup>5</sup>But if our unrighteousness demonstrates the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unjust who inflicts wrath? <sup>h</sup>(I speak as a man.) <sup>6</sup>Certainly not! For then <sup>i</sup>how will God judge the world?

<sup>7</sup>For if the truth of God has increased through my lie to His glory, why am I also still judged as a sinner? <sup>8</sup>And why not say, <sup>j</sup>“Let us do evil that good may come?”—as we are slanderously reported and as some affirm that we say. Their <sup>3</sup>condemnation is just.

All Have Sinned

<sup>9</sup>What then? Are we better than they? Not at all. For we have previously charged both Jews and Greeks that <sup>k</sup>they are all under sin.

<sup>10</sup>As it is written:

- <sup>14</sup>“There is none righteous, no, not one;
<sup>11</sup> There is none who understands;
There is none who seeks after God.
<sup>12</sup> They have all turned aside;

God's Righteousness Through Faith

<sup>21</sup>But now <sup>u</sup>the righteousness of God apart from the law is revealed, <sup>v</sup>being witnessed by the Law <sup>w</sup>and the Prophets, <sup>22</sup>even the righteousness of God, through faith in Jesus Christ, to all <sup>6</sup>and on all

3:5 Speaking from a foolish human point of view, Paul asks: If humanity's unrighteousness reveals God's righteousness, why then should God punish unrighteousness? Paul explains that this is an absurd question that is nonetheless asked by many, when he adds parenthetically, I speak as a man. The suggestion that God is unjust is simply ridiculous.

3:6 Paul answers his own question (v. 5) with another question. If God does not punish unrighteousness, then He is not just and there will be no day of Judgment. The flaw in logic is evident: God's justice demands that He judge unrighteousness. To claim that God is unjust because He judges is a ludicrous argument.

3:7 The question in this verse is the same basic objection as in v. 5, except this time the sinner objects to being called a sinner if his or her sin enhances God's truth.

3:8 Paul takes the erroneous argument a step further. If God can bring good out of evil, then we should not be judged for doing evil, because good may come of it. God will be proved righteous and in that way glorified by our sin. Obviously such a position is preposterous. Paul does not even try to argue against such a senseless view; he simply assigns those who hold it to God's judgment.

3:9 better than they: This question means “do we Jews have an advantage over the Gentiles?” (see v. 1). In other words, “Is there anything we can cling to for protection?” The answer is no, since all are under sin.

3:10–18 To prove that all are under sin Paul quotes without formal introduction a number of different verses from the OT. The collection of citations can be divided into two parts. The first half is made up of negative statements emphasizing humanity's deficiencies (vv. 10–12); the second half mainly exposes human depravity (vv. 13–18).

3:10 This is a quotation from Ps. 14:3 that says, “There is none who does good.” Paul uses the word for righteous because he is discussing the unrighteous condition of all people (see 1:18). No one can be justified on the grounds of his or her own righteousness before God.

3:11 People do not understand spiritual truth (see 1 Cor. 2:14) nor do they diligently seek after God. At best, people are satisfied with externals, with being “religious.”

3:12 turned aside: This means turning away from God's way. unprofitable: That is, useless to God or His good purposes. Good: Apart from God, people lack true goodness and kindness. While some unbelievers are gracious and kind, these acts ultimately have no value because they do not come from believing hearts that seek to glorify God (see 1:21). even a “good person” can be rebelling against God and seeking his or her own welfare through goodness.

3:13 In showing humanity's total depravity, Paul quotes passages in the Psalms that describe the evil that can come from the throat, tongue, lips, mouth, feet, and eyes. The heart is compared to a tomb, for buried in it is the seed of death. The throat reveals the corruption inside, the spiritual decay. The lips are like the fangs of an asp; they contain deadly poison.

3:14 Humans apart from God are not blessing others; they are often cursing them. They are not loving; they are bitter.

3:15–17 swift to shed blood: People apart from God are prone to violence. They murder and kill because they have no respect for the life of another.

3:18 Fear of God is an OT expression for respect and reverence for God, and is said to be the very beginning of knowledge (see Job 28:28; Prov. 1:7). because people without God are spiritually dead, they produce only deceit, damage, and destruction.

3:19 Whatever the law says refers to vv. 10–18. All the world, whether Jewish or Gentile, stands in guilty silence before God.

3:20 A legal term used of the defendant in a trial, justified means “declared righteous.” No one will be declared righteous by doing what God requires in the Law. This is confirmed by the fact that the Law was not given to justify sinners but to expose sin (see v. 19).

3:21 In this context the righteousness of God is not an attribute of God, but an act of God whereby He declares a sinner righteous. This is righteousness from God.

3:22, 23 God revealed to people how they should live, but no one can live up to God's perfect way. all have sinned: No one can live up to what God created us to be; we all fall short of His glory. We cannot save ourselves because as sinners we can never meet God's requirements. Our only hope is faith in Jesus Christ.

who believe. For <sup>x</sup>there is no difference; <sup>23</sup>for <sup>y</sup>all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, <sup>24</sup>being justified <sup>7</sup>freely <sup>z</sup>by His grace <sup>a</sup>through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, <sup>25</sup>whom God set forth <sup>b</sup>as a <sup>8</sup>propitiation <sup>c</sup>by His blood, through faith, to demonstrate His righteousness, because in His forbearance God had passed over <sup>d</sup>the sins that were previously committed, <sup>26</sup>to demonstrate at the present time His righteousness, that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

Boasting Excluded

uncircumcised through faith. <sup>31</sup>Do we then make void the law through faith? Certainly not! On the contrary, we establish the law.

Abraham Justified by Faith

David Celebrates the Same Truth

3:24 Those who believe (v. 22) are justified, that is, “declared righteous,” freely, without cost, by God’s grace, or “favor.” Christ Jesus died to provide redemption, which means He died to pay the price required to ransom sinners. by paying the penalty of their sin through His death, Jesus can free people from their sin and transfer His righteousness to those who believe in Him. On the basis of Christ’s righteousness alone, believers can approach God’s throne with praise. Through God’s initiative, they have been restored to a proper relationship with Him.

3:25, 26 by His death, Christ satisfied the justice of God. He paid the penalty of sin in full. Paul cites two reasons why the righteousness of God comes through Christ’s death. The first is to demonstrate that God Himself is righteous, and did not judge the sins committed prior to the Cross. The second reason for the Cross is that God wanted to show that He is both righteous and at the same time the One who can declare sinners righteous. because of Christ’s death, God does not compromise His holiness when He forgives a sinner.

3:27 law of faith: Paul uses a wordplay here. The “law,” or the standard of God, is commonly associated with “works.” but here Paul says that a person can only boast in the standard of God that excludes human “works.” This “law” is faith (John 6:28, 29). Thus the Jews who were boasting in their knowledge of the law and their adherence to it were silenced by Paul (2:17, 23). The law could only condemn them, but God was the One who saved them. Therefore their boast should only be in Him.

3:28 Man is justified, that is, “declared righteous” (see v. 20), apart from doing what the law requires. Thus salvation is through faith alone (4:23–25). No matter what we do, we cannot earn our salvation. God alone saves, and His salvation is a free gift. No one can stand before God and boast of their good deeds. God is the only One who is righteous, and for this reason He should be praised.

3:31 Law can have three different meanings in this passage, and the gospel fulfills all of those meanings. If law here refers to the Law of Moses, the Pentateuch, then the passage is referring to the way Jesus completely fulfilled the requirements of the law. If law is the entire OT, then the gospel fulfills the promises of the coming of Christ and of the forgiveness of sins. If law is the moral law, then the gospel fulfills it because it is through Christ that people are empowered by the Holy Spirit to live in a way that pleases God.

4:1–25 This chapter is pivotal in establishing that justification is by God’s grace through faith alone. verses 1–8 demonstrate that justification is a gift and cannot be earned by works. verses 9–12 argue that since Abraham was justified before he was circumcised, circumcision is not a basis of justification. verses 13–17 prove that since Abraham was justified hundreds of years before the Mosaic Law, then justification cannot be based on the Law. verses 18–25 summarize Paul’s argument by concluding that Abraham was justified by his faith and not by his works.

4:1 According to the flesh means “according to his own labor.” As the next verse indicates, Paul is asking, “Was Abraham justified before God by his works?”

4:3 Paul quotes Gen. 15:6 to prove that Abraham was not justified by works. God made a promise to Abraham, and Abraham trusted God to fulfill it. because of Abraham’s faith, God credited Abraham with righteousness. In gaining this righteousness from God, Abraham did not obey some law or perform some ritual like circumcision, he simply believed God.

4:5 God gives righteousness to those who believe (v. 3). The person who does not work, who comes to God by faith alone without having performed rituals or followed Jewish laws—that person will be counted righteous. Paul continues to build his case that righteousness is apart from works of the law.

propitiation

(Gk. hilastērion) (3:25; Heb. 9:5) Strong’s #2435

This term is derived from the Greek verb hilaskomai, a word which has three meanings: (1) “to placate” or “to appease”; (2) “to be propitious and merciful”; or (3) “to make propitiation for someone.” The NT never describes people appeasing God. Instead, as Luke 18:13 and 1 John 2:2 make clear, the NT describes God as being merciful to, or making propitiation, for us. God provides a merciful expiation, or atonement, of the sins of believers through the death of Christ. but since Paul also speaks of God’s wrath, it must also speak of the conciliation of God’s anger by means of a sacrifice—namely, the sacrifice of His Son. John states that God demonstrated His love to us by sending His Son to become “the propitiation for our sins” (1 John 4:10). Just as in the OT God met His people when the blood of the sin offering was sprinkled on the altar, so Christ’s death brings us into fellowship with God.

his faith is accounted for righteousness,<sup>6</sup> just as David also<sup>h</sup> describes the blessedness of the man to whom God imputes righteousness apart from works:

7 “Blessed<sup>i</sup> are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven,
And whose sins are covered;

8 Blessed is the man to whom the LORD shall not impute sin.”

Abraham Justified Before Circumcision

<sup>9</sup> Does this blessedness then come upon the circumcised only, or upon the uncircumcised also? For we say that faith was accounted to Abraham for righteousness.<sup>10</sup> How then was it accounted? While he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? Not while circumcised, but while uncircumcised.<sup>11</sup> And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had while still uncircumcised, that<sup>k</sup> he might be the father of all those who believe, though they are uncircumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also,<sup>12</sup> and the father of circumcision to those who not only are of the circumcision, but who also walk in the steps of the faith which our father<sup>l</sup> Abraham had while still uncircumcised.

ham or to his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.<sup>14</sup> For <sup>n</sup> if those who are of the law are heirs, faith is made void and the promise made of no effect,<sup>15</sup> because <sup>o</sup> the law brings about wrath; for where there is no law there is no transgression.

<sup>16</sup> Therefore it is of faith that it might be<sup>p</sup> according to grace, <sup>q</sup> so that the promise might be <sup>r</sup> sure to all the seed, not only to those who are of the law, but also to those who are of the faith of Abraham, <sup>s</sup> who is the father of us all<sup>17</sup> (as it is written, <sup>t</sup> “I have made you a father of many nations”) in the presence of Him whom he believed—God, <sup>u</sup> who gives life to the dead and calls those <sup>v</sup> “things which do not exist as though they did;”<sup>18</sup> who, contrary to hope, in hope believed, so that he became the father of many nations, according to what was spoken, <sup>w</sup> “So shall your descendants be.”<sup>19</sup> And not being weak in faith, <sup>x</sup> he did not consider his own body, already dead (since he was about a hundred years old), <sup>y</sup> and the deadness of Sarah’s womb.<sup>20</sup> He did not waver at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God,<sup>21</sup> and being fully convinced that what He had promised <sup>z</sup> He was also able to perform.<sup>22</sup> And therefore <sup>aa</sup> “it was accounted to him for righteousness.”

<sup>23</sup> Now <sup>ab</sup> it was not written for his sake alone that it was imputed to him,<sup>24</sup> but also for us. It shall be imputed to us who

4:6–8 According to Jewish law, a question was settled by two or three witnesses. Paul calls two witnesses from the OT to testify to justification through faith: one from the Law (4:1–5) and one from the Prophets (4:6–8; see also 3:21; Acts 2:29, 30 where David is called a prophet).

4:9, 10 Given the understanding that people can become righteous by faith alone, apart from obeying the Jewish law, the obvious question from Paul’s readers is: “Is this righteousness actually available to the uncircumcised?” Many of the Jews of Paul’s day assumed that blessing from God and forgiveness applied only to those who had been circumcised, the Jews. Abraham, however, received righteousness from God before he was circumcised. This fact opens the door to a new understanding of God’s grace. It is available to all people, both Jews and Gentiles.

4:11, 12 Abraham is a father both of the uncircumcised who believe as well as of the circumcised who believe. Circumcision was a sign and seal. As a sign, it pointed to the fact that Abraham possessed righteousness, and as a seal it verified that Abraham was righteous. Technically, circumcision was a sign and a seal of the covenant God gave Abraham for the land, but God would not make a covenant with one who was not righteous. Note that the conditional promise of Gen. 12:1–3 becomes an unconditional covenant in Gen. 15:18. God declared His unconditional covenant with Abraham after declaring him righteous because of his belief (15:6).

4:13 The promise to Abraham was not through circumcision (vv. 9–12) nor through the law (vv. 13–16), but through the righteousness of faith. Heir of the world means that Abraham and his seed, in particular Christ, will inherit the earth, a promise that will be fulfilled in the kingdom to be established when Christ returns.

4:14 Those who are of the law is not a reference to the Jewish people but to any who depend on the law for their righteousness.

4:15 Transgression means “stepping over.” The law draws the line that should not be crossed.

4:16 Therefore it is of faith: Paul concludes that God’s promises to Abraham were founded on his faith so that it would be acknowledged that salvation was only through grace, that is, God’s favor. Since the promise was not based on adherence to any law or the performance of any ritual, such as circumcision, Abraham is the forefather of all who believe.

4:17 Gives life to the dead is a reference to the birth of Isaac from Abraham’s “dead” body and Sarah’s “dead” womb; both were far beyond the age of childbearing (see v. 19).

4:18 When Abraham was physically beyond any hope of having a child, he based his hope on God’s promises instead. He believed that his offspring would be as numerous as the stars of the heavens, because the all-powerful God had promised it.

4:19 deadness of . . . womb: Sarah had no children previously in her life, and by the time God gave this promise she was well past childbearing age.

4:20 glory: Glorifying God means declaring who God is. Abraham, by his faith, acknowledged that God was faithful and powerful enough to keep His promise.

4:23, 24 God had Abraham’s faith recorded in Scripture not to immortalize Abraham but to be a model for others. who raised up: Abraham’s faith was a model because he believed in a God who can raise the dead. We follow Abraham’s example when we have faith, when we believe that God raised Jesus from the dead and will grant us eternal life also. belief in Jesus’ resurrection and ours is central to the gospel (see 1 Cor. 15:4).

believe <sup>b</sup>in Him who raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead, <sup>25c</sup>who was delivered up because of our offenses, and <sup>d</sup>was raised because of our justification.

Faith Triumphs in Trouble

4:25 Jesus was delivered up to death, taking the penalty of our sin on Himself. Just as God brought life from Abraham and Sarah, who thought they were unable to have children, so God raised Jesus back to life. Jesus' resurrection brought us justification before God because His resurrection proves that God accepted Jesus' sacrifice for us.

5:1 Peace here is not a subjective feeling of peace. Rather, this peace is the state of being at peace instead of at war. The hostility between God and the believer has ceased. The believer has been reconciled to God.

5:2 To have access means "to approach," as if by introduction into a king's throne room. Believers have been granted admission to stand before God. Even though they were once rebels, they do not have to face His judgment. Instead they approach His throne in the realm of grace, or in the King's favor. Rejoice means "to boast" and hope means "expectation." Believers boast in the sure expectation of the glory of God. They are confident, for God Himself has placed the Holy Spirit in their hearts (v. 5).

5:3 Glory is the same Greek word that is translated "rejoice" in v. 2. Believers can rejoice, glory, and boast not only in their future hope (v. 2) but also in their present troubles. Tribulations refers to physical hardship, suffering, and distress. Perseverance means "endurance." Trials and tribulation produce endurance when we exercise faith during those difficult times (see James 1:2, 3). Such faith produces its own reward (see Matt. 5:10–12; 2 Tim. 2:12).

5:4 Perseverance produces character, the quality of being approved. As believers endure tribulation, God works in them to develop certain qualities and virtues that will strengthen them and draw them closer to Him. The result is fortified hope in God and His promises.

5:5 The hope that believers have of their future glory with God will not disappoint them by being unfulfilled. They will not be put to shame or humiliated because of their hope. The reason the believer can be so confident is that the love of God has been poured out. The moment a person trusts in Christ, that person receives the Holy Spirit (see 8:9), who constantly encourages them in their hope in God.

5:6 Paul now explains the nature of God's love. God loved us when we were still without strength and ungodly. God loved us so much He sent His Son to die for us (see v. 8). God loves us just the way we are, but He loves us too much to leave us the way we are (see John 15:16; Phil. 1:6).

5:9, 10 If God loved us when we were helpless, ungodly enemies, how much more will He love us now that we are His children? By His blood . . . through the death of His Son we have been justified, that is "declared righteous," and reconciled, meaning our state of alienation from God has been changed. Believers are no longer enemies of God; they are at peace with God (v. 1). we shall be saved: Many take these verses to refer to final salvation from the presence of sin. But in this context, Paul goes on to discuss being saved from the power of sin (see ch. 6). Thus wrath here is God's present wrath (see 1:18), and His life is the life of Christ in believers (see v. 18). The point is that since God's love and the death of Christ have brought us justification, then as a result of that love, we can also expect salvation from God's wrath. To experience this truth, the believer must fully cooperate with the process that is explained in 6:1–14 (see John

justification

(Gk. dikaiōsis) (4:25; 5:18) Strong's #1347

The Greek noun for justification is derived from the Greek verb dikaioō, meaning "to acquit" or "to declare righteous" (used by Paul in 4:2, 5; 5:1). It is a legal term used of a favorable verdict in a trial. The word depicts a courtroom setting, with God presiding as the Judge, determining the faithfulness of each person to the Law. In the first section of Romans, Paul makes it clear that no one can withstand God's judgment (3:9–20). The Law was not given to justify sinners but to expose their sin. To remedy this deplorable situation, God sent His Son to die for our sins, in our place. When we believe in Jesus, God imputes His righteousness to us, and we are declared righteous before God. In this way, God demonstrates that He is both a righteous Judge and the One who declares us righteous, our Justifier (3:26).

reconciliation

(Gk. katallagē) (5:11; 11:15; 2 Cor. 5:18, 19) Strong's #2643

The Greek word basically means "change" or "exchange." In the context of relationships between people, the term implies a change in attitude on the part of both individuals, a change from enmity to friendship. When used to describe the relationship existing between God and a person, the term implies the change of attitude on the part of both a person and God. The need to change the sinful ways of a human being is obvious; but some argue that no change is needed on the part of God. But inherent in the doctrine of justification is the changed attitude of God toward the sinner. God declares a person who was formerly His enemy to be righteous before Him.

but we also <sup>r</sup>rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received the reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, just as <sup>s</sup>through one man sin entered the world, and <sup>t</sup>death through sin, and thus death spread to all men, because all sinned— <sup>13</sup>(For until the law sin was in the world, but <sup>u</sup>sin is not imputed when there is no law. <sup>14</sup>Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those who had not sinned according to the likeness of the transgression of Adam, <sup>v</sup>who is a type of Him who was to come. <sup>15</sup>But the free gift is not like the <sup>5</sup>offense. For if by the one man's offense many died, much more the grace of God and the gift by the grace of the one Man, Jesus Christ, abounded <sup>w</sup>to many. <sup>16</sup>And the gift is not like that which came through the one who sinned. For the judgment which came from one offense resulted in condemnation, but the free gift which came from many <sup>6</sup>offenses resulted in justification. <sup>17</sup>For if by the one man's <sup>7</sup>offense death reigned through the one, much more those who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will reign in life through the One, Jesus Christ.)

<sup>20</sup>Moreover <sup>a</sup>the law entered that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace <sup>b</sup>abounded much more, <sup>21</sup>so that as sin reigned in death, even so grace might reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

6 What shall we say then? <sup>a</sup>Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound? <sup>2</sup>Certainly not! How shall we who <sup>b</sup>died to sin live any longer in it? <sup>3</sup>Or do you not know that <sup>c</sup>as many of us as were baptized into Christ Jesus <sup>d</sup>were baptized into His death? <sup>4</sup>Therefore we were <sup>e</sup>buried with Him through baptism into death, that <sup>f</sup>just as Christ was raised from the dead by <sup>g</sup>the glory of the Father,

8:32). The believer must die to sin and present himself or herself to God as an "instrument of righteousness" (see 6:14).

5:12 The one man is Adam. Through him sin entered the world. Sin brought death. The result is that death is now a universal experience. The phrase because all sinned does not mean just that "all have sinned" sometime in their lives, thus referring to individual sins. Paul takes his readers back to the beginning of human history, to the one sin that brought death upon us all. The unity of the human race is demonstrated here. In Adam, we all sinned (see 1 Cor. 15:22). The result is physical and spiritual death for everyone. From Adam we inherited a sin nature. Furthermore, as a result of our sin in Adam, we face a common judgment—death.

5:13, 14 Until the law, that is, until the Law of Moses was given, sin was not imputed. Imputed means "to charge to one's account," as by an entry made in a ledger. In other words, sin was present in the world from Adam to Moses, but God did not keep an account of sins before the giving of the Law because there was no Law to obey or disobey. not sinned: Those after Adam and before Moses did not sin like Adam because there were no prohibitions similar to the Law of Moses. but they did sin, and the way we know this is that death reigned. They all died.

5:15 Through one man, Adam, death came. Yet through one Man, Jesus Christ, grace and the gift of God, eternal life, was given. much more: The works of the two men, Adam and Jesus, are not merely antithetical. Christ's work is greater, for it brings God's grace to those stuck in the sinfulness which originated in Adam.

5:16 Through Adam came condemnation, a word used only three times in the NT, and all three times in Romans (see v. 18; 8:1). The word refers to "the punishment following a judicial sentence." In the face of this, through Christ came the free gift that resulted in justification. That is to say, the aim or goal of the gift is justification, or "righteousness." In v. 18, the same word is translated "righteous act." In other words, the goal of the gift of eternal life is righteous living. This does not refer to justification by faith but to the practical outworking of faith through righteous acts (see 6:16). Thus this verse contrasts the penal servitude of a sinner with the righteous life of a believer.

5:18 Here Paul completes the comparison begun in v. 12 between the sinful work of Adam and the righteous work of Jesus. Through Adam came condemnation. Through Christ came justification of life, a justification that produces life.

5:19 Made means "to make," "constitute." As the result of Adam's sin, people became sinners. by Christ's death many will be made righteous (in contrast to declared righteousness; see 4:3). That is, believers are actually being constituted or made righteous. Through the sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit, the believer who has been declared righteous by God is continually becoming more righteous.

5:20 the offense might abound: Law magnified sin. What was inherently wrong became formally and explicitly wrong once the Law was revealed. grace abounded much more: The Greek term Paul uses means "superabounded." Not only can sin never exceed the grace provided by God, sin loses its threat when compared to the superabounding grace of God.

6:1 Since sin in a way makes grace more abundant (see 5:20, 21) why not continue in sin? This is certainly a possible conclusion, though a wrong one, from the teaching about grace in ch. 5. Apparently Paul had been accused of teaching this false doctrine, called antinomianism. To silence his accusers, Paul shows in this chapter that a believer who continues in sin would be denying his or her own identity in Christ.

6:2 Certainly not: The Greek expresses a response of shock, that has even been translated "God forbid." The thought of a believer living in sin in order to take advantage of grace was abhorrent to Paul. The reason believers should not live in sin is that they have died to sin, as is explained in vv. 3, 4.

6:3 baptized: Paul uses the common experience of believers being baptized as a picture of being identified with Jesus Christ. baptism expresses faith the way a word expresses an idea. There can be an idea without words, but normally they are expressed in words. Water baptism is a symbol of the spiritual union of Christ and the believer. When a person trusts Christ, he or she is incorporated into, united to, Jesus Christ, which includes being united to His death. Jesus' death becomes our death. Christian baptism makes these spiritual realities vivid.

6:4, 5 newness of life: If the believer's identification with Christ means being identified with His death, then it logically follows that <sup>h</sup>even so we also should walk in newness of life.

<sup>12</sup>Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body, that you should obey it in its lusts. <sup>13</sup>And do not present your <sup>t</sup>members as <sup>4</sup>instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but <sup>u</sup>present yourselves to God as being alive from the dead, and your members as <sup>4</sup>instruments of righteousness to God.

From Slaves of Sin to Slaves of God

<sup>15</sup>What then? Shall we sin <sup>w</sup>because we are not under law but under grace? Certainly not! <sup>16</sup>Do you not know that <sup>x</sup>to whom you present yourselves slaves to obey, you are that one's slaves whom you obey, whether of sin leading to death, or of obedience leading to righteousness? <sup>17</sup>But God be thanked that though you were slaves of sin, yet you obeyed from the heart <sup>y</sup>that form of doctrine to which you were <sup>5</sup>delivered. <sup>18</sup>And <sup>z</sup>having been set free from sin, you became slaves of the believer also identifies with Jesus' resurrection. Having died and having been raised with Christ, the believer should live a new kind of life.

6:6 Some say old man refers to part of us, namely our old nature, our sinful disposition. However, the word man does not refer to part of a person; instead, the word describes the entire inner person before conversion, the person connected to the sin nature of Adam. The old man was crucified with Christ (see Gal. 2:20). Simply put, a believer is not the same person he or she was before conversion; a believer is a new creation in Christ (see 2 Cor. 5:17). There are two reasons (see the two clauses that begin with that) for crucifying the old man. First is that the body of sin might be done away with. The body of sin is either a reference to the physical body, that is, the body that is enslaved to sin, or the phrase is a figurative expression for the sin in a believer's life. Colossians 2:11, a parallel passage, indicates that sin in a believer's life is meant. The sinful nature of a believer is abolished when the old self is crucified with Christ. The second purpose is that we should no longer be slaves of sin. Believers are new people who are no longer enslaved to the old sinful nature.

6:7 Freed here translates the Greek word for "justification," which is a legal term. The idea is that the believer no longer has any obligation to sin.

6:8 dying and living with Christ summarizes vv. 3–7. Believe introduces a new idea. Christians must not only know that they have died to sin (vv. 6–8) and have been made alive with Christ, they must also believe it.

6:9, 10 Christ died for sin once for all. He is now alive at the right hand of God. Since believers have been joined to Christ and to His death and resurrection, they can now believe that they too are alive to God.

6:11 Reckon is an accounting term that means "to take into account," "calculate," or "decide." Verses 3–10 reveal the truth that believers have already died to sin because they have participated in Jesus' death. Since believers have died with Christ and have also been raised with Him, Paul now urges Christians to consider themselves dead . . . to sin. Although before conversion they were still enslaved to the power of sin, now they are free to resist it.

6:12 Though believers in Christ have died to sin, sin is still a problem. The sin principle is still present and can express itself through the mortal body, the body that is subject to death. The difference is that sin has no right to reign. Thus Paul admonishes the believer not to obey it.

6:13 verse 12 has the whole body in view; v. 13 focuses on the individual parts of the body such as the hands or mouth. Believers are not present the parts of their bodies as a means of sinning. Simply put: do not use your hands to steal or your tongue to lie. Rather believers should present themselves to God and the parts of their bodies as instruments of righteousness.

6:14 Not under law means not under the Law of Moses. Yet the believer with God's help, the believer under grace, fulfills the law (see 3:31; 13:8–10). The Mosaic system consisted of external laws which revealed the sin prevalent in human hearts. In contrast, God's grace places the believer in Christ, and the Holy Spirit in the believer. Therefore a Christian does not have to sin, he or she can resist temptation and do what is right (see 2 Cor. 3:15–18).

6:16 slaves to obey: Paul highlights the principle that everyone is a slave to someone or something—whether it is a person, possession, or activity, but a Christian should be a slave to God's righteousness.

6:17 you: Paul moves from the principle (v. 16) to the experience of the Roman believers. Form of doctrine is a unique expression. Form means "pattern," "type," or "example." The gospel message is the pattern. It is the message that Christ died for our sins and rose from the dead (1 Cor. 15:3, 4). This message demands a response from the hearer and with it must be the command to believe (Acts 16:31). Obedied from the heart: The Roman believers voluntarily obeyed the message. There was no external law imposed on them.

6:18 slaves of righteousness: being a slave in the ancient world meant being owned by a master. Whether slaves obeyed did not change their status as slaves, although it would affect the relationship between slave and master (Luke 19:20–26). The question is

united together

(Gk. sumphutos) (6:5) Strong's #4854

The expression, which occurs only here in the NT, means "to grow in union" or "to plant in union." The word describes two plants that have been planted together and are growing together, closely entwined or even united. The context speaks of union, our union with Christ in His death (6:4) and resurrection (6:5). Our union with Christ in death is like being planted with Him. Like a seed, our sinful natures must die with Christ so that we might grow in Christ and bear spiritual fruit (John 12:24). Our union with Christ is now a loving union, in which we are growing with Him "in the likeness of His resurrection."

righteousness. <sup>19</sup>I speak in human terms because of the weakness of your flesh. For just as you presented your members as slaves of uncleanness, and of lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves of righteousness <sup>6</sup>for holiness.

<sup>20</sup>For when you were a slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. <sup>21<sup>b</sup></sup>What fruit did you have then in the things of which you are now ashamed? For c the end of those things is death. <sup>22</sup>But now d having been set free from sin, and having become slaves of God, you have your fruit <sup>7</sup>to holiness, and the end, everlasting life. <sup>23</sup>For e the wages of sin is death, but f the <sup>8</sup>gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Freed from the Law

7 Do you not know, brethren (for I speak to those who know the law), that the law <sup>1</sup>has dominion over a man as long as he lives? <sup>2</sup>For a the woman who has a husband is bound by the law to her husband as long as he lives. But if the husband dies, she is released from the law of her husband. <sup>3</sup>So then b if, while her husband lives, she marries another man, she will be called an adulteress; but if her husband dies, she is free from that law, so that she is no adulteress, though she has married another man. <sup>4</sup>Therefore, my brethren, you also have become c dead to the law through the body of Christ, that you may be married to another—to Him who was raised from the dead, that we should d bear fruit to God. <sup>5</sup>For when we were in the flesh, the sinful passions which were aroused by the law e were at work in our members f to bear fruit to death. <sup>6</sup>But now we have been delivered from the law, having died to what we were held by, so that we should serve g in the newness of the Spirit and not in the oldness of the letter.

Sin's Advantage in the Law

<sup>7</sup>What shall we say then? Is the law sin? Certainly not! On the contrary, h I would not have known sin except through the law. For I would not have known covetousness unless the law had said, i “You shall not covet.” <sup>8</sup>But j sin, taking opportunity by the commandment, produced in me all manner of evil desire. For k apart from the law sin was dead. <sup>9</sup>I was alive once without the law, but when the commandment came, sin revived and I died. <sup>10</sup>And the command-one of obligation. A person who has been freed from sin can act as though still a slave to sin (v. 16), or that person can live as a “slave” to righteousness, as a servant to a kind master who gives great rewards.

6:19 In human terms refers to Paul’s illustration of slavery. The analogy of slavery to the Christian life is imperfect, because Christians are God’s children (8:15, 16). Having been set free from sin and having become a slave of righteousness (v. 18), the believer should serve righteousness just as he or she served sin before trusting Christ. The result will be holiness.

6:21 The result of sin is death. The child of God who lives in sin lives in the sphere of death (see 1 John 3:14, 15). The ultimate result is physical death (see James 1:13–15).

6:22 free from sin: (see v. 7). The new relationship with God results in a new person, which makes a new kind of fruit possible: righteousness. This verse and the next present the beginning and end of the salvation process. Christians have been freed from sin so that they can be given eternal life. eternal life is a gift (John 3:16) from God to each believer.

6:23 Paul explains that sin results in death, but God gives the gift of eternal life. Most often this verse has been used as a promise of regeneration. The phrase eternal life is used 42 times in the NT, and it usually refers to something we receive as a gift at the moment of belief in the gospel (John 3:16; 5:24; 6:40). but 11 of these 42 times, eternal life is presented as something to be attained (v. 22; 2:7; Matt. 19:16, 29; Mark 10:17, 30; Luke 10:25; 18:18–30; John 12:25, 26; Gal. 6:8). Thus we learn from the bible that eternal life is not simply a static entity. It is a dynamic and growing relationship with Jesus Christ Himself (see John 10:10; 17:3). Through living in faith and obedience, Christians can fully enjoy God’s free gift of eternal life.

7:1–3 Paul returns to the question of 6:15: Shall we continue to sin while under grace? Paul’s answer is no, and now he illustrates his negative answer by a comparison with marriage. Marriage is life-long. but if one partner dies, the other is no longer bound by the law and is free to marry someone else.

7:4 An exact application of the illustration would be that the law died, and now the believer is free to “marry” grace. Paul’s words are that believers died to the law. Having died to the law, the believer is now free to marry God and bear fruit for Him. Out of the marriage relationship comes children. So out of intimacy with Christ comes the fruit of practical righteousness (see 6:22).

7:5 In the flesh refers to the period before the believer’s conversion. In this context, those in the flesh are unregenerate, or not born again, and those in the Spirit are regenerate. On the other hand, both believers and unbelievers may walk according to the flesh, but only believers can walk according to the Spirit. The law aroused sinful desires that were expressed through the members of the body and resulted in death.

7:6 At conversion, believers died to the law (v. 4), with the result that they are now able to serve in newness of life (6:4). They have a new life in the Holy Spirit, not in the old way of the letter, the old way of trying to gain life by means of the law.

7:7 The next logical question (see 6:1, 15) is: Is the law sin? Certainly not! (see 6:2, 15). Paul emphatically denies that the law is sinful. I: beginning here and in the rest of the chapter, Paul uses his personal experience as an illustration. The law reveals sin.

7:8 The law also stirs up sin (see v. 7). sin was dead: Sin can exist without the law (see 5:13), although without law it may be dormant. Without standards of right and wrong, there can be no judgment of what is sin and what is not. The law, however, with its commands against certain behaviors, can arouse the desire to perform those evil behaviors (see v. 5).

7:9 I was alive: There was a time when Paul was alive to God (6:8, 11, 13) and without the law (v. 4, 6; 6:14). Then sometime after his conversion, when he was enjoying fellowship with God, he was confronted by the law, and he died. This is a figurative way of saying that his sin nature broke his fellowship with God.

7:10, 11 bring life: Since the law points out the path of righteousness, it points to life. but since sin reigns in our natures, the law means judgment and death for us. When we focus on the law we are deceived into sinning, which thus “kills” our spiritual lives.

ment,<sup>1</sup> which was to bring life, I found to bring death.<sup>11</sup> For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it killed me.<sup>12</sup> Therefore <sup>m</sup>the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good.

Law Cannot Save from Sin

<sup>13</sup>Has then what is good become death to me? Certainly not! But sin, that it might appear sin, was producing death in me through what is good, so that sin through the commandment might become exceedingly sinful.<sup>14</sup> For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am carnal, <sup>n</sup>sold under sin.<sup>15</sup> For what I am doing, I do not understand. <sup>o</sup>For what I will to do, that I do not practice; but what I hate, that I do.<sup>16</sup> If, then, I do what I will not to do, I agree with the law that it is good.<sup>17</sup> But now, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.<sup>18</sup> For I know that <sup>p</sup>in me (that is, in my flesh) nothing good dwells; for to will is present with me, but how to perform what is good I do not find.<sup>19</sup> For the good that I will to do, I do not do; but the evil I will not to do, that I practice.<sup>20</sup> Now if I do what I will not to do, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

So then, with the mind I myself serve the law of God, but with the flesh the law of sin.

Free from Indwelling Sin

8 There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus, <sup>a</sup>who <sup>1</sup>do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit.<sup>2</sup> For <sup>b</sup>the law of <sup>c</sup>the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from <sup>d</sup>the law of sin and death.<sup>3</sup> For <sup>e</sup>what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh, <sup>f</sup>God did by sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, on account of sin:

7:12 The conclusion is that the law as a whole and the individual commandments are holy. Our problem with sin is not the fault of the holy law of God, only of how our sinful nature (see vv. 8, 11, 13) responds to the law.

7:13 Paul asks another rhetorical question (see v. 7; 6:1, 15). Has then what is good (that is, the law, v. 12) become death to me? Certainly not is again Paul's emphatic denial (see v. 7; 6:2, 15). The problem is not the law; the problem is sin. Sin used the good law to produce evil, that is, death, but through the law, sin is shown for what it is, and its evil and tragic consequences are clearly revealed. 7:14 spiritual: The law comes from God. In contrast, Paul said his problem (and that of all believers; see 1 Cor. 3:1-3) is that he was carnal, meaning he was like a slave sold over to sin, even though Paul was a Christian dedicated to serving God (v. 25), he continued to fall short of God's moral standards.

7:15-17 being fleshly, sold over to sin, involves a conflict that mystifies Paul and other believers. Paul feels he does not understand himself. He finds himself defeated, not doing what he wants to do, and doing what he hates to do. The conflict indicates that there is battle between two identities in the believer. First there is something that acknowledges that the law . . . is good. Second there is something within, called sin, which produces evil.

7:18 The problem is the flesh, the part of the believer in which there is nothing good. The will is the desire to do good (see v. 12). Yet the ability to perform is lacking.

7:22 The inward man is virtually synonymous with the mind (see v. 23; 2 Cor. 4:16; eph. 3:16), and it finds delight in the law of God. This delight causes believers in Christ to want to align themselves with the new nature God has imparted to them.

7:23 The law of sin is a reference to the sinful nature's rejection of the law of the mind that seeks after God. The sinful nature seeks to draw us away from following God's work in us.

7:24 The wretched, or "distressed, miserable," man is the believer whenever he or she is defeated by sin (see vv. 14, 23). This defeat occurs whenever the believer fails to live in the power supplied by the Spirit. body of death: This is a figurative expression for sin nature. Paul wants to be freed from sin, which leads to death.

7:25 thank God: Paul breaks forth in jubilant praise to God that there is victory through Jesus Christ, who delivers believers from the body of death, the flesh. So then: Paul concludes that the problem is not the law; the problem is the flesh. From this argument, Paul moves into the solution, salvation found in Jesus Christ.

8:1 therefore: This Greek word does not draw a formal conclusion, but an informal inference, from 7:25. In contrast with the preceding vivid description of sinfulness, Paul depicts the freedom of living in the Spirit. no condemnation: In Christ, we are no longer under the sentence of the law, but empowered by the Spirit to live for Christ.

8:2 the law of the Spirit: The Spirit refers to the Holy Spirit who energizes our renewed spirit. It is also possible that the word refers to the Spirit in us that has now been brought to life.

8:3 The law could pronounce judgment on sin, but the law could not do anything about sin itself. It had no power to put sin to death in a person's life. God accomplished what the law could not do by sending His own Son. Jesus came in the likeness of sinful flesh: Jesus, as God, took on our human nature, a nature that was susceptible to temptation. Although He was tempted, He never gave in. He never sinned.

law

(Gk. nomos) (6:14; 7:21-23, 25; 8:2-4; Gal. 2:16; 5:3; Heb. 8:4) Strong's #3551

The Greek term for law here means an inward principle of action—either good or evil—operating with the regularity of a law. The term also designates a standard for a person's life. The apostle Paul described three such laws. The first is called "the law of sin" which was operating through his flesh, causing him to sin. Paul, like all other believers, needed another law to overcome "the law of sin." This is "the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus," which makes us "free from the law of sin and death" (8:2), by following this law, believers can actually fulfill the righteous requirements of God's law (8:4)—which is the third law in this section; it is the standard for human action that corresponds to the righteous nature of God.

He condemned sin in the flesh, <sup>4</sup>that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us who <sup>g</sup>do not walk according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. <sup>5</sup>For <sup>h</sup>those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit, <sup>i</sup>the things of the Spirit. <sup>6</sup>For <sup>j</sup>to be <sup>2</sup>carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. <sup>7</sup>Because <sup>k</sup>the <sup>3</sup>carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, <sup>l</sup>nor indeed can be. <sup>8</sup>So then, those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

<sup>9</sup>But you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. Now if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he is not His. <sup>10</sup>And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin, but the Spirit is life because of righteousness. <sup>11</sup>But if the Spirit of <sup>m</sup>Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, <sup>n</sup>He who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies <sup>4</sup>through His Spirit who dwells in you.

Sonship Through the Spirit

<sup>12 o</sup>Therefore, brethren, we are debtors—not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh. <sup>13</sup>For <sup>p</sup>if you live according to the flesh you will die; but if by the Spirit you <sup>q</sup>put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. <sup>14</sup>For <sup>r</sup>as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God. <sup>15</sup>For <sup>s</sup>you did not receive the spirit of bondage again <sup>t</sup>to fear, but you received the <sup>u</sup>“Spirit of adoption by whom we cry out, <sup>v</sup>“Abba,<sup>5</sup> Father.” <sup>16 w</sup>The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, <sup>17</sup>and if children, then <sup>x</sup>heirs—heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, <sup>y</sup>if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together.

From Suffering to Glory

<sup>18</sup>For I consider that <sup>z</sup>the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. <sup>19</sup>For <sup>a</sup>the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God.

8:4 The purpose of the coming of Christ was that the law might be fulfilled. The believer gains the righteous standard of the law—love (see 13:8–10)—not by means of the law but by being in Christ and walking according to the Spirit.

8:5 The Greek word rendered set their minds includes a person’s will, thoughts, and emotions. It also includes assumptions, values, desires, and purposes. Setting the mind on the things of the flesh or on the things of the Spirit means being oriented to or governed by those things on which we focus.

8:6 Peace is the resolution of the intense warfare described in ch. 7, as well as the inward harmony and tranquility that results from yielding to God.

8:7–11 A believer can live according to the flesh with the result of death (James 1:13–15), or else by the renewed spirit, so as to experience life. In vv. 7–11, Paul elaborates on these two possibilities, showing the possibility and the benefit of living according to the Spirit.

8:7 The reason that being carnally minded results in death (v. 6) is that the carnal mind is an enemy of God. The mind of the flesh is hostile to God and can never submit itself to the law of God.

8:8 being in the flesh is different from “walking according to the flesh.” being in the flesh means being unregenerate or sinful. People in that state cannot please God.

adoption

(Gk. huiothesia) (8:15; Gal. 4:5; eph. 1:5) Strong’s #5206

The Greek word for adoption is derived from the word huios, meaning “son,” and the word thesis, meaning “placement.” It is a legal term that in this context indicates that believers have been given the full privileges of sonship in God’s family. Concurrent with this placement into sonship, God places the Spirit of His Son into our hearts so that we become, in effect, His natural-born children. As such, we are not just “adopted” (in the sense the word now conveys) but genuinely “begotten” by God. God makes children of men into children of God, just the reverse of what happened to Christ when the Son of God became the Son of Man.

8:9 Christians no longer live according to the flesh, under control of their sinful human nature. Instead, with the Spirit living in them and empowering them, they can live in a way pleasing to God.

8:10 Dead because of sin refers not to physical death but to the “body of death” of 7:24 (see also v. 6). The problem that Paul is dealing with in this passage is how the “dead” body, in which sin dwells, can be made the vehicle for expressing the life of God.

8:11 The solution to the problem of the flesh is the Holy Spirit. He gives life to your mortal bodies. being spiritually minded means overcoming the deadness of the body and experiencing life and peace. This is the resurrection life (see Phil. 3:10).

8:13 you will die: death here does not refer to physical death, because those who live according to the Spirit also die physically. It refers to the experience of those who live their lives apart from God. by the Spirit: by walking according to the Spirit (v. 4), by being spiritually minded (v. 6), the believer can put to death sinful deeds and live for God.

8:14 being led by the Spirit is virtually synonymous with walking according to the Spirit. “Walking” highlights the active participation and effort of the believer. “being led” underscores the passive side, the submissive dependence of the believer on the Spirit. these are sons of God: Those led by the Spirit are God’s children, and the sovereign Lord, in turn, is their Father (see 2 Cor. 6:18).

8:15 believers are sons of God because they received the Spirit of adoption. In ancient Rome, an adopted son would possess all the rights of a son born into the family. Christians have been adopted into God’s family, receiving an eternal inheritance. Abba: Jesus Himself prayed to God using this Aramaic word for Father (Mark 14:36).

8:16 A further indication of believers’ sonship is that the Holy Spirit bears witness with their spirits. When believers cry out to the Father in prayer (v. 15), the Holy Spirit intercedes for them (see v. 26).

8:17 heirs: All of God’s children have an inheritance based on their relationship to God, which is incorruptible, undefiled, and reserved in heaven (see 1 Pet. 1:4). Their inheritance includes an expectation of eternal life (see Titus 3:4–7). As joint heirs with Christ, they share His suffering now (Phil. 3:10) and will share His glory later (Phil. 3:11–14).

8:18 The sufferings of the present are slight when compared with the glory later. Paul calls the sufferings “light affliction” compared to the “eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor. 4:17). The divine compensation package is “a hundredfold” (Matt. 19:29).

8:19 Earnest expectation literally means “to watch with outstretched neck." Creation is impatient to see the revelation of the sons of God.

8:20 Futility, which means "vanity, emptiness," refers to the curse on creation (see Gen. 3:17-19).

8:21 Creation awaits the coming glory because it also will be delivered. The bondage of corruption further describes the futility of v. 20. Nature is a slave to decay and death because of sin.

8:23 The firstfruits of the Spirit may refer to the first workings of the Holy Spirit (8:9-11), which is a pledge of more work to come, like the redemption of our body. Otherwise, the expression firstfruits may be in apposition to the word Spirit; thus firstfruits is the Spirit. The firstfruits of a harvest was a foretaste of the harvest to come. So the Spirit, or His work, is God's assurance of the greater blessings to come elsewhere the Spirit is called a "guarantee of our inheritance" (eph. 1:14).

8:24 Hope is a constant expectation of an unseen reality. We are saved by faith, but our hope is in the return of Christ in all His glory and our complete deliverance from our sinful natures.

8:25 If we are expecting something unseen, we wait with perseverance; that is, we are willing to endure the present.

8:26 Though more may be involved in the concept of weaknesses, the primary reference here is to mental ignorance. The contrast offered by Paul in this verse is between our inability to know how to pray and the effective prayers of the Spirit Himself. The emphasis indicates that the Spirit Himself prays for us. He intercedes on our behalf before the throne of God (see 1 John 2:1), but His intercession cannot be uttered, which means it is "unexpressed, unspoken." No language is in view here, only the inner groanings of the Spirit.

8:27, 28 As children of God, we do not always know what to pray for or how best to pray (v. 26), but we can know the purpose of God which the Holy Spirit desires to accomplish. work together for good: The primary reference of all things is the "sufferings of this present time" (v. 18). All circumstances will work together in cooperation for the believer's good—that is, the believer will be conformed to Jesus Christ now and reign with Him later. Those who love God are in fact those who are the called by God. Our love is our response to the work of the Holy Spirit in us. We are called according to His purpose. God does everything, including redemption, in order to accomplish His overarching plan.

8:29 God foreknew, which means simply "to know beforehand." This has been interpreted by some as God's free and merciful choice of certain people who would receive His gift of salvation. Those who hold this view contend that His knowledge of future events and people did not determine His choice (see 1 Pet. 1:2). Instead He chose those who would be saved out of His own free will. Others believe that in His wisdom, God knew beforehand those who would respond to Him in faith. According to both views, only God saves; people never earn salvation through any work.

8:30 God not only foreknew and predestined (v. 29), He also called believers through the preaching of the gospel message (2 Thess. 2:14). This, however, is not the general call of the gospel to all people. If it were we would be forced to universalism, the view that everyone will be saved. Instead, those who are called by God have been foreknown, predestined, and justified. This call refers to the internal work of the Spirit in the hearts of God's elect to bring them to belief in Christ (see Acts 16:14). being justified means being "declared righteous." Finally, God glorified. Though glorification is in the future, it is stated here in the past tense. everyone then, who was foreknown by God in eternity past has such a certain future that the apostle speaks of their glorification as already accomplished.

8:31 The words these things refer to God's purpose (see vv. 28-30). If God has done everything from foreknowledge to glorification for us, all adversaries are powerless.

8:32 Paul answers the rhetorical question of v. 31 with a question. Since God has done the greatest thing, giving His own Son, will He not also freely give us all things?

To predestine means "to mark out beforehand," "to establish one's boundary, or one's limits, beforehand." Our english word horizon is a derivative of this Greek word. The Christian's ultimate destiny or horizon has been fixed by God from all eternity: to be made like His Son. Note how the words predestined, called, justified, and especially glorified in Rom. 8:29, 30 are in the past tense. That is because God, from His eternal perspective, sees this process as having been completed already. From God's perspective, we have been glorified already because He sees us righteous because of the work of Jesus on the Cross. but still, in the march of time, we must undergo the process of being conformed to the image of God's Son.

Israel's Rejection of Christ

9 I <sup>a</sup> tell the truth in Christ, I am not lying, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Spirit, <sup>2b</sup>that I have great sorrow and continual grief in my heart. <sup>3</sup>For <sup>c</sup>I could wish that I myself were accused from Christ for my brethren, my <sup>1</sup>countrymen according to the flesh, <sup>4</sup>who are Israelites, <sup>d</sup>to whom pertain the adoption, <sup>e</sup>the glory, <sup>f</sup>the cov-

d deut. 29:14; Luke 1:72; Acts 3:25

8:33 This is a rhetorical question equivalent to an emphatic denial. Elect recalls God's eternal program (see vv. 28–30). If God, the Supreme Judge, justifies, then who is going to successfully bring a charge against us?

8:34 Christ . . . died . . . makes intercession: Since Christ had fully justified us and is presently interceding for us, then no one can possibly condemn us.

8:35 If no one can successfully oppose us (v. 31), charge us (v. 33), or condemn us (v. 34) with regard to our personal relationship with God, then it follows that no one can separate us from Christ's love for us. The list in this verse covers the full range of experiences that could seem to pose a challenge to the reality of Christ's love.

8:36 sheep for the slaughter: Those who love God (Ps. 44:17–22) have always had to face death daily (2 Cor. 4:11).

8:37 The trials and difficulties listed in v. 35 not only do not separate us from Christ's love, they make us more than conquerors by forcing us to depend even more on God.

8:38, 39 Absolutely nothing can separate believers from God's love. The apostle struggles for words to describe the absolute certainty of God's love for believers. Nothing hard or dangerous, neither death nor life, can separate us. If God, the uncreated One, is for us, and no created thing can separate us, then our security in Him is absolute.

9:1–3 At the end of ch. 8 Paul established that: (1) God has a purpose for believers, (2) nothing can prevent that purpose from being fulfilled, and (3) no one can separate God's people from His love. but what about the Jewish people? God had a purpose for Israel and God had said He loved Israel. Yet Israel appears to be excluded from God's program. Paul addresses this problem in chs. 9–11. accused from Christ: Paul's pain was so great that he was willing, if possible, to be separated from Christ if it meant Israel could be united to Him (see ex. 32:32).

9:4, 5 Paul lists some of the great privileges of Israel. For example, they were called Israelites. Israel was the name given to their ancestor Jacob as an expression of God's favor (see Gen. 32:28). Christ: Their supreme privilege was that the Messiah came through them. eternally blessed God: Jesus Christ is God in the flesh.

Election

The doctrine of election is one of the most hotly debated mysteries of the Christian life. Theologians through the ages have pondered the meaning of 8:29, “For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son.” What did the apostle Paul mean when he wrote that God “foreknew” certain people? How are we to understand the notion of God having “predestined” certain individuals to be saved and sanctified?

In attempting to resolve these profound questions, bible students have typically aligned themselves in two camps. Arminians, those who embrace the position of the seventeenth-century dutch pastor Jacobus Arminius, understand foreknowledge to mean God's knowledge in advance of those who would repent of their sin and believe the gospel. In other words, in eternity past, God looked down the corridors of time to see all who would one day accept the offer of salvation through Christ. In the Arminian view, those who accept salvation are the elect. The fact that they would eventually believe in Christ was the condition that prompted God to choose them “before the foundation of the world” (see eph. 1:3) or predestine them to eternal life. To bolster their position, Arminians point to verses that clearly state God's desire for all people to be saved (see 1 Tim. 2:3, 4; 2 Pet. 3:9). Furthermore, they argue the universal call for sinners to repent and believe the gospel is meaningless if salvation is determined solely by God apart from the free will of a person.

Calvinism is the second dominant viewpoint. Calvinists, named for the Reformer John Calvin, understand foreknowledge as a “relational” term. In other words, foreknowledge refers to God's intimate knowledge of and love for His elect before they came into existence. From the Calvinistic perspective, it is God's sovereign choice, and not a person's exercised faith, that determines who the elect are. Put simply, Calvinists define election as the unconditional choice of God that is the cause of our faith. Arminians, on the other hand, would define it as the conditional choice of God that is the result of our faith. Calvinists defend their position with passages like 9:6–24 which describe why God hardened Pharaoh's heart. Moreover, they argue that depraved, spiritually dead people could not choose to believe and would not choose to believe.

Regardless of one's stance on the matter of election, this much is clear: God is infinitely wise, powerful, and good. We cannot accuse Him of being unfair in His dealings with humans. It was our own sinfulness that has entrapped us and condemned us. Yet God, out of His infinite mercy, chooses to save.

enants, <sup>g</sup>the giving of the law, <sup>h</sup>the service of God, and <sup>i</sup>the promises; <sup>5j</sup>of whom are the fathers and from <sup>h</sup>whom, according to the flesh, Christ came, <sup>l</sup>who is over all, the eternally blessed God. Amen.

Israel's Rejection and God's Purpose

<sup>10</sup>And not only this, but when <sup>s</sup>Rebecca also had conceived by one man, even by our father Isaac <sup>11</sup>(for the children not yet being born, nor having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works but of <sup>t</sup>Him who calls), <sup>12</sup>it was said to her, <sup>u</sup>“The older shall serve the younger.” <sup>13</sup>As it is written, <sup>v</sup>“Jacob I have loved, but Esau I have hated.”

Israel's Rejection and God's Justice

<sup>14</sup>What shall we say then? <sup>w</sup>Is there unrighteousness with God? Certainly not! <sup>15</sup>For He says to Moses, <sup>x</sup>“I will have mercy on whomever I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whomever I will have compassion.” <sup>16</sup>So then it is not of him who wills, nor of him who runs, but of God who shows mercy. <sup>17</sup>For <sup>y</sup>the Scripture says to the Pharaoh, <sup>z</sup>“For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I may show My power in you, and that My name may be declared in all the earth.” <sup>18</sup>Therefore He has mercy on whom He wills, and whom He wills He <sup>a</sup>hardens.

<sup>19</sup>You will say to me then, “Why does He still find fault? For <sup>b</sup>who has resisted His will?” <sup>20</sup>But indeed, O man, who are you to reply against God? <sup>c</sup>Will the thing formed say to him who formed it, “Why have you made me like this?” <sup>21</sup>Does not the <sup>d</sup>potter have power over the clay, from the same lump to make <sup>e</sup>one vessel for honor and another for dishonor?

9:6 The word of God in this context is a reference to God’s promises to Israel. Paul is declaring that God’s purposes and promises have not failed. not all Israel: Not all the physical descendants of Jacob (Israel) inherited the promises of God.

9:7 Abraham is another illustration of Paul’s point that physical descent is no guarantee of a place in God’s family. Abraham had two sons, Ishmael and Isaac; but Isaac inherited the promises, not Ishmael.

9:8 of the flesh: Just being a physical descendant of Abraham does not mean inheriting God’s promise to Abraham and his offspring.

9:10 The children of Isaac are still another illustration of Paul’s point. God’s promise to Isaac was never intended to be fulfilled through Esau.

9:11 not yet . . . born: God chose Jacob over Esau before they were born. Neither had done any good or evil at the time the choice was made. It was not based in any way on their works. It was solely based on Him who calls. God did not elect Jacob because of anything Jacob did; his election was based on grace.

9:13 hated: Actually God made provision for Esau (see Gen. 27:39; 36; deut. 23:7). Hated is an idiom where the opposite is used to express a lesser degree. For example, Gen. 29:30 says Jacob loved Rachel more than Leah, but the next verse (literally translated) says that Leah was hated. What Paul is saying is that Esau was not the object of God’s electing purpose.

9:14 If God chose some of Abraham’s descendants (v. 6), like Isaac over Ishmael (vv. 7–9), or Jacob over Esau (vv. 10–13), then is there unrighteousness with God? The complaint is that if God chose Isaac or Jacob without regard to their works, then this would have been unrighteous or unjust. If God’s election and rejection was based on the evil deeds of one or the good deeds of the other, the question of God’s “fairness” would never have arisen. This question is the theme of chs. 9–11.

9:15 Paul’s response to the question posed in v. 14 is not to justify God’s actions or choices but to state the unequivocal sovereignty of God in doing as He wills. I will have mercy: In this passage from exodus, God states His absolute right not to be questioned by His creatures about His decisions (ex. 33:19). With these words about mercy and compassion God revealed His character to Moses when he asked to behold the glory of God. Those who question God in these matters have not seen the glory of God that Moses was allowed to see.

9:16 but of God: The basis of God’s sovereign choice is not a person’s conduct, but God’s compassion. God is free to show mercy to whom He chooses.

9:17, 18 Pharaoh refused to obey the Lord (ex. 5:2) and hardened his heart (see ex. 7:13, 14, 22; 8:15, 32; 9:7). God used Pharaoh’s sin to demonstrate His power and magnify His name. hardens: God only gave Pharaoh over to what Pharaoh had already chosen to do. Nevertheless the fact remains that God sovereignly chooses to have mercy on some and to withhold it from others.

9:19, 20 Find fault means “to blame.” Paul again poses human questions that he will answer in vv. 20, 21. If God hardens whom He wills (v. 18), why blame the one who was hardened? His will: If God hardens, how can it be said that person is resisting God? Isn’t the hardened one only doing what God has willed him to do? Reply means “to make a rejoinder,” implying an argumentative attitude. Paul rebukes anyone who would raise such objections, which in the end are only a protest against God’s ways, and not a sincere request for an explanation.

9:21 The word translated power can mean “right” or “authority.” Paul insists on God’s right to do as He pleases.

9:22, 23 What if: Some insist that Paul is raising only the possibility of a vessel designed for destruction. Others take the passage literally, that God prepares some for eternal doom. prepared for destruction . . . prepared beforehand for glory: The grammatical structure of the first prepared, referring to the vessels of wrath, is different from the second prepared, referring to the vessels of mercy. The first literally means “prepared themselves,” while the second is “which He prepared.” If we are doomed, it is because of our rejection of God; if we are redeemed, it is because of the grace of God. The question is not: Why are some saved and some condemned? everyone deserves condemnation. It is only by God’s grace that anyone is saved.

<sup>25</sup>As He says also in Hosea:

<sup>14</sup>*I will call them My people, who were not My people,
And her beloved, who was not beloved.*

<sup>26</sup>“And<sup>m</sup> it shall come to pass in the place where it was said to them, ‘You are not My people,’ There they shall be called sons of the living God.”

<sup>28</sup>For<sup>2</sup> He will finish the work and cut it short in righteousness, <sup>p</sup>Because the LORD will make a short work upon the earth.”

<sup>r</sup>We would have become like Sodom,
And we would have been made like Gomorrah.”*

<sup>x</sup>“Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone and rock of offense, And<sup>y</sup> whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame.”

Israel Needs the Gospel

10 Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for <sup>1</sup>Israel is that they may be saved. <sup>2</sup>For I bear them witness <sup>a</sup>that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge. <sup>3</sup>For they being ignorant of <sup>b</sup>God's righteousness, and seeking to establish their own <sup>c</sup>righteousness, have not submitted to the righteousness of God. <sup>4</sup>For <sup>d</sup>Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes.

<sup>5</sup>For Moses writes about the righteousness which is of the law, <sup>e</sup>“The man who does those things shall live by them.” <sup>6</sup>But the righteousness of faith speaks in this way, <sup>f</sup>“Do not say in your heart, ‘Who will ascend into heaven?’” (that is, to bring Christ down from above) <sup>7</sup>or, <sup>g</sup>“Who will descend into the abyss?” (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead). <sup>8</sup>But what does it say? <sup>h</sup>“The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart” (that is, the word of faith which we preach): <sup>9</sup>that <sup>i</sup>if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from

Rom. 14:9; [1 Cor. 12:3]; Phil. 2:11

9:24–29 God calls both Jews and Gentiles. Paul quotes several OT passages to support this point.

9:30–32 The question is: Since Israel had the law and pursued righteousness, why have they not attained it? Was it because they were not elected? The answer is that they did not obtain righteousness because they did not believe. They tried obtaining righteousness by the works of the law, being committed to a righteousness by works, they stumbled over the righteousness of faith offered in Christ.

10:1 saved: This word is used in the NT in several different ways (see 1:16). In Romans, Paul seems to make a distinction between justification and salvation (see 5:9, 10); the reader must pay attention to the context. Justification is what takes place at the moment of faith in Christ. Salvation, at least in Romans, refers to the work of God in the believer that continues after justification. It is deliverance from God's wrath (see 1:18; 5:9, 10). The logical conclusion from ch. 9 is that Israel is under divine wrath (see 9:22). Paul's deep desire and prayer is that Israel may be justified and saved from His wrath.

10:2 Israel had a zeal for God; outwardly, they were very religious. But their effort was not according to knowledge. They lacked a correct understanding of the kind of worship God wanted from them. Paul explains Israel's ignorance in vv. 3–13.

10:3 God's righteousness is the righteousness that belongs to God, and more specifically in this context, the righteousness God gives when a person trusts Christ. not submitted: This means “to obey.” Israel did not obey God's command to believe (see 1:5; 6:17; Acts 16:31).

10:4 End can mean “fulfillment”; that is, Christ fulfilled all the requirements of the law. It can also mean “goal,” to say that Christ was the object to which the law led. The point is that Israel was ignorant of God's righteousness because they failed to comprehend what the law was intended to do. The law revealed sin and showed that people could not hope to keep the law. Christ came and fulfilled it, then offered us His righteousness through faith in Him.

10:5–8 There are two kinds of righteousness, by works or by faith. One is inaccessible, the other is very accessible. Paul uses the words of d eut. 30:11–14 to demonstrate that righteousness by faith is not far off and inaccessible, but is as near as a person's mouth and heart. All one has to do is repent, believe in Jesus, and confess that belief.

10:9 Confess comes before believe in this verse because “mouth” precedes “heart” in d euteronomy (see v. 8). The order is reversed in the next verse. One has to confess with the mouth to be saved.

the dead, you will be saved. <sup>10</sup>For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. <sup>11</sup>For the Scripture says, <sup>j</sup>“Whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame.” <sup>12</sup>For <sup>k</sup>there is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for <sup>l</sup>the same Lord over all <sup>m</sup>is rich to all who call upon Him. <sup>13</sup>For <sup>n</sup>“whoever calls <sup>o</sup> on the name of the LORD shall be saved.”

Israel Rejects the Gospel

<sup>14</sup>How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear <sup>p</sup>without a preacher? <sup>15</sup>And how shall they preach unless they are sent? As it is written:

<sup>q</sup>“How beautiful are the feet of those who <sup>2</sup>preach the gospel of peace, Who bring glad tidings of good things!”

<sup>16</sup>But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, <sup>r</sup>“LORD, who has believed our report?”<sup>17</sup> So then faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

<sup>s</sup>“Their sound has gone out to all the earth,

<sup>u</sup>“I will provoke you to jealousy by those who are not a nation,
I will move you to anger by a <sup>v</sup> foolish nation.”

<sup>20</sup>But Isaiah is very bold and says:

<sup>w</sup>“I was found by those who did not seek Me;

10:10 For indicates that this verse explains v. 9. The condition for righteousness, that is for being justified, is internal faith. The condition of salvation, meaning deliverance from wrath and from the power of sin, is external confession (see v. 1; 5:9, 10), which is calling on the Lord for help (see vv. 12, 13).

10:11–13 Paul emphasizes the universal offer of salvation. Whoever in vv. 11, 13 means “all.” verse 12 explains that this includes Jew and Greek (Gentile).

10:16 they: Israel. Not all Jews have obeyed the command to believe in Christ.

10:18–21 Israel heard but was disobedient; only a remnant believed the gospel.

Righteousness

What is righteousness? Most of us immediately think of a person trying to keep a list of rules, like a little boy or girl who never steps over the line. When Paul speaks of righteousness in Romans, he means far more than this commonsense understanding of the word. He draws on the Old Testament concept of righteousness, which speaks of a proper relationship between God and a person, or between God and His people.

In the Old Testament, righteousness is fundamentally an attribute of God (Ps. 71:15; 119:42). He alone is truly righteous. He is the One who remains faithful, to His promises, His covenant with Israel, and the Law. In turn, the Israelites as God’s people had the responsibility to exemplify God’s righteousness on this earth. Ultimately, this meant they had to love and worship the living God alone. The Law of Moses could be summed up in that command and its corollary, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself” (Lev. 19:18; Mark 12:31). Tragically, the Israelites did not comply. They proved unfaithful to the covenant, although God proved Himself as faithful, by sending prophets to His people, the Lord warned them again and again of their sinfulness. Finally He had to discipline them, with famine, military defeat, and even exile in babylon. but God remained faithful, and He restored His people to the land and to Himself when they repented and turned to Him.

After their return from babylon, the Israelites confused righteousness with a strict adherence to the Law as recorded in the Pentateuch. Indeed, the Jewish religious leaders added numerous amendments to the Law to ensure that no one would inadvertently break it. Zealous obedience to the Law was equated with righteousness. Yet mere external compliance to a set of rules did not please the Lord. What God wanted was repentant, humbled hearts that truly worshiped Him. He wanted to be the God of their hearts and minds, and the center of their devotion.

In his letter to the Romans, Paul clearly states that no one has achieved this standard; no one has completely loved and worshiped the Lord as they should (3:23). All have sinned. No good work or outward appearance of piety can restore a proper relationship with the Holy One (see Is. 64:6). On the one hand, the Gentiles did not pursue a right relationship with their Creator, so they had been given over to all kinds of evil (1:18–31). On the other hand, the Jews through external obedience to the Law and their traditions were attempting to justify themselves before God (9:31, 32), both failed. Jesus is the only One who can stand before the glorious God; He is the only One who is truly righteous. Remarkably, He has offered us a way out of our slavery to sin, by placing our faith and trust in Him, we can be declared righteous. We can have a righteousness that has nothing to do with our own works but instead relies on Jesus’ sinless life and His sacrificial death for our sins. The Lord forgives us and declares us righteous because of our identification by faith with the righteousness of His Son (4:5). Through Jesus, we can finally be released from the guilt of our sins. Not only can we approach the Holy One in praise and thankfulness, but we can do God’s will.

I was made manifest to those who did not ask for Me.”

<sup>21</sup> But to Israel he says:

“All day long I have stretched out My hands To a disobedient and contrary people.”

Israel’s Rejection Not Total

11 I say then, <sup>a</sup>has God cast away His people? <sup>b</sup>Certainly not! For <sup>c</sup>I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. <sup>2</sup>God has not cast away His people whom <sup>d</sup>He foreknew. Or do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel, saying, <sup>3e</sup>“LORD, they have killed Your prophets and torn down Your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life?” <sup>4</sup>But what does the divine response say to him? <sup>f</sup>“I have reserved for Myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal.” <sup>5g</sup>Even so then, at this present time there is a remnant according to the election of grace. <sup>6</sup>And <sup>h</sup>if by grace, then it is no longer of works; otherwise grace is no longer grace. <sup>1</sup>But if it is of works, it is no longer grace; otherwise work is no longer work.

<sup>7</sup>What then? <sup>i</sup>Israel has not obtained what it seeks; but the elect have obtained it, and the rest were <sup>j</sup>blinded. <sup>8</sup>Just as it is written:

*“God has given them a spirit of stupor,
1 Eyes that they should not see
And ears that they should not hear,
To this very day.”*

Israel’s Rejection Not Final

<sup>13</sup>For I speak to you Gentiles; inasmuch as <sup>p</sup>I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry, <sup>14</sup>if by any means I may provoke to jealousy those who are my flesh and <sup>q</sup>save some of them. <sup>15</sup>For if their being cast away is the reconciling of the world, what will their acceptance be <sup>r</sup>but life from the dead?

11:1 One of the proofs that God has not cast away the Jewish people is Paul himself. He was an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, a member of the tribe of Benjamin. He was a Jew, and he was chosen by God to be a believer and an apostle.

11:2 In this verse, His people refers to the nation of Israel and not just the elect within the nation. In vv. 4–7 Paul differentiates between the nation and the remnant, but his point there is that God’s saving of the remnant proves that He has not abandoned His plan for the nation (see v. 26). whom He foreknew: See 8:29.

11:3–5 Paul cites Elijah as an illustration. Elijah thought that the whole nation of Israel had fallen away, but he was wrong. The remnant in Elijah’s day was proof that God had not cast off His people, and the remnant in Paul’s day was continuing proof of His faithfulness.

11:6 if by grace, then it is no longer of works: Grace and works are mutually exclusive. God’s election was established solely on the basis of grace (see v. 5).

11:7 What Israel seeks is righteousness (see 9:31–10:3). The elect have obtained righteousness by faith. The others were blinded because they did not believe.

11:8–10 Paul quotes Isaiah and David to show that Israel’s spiritual indifference was a continual pattern. Their rejection of Christ would bring untold misery on the nation.

11:11 fall: Does Israel’s rejection mean the end of God’s program for the nation? Certainly not! Israel’s unbelief brought salvation . . . to the Gentiles, and it will ultimately lead to Israel’s salvation (see v. 26).

11:12 fullness: The nation of Israel, chosen by God to receive salvation, will be saved along with believing Gentiles, resulting in great blessing for everyone (see v. 26).

11:14 save some: Paul is revealing his great desire to see the salvation of all of Israel (see vv. 12, 26).

11:15 life from the dead: The failure of Israel in rejecting Christ will make their eventual acceptance as vivid and wonderful as the resurrection that all believers will experience; it will be as if they had come back from the dead.

11:17 The wild olive tree is the Gentile Christians. The olive tree refers to Israel, those who inherited the promises of the Abrahamic covenant (see Gen. 12:1, 2; 17:7, 8; see also Hos. 14:6). grafted in: Paul intentionally stretches the analogy of grafting in order to communicate his point that Gentiles have been supernaturally connected to the family of God.

11:18 Gentiles, who have been grafted into the Abrahamic covenant and therefore become recipients of God’s blessing, should not boast. Gentile believers should not despise the Jews, the branches of God’s vine.

11:19 The reason Israel was broken off (v. 17), “cast away” (v. 15), and has fallen (v. 12) is so that Gentiles could be grafted into the tree.

<sup>20</sup> Well said. Because of <sup>w</sup> unbelief they were broken off, and you stand by faith. Do not be haughty, but fear. <sup>21</sup> For if God did not spare the natural branches, He may not spare you either. <sup>22</sup> Therefore consider the goodness and severity of God: on those who fell, severity; but toward you, <sup>5</sup> goodness, <sup>x</sup> if you continue in His goodness. Otherwise <sup>y</sup> you also will be cut off. <sup>23</sup> And they also, <sup>z</sup> if they do not continue in unbelief, will be grafted in, for God is able to graft them in again. <sup>24</sup> For if you were cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and were grafted contrary to nature into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, who are natural branches, be grafted into their own olive tree?

And He will turn away ungodliness from Jacob;*

<sup>27</sup> *For <sup>e</sup> this is My covenant with them,
When I take away their sins.”*

Living Sacrifices to God

11:20 Well said: Paul agrees with the objector (see v. 19) that Israel was broken off because of unbelief and that Gentiles stand by faith, but he goes on to warn that Gentiles should not be haughty, but fear. Standing before God is based on faith. Feelings of superiority are out of place.

11:21 Paul was warning the Gentiles not to be arrogant (v. 20), but to remember that they depended on God and were accountable to Him no less than the Jews were.

11:22, 23 If Gentiles continue in God's goodness, they will not be cut off, and if Jews turn to God in faith, they can be grafted in again. This is not a reference to individual salvation but to God's program for Jews and Gentiles.

11:24 It is far more natural to expect Israel, the natural branches, to be grafted in, than to expect Gentiles, the wild branches, to be included.

11:25 If believers do not understand this mystery, chances are they will be wise in their own opinion, meaning they will be haughty (v. 20) and boast (v. 18). The mystery is that Israel has been temporarily and partially hardened, but God has not rejected them.

11:26 All Israel does not mean that every individual in the nation will turn to the Lord. It means that the nation as a whole will be saved, just as the nation as a whole (but not every individual in it) was now rejecting the Lord.

11:28, 29 The Jews are enemies in that they reject the gospel. For the sake of the fathers refers to the promises God made to the patriarchs. Irrevocable means “not to repent.” God does not change His mind. He made promises to the patriarchs (v. 28) and He will fulfill them.

11:36 God is the source, means, and end of all things. He is the Creator, Sustainer, and the goal of everything. Therefore He should be praised and glorified forever.

12:1 based on God's mercy (see 9:11, 15, 16, 18, 23; 11:30–32), Paul entreats believers to present their bodies as a living sacrifice, meaning they should use their bodies to serve and obey God (see 6:13). Such giving of the body to God is more than a contrast with a dead animal sacrifice, it is “newness of life” (see 6:4). Holy means set apart for the Lord's use; acceptable means pleasing to Him; and reasonable indicates that such a gift is the only rational reaction to all the good gifts God has showered on us.

12:2 Conformed means “to form” or “mold.” World is the normal word for “age” or “era.” Instead of being molded by the values of mystery

(Gk. mustērion) (11:25; 16:25; 1 Cor. 2:7; eph. 1:9; 3:3, 4, 9) Strong's #3466

The word mystery, so often used by Paul, does not mean something incomprehensible, but something that had been kept secret and now has been disclosed. In Paul's cultural and religious milieu, the term was often used with reference to the mystery religions. Adherents to the mystery religions used the term to speak of the secret knowledge of the religion revealed only to the initiated ones. In contrast, Paul uses the word to speak of a secret that has been openly revealed to all.

Serve God with Spiritual Gifts

<sup>3</sup>For I say, <sup>f</sup>through the grace given to me, to everyone who is among you, <sup>g</sup>not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think soberly, as God has dealt <sup>h</sup>to each one a measure of faith. <sup>4</sup>For <sup>i</sup>as we have many members in one body, but all the members do not have the same function, <sup>5</sup>so <sup>j</sup>we, being many, are one body in Christ, and individually members of one another. <sup>6</sup>Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is <sup>k</sup>given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, let us <sup>l</sup>prophecy in proportion to our faith; <sup>7</sup>or ministry, let us use it in our ministering; <sup>m</sup>he who teaches, in teaching; <sup>8</sup><sup>n</sup>he who exhorts, in exhortation; <sup>o</sup>he who gives, with liberality; <sup>p</sup>he who leads, with diligence; he who shows mercy, <sup>q</sup>with cheerfulness.

this world, the believer should be transformed, that is, changed by the renewing of the mind. Spiritual transformation starts in the mind and heart. A mind dedicated to the world and its concerns will produce a life tossed back and forth by the currents of culture. but a mind dedicated to God's truth will produce a life that can stand the test of time. We can resist the temptations of our culture by meditating on God's truth and letting the Holy Spirit guide and shape our thoughts and behaviors.

12:3 think of himself: A renewed mind (v. 2) begins with thinking soberly about oneself. The first step in changing behavior is self-observation (see 1 Cor. 11:28–32). to each one: God has given everyone one or more gifts that can be used in His service. dealt . . . a measure of faith: The measure refers to God's sovereignly given gifts mentioned in vv. 6–8. These gifts are not the result of intense prayer or spirituality. Instead, God simply gives everyone certain gifts so each person can strengthen the church (see 1 Cor. 12:11, 18, 28).

12:4, 5 As the human body is a unity with many members, each having its own function, so is the body of Christ. The church is a unified body under the headship of Christ, but the members have different functions (see 1 Cor. 12:12–31).

12:6 gifts: The Greek word (charismata) refers to God-given abilities that should be used to build up other members in the church. Although they are "irrevocable" and, thus do not change (see 11:29), they are to be pursued and developed (see 1 Pet. 4:10). prophecy: This word is used here in a general sense for all types of gifts that involve speaking God's word. For example, in 1 Cor. 14:3 "exhortation" appears as a prophesying gift. In its narrower sense, prophecy means the revealing of God's will in a particular situation (see Acts 13:1–3). 12:7, 8 Ministry means "service" and is in contrast to the speaking gifts (see 1 Pet. 4:11). The Scriptures list five speaking gifts: prophecy, teaching, encouragement, the word of wisdom, and the word of knowledge. In addition, seven serving gifts are named: helps, mercy, faith, discernment of spirits, leadership, managing, and giving.

12:10 There are at least four Greek words for love, not all of which are used in the NT. (1) The highest form of love is agape. This is a self-sacrificial love. It involves an act of the will whereby one seeks the best for another. Agape is used in v. 9. (2) The Greek word phileo means "affectionate regard," and the derived form philadelphia is translated brotherly love in this verse. (3) Philotorgos means "family affection" and is translated kindly affectionate in this verse. (4) Eros means physical love and does not occur in the NT.

preference to one another: The greatest proof of the truth of the gospel message and of the reality of Jesus' love is the love believers show to each other. Christ is the model for such self-sacrificial love (see Phil. 2:3–8).

12:11 in diligence: Christians should not offer their service half-heartedly or in a lazy manner. Instead, Paul encourages the Romans to serve eagerly and in earnest.

12:13 Hospitality means "love of strangers." The primary reference is to housing travelers, though all forms of hospitality are included. The progression in this verse is significant. As we dedicate ourselves to meeting the needs of our fellow believers, we will have opportunities to serve strangers and thus witness to them about the love of Christ.

12:14 Bless means "to speak well of" or "praise."

12:15 rejoice . . . weep: because believers are a body, when one part hurts, everyone feels the pain; when one is joyful, everyone can rejoice. Christians cannot be indifferent to the suffering or joy of their fellow believers (see 1 Cor. 12:25, 26).

12:17 The word good in this verse means "morally good," "noble," or "praiseworthy." This is the positive side of the negative command not to return evil for evil (see 1 Pet. 3:9). A Christian should not concentrate on the evil in others, but instead should focus on what is good. by doing so, we encourage others around us to aspire to the good.

12:18 The believer's aim should be to live peaceably. but some-#### transform

(Gk. metamorphoo) (12:2; Matt. 17:2; 2 Cor. 3:18) Strong's #3339

The Greek word means "to change form," as does the english derivative metamorphosis. In the NT, this word is used to describe an inward renewal of our mind through which our inner spirit is changed into the likeness of Christ. Paul told the Roman believers: "be transformed by the renewing of your minds" (12:2). As our Christian life progresses, we should gradually notice that our thought life is being changed from Christlessness to Christlikeness. Transformation does not happen overnight. Our regeneration is instantaneous, but our transformation is continuous. We are conformed to Christ's image gradually as we spend time in intimate fellowship with Him (see 2 Cor. 3:18).

men. <sup>19</sup>Beloved, <sup>h</sup>do not avenge yourselves, but rather give place to wrath; for it is written, <sup>i</sup>“Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,” says the Lord. <sup>20</sup>Therefore

Submit to Government

13 Let every soul be <sup>a</sup>subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God. <sup>2</sup>Therefore whoever resists <sup>b</sup>the authority resists the ordinance of God, and those who resist will <sup>l</sup>bring judgment on themselves. <sup>3</sup>For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to evil. Do you want to be unafraid of the authority? <sup>c</sup>Do what is good, and you will have praise from the same. <sup>4</sup>For he is God’s minister to you for good. But if you do evil, be afraid; for he does not bear the sword in vain; for he is God’s minister, an avenger to execute wrath on him who practices evil. <sup>5</sup>Therefore <sup>d</sup>you must be subject, not only because of wrath <sup>e</sup>but also for conscience’

Love Your Neighbor

times peace is not within our control; this is why Paul limits the command.

12:19 believers are not to seek personal revenge, but rather to let God punish.

12:20 Freed from vengeance, believers can give themselves to mercy, even toward their enemies. by acts of kindness, the believers will heap coals of fire on the head of their enemies, perhaps bringing shame and repentance to them. It is possible for an enemy to become a friend. This is the phenomenal power of God’s love that believers are connected to through Christ.

13:1 God, the supreme Sovereign, has ordained (see v. 2) that there should be governing authorities. Every believer is to be subject to these various authorities, even if these authorities are as evil as Nero (A.B. 54–68), the emperor of Rome who cruelly persecuted Christians. When Paul wrote this letter, Nero was in power. Yet Paul exhorted the Roman believers to submit to Nero’s authority, because that authority was ordained by God Himself.

13:2 Judgment does not necessarily include eternal punishment. God may judge people through the human authorities He appoints.

13:4 The sword is an instrument of death. Government has the right in the proper circumstances to impose capital punishment as well as to wage war. In Paul’s day, the common method of capital punishment was decapitation with a sword.

13:5 for conscience’ sake: believers must obey government not only because it is their civic duty, but because it is their spiritual duty before God.

13:8 In the present context, owe no one anything primarily means respect and honor (see v. 7). No doubt money is also included, but this passage does not prohibit borrowing (see Ps. 37:21; Matt. 5:42). except to love: Love is a debt that is never paid in full.

13:9 as yourself: This verse is not a command to love ourselves. It is a recognition that we do love ourselves, and commands us to love others just as genuinely and sincerely as we love ourselves.

13:10 Love excludes murder, adultery, stealing, and lying (see v. 9). Therefore when we love, we automatically fulfill the prohibitions of the law. If we attempt to live by the law, we quickly discover that we are breaking the law (7:5). but when we act in accordance with God’s love, without being under the law, we fulfill it.

13:11 sleep: believers are pictured as being asleep or inactive. Salvation here refers to the future, when believers will be saved from the presence of sin. Thus salvation here speaks of the imminent return of Christ.

13:12, 13 Night is the present age during which we live in Satan’s

The Key Terms of Salvation

Paul, in the Epistle to the Romans, attempts to portray God's plan of salvation in a concise and clear manner. In doing so, he uses Greek words whose meanings are not widely known today. Here is a brief glossary of the key terms of salvation in this book:

English Term	Greek Term	References	Meaning
Faith	pistis	(1:17; 4:9; 12:6)	"belief, trust"; faith is the means by which sinful people can experience and enjoy all the blessings of salvation. It is a complete trust in Jesus for salvation from sin and the coming judgment.
Gospel	euangelion	(1:16; 11:28)	"Good News"; Paul uses this word to refer to the wonderful message of forgiveness and eternal life in Christ.
Grace	charis	(1:5; 5:2; 12:3)	"The unmerited favor of God"; this term refers to God's inexplicable giving of good things (especially salvation) to undeserving people who could never earn it. Salvation is a free gift made possible by Christ's death on our behalf.
Justification	dikaiōsis	(4:25; 5:18)	"The act of being declared righteous"; a legal term used by Paul to describe the spiritual transaction whereby God (the Judge) declares those who trust in Christ and what He has done for them on the Cross, to be acceptable before Him. Such a verdict is possible only because Christ has settled all the claims of the Law against sinners.
Law	nomos	(2:12; 4:13; 7:12; 10:4; 13:8)	"The commandments given by God"; Paul emphasizes both the holy character of the Law and the inability of sinful people to live according to it. The Law becomes a burden and a curse, until we allow it to point us to Christ, who perfectly fulfills all its requirements.
Propitiation	hilastērion	(3:25)	"The satisfaction of God's holy wrath against sin"; rebellion against God results in the wrath of God and must be met with judgment. By dying in our place and taking our sins upon Himself, Jesus satisfies God's righteous anger against all who believe.
Redemption	apolutrōsis	(3:24; 8:23)	"The act of freeing someone by paying a purchase price"; this economic term is used by Paul in a theological sense to describe how Christ paid the penalty required by God for our sins (that is, death) by giving His own life on the Cross. When we believe, Jesus frees us from sin.
Righteousness	dikaiosunē	(3:5; 5:17; 9:30)	"God's standard of purity" or "God's own truthfulness and faithfulness"; God is holy, therefore He cannot tolerate sin. It is through Jesus Christ that we can find righteousness that is acceptable to God. Christ not only takes away our sin, but He grants us His perfect purity.
Salvation	sōtēria	(1:16; 10:10)	"deliverance"; this word is often used in the bible to describe someone being rescued from physical harm. The word is used by Paul chiefly to denote deliverance from sin and its deadly consequences.
Sin	hamartia ; hamartēma	(3:9; 5:12; 7:11; 8:2; 14:23)	"Missing the mark" or "disobedience to God's law"; several different Greek words are used by Paul to describe the tendency of humans to rebel against God. Sin can be broadly defined as any attitude or action that opposes the character and will of God. Sin is what brings death—that is, separation from God.

domain. Day is the beginning of a new life with Christ in His glorious reign. At hand means "is imminent"; the Lord could return at any moment (see Phil. 4:5; James 5:8; 1 Pet. 4:7). Note that Paul puts strife and envy on the same level as drunkenness and lust. 13:14 put on the Lord Jesus Christ: believers should clothe themselves with Christlike characteristics such as truth (see John 14:6), righteousness (see 1 Cor. 1:30), and peace (see Gal. 5:22, 23; eph. 2:14; 6:10–17).

14:1, 2 Those who were weak in the faith did have faith; they had trusted in Christ. Some of the Roman believers might not have accepted the apostle's teaching concerning certain practices, such as accepting that all food was clean if received with thanksgiving (see 1 Tim. 4:4, 5). Instead, they ate only vegetables. The strong in the faith are told to receive the weak and not to dispute over doubtful things, which literally means "reasonings" or "opinions." The mature believers were not to pass judgment or to enter into dispute with those who were less mature.

all things, but he who is weak eats only vegetables. <sup>3</sup>Let not him who eats despise him who does not eat, and <sup>4</sup>let not him who does not eat judge him who eats; for God has received him. <sup>4d</sup>Who are you to judge another's servant? To his own master he stands or falls. Indeed, he will be made to stand, for God is able to make him stand.

*<sup>m</sup>"As I live, says the LORD,
Every knee shall bow to Me,
And every tongue shall confess to God."*

The Law of Love

<sup>14</sup>I know and am convinced by the Lord Jesus <sup>p</sup>that there is nothing unclean of itself; but to him who considers anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean. <sup>15</sup>Yet if your brother is grieved because of your food, you are no longer walking in love. <sup>q</sup>Do not destroy with your food the one for whom Christ died. <sup>16</sup>Therefore do not let your good be spoken of as evil; <sup>17</sup>s for the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and <sup>r</sup>peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. <sup>18</sup>For he who serves Christ in <sup>5</sup>these things <sup>u</sup>is acceptable to God and approved by men.

14:3 The strong are not to despise the weak, that is, to treat them with contempt. The weak are not to judge the strong by attempting to place excessive prohibitions on them.

14:5 one day above another: This verse probably relates to the many holy days of the OT ceremonial law. fully convinced: The exhortation does not mean it is wrong to have strong convictions, but that all people have a right to their own convictions. This principle is basic in dealing with disputes.

14:6 days and diets are not the issue, but whether what is being done is committed to the Lord.

14:7-9 None of us refers to believers, not people in general. believers belong to the Lord. They live and die in relation to Him. Therefore Christians should aim to please Him.

14:10 Again (see v. 3) Paul addresses the weak and the strong. The weak are not to judge, and the strong are not to show contempt, the same word that is rendered "despise" in v. 3. All believers are accountable to their Master, Jesus Christ, for they will appear before Him. At the judgment seat of Christ, every believer's life will be evaluated to determine his or her reward (see 1 Cor. 3:11-15; 2 Cor. 5:9, 10).

14:11 every knee: One day everyone will submit to God's authority. He will judge all people before His great throne (see Rev. 20:11-15).

14:14 Unclean means "common" and refers to things prohibited by the Jewish ceremonial law. to him: If anyone considers some activity to be unlawful, then it is wrong for that person to engage in that activity (see 14:23).

14:15 Do not destroy: Paul here builds on the principle of conviction with the principle of consideration for the brother who is weak. This is a step in maturity. If eating meat (see v. 2; 1 Cor. 8:7-11; 10:25-28) destroys a weak believer, then the strong believer should not eat it.

14:16 Your good is what you, the believer, consider to be good. Be spoken of as evil means "reviled" or "slandered." <sup>d</sup>do not cause your freedom, a good thing, to be reviled because of the way in which you use it.

14:17 The kingdom of God does not consist of external things like food, but in spiritual realities like righteousness in action and thought, peace that seeks harmony, and joy that comes from the Holy Spirit. Those who understand the spiritual realities of the kingdom will not choose the brief joy of satisfying selfish desires over the spiritual joy of putting aside those desires for the sake of others.

14:19, 20 The believer should edify, that is, "build up." Do not destroy: That is, do not "throw down" or "demolish." Paul has already exhorted mature believers to have consideration for the weak believers (in v. 15). Here Paul exhorts the mature believer to identify ways to build up those weaker in the faith.

14:21 There is little distinction between stumbles, offended, and made weak. Paul uses all three words to reiterate that a mature believer should not cause the downfall of another believer (see vv. 12, 13, 20).

14:22 Paul does not require the strong to abandon their convictions about things not condemned by the law. Instead he encourages them to have faith about such issues. Although mature believers may refrain from eating meat in front of weaker believers, they can still believe that Christ gives them the freedom to eat all types of food (see v. 2) privately before Him (see v. 5).

Bearing Others' Burdens

15 We <sup>a</sup>then who are strong ought to bear with the <sup>1</sup>scruples of the weak, and not to please ourselves. <sup>2b</sup>Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, leading to <sup>2</sup>edification. <sup>3c</sup>For even Christ did not please Himself; but as it is written, <sup>d</sup>“The reproaches of those who reproached You fell on Me.” <sup>4</sup>For <sup>e</sup>whatever things were written before were written for our learning, that we through the <sup>3</sup>patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope. <sup>5f</sup>Now may the God of patience and comfort grant you to be like-minded toward one another, according to Christ Jesus, <sup>6</sup>that you may <sup>g</sup>with one mind and one mouth glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Glorify God Together

“For this reason I will confess to You among the Gentiles, And sing to Your name.”

<sup>10</sup>And again he says:

“Rejoice, O Gentiles, with His people!”

15:3 Christ is the ultimate model for the strong believer. He renounced self-gratification so that He could clearly represent God and His cause (see Phil. 2:5–8).

15:4 Through patience (endurance) and the comfort (or encouragement) of Scripture, believers learn that they have hope. In this case, if strong believers are patient with the scruples of the weak, they have hope of being rewarded (see 14:10; 1 Cor. 9:17, 24–27).

15:5 the God of patience: Attributing to God the same virtues just ascribed to the Scriptures (see v. 4), Paul prays for the unity of all believers.

(Gk. elpis) (15:13; 1 Cor. 9:10) Strong's #1680

The Greek term denotes “confident expectation” or “anticipation,” not “wishful thinking” as in common parlance. The use of the word hope in this context is unusual and ironic, for it suggests that the Gentiles, who knew nothing or little about the Messiah, were anticipating His coming. However, we need only think of Cornelius (Acts 10) to realize that some Gentiles had anticipated the coming of the Jewish Messiah. For Jesus was sent, not only for the salvation of the Jews, but also for the Gentiles. Since God is the Author of our salvation, we can call Him the God of hope for He has given us hope (15:13).

15:7 Therefore introduces the conclusion of the discussion begun in 14:1, where Paul began with the command to receive the weak believer. Thus the command to receive one another is addressed not just to the strong believers, but to all believers.

15:8–13 Jesus Christ became a servant to the Jews for two purposes: (1) to confirm God's promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; and (2) to demonstrate God's mercy to the Gentiles so that they might glorify Him. Paul cites four passages from the OT to prove that God intended the Gentiles as well as the Jews to glorify Him. as it is written: Paul quotes from all three divisions of the OT (the Law, the Prophets, and the Psalms or Writings), and from three great Jewish leaders (Moses, David, and Isaiah), to demonstrate that God's purpose was always to bless the Gentiles through Israel. Although the nation of Israel has been set aside for the present (see 11:1–31), both Jews and Gentiles are being brought together in the church (see 3:1–12; eph. 2:14–22). root of Jesse: This is a title for the Messiah. Jesse was the father of David, and the Son of David was the promised Messiah.

15:16 Ministering means rendering priestly service. Paul pictures himself as a priest offering a sacrifice to God. The sacrifice is Gentile believers who have been made acceptable to God because they have been sanctified, that is, set apart by the Holy Spirit for God's service.

15:19 by performing mighty signs and wonders, Paul demonstrated that God had granted him apostolic power (see 2 Cor. 12:12). Illyricum is roughly modern-day Albania and north, between Greece and Italy.

Jerusalem and round about to Illyricum I have fully preached the gospel of Christ. <sup>20</sup> And so I have made it my aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, <sup>a</sup> lest I should build on another man's foundation, <sup>21</sup> but as it is written:

Sister Phoebe Commended

16 I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a servant of the church in <sup>a</sup> Cenchrea, <sup>2</sup> <sup>b</sup> that you may receive her in the Lord <sup>c</sup> in a manner worthy of the saints, and assist her in whatever business she has need of you; for indeed she has been a helper of many and of myself also.

Greeting Roman Saints

Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who is <sup>f</sup> the firstfruits of <sup>1</sup> Achaia to Christ. <sup>6</sup> Greet Mary, who labored much for us. <sup>7</sup> Greet Andronicus and Junia, my countrymen and my fellow prisoners, who are of note among the <sup>g</sup> apostles, who also <sup>h</sup> were in Christ before me.

15:22 For this reason: Paul's ambition to preach Christ where He was not yet known (vv. 20, 21) had hindered him from going to Rome.

15:25, 26 Paul planned to minister to the believers in Jerusalem by taking the contribution from Macedonia and Achaia (see 1 Cor. 16:1-4; 2 Cor. 8; 9). This money was not only aid from Gentile believers to Jewish believers, but an expression of love that would unify the church even more.

15:28 this fruit: The collection referred to in v. 26. Spain: No one knows for sure whether Paul ever got to Spain, but he had it on his travel itinerary.

15:29 when I come: Paul did get to Rome but not in the time frame or way he had thought. God had a special plan for Paul. The Lord would give him the opportunity to testify of his faith in the emperor's court, but he would do so as a prisoner (see Acts 27; 28).

15:31 Delivered means rescued from serious danger. He had been warned about the danger of a trip to Jerusalem (see Acts 20:22, 23).

15:32 Be refreshed pictures rest and relaxation. Paul anticipated conflict in Jerusalem. He looked forward to a time of refreshment from the believers in Rome.

16:1, 2 Servant is the word used for the office of deacon (Phil. 1:1; 1 Tim. 3:8, 10, 12). The fact that it is used here with the phrase of the church seems to suggest an official position. Helper means "patron" or "benefactor." It implies that Phoebe was a person of wealth and position. Many have suggested that it was she who carried this letter to Rome.

16:3-16 This list of greetings is the longest in any of Paul's letters. Twenty-six people are mentioned, about one-third of them women.

16:3, 4 Priscilla and Aquila worked in the same trade as Paul, tent-making (see Acts 18:1-3), and labored with him in Corinth and ephesus (see Acts 18:1-3, 18, 26). This married couple is never mentioned separately, perhaps because they ministered so effectively together. The NT does not record how or where Priscilla and Aquila risked their own necks for Paul, though it probably happened at ephesus.

16:7 Of note among the apostles as a phrase can mean either that they were well known to the apostles, or that they were distinguished as apostles. It is probable that they were known to the apostles because there is no mention of them in the Gospels or Acts.

16:8-10 Amplias . . . Urbanus . . . Stachys . . . Apelles were common slave names. The same names have been found in lists of slaves who served in the imperial household. Aristobulus was a familiar Greek name. In fact, the family of Herod the Great used the name often. Some have suggested that this Aristobulus was the grandson of Herod the Great and the brother of Agrippa I.

16:11 my countryman: Herodion must have been a Jew, like Paul. Some have suggested that this Narcissus was a famous freedman

Avoid Divisive Persons

<sup>17</sup>Now I urge you, brethren, note those <sup>k</sup>who cause divisions and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which you learned, and <sup>l</sup>avoid them. <sup>18</sup>For those who are such do not serve our Lord <sup>4</sup>Jesus Christ, but <sup>m</sup>their own belly, and <sup>n</sup>by smooth words and flattering speech deceive the hearts of the simple. <sup>19</sup>For <sup>o</sup>your obedience has become known to all. Therefore I am glad on your behalf; but I want you to be <sup>p</sup>wise in what is good, and <sup>5</sup>simple concerning evil. <sup>20</sup>And <sup>q</sup>the God of peace <sup>r</sup>will crush Satan under your feet shortly.

BIBLE TIMES & CULTURE NOTES

New Testament Letters

Paul wrote letters to encourage, warn, and instruct the churches he had founded (the letters to the Corinthians, Galatians, ephesians, Philippians, Thessalonians). He also wrote letters to churches he had not visited (Romans, Colossians), as well as to individuals (Timothy, Titus, Philemon).

The letters written by the apostles and their companions are different from the letters most people would write today. Writing tools and materials were not plentiful, so the authors sought to conserve space when writing. Moreover, the greetings and benedictions in the NT letters are unlike the sort of correspondence we would see now, but they are similar to the introductions and conclusions found in other first-century letters. The NT authors composed their letters in order to solve problems in the church or to communicate the gospel of Jesus Christ to those who needed to hear about it.

16:12 Tryphena and Tryphosa are generally considered sisters. 16:13 Though a common name, this Rufus is often identified with the one in Mark 15:21. Since chosen in the Lord is true of all believers, many interpret this phrase to mean “outstanding” or “eminent.” but it is possible that just as some believers demonstrate God’s love and others reflect God’s justice, so Rufus was an exceptional example of God’s election.

16:16 holy kiss This kiss on the cheek was practiced by the early ### revelation

(Gk. apokalypsis) (16:25; eph. 1:17; 3:3; Rev. 1:1) Strong’s #602

Revelation is God’s communication to people concerning Himself, His moral standards, and His plan of salvation. God has made Himself known to all people everywhere in the marvels of nature and in the human conscience, which is able to distinguish right from wrong (1:18–20; 2:14, 15). The message of salvation was seen dimly through OT sacrifices and ceremonies, but the full and final revelation of God has occurred in Jesus Christ (Heb. 1:1, 2). At the Cross, Jesus revealed supremely God’s self-giving love (Rom. 5:8). The good news is not complete until we hear that He rose again triumphantly over sin, Satan, and the grave, and is alive forevermore. The content of God’s special revelation concerning salvation is found in “the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of . . . the apostles of the Lord and Savior” (2 Pet. 3:2).

church as a symbol of the love and unity among the early Christians (see 1 Cor. 16:20; 2 Cor. 13:12; 1 Thess. 5:26; 1 Pet. 5:14).

16:17 Cause divisions means “to stand apart” or “to cause dissension.” In the NT it occurs only here and in Gal. 5:20. Strife and rivalry cause dissension, which eventually leads to divisions in a church (see 13:13; Gal. 5:20). Such dissension causes offenses—that is, it becomes a snare or stumbling block to others (see 14:13 where this word occurs). Contentious, divisive people can cause others to stumble, so they should be avoided. Paul teaches this type of church discipline in his other letters (see 1 Cor. 5:9–13; 2 Thess. 3:6; 2 Tim. 3:5; Titus 3:10).

16:20 divisive people destroy the peace and unity of the church, but God, who is the source of peace, will crush this work of Satan through the wisdom and obedience of believers. Ultimately, God will totally defeat Satan and bring peace to the whole church. Paul closes with his customary prayer that the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ would be with them.

16:21 Timothy worked with Paul and later received two letters from him. Some think Lucius here is Luke, the author of the third Gospel and Acts, but Paul includes this Luke among his countrymen, meaning he was a Jew. Luke the author was a Gentile. Jason is mentioned in Acts as Paul’s host on his first journey to Thessalonica (see Acts 17:5, 7, 9). Sosipater is likely the same person referred to in Acts 20:4.

16:22 Paul, the author of Romans, dictated the letter to a secretary named Tertius, who actually wrote the words. Tertius here sends his greetings to the Romans.

16:23 Gaius of Corinth (see 1 Cor. 1:14) not only gave Paul lodging, but also offered his house as a meeting place for the church. In Acts 19:22 a man named Erastus was sent by Paul to Macedonia. This may have been the same man.

16:25 The word establish is only used twice in Romans. At the beginning of the book, Paul expresses a desire to visit the Romans that he might impart some spiritual gift to them so that they would be “established” (see 1:11). Now he praises God who is able to do it. God used the gospel, which is the preaching of Jesus Christ, to establish the Roman believers. Paul speaks of his message as a mystery (see 11:25) because God’s complete plan of salvation was at first hidden but now was being revealed. The revealed mystery is that the church will consist of both Jews and Gentiles united in the one body of Christ (see eph. 3:1–13).

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS

THE CHURCH AT CORINTH was a seriously troubled church. Infected with sexual immorality, split by factions that dragged each other into court, and crippled by abuse of the spiritual gifts, this church was in need of radical spiritual surgery. Though true believers, the Corinthians had a lot of growing up to do. They had to stop following the immoral, selfish, and contentious ways of their pagan neighbors in Corinth, the notoriously immoral city of that day. One can sense the disappointment of a hurt father in Paul's stern words for the Corinthians. Yet Paul, like a surgeon, diagnosed the problem and aimed his efforts straight at the source: pride and a lack of true love in the church.

Author and Date First Corinthians twice names the apostle Paul as its writer (1:1; 16:21). Paul's authorship of 1 Corinthians is almost unanimously accepted throughout biblical scholarship. One of the earliest witnesses to Paul's authorship of the book was Clement of Rome (c. A.D. 95).

Most likely Paul wrote the letter while he was ministering at Ephesus during his third missionary journey. In 16:8, Paul said that he would remain in Ephesus until Pentecost. This, coupled with Acts 20:31, indicates that he wrote it in the last year of his three-year stay in Ephesus, sometime in the spring of A.D. 56. The Corinthian church would have been about four years old at that time.

Historical Setting Corinth was an important city in ancient Greece. Geographically, it was an ideal hub for commerce between Italy and Asia. Along with the flow of merchandise, Corinth received travelers from both east and west, creating ethnic diversity among the city's inhabitants. Although Corinth was ransacked by the Romans in 146 B.C., it was rebuilt by Julius Caesar in 46 B.C. Roman control of Corinth allowed them to dominate east-west commerce as well as the Isthmian Games (9:24–27), which were surpassed in importance only by the celebrated Olympic Games.

Corinth's commercial success was rivaled only by its decadence. The immorality of Corinth was so well known that Aristophanes coined the Greek verb korinthiazomai (meaning "to act like a Corinthian") as a synonym for sexual immorality. Greek plays of the day often depicted Corinthians as drunkards and reprobates. The Corinthians drew attention to their lewdness through their worship of Aphrodite, the goddess of love and beauty. Yet Corinth was also a strategic location for the propagation of the gospel. The city's corrupt nature made for a unique opportunity to display to the Roman world the transforming power of Jesus Christ.

Acts 18:1–18 records the founding of the Corinthian church. Paul visited Corinth on his second missionary journey, after leaving Athens. This initial visit probably occurred in the fall of A.D. 52. Paul, Silas, Timothy, and Luke had left Troas for Macedonia about eight months earlier and had started churches in Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea. Luke remained at Philippi and Silas and Timothy at Thessalonica, while Paul journeyed on to Athens. Paul's ministry at Athens proved disappointing, perhaps leaving him discouraged as he entered Corinth, where he made tents during the week and preached in the synagogue on the Sabbath. After the Jews of Corinth rejected Paul's message, he began to reach out to the Gentiles. He ministered in Corinth for 18 months, eventually establishing a church. This church, like the city, had a mixture of nationalities. Though some Jews had been converted, most of the believers were Gentiles (12:2).

While the Corinthian church reflected the city's multinational character, it also mirrored some of Corinth's immorality. The sharp tone of 1 Corinthians results from Paul's urgent desire to get the church back on course.

Purpose First Corinthians is a reply to two letters. Paul had left the Corinthian church under the leadership of Aquila and Priscilla in the spring of A.D. 53 to continue his second missionary journey. On his third journey, during his stay at ephesus, he received two letters from the Corinthian believers. One was a disturbing report from the household of Chloe (1:11). The report detailed the divisions and immorality in the church. These problems arose because the young Corinthian church had failed to protect itself from the decadent culture of the city. The immaturity of the Corinthians had given way to sectarian divisions. The believers were identifying themselves as followers of specific Christian leaders rather than as followers of Christ (3:1–9). They were also dragging each other into court (6:1). Their desire to sue each other rather than settle their disputes within the church betrayed their immaturity and misplaced trust in human wisdom. Sexual immorality had become a problem in the church in spite of a previous letter (that has not been preserved) in which Paul warned against it (5:9–11).

The second letter Paul received was a set of questions that Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus had brought from Corinth (16:15–18). The detailed questions were about marriage and singleness (7:1–40) and Christian liberty (8:1–11:1).

Paul wrote 1 Corinthians to answer both letters and to give some additional instructions. He taught about decorum in worship services (11:2–16), the solemnity of the Lord's Supper (11:17–34), and the place of spiritual gifts. Though the Corinthians were very gifted, in their immaturity and pride they had abused their gifts. Paul reminded the Corinthians that gifts come from God (12:11) and are to unify and edify the church (12:24, 25; 14:1–4). In conclusion, Paul corrected a doctrinal matter by writing the New Testament's most detailed explanation of the resurrection of Christ and Christians (15:1–58), even though the church was riddled with problems, Paul ended his confrontational letter with a note of hope. The Corinthians could have victory over sin and death because Jesus in His death and resurrection had already decisively obtained it (15:57).

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

In this letter Paul proclaims the relevance of Christ Jesus to every area of the believer's life. In the writer's words, Jesus "became for us wisdom from God—and righteousness and sanctification and redemption" (1:30). Paul goes on to assert (much as Luke did in the book of Acts) that Jesus is living out His life in the world through the church. According to Paul, we are the body of Christ with individual gifts. As we discover our gifts and invest them in mutual ministry, Jesus continues to touch the world for which He died (12:1–31).

Corinth in the Time of Paul

The city of Corinth, perched astride the narrow isthmus connecting the Greek mainland with the Peloponnese, was one of the dominant commercial centers of the Mediterranean world as early as the eighth century B.C.

No city in Greece was more favorably situated for land and sea trade. With a high, strong citadel at its back, it lay between the Saronic Gulf and the Ionian Sea, with ports at Lechaion and Cenchrea. A diolkos, or stone road for the overland transport of ships and/or offloaded cargo, linked the two seas. Crowning the Acrocorinth was the temple of Aphrodite, served at an earlier time, according to Strabo, by more than 1,000 pagan priestess-prostitutes.

by the time the gospel reached Corinth in the spring of A.D. 52, the city had a proud history of leadership in the Achaian League, and a spirit of revived Hellenism under Roman domination after 44 B.C., following the destruction of the city by Mummius in 146 B.C.

Paul's lengthy stay in Corinth brought him directly in contact with the major monuments of the agora, many of which still survive. The fountain-house of the spring Peirene, the temple of Apollo, the macellum (or meat market; 1 Cor. 10:25), the theater, and the bema (Acts 18:12) all played a part in the experience of the apostle. An inscription from the theater names the city official erastus, probably the friend of Paul mentioned in Rom. 16:23.

Corinth

The Corinth which Paul knew had been founded as a Roman colony during the century before Christ. It was strategically located in the Roman province of Achaia on a narrow strip of land between the Aegean Sea and the Adriatic Sea, with two adjoining ports. Corinth's location made it a center for trade routes passing from east to west, and the resulting prosperity brought both luxury and immorality. "To live like a Corinthian" meant to live in gross immorality, and many pagan temples located in Corinth encouraged this licentious way of life through temple prostitution. The letters Paul wrote to the believers in this city reveal the problems, pressures, and struggles of a church called out of a pagan society. Paul had founded the church in Corinth during an 18-month stay in the city (A.D. 51–52; see Acts 18:1–18).

Sectarianism Is Sin

1:1–3 Paul's words of introduction are more than simple words of greeting. The first few verses introduce the themes of his letter. Thus in his greeting, Paul introduces his apostolic authority (see 9:1–27), the sanctification of his readers (see 1:5–8), and the unity of all believers (see 1:10–17), all major themes of the letter and concerns for the Corinthian believers.

1:1 through the will of God: The Corinthian church greatly valued human wisdom. This misplaced emphasis had caused some in the church to challenge Paul's authority (v. 12; 9:1, 2). They forgot that Jesus Christ Himself had called him to his ministry as an apostle of Jesus Christ (see 2 Cor. 1:1, where Paul uses the same title).

1:2 A local church of God is a group of people who identify themselves with God and gather together to worship and serve Him. sanctified in Christ Jesus: The Corinthians' holiness came from their position in Christ, not from their own goodness. The tense of the verb sanctified indicates that God had sanctified the Corinthians at a specific time in the past, producing a condition that they still enjoyed in the present. called to be saints: The work of Jesus Christ makes a believer holy forever in God's eyes. but in everyday living, sanctification involves small, daily changes (see Heb. 10:14). This is why Paul could call the Corinthian believers to become saints, even though the problems in their church testified that they were far from the goal of holiness. In every place is most likely a reference to local churches throughout the Roman empire (see 1 Tim. 2:8).

1:4–9 The thanksgiving Paul offers to God for the Corinthians seems odd, considering the many problems the church was experiencing. However, Paul focuses his praise not on the troubled Corinthians but on the eternally faithful God. Paul does not praise the Corinthians for their good works as he does some other churches (see eph. 1:15); instead, he praises God who works in them. When we focus on people's faults, hope soon wanes and discouragement follows. but when we concentrate on the Lord, even the darkest hours can be filled with praise.

1:5 Enriched means that the Corinthians had been spiritually destitute but had become abundantly prosperous through God's grace.

1:7 Gift here is probably a reference to the spiritual gifts described in chs. 12–14. despite the Corinthians' boasting, their many gifts had come from God (12:11, 18, 28). The Corinthians were richly blessed with spiritual gifts because God was giving them everything they needed to do His will (12:14–27).

1:8, 9 because God is faithful to His word, Paul was confident that even the sin-plagued Corinthians would stand blameless before Him. This blamelessness does not refer to the Corinthians' works, but to their standing in Christ, their justification (3:14, 15).

1:10 Paul pleaded for an outward expression that comes from an

the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>9</sup>that you all <sup>4</sup>speak the same thing, and that there be no <sup>5</sup>divisions among you, but that you be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment. <sup>11</sup>For it has been declared to me concerning you, my brethren, by those of Chloe's household, that there are <sup>6</sup>contentions among you. <sup>12</sup>Now I say this, that <sup>r</sup>each of you says, "I am of Paul," or "I am of <sup>s</sup>Apollos," or "I am of <sup>t</sup>Cephas," or "I am of Christ." <sup>13</sup><sup>u</sup>Is Christ divided?

inward spirit. Not only did Paul encourage the Corinthians to speak the same thing and have external unity, he also urged them to be joined together in a unity of hearts and minds (see eph. 4:14–16). 1:11 Paul avoided dealing in rumors or secrecy; he openly named his sources: Chloe's household. We know little of this woman and her household except what this verse implies. Chloe lived in Corinth or ephesus, and the Corinthians respected her word.

1:14–16 Paul said I thank God that I baptized none of you, because the Corinthians had taken to identifying with their spiritual mentors rather than Christ. Crispus was the ruler of the synagogue in Corinth when Paul began to preach there (see Acts 18:8). He was instrumental in the conversion of many other Corinthians. Gaius may be the same person who hosted Paul and the entire church (Rom. 16:23). Stephanas was one of Paul's first converts in Achaia, the region of which Corinth was capital. Paul praised him and his household for their devotion to the ministry and for their assistance (16:15). Stephanas was one of the couriers who took correspondence to and from Corinth.

1:17 Paul's primary ministry was to preach the gospel. baptism naturally followed conversion but was secondary in importance. With the phrase not with wisdom of words, Paul addressed the Corinthians' tendency to place undue emphasis on human wisdom. The immature Corinthians were so impressed by clever oratory and learned debate that many of them ignored the relatively "simple" message of the cross.

fellowship

(Gk. koinōnia) (1:9; Acts 2:42; Phil. 2:1; 1 John 1:3, 6, 7) Strong's #2842

The Greek term means "that which is shared in common." In the NT the word was used to denote the believers' common participation in the Triune God—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The Father and Son have enjoyed communion with each other before the creation of the world. When the Son entered into time, His fellowship with the Father also entered into time. during the days of His ministry, Jesus was introducing the Father to the disciples and initiating them into this fellowship. Then once the disciples were regenerated unto eternal life, they actually entered into fellowship with the Father and the Son. Thus the unique fellowship between the Father and the Son begun in eternity was manifested in time through the incarnation of the Son, was introduced to the apostles, and then through the apostles was extended to each and every believer through the indwelling of the Holy Spirit (2 Cor. 13:14; Phil. 2:1).

The Message, Not the Messenger

One of the main problems facing the first-century Corinthian church was division. When Paul wrote to Corinth, the church was divided into at least four factions, each of them aligned with one of four prominent Christian leaders. One group identified itself with the apostle Paul. The members of this faction may have been attracted by Paul's emphasis on his ministry to the Gentiles. A second group identified itself with Apollos, one of Paul's fellow missionaries. He may have attracted a following because of his eloquent speaking abilities (see Acts 18:24–28). A third group identified itself with Cephas, another name for the apostle Peter. This group may have been mostly of Jewish background. A fourth group identified itself specifically with Christ. While on the surface it might seem that this group was the "godly" contingent of the Corinthian church, this may not have been the case. Paul does not commend any of the groups, not even the "I am of Christ" faction, suggesting that all of their professed allegiances were causing division and dissension in that church.

Paul uses three rhetorical questions, each expecting a negative response, to show the absurdity of the Corinthian divisions. "Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul?" Paul pointed out that in the act of baptism, a person identifies himself or herself with Christ, period. baptism does not align the believer with any human leader or with any faction of Christianity, but with the Lord Himself. The Corinthians, who prided themselves on their wisdom and understanding, had misconstrued this truth. They had begun to identify themselves with the men who had performed the baptisms rather than with Jesus Himself.

We might be tempted to write off this problem, attributing it to "those silly, immature Corinthians," if it were not for the fact that the tendency to exalt dynamic leaders is still prevalent today. Witty, engaging Christian speakers and vibrant, charismatic spiritual leaders still have the power to mesmerize and motivate believers today. And there is nothing inherently wrong with such power. The danger comes when the speaker or leader, and not the message, becomes the focus of attention.

Christian speakers and leaders are merely vessels through whom God's Word is communicated. exalting them instead of the message they proclaim is a misunderstanding of their purpose. Put simply, it's the message, not the messenger.

As believers today, we must guard ourselves against identifying too closely with human leaders or placing too much emphasis on them. Our loyalty and identification belong only to Jesus Christ and His message.

Christ the Power and Wisdom of God

<sup>18</sup>For the <sup>7</sup>message of the cross is <sup>a</sup>foolishness to <sup>b</sup>those who are perishing, but to us <sup>c</sup>who are being saved it is the <sup>d</sup>power of God. <sup>19</sup>For it is written:

*“I will destroy the wisdom of the wise,
And bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent.”*

<sup>20</sup>Where is the wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the <sup>8</sup>disputer of this age? <sup>9</sup>Has not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? <sup>21</sup>For since, in the <sup>h</sup>wisdom of God, the world through wisdom did not know God, it pleased God through the foolishness of the message preached to save those who believe. <sup>22</sup>For <sup>i</sup>Jews request a sign, and Greeks seek after wisdom; <sup>23</sup>but we preach Christ crucified, <sup>j</sup>to the Jews a <sup>9</sup>stumbling block and to the <sup>l</sup>Greeks <sup>k</sup>foolishness, <sup>24</sup>but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ <sup>l</sup>the power of God and <sup>m</sup>the wisdom of God. <sup>25</sup>Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

Spiritual Wisdom

1:18 The message of the cross is the gospel, the Good News about Christ’s death and resurrection for our sins. The gospel penetrates to the core of self-centeredness. For those who exalt self, the message sounds absurd. But for those who bow humbly in faith, it becomes the power that is able to snatch them from death and impart eternal life. No wonder Paul put such confidence in this message (see Rom. 1:16).

1:20, 21 The wise is probably a reference to Greek philosophers. The scribe is a technical term for a Jewish scholar trained to handle details of the Law. The disputer refers to a Greek person, especially one trained in rhetoric. These professionals tried to solve every problem with logic and debate. The point of this passage is that all human efforts to find favor with God fall woefully short (see Rom. 3:9–28). Only through faith in Christ can we be saved from our sins.

1:22, 23 The Jews sought miraculous signs from the Messiah to signal the beginning of the deliverance God had promised (see Mark 8:11; John 6:30). The Greeks, especially the philosophers, sought to use wisdom to answer their questions about God and life. To the Jews, who expected a political savior, Jesus was a stumbling block. To the Greeks, whose self-centered wisdom could not make sense of the cross, to believe in Jesus was foolishness.

1:26 Wise refers to the Greek philosophers. Mighty refers to influential, politically powerful people. Noble includes all the aristocratic upper classes. Most of the Corinthians came from the lower classes.

1:27 God’s plan of salvation does not conform to the world’s priorities. In fact, it seems foolish. Yet in reality, eternal salvation is more valuable than all the fame, wealth, and success pursued by the world.

1:28 base . . . despised: Paul’s use of these two terms for the slave class would capture the attention of his readers in Corinth, where many slaves lived. the things which are not: No doubt many of the Corinthian believers were people who did not count in the eyes of the world but had found grace in God’s eyes.

1:29–31 God uses what is considered foolish and despised in this world to reveal His truth, so that He alone will receive the glory. Otherwise, the powerful would boast that they had found the truth. Instead, God sent His Son to become a humble carpenter and to die in the most despicable way, on a cross. Jesus’ life and death reveals God and His wisdom. Since Christ not only imparts wisdom but also righteousness, the Christian cannot boast, except in the Lord. 2:1, 2 excellence of speech or of wisdom: Paul did not rely on his eloquence or on Greek wisdom to convince his listeners. Instead, he gave the testimony of God which had not been explained before, but which was being revealed by the Holy Spirit (vv. 10–14). The focal point of Paul’s preaching was Jesus Christ.

2:3–5 Whereas the Corinthians gloried in their strength, their wealth, and their gifts, Christ was glorified in His humility and death. Paul wanted to model Christ’s humility by presenting his “weaknesses.” Then the “strength” of the gospel message could be clearly seen. My speech probably refers to the way Paul spoke; my preaching probably refers to the content of his message. not with persuasive words . . . but in demonstration of the Spirit: even though Paul had many strengths of his own (see Phil. 3:4–9), he wanted to be counted among those who relied on God’s strength. Rather than using the rhetoric of the day to win converts, he gave a straightforward message. power of God: Miraculous signs had sometimes accompanied Paul’s preaching (see 2 Cor. 12:12; 1 Thess. 1:5; Heb. 2:3, 4). Such signs were intended to magnify God, not the human speaker.

2:6 among those who are mature: After having heard eloquent addresses by men like Apollos, the Corinthians may have viewed Paul’s message as elementary or unpolished. Paul assured the Codom of this age, nor of the rulers of this age, who are coming to nothing. <sup>7</sup>But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, the hidden wisdom which God <sup>3</sup>ordained before the ages for our glory, <sup>8</sup>which none of the rulers of this age knew; for <sup>9</sup>had they known, they would not have <sup>h</sup>crucified the Lord of glory.

<sup>9</sup>But as it is written:

i“Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, Nor have entered into the heart of man
The things which God has prepared for those who love Him.”

<sup>13</sup>These things we also speak, not in words which man’s wisdom teaches but which the <sup>4</sup>Holy Spirit teaches, comparing spiritual things with spiritual. <sup>14</sup><sup>n</sup>But the natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; nor can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. <sup>15</sup>But he who is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is rightly judged by no one. <sup>16</sup>For <sup>o</sup>“who has known the mind of the Lord that he may instruct Him?” <sup>p</sup>But we have the mind of Christ.

Sectarianism Is Carnal

3 And I, brethren, could not speak to you as to spiritual people but as to carnal, as to <sup>a</sup>babes in Christ. <sup>2</sup>I fed you with <sup>b</sup>milk and not with solid food; <sup>c</sup>for until now you were not able to receive it, and even now you are still not able; <sup>3</sup>for you are still carnal. For where there are envy, strife, and divisions among you, are you not carnal and <sup>1</sup>behaving like mere men? <sup>4</sup>For when one says, “I am of Paul,” and another, “I am of Apollos,” are you not carnal?

Watering, Working, Warning

rinthians that he was imparting wisdom—instruction that mature Christians would appreciate. rulers of this age: In some passages Paul used the word rulers to refer to spiritual beings (see eph. 6:12; Col. 2:15); here he referred to earthly rulers, the Roman and Jewish leaders who presided over Jesus’ crucifixion. If these rulers had been among the wise, they would have worshiped the Lord instead of crucifying Him. coming to nothing: People look at beauty, wealth, and power as greatly desirable. but all earthly splendor will be rendered meaningless and worthless by death and the coming of God’s judgment (Luke 16:19–29; 2 Pet. 3:10–13).

2:7 The mystery that Paul referred to here is defined in Rom. 16:25, 26 as “revelation . . . kept secret since the world began but now made manifest.” The message was hidden, known only to God, until He chose to reveal it (see eph. 3:1–11). This is in contrast to the teachings of the Gnostics, a group of false religious teachers who would infiltrate the early church (see 1 John 2:18–27). They claimed that there existed a body of secret knowledge that was only available to those initiated into an inner circle of spiritual teachers.

2:8 Lord of glory: Though Jesus emptied Himself of His majesty when He became human, He remained fully equal with the Father. 2:9–12 through His Spirit: Only the Holy Spirit could reveal the truths of God (see 2 Pet. 1:19–21). knows . . . know: The first verb refers to innate knowledge; the second refers to experiential knowledge. We could never have discovered the mysteries of God or the benefits of Christ’s death by ourselves. but we can know them by experience because they have been freely given to us by God.

2:13 the Holy Spirit teaches: Paul emphasized that the intellectuals of this world could not teach the knowledge he was giving to the Corinthian believers. Note that the Spirit did not simply dictate words to Paul and the other apostles; He taught them. The apostles related with their own vocabulary and style what they had learned from the Spirit. comparing spiritual things with spiritual: These words are difficult to translate and interpret. The Greek term translated comparing may also mean “to combine” or “to interpret.” The two references to spiritual may mean interpreting spiritual truths to spiritual persons, or else combining spiritual truths with spiritual words. The latter seems better. In other words, the phrase teaches that the spiritual truths of God are combined with the spiritual vocabulary of the apostles (see 2 Pet. 1:20, 21; 2 Tim. 3:16).

2:14 natural man: The natural person does not have the Spirit of God, in contrast to the Christian who does have the Spirit (15:44–46).

Receive here means “to welcome.” This verb does not pertain to discovering the meaning of a passage, but applying the meaning to life.

3:1 the carnal person is not the same as the “natural man” mentioned in 2:14. A carnal person is a spiritually immature Christian, a spiritual infant.

3:2 fed . . . milk: Paul did not expect the Corinthians to be mature in Christ at the time of their conversion. by placing their faith in Christ, they had been justified. They had been united with Him and His death on the Cross (Rom. 6:3–5), and the Spirit of God had come to live in them (2:12; Rom. 8:9). They were considered righteous before God because of Jesus’ righteousness. Thus when Paul first established the church at Corinth he taught them as new converts, as those justified. Yet he expected them to grow in their faith—that is, become sanctified. The behavior of the Christians in Corinth should have begun to line up with their righteous position in Christ.

3:3, 4 for you are still carnal: An immature Christian naturally lacks many Christian traits, but no one should expect this condition to last. Paul was surprised that the Corinthians had not yet grown into spiritual maturity or become able to distinguish between good and evil (see Heb. 5:14).

3:5–10 Paul had planted, or started, the church in Corinth; Apollos had watered it—had a significant ministry there after Paul left. but both men were only servants through whom God worked. The ones who plant and water have nothing to boast about because God gives the increase: Only God draws unbelievers to Himself. It is our responsibility to do our job no matter what the results, for God will reward us for our efforts and the quality of our work (see 9:24–27).

one, <sup>i</sup>and each one will receive his own reward according to his own labor.

<sup>9</sup>For <sup>j</sup>we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, you are <sup>k</sup>God's building. <sup>10</sup><sup>l</sup>According to the grace of God which was given to me, as a wise master builder I have laid <sup>m</sup>the foundation, and another builds on it. But let each one take heed how he builds on it. <sup>11</sup>For no other foundation can anyone lay than <sup>n</sup>that which is laid, <sup>o</sup>which is Jesus Christ. <sup>12</sup>Now if anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, <sup>13</sup>each one's work will become clear; for the Day <sup>p</sup>will declare it, because <sup>q</sup>it will be revealed by fire; and the fire will test each one's work, of what sort it is. <sup>14</sup>If anyone's work which he has built on it endures, he will receive a reward. <sup>15</sup>If anyone's work is burned, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet so as through fire.

<sup>16</sup>Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you? <sup>17</sup>If anyone <sup>2</sup>defiles the temple of God, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, which temple you are.

age, let him become a fool that he may become wise. <sup>19</sup>For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, <sup>t</sup>“He catches the wise in their own craftiness”; <sup>20</sup>and again, <sup>u</sup>“The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile.” <sup>21</sup>Therefore let no one boast in men. For <sup>v</sup>all things are yours: <sup>22</sup>whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas, or the world or life or death, or things present or things to come—all are yours. <sup>23</sup>And <sup>w</sup>you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

Stewards of the Mysteries of God

4 Let a man so consider us, as <sup>a</sup>servants of Christ <sup>b</sup>and stewards of the mysteries of God. <sup>2</sup>Moreover it is required in stewards that one be found faithful. <sup>3</sup>But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by a human <sup>1</sup>court. In fact, I do not even judge myself. <sup>4</sup>For I know of nothing against myself, yet I am not justified by this; but He who judges me is the Lord. <sup>5</sup><sup>c</sup>Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord comes, who will both bring to <sup>d</sup>light the hidden things of darkness and <sup>e</sup>reveal the <sup>2</sup>counsels of the hearts. <sup>f</sup>Then each one's praise will come from God.

3:11–15 Paul had established the church at Corinth on the foundation of Christ. gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw: These building materials refer to the quality of work done by the Corinthians, and possibly also to their motivations or the kinds of doctrines they taught. The Day speaks of the time when Christ will judge the merits of His servants' work (see 2 Cor. 5:10), not whether they receive forgiveness of sin. Likewise, fire does not refer to the “eternal fire” of damnation (see Rev. 20:10) but to the evaluation of believers' works (see Rev. 2:18, 19; 3:18; 22:12). Fire proves the quality of gold, but it consumes wood, hay, and stubble. Some “good work” is actually self-centered aggrandizement. The true value of such “service” will become obvious to all in the day of God's judgment (see Rev. 3:17, 18).

3:16, 17 Do you not know: This phrase, found in nine other places

futile

(Gk. mataios) (3:20; 15:17; Titus 3:9; James 1:26) Strong's #3152

This word means “pointless” and “purposeless.” The NT writers, especially Paul, used it to depict the meaninglessness that pervades the thought life of fallen human beings. Paul characterizes the “thoughts of the wise” as being futile (3:20), and he describes the Gentiles as living “in the futility of their minds, having their understanding darkened” because they are “alienated from the life of God” (eph. 4:17, 18). The ideas of the unregenerate are futile and aimless because they lack divine insight; they produce a life of purposelessness and ineffectiveness. Salvation from such futility comes from the indwelling Spirit of Christ in believers (see Rom. 8:10, 11, 26, 27).

in 1 Corinthians (5:6; 6:2, 3, 9, 15, 16, 19; 9:13, 24), always introduces an indisputable statement. temple: There are two words translated temple in the NT. One refers to the temple building and all its courts; the other refers strictly to the Most Holy Place where no one but the high priest could go. Paul uses the latter term to describe the local church, in whom God dwells. Unlike 6:19, where the word temple refers to the individual believer, and eph. 2:21, where the word speaks of the church universal, these verses speak of the local church as God's temple. God takes very seriously our actions in the church. destroy: Any person who disrupts and destroys the church by divisions, malice, and other harmful acts invites God's discipline (see 11:30–32).

3:18–23 The wisdom of this world does not coincide with God's wisdom, the foolishness of Christ crucified (see 1:18–25). Paul quotes from Job 5:13 and Ps. 94:11 to urge the members of the Corinthian church to humble themselves. all things are yours: The Stoic literature of the time, which the Corinthians would have known, often spoke of the wise man as possessing everything, everything God has done in the church, and in the entire universe, benefits all believers. There is no place for foolish boasting or competition among Christians.

4:1 Servants had no unique position, but stewards did. A steward was a slave who administered all the affairs of his master's household, though he himself owned nothing (compare the testimony of the early church in Acts 4:32). Joseph held such a position in the house of Potiphar (see Gen. 39:2–19). As stewards, believers manage the message and ministry God has entrusted to them.

4:3–5 each one's praise will come from God: A steward was not to worry about the evaluations of those around him or even his own self-assessment; he needed only to please his master. Similarly, while believers can benefit from the constructive evaluations of fellow believers, their ultimate Judge is the Lord Himself. Since God is the Judge, we should be careful not to make any premature evaluations of others.

Fools for Christ's Sake

<sup>6</sup>Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively transferred to myself and Apollos for your sakes, that you may learn in us not to think beyond what is written, that none of you may be <sup>3</sup>puffed up on behalf of one against the other. <sup>7</sup>For who <sup>4</sup>makes you differ from another? And <sup>8</sup>what do you have that you did not receive? Now if you did indeed receive it, why do you boast as if you had not received it?

<sup>8</sup>You are already full! <sup>h</sup>You are already rich! You have reigned as kings without us—and indeed I could wish you did reign, that we also might reign with you! <sup>9</sup>For I think that God has displayed us, the apostles, last, as men condemned to death; for we have been made a <sup>i</sup>spectacle<sup>5</sup> to the world, both to angels and to men. <sup>10</sup>We are <sup>j</sup>fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ! <sup>k</sup>We are weak, but you are strong! You are distinguished, but we are dishonored! <sup>11</sup>To the present hour we both hunger and thirst, and we are poorly clothed, and beaten, and homeless. <sup>12</sup><sup>l</sup>And we labor, working with our own hands. <sup>m</sup>Being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we endure; <sup>13</sup>being defamed, we <sup>6</sup>entreat. <sup>n</sup>We have been made as the filth of the world, the offscouring of all things until now.

thousand instructors in Christ, yet you do not have many fathers; for <sup>p</sup>in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel. <sup>16</sup>Therefore I urge you, <sup>q</sup>imitate me. <sup>17</sup>For this reason I have sent <sup>r</sup>Timothy to you, <sup>s</sup>who is my beloved and faithful son in the Lord, who will <sup>t</sup>remind you of my ways in Christ, as I <sup>u</sup>teach everywhere <sup>v</sup>in every church.

Immorality Defiles the Church

4:6 The Greek term translated learn is related to the word translated disciple in Matt. 28:19. It implies the use of a skill and not just knowledge. The Corinthians knew about humility, so Paul called on them to become humble. Greeks considered humility to be a fault, a characteristic of slaves. To the Christian, however, it exemplifies the attitude of Christ (see Phil. 2:5-8). in us: Paul presented himself and Apollos as models to follow (v. 16; 11:1). what is written: This word is often used to introduce a quotation of the OT (see Rom. 14:11). Paul was exhorting the Corinthians not to go beyond the teachings of Scripture. Then they would avoid the pride and divisions that were fracturing their church. A true minister of God's Word will use Scripture to unify and strengthen the church.

4:9 Spectacle alludes to the public executions carried out by the Romans. In these executions condemned men were brought into the coliseum, where they were tormented and killed by wild animals as cheering crowds looked on. Paul pointed out that the whole world and the angels were witnesses to the humiliation of God's servants. With biting sarcasm Paul contrasted the Corinthians' lofty evaluation of themselves with the world's evaluation of him. Paul knew that true strength is found in understanding our weakness and Christ's sufficiency (see 2 Cor. 12:7-10; Phil. 4:11-13).

4:11-13 Paul lists the hardships he had suffered in Christ's ministry, both physical challenges and verbal abuse (see also 2 Cor. 11:22-30).

4:15 instructors . . . fathers: Paul used these two terms to differentiate between his role and the role of the Corinthian teachers, slaves who took care of their masters' children. Paul was the Corinthians' spiritual father. He had final responsibility for them and the right to command them to follow his example.

4:16 Paul urged his readers to imitate him as he followed Christ (see 11:1). The word refers to the way a student would follow a teacher or the way an actor would play a role (see 11:1).

4:18-20 Some people in Corinth, probably the instructors who had caused divisions (see v. 15), acted as though Paul would never return to hold them accountable for their actions. puffed up: These people were conceited and prone to boasting. The kingdom of God here does not refer to the future reign of Christ, but to Christ's present rule in the hearts of His people. This reality guaranteed that Paul would have the power to expose and discipline those who afflicted the Corinthian church.

4:21 Paul uses the same Greek word for rod here that Luke uses to describe the instrument that was used to beat Paul and Silas (see Acts 16:22-24). The term also is used figuratively of Christ's authority to judge (see Rev. 19:15). God had given Paul authority to punish the agitators in Corinth, though he preferred not to use that power.

5:1 The sexual immorality of incest was forbidden by OT law (see Lev. 18:8; deut. 22:30) and by Roman law. Paul used the phrase his father's wife instead of "his mother" probably to indicate that the woman was the offender's stepmother. The omission of discipline for the woman implies that she was not a believer. The church is responsible for disciplining only its members, not unbelievers.

5:2 puffed up: The Corinthians had a twisted view of grace that caused them to be proud of their tolerance of the sexual offender. They believed that because God's grace is limitless, the freedom that every Christian enjoys is also limitless.

Christ, <sup>5g</sup> deliver such a one to <sup>h</sup> Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord <sup>3</sup> Jesus.

Immorality Must Be Judged

<sup>9</sup> I wrote to you in my epistle <sup>p</sup> not to <sup>6</sup> keep company with sexually immoral people. <sup>10</sup> Yet I certainly did not mean with the sexually immoral people of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or idolaters, since then you would need to go <sup>q</sup> out of the world. <sup>11</sup> But now I have written to you not to keep company <sup>r</sup> with anyone named a brother, who is sexually immoral, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner—<sup>s</sup> not even to eat with such a person.

Do Not Sue the Brethren

6 Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unrighteous, and not before the <sup>a</sup> saints? <sup>2</sup> Do you not know that <sup>b</sup> the saints will judge the world? And if the world will be judged by you, are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters? <sup>3</sup> Do you not know that we shall <sup>c</sup> judge angels? How much more, things that pertain to this life? <sup>4</sup> If then you have <sup>1</sup> judgments concerning things pertaining to this life, do you appoint those who are least esteemed by the church to judge? <sup>5</sup> I say this to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you, not even one, who will be able to judge between his brethren? <sup>6</sup> But brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers!

<sup>7</sup> Now therefore, it is already an utter failure for you that you go to law against one another. <sup>d</sup> Why do you not rather accept wrong? Why do you not rather let yourselves be cheated? <sup>8</sup> No, you yourselves do wrong and cheat, and you do

5:5 Destruction of the flesh may refer to God’s turning the sexual offender over to Satan for physical affliction or even physical death. After being separated from the spiritual protection of the church, ideally the offender would recognize his sin, repent, and return to the church. All church discipline has restoration as its ultimate goal.

5:6–8 The backdrop for this passage is the Passover (see ex. 12), when the Israelites removed yeast from their homes in preparation for the feast. The removal of leaven was a reminder of the Israelites’ quick departure from Egypt. They did not have time to wait for leavened bread to rise. The point here is that a little leaven has tremendous impact or influence on whatever it is in. The Corinthian church was tolerating sexual sin. This leaven of sin, though small in size, was dangerous, because it could spread through the church. Like cancer, sin demands drastic surgery.

5:6 Like a tiny pinch of leaven spreading through a loaf of bread, unchallenged sin can soon contaminate the whole church. The sexual offender was guilty of sin, but the whole congregation was also guilty of ignoring the man’s disobedience and failing to hold him accountable. Left unchecked, this sin could have caused many new believers to commit sexual immorality.

5:7 Jewish people were required to sweep all leaven out of their houses in preparation for the Passover (see ex. 12:15). The leaven here symbolizes the powerful influence of sin.

5:8 The feast is a figure of speech for Christ. As Israel was to remove all leaven from the celebration of the Passover, so the Corinthians were not to contaminate their relationship with Christ with any malice or wickedness.

5:9–13 Paul here corrects a misunderstanding arising out of his previous letter (v. 9). He had commanded the Corinthians to withdraw themselves from sexually immoral people. In this letter, Paul explains that he was not speaking of the pagan culture around them. If they withdrew totally they would be unable to function in the world. Instead, he was talking about the immorality in their midst. They should judge the sin among themselves, while still reaching out to the lost in Corinth.

5:9 My epistle refers to an earlier letter from Paul to the Corinthians that no longer survives.

5:10 out of the world: Christians are called to influence the world, not run away from it (see Matt. 5:13–16). They are agents of God to carry the light of Jesus Christ into a dark world (see Phil. 2:14–16; 1 Pet. 2:11, 12).

5:11 not even to eat with such a person: eating together is a key part of fellowship and closeness with others. The Corinthians were not to have fellowship with those who claimed to be Christians but whose lives were dominated by sin.

5:12, 13 do you not judge . . . God judges: The church’s responsibility is to discipline its members while trusting the Lord to judge the world (see Matt. 13:30).

6:1–11 In these verses, Paul instructs the Corinthians to stop taking their personal disputes into the pagan courts. The Corinthians had been carrying their conflicts to the Roman courts and thus were making a mockery of Christianity by feuding in public. Their inability to settle personal disputes illustrated the sharp divisions in the church (see 1:10–17).

6:3 believers will participate in judging fallen angels (see Rev. 19:19, 20; 20:10). Paul suggested that if the Corinthians were going to be judging with Christ in His future kingdom (see Matt. 19:28), then surely they had the means to settle their own personal differences.

6:4, 5 Those who are least esteemed refers to judges in civil courts. The Corinthians, though they had the ability to judge the issues themselves, took their disputes to pagan court for the judges there to decide.

6:7, 8 cheated . . . cheat: In all of their bickering, the Corinthians made frivolous and even dishonest charges against one another. Paul suggested that it was better to be cheated by one of these dishonest people than to dishonor one’s Christian witness before pagans.

Pax Romana

The title Pax Romana (“Roman peace”) is given to the Roman empire in the period from 30 B.C. to A.D. 180. This period began with the rule of Octavian. After a century of civil strife, Rome was at last united under one ruler. Octavian, given the title Augustus by the Roman Senate, concentrated on his empire’s internal problems and laid the foundation for strong rule and peace.

The Pax Romana increased Rome’s trade and prosperity. Great roads were built; tolls and other barriers to trade were removed. Stable coinage and improved methods of banking and credit encouraged economic expansion. A key to maintaining peace was Augustus’s willingness to allow provinces local self-government, coupled with his quick use of military force to stifle rebellion or terrorism. Augustus allowed conquered nations to keep their language, customs, and religion, as long as the people stayed on peaceful terms with Rome.

Glorify God in Body and Spirit

6:9, 10 The kingdom of God here seems to refer to a future time when God will rule the earth in righteousness (see Matt. 6:10; Luke 11:2). do not be deceived: Tragically, Christians sometimes deceive themselves into thinking that God does not require them to live righteously. Paul emphasizes that the kinds of people listed in these verses will not inherit or possess the kingdom of God.

6:11 In this verse, Paul uses three terms to describe the conversion of the Corinthians. The tense of all three verbs indicates an action in the past that is complete. Washed means spiritually cleansed by God. Sanctified means set apart as God’s people. Justified means declared righteous by God because of Christ’s work on the Cross.

6:12 All things are lawful for me was a slogan the Corinthians had coined to justify their immoral behavior. Paul reminded the Corinthians that freedom from the ceremonial laws of Moses did not give them license to sin or indulge their own selfishness. This would only enslave them in the sin from which Jesus had freed them. under the power of any: The only power that should control us is the Holy Spirit. Sin should never dominate our lives because the Spirit empowers us to fight temptation.

6:13, 14 Foods for the stomach and the stomach for foods was another phrase the Corinthians used to justify their sinful lifestyles (v. 12). Food was gratifying and essential for life. When the Corinthians became hungry, they ate. Following the same logic, whenever the Corinthians craved sex, they indulged themselves. In their opinion any physical activity should not affect one’s spiritual life, just as digesting food did not affect one’s spirituality. The Corinthians’ reasoning had two faults: (1) The stomach and the digestive process are in a sense no more than earthly and without function in eternity, but the body, through the resurrection power of Christ, is eternal. It has been sanctified by God to bring Him glory (v. 20). (2) While the stomach’s purpose is to digest food, it is not the purpose of the body to commit immorality. Furthermore by design God put restrictions on both eating and sexual activity.

6:15–17 believers’ lives are greatly altered when they are joined to Christ. The union affects both the believer and Christ. When a believer commits immorality, he or she is dragging the union with Christ into the illicit relationship, by quoting Gen. 2:24, that the two . . . shall become one flesh, Paul illustrates the seriousness of sexual sin.

6:18 Every sin that a man does is outside the body was another slogan used by the Corinthians to justify their immorality (vv. 12, 13). Paul pointed out that the opposite is true: sexual sin is done against the body, not outside of it. Paul exhorted the Corinthians to flee any temptation to indulge in sexual sin (see Gen. 39:1–12).

6:20 Bought at a price alludes to someone purchasing a slave at a slave auction. With His death Jesus Christ paid the cost to redeem us from our slavery to sin (see eph. 1:7; 1 Pet. 1:18, 19).

therefore glorify God in your body <sup>7</sup> and in your spirit, which are God's.

Principles of Marriage

7 Now concerning the things of which you wrote to me:

<sup>a</sup>It is good for a man not to touch a woman. <sup>2</sup>Nevertheless, because of sexual immorality, let each man have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband. <sup>3b</sup>Let the husband render to his wife the affection due her, and likewise also the wife to her husband. <sup>4</sup>The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. And likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does. <sup>5c</sup>Do not deprive one another except with consent for a time, that you may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again so that <sup>d</sup>Satan does not tempt you because of your lack of self-control. <sup>6</sup>But I say this as a concession, <sup>e</sup>not as a commandment. <sup>7</sup>For /I wish that all men were even as I myself. But each one has his own gift from God, one in this manner and another in that.

<sup>8</sup>But I say to the unmarried and to the widows: <sup>g</sup>It is good for them if they remain even as I am; <sup>9</sup>but <sup>h</sup>if they cannot exercise self-control, let them marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

20 <sup>7</sup> NU omits the rest of v. 20.

Keep Your Marriage Vows

<sup>10</sup>Now to the married I command, yet not I but the <sup>i</sup>Lord: <sup>j</sup>A wife is not to depart from her husband. <sup>11</sup>But even if she does depart, let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to her husband. And a husband is not to divorce his wife.

<sup>12</sup>But to the rest I, not the Lord, say: If any brother has a wife who does not believe, and she is willing to live with him, let him not divorce her. <sup>13</sup>And a woman who has a husband who does not believe, if he is willing to live with her, let her not divorce him. <sup>14</sup>For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband; otherwise <sup>k</sup>your children would be unclean, but now they are holy. <sup>15</sup>But if the unbeliever departs, let him depart; a brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases. But God has called us <sup>l</sup>to peace. <sup>16</sup>For how do you know, O wife, whether you will <sup>m</sup>save your husband? Or how do you know, O husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

<sup>17</sup>But as God has distributed to each one, as the Lord has called each one, so let him walk. And <sup>n</sup>so I <sup>1</sup>ordain in all the churches. <sup>18</sup>Was anyone called while circumcised? Let him not become uncir-

7:1 things of which you wrote to me: After addressing the problems reported by the people of Chloe's household (1:11), Paul began to answer questions that had been sent to him (7:1—14:40). It is good for a man not to touch a woman: There were two extreme positions in the Corinthian church. both groups falsely separated the physical and the spiritual, believing that neither affected the other. One group was hedonistic. This group claimed that sin only had to do with the physical body, and that believers could sin in their body without any consequence to their spiritual lives. Paul corrects this misunderstanding in ch. 6. The other group believed that all things spiritual are good, and all things physical are bad, and that in order to be truly spiritual a person has to suppress every physical desire.

temple

(Gk. naos) (3:16; 6:19; 2 Cor. 6:16; eph. 2:21; Rev. 21:22) Strong's #3485

This Greek word for temple refers more to the building itself than hieron, which was used to indicate the entire temple complex. Paul told the believers that each one of their bodies was a naos, a sanctuary for God (6:19). Paul also said that the church, as Christ's body, is a spiritual temple for God (3:16, 17; 2 Cor. 6:16; eph. 2:21). What a special privilege it is to be God's spiritual dwelling place, both individually and corporately. The glory of God filled the tabernacle (see ex. 40:34) and the temple (see 1 Kin. 8:10, 11). Now the glory of God in the person of the Holy Spirit dwells within every believer (see John 14:16, 17) and thus inhabits the entire church. In the New Jerusalem, there will be no need for a physical temple because God and the Lamb will be the eternal temple (Rev. 21:22).

Proponents of this view claimed that celibacy is the only proper lifestyle. Paul corrects their misunderstanding here and explains that while sexual relationships in marriage are good, he chose celibacy in his own personal situation.

7:2 because of the rampant immorality in Corinth, Paul encouraged those who might be tempted to commit sexual sin to marry. It is better to develop a permanent relationship with a wife or husband than to lapse into sexual sin.

7:3–5 affection: Husbands and wives have a duty to maintain sexual relations with each other so that neither will be tempted by Satan to have sex outside of marriage.

7:10, 11 not I but the Lord: When Christ was on earth, He told us not to divorce a spouse; instead of divorce, Paul uses the word translated depart, which refers to wives leaving their husbands. The idea is the same: a believing husband and wife should not leave each other. The further statement that if the couple divorced they were to remain unmarried is consistent with Jesus' teaching (see Mark 10:9–12).

7:12 I, not the Lord, say: Paul now presents a problem that was not addressed by Jesus. Sometimes a husband or wife would become a Christian, but the spouse would not. Paul exhorts the believer to remain married if the unbelieving spouse does not want to divorce.

7:14 Sanctified primarily means "set apart." Here the term refers to the special situation an unbelieving husband or wife enjoys when his or her spouse is a believer, being exposed to God's teachings. Unclean here probably means the opposite of sanctified. Children with one believing parent may learn about God and come to Christ.

7:15: If an unbeliever seeks to divorce a believing spouse, the Christian is not under bondage or obligation to continue the marriage.

7:16 how do you know: The Greek grammar suggests that Paul asked the question expecting a negative answer. The promise given in 1 Pet. 3:1–6, however, reminds us that consistent obedience to God can make a skeptical spouse into a believing one.

7:17–24 so let him walk: This section develops the theme of faith-cumcised. Was anyone called while uncircumcised? <sup>o</sup>Let him not be circumcised. <sup>19p</sup>Circumcision is nothing and uncircumcision is nothing, but <sup>q</sup>keeping the commandments of God is what matters. <sup>20</sup>Let each one remain in the same calling in which he was called. <sup>21</sup>Were you called while a slave? Do not be concerned about it; but if you can be made free, rather use it. <sup>22</sup>For he who is called in the Lord while a slave is <sup>r</sup>the Lord's freedman. Likewise he who is called while free is <sup>s</sup>Christ's slave. <sup>23i</sup>You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men. <sup>24</sup>Brethren, let each one remain with <sup>u</sup>God in that state in which he was called.

To the Unmarried and Widows

<sup>29</sup>But <sup>z</sup>this I say, brethren, the time is short, so that from now on even those who have wives should be as though they had none, <sup>30</sup>those who weep as though they did not weep, those who rejoice as though they did not rejoice, those who buy as though they did not possess, <sup>31</sup>and those who use this world as not <sup>a</sup>misusing it. For <sup>b</sup>the form of this world is passing away.

<sup>32</sup>But I want you to be without <sup>2</sup>care. <sup>c</sup>He who is unmarried <sup>3</sup>cares for the things of the Lord—how he may please the Lord. <sup>33</sup>But he who is married cares about the things of the world—how he may please his wife. <sup>34</sup>There is a difference between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman <sup>d</sup>cares about the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and in spirit. But she who is married cares about the things of the world—how she may please her husband. <sup>35</sup>And this I say for your own profit, not that I may put a leash on you, but for what is proper, and that you may serve the Lord without distraction.

<sup>36</sup>But if any man thinks he is behaving improperly toward his <sup>4</sup>virgin, if she is past the flower of youth, and thus it must be, let him do what he wishes. He does not sin; let them marry. <sup>37</sup>Nevertheless he who stands steadfast in his heart, having no necessity, but has power over his own will, and has so determined in his heart that he will keep his <sup>5</sup>virgin, does well. <sup>38e</sup>So then he who gives <sup>6</sup>her in marriage does well, but he who does not give her in marriage does better.

fulness to the Christian calling rather than to social status. Whether you are slave or free—upper class or lower, powerful or powerless, married or single—is irrelevant; what matters is your calling from God (see Col. 3:11).

7:25–40 I have no commandment from the Lord: Paul clearly distinguishes his words as an apostle from the words of Christ. virgins: This classification of the unmarried in the church is probably smaller than the one mentioned in v. 8, which included widows and those who had been married before. Though Paul is concerned with both celibate men and women, the attention here is on the women. Although the Greek term used in v. 25 could refer to either men or women, the other instances in this passage refer to women (vv. 28, 34, 36, 37), by the second century, the church had developed important offices for virgins, widows, and deaconesses. Since they were unencumbered with the duties of a wife, they could assist the pastors and deacons in baptizing, ministering to the sick, and other works of mercy.

7:26, 27 present distress: Paul saw turbulent days ahead for married Christians because in times of persecution, consideration for family can make it difficult to live out Christian convictions to the fullest extent. A virgin would have lesser family responsibilities and would not be deterred by the possibility of repercussions affecting her husband or children.

7:28 Paul does not want to be understood as prohibiting marriage altogether.

7:29 as though they had none: To get married is not sin, but even married couples should dedicate themselves to God's work.

7:36–38 One interpretation of this passage is that any man refers to the father of an unmarried virgin. She is past the flower of youth indicates that the virgin is approaching an age at which marriage would be unlikely. Under these circumstances, it would be perfectly acceptable for the father to give her in marriage. A second interpretation suggests that the any man of v. 36 refers to a fiancé who is maintaining a celibate state with a virgin but is having difficulty doing so. In this view, the Greek term otherwise translated “she is past the flower of youth” is translated “he has strong passions.” If the man has difficulty in controlling his sex drive, he should marry (v. 9). On the other hand, if he can control himself (has power over his own will), he should maintain his celibacy (v. 8). having no necessity: If the man can control himself and keep himself from immoral action, he should stay single. On the other hand, if the man's will is weak, he should go ahead and marry.

7:39, 40 bound by law: This passage is similar to Rom. 7:2, where Paul used marriage to illustrate obligation to the law. Here he emphasizes that marriage should be lifelong. In a case where a marriage partner has died, the only restriction concerning remarriage is for the person to marry a fellow Christian. even though remarriage is permitted, Paul still believes that it is wiser to remain unmarried (v. 8). I also have the Spirit of God: The Holy Spirit enabled Paul not only to speak with apostolic authority, but also with spiritual wisdom.

Be Sensitive to Conscience

<sup>4</sup>Therefore concerning the eating of things offered to idols, we know that <sup>e</sup>an idol is nothing in the world, <sup>f</sup>and that there is no other God but one. <sup>5</sup>For even if there are <sup>g</sup>so-called gods, whether in heaven or on earth (as there are many gods and many lords), <sup>6</sup>yet <sup>h</sup>for us there is one God, the Father, <sup>i</sup>of whom are all things, and we for Him; and <sup>j</sup>one Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>k</sup>through whom are all things, and <sup>l</sup>through whom we live.

A Pattern of Self-Denial

9 Am <sup>a</sup>I not an apostle? Am I not free? <sup>b</sup>Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? <sup>c</sup>Are you not my work in the Lord? <sup>2</sup>If I am not an apostle to others, yet doubtless I am to you. For you are <sup>d</sup>the <sup>1</sup>seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

8:1 We know that we all have knowledge appears to have been a slogan used by certain Corinthian believers as an arrogant statement against weaker Christians. The weaker Christians believed that eating food offered to idols was a sin. Other Corinthian believers thought that such concerns were ridiculous. They argued that if the idols were worthless, then the meat offered to them was fine to eat. Paul agreed that food offered to idols was not contaminated, but he wanted the knowledgeable Christians not to flaunt their enlightened point of view. Knowledge puffs up, but love edifies: This is one of Paul's five attacks on the arrogance of some of the church members at Corinth (4:6, 18, 19; 5:2). These people belittled their weaker brothers and sisters with their knowledge. They had missed the point. They should have been using their knowledge to help other believers in the church.

8:4–6 The Corinthian believers who claimed to have knowledge readily admitted that an idol is nothing (see Is. 37:19; Jer. 16:20; Gal. 4:8) and that there is only one God (see deut. 6:4), but Paul did not dismiss the idea of idols altogether because though these gods are not real, they exist in the minds of those who worship them (10:20). 8:7–13 The knowledgeable believers were correct in their view of idols, but it did not matter. If the weaker brothers and sisters saw other believers eating food offered to idols, they might also eat, in violation of their own conscience. To go against the conscience was in fact sinning, by their knowledge the stronger believers were causing the weaker believers to stumble. Paul exhorted the strong believers to show love to the weaker ones by refraining from offending them.

9:1, 2 Am I not an apostle: Paul substantiated his apostleship with two arguments: (1) he had seen the resurrected Lord (see Acts 1:21, 22), and (2) the church at Corinth was his work in the Lord, a seal of his apostleship.

9:3–18 Paul had the right to eat and drink whatever he wanted, to have a wife, and to receive wages for his ministry, but he did not exercise these rights. Is it oxen God is concerned about: God requires that ministers should be paid for their work just as He requires beasts of burden to be compensated for theirs. those who preach the gospel should live from the gospel: To support ministers of the gospel is commanded by God, even as the priests in Israel were supported for their work, NT ministers were to be provided for as well (see 1 Tim. 5:17, 18).

The Race for the Crown

What does it take to be a champion in a given sport? For one, it is necessary to have a dedication to succeed no matter what the cost. A passion for the game is certainly essential, as is a single-minded determination to accomplish the task at hand. A willingness to train incessantly is also required. And a burning desire for the trophy or prize awarded to the one who wins is an absolute must.

In his letter to the Corinthians, the apostle Paul drew a direct comparison between the Christian life and an athletic competition. This comparison would have had immediate resonance with Paul's Corinthian readers. Corinth was the site of the Isthmian games, a great athletic festival that was very similar to the Olympic games. Contestants in the Isthmian games endured ten months of mandatory training. Anyone who failed to complete this training was barred from competing in the games. The highlight of the Isthmian games was a great endurance race. It was this race that Paul used as an illustration to depict the faithful Christian life.

In the Isthmian games, several athletes competed for one prize; there could be only one winner. In contrast, the Christian life offers the opportunity for many people to be winners. The winner of the Isthmian games received a pine wreath crown. Those who faithfully complete the Christian life, on the other hand, will receive an imperishable crown.

Paul illustrates the "champion" mindset required to faithfully complete the Christian life with his statements, "I run thus: not with uncertainty" and "Thus I fight: not as one who beats the air" (9:26). Paul was not an aimless competitor. He had a clearly defined goal. Like an athlete preparing for a race or a boxing match, Paul knew that he had to discipline his body; he had to force himself to maintain the strenuous, consistent practice needed for success.

The race that Paul prepared himself for, the race that all Christians need to prepare themselves for, was the calling of God. Paul taught that Christians are rewarded for the calling that God gives them. Paul had an apostolic ministry for which he sacrificed all things. He knew that if he was faithful to his calling he would receive a reward from the Lord for his service (4:2). Paul also knew that if he ignored or treated lightly his mission he would not receive from God the victor's crown for service. Having seen some of his close friends forsake their calling (see 2 Tim. 4:10), Paul recognized that the loss of the victor's crown was a very real possibility for any believer, regardless of his or her standing in the Christian community. The apostle's overwhelming passion was to fulfill his ministry at all costs, to stay faithful to the "fight" (9:26) to the very end. In Paul's last letter, written shortly before his death, we discover that he accomplished his goal (see 2 Tim. 4:6–8).

Paul's spiritual training was the very best available. Yet he did not assume that he would automatically persevere to the end of the race. He continued to discipline himself, to fight, and follow his calling from God. In doing so, Paul provided an ideal model for all Christians striving to become champions.

I might win the more; <sup>20</sup> and <sup>e</sup> to the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might win Jews; to those who are under the law, as under the <sup>5</sup> law, that I might win those who are under the law; <sup>21</sup> f to <sup>g</sup> those who are without law, as without law <sup>h</sup> (not being without <sup>6</sup> law toward God, but under <sup>7</sup> law toward Christ), that I might win those who are without law; <sup>22</sup> i to the weak I became <sup>8</sup> as weak, that I might win the weak. <sup>j</sup> I have become all things to all men, <sup>k</sup> that I might by all means save some. <sup>23</sup> Now this I do for the gospel's sake, that I may be partaker of it with you.

Striving for a Crown

10 Moreover, brethren, I do not want you to be unaware that all our fathers were under <sup>a</sup> the cloud, all passed through <sup>b</sup> the sea, <sup>2</sup> all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea, <sup>3</sup> all ate the same <sup>c</sup> spiritual food, <sup>4</sup> and all drank the same <sup>d</sup> spiritual drink. For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ. <sup>5</sup> But with most of them God was not well pleased, for their bodies <sup>e</sup> were scattered in the wilderness.

<sup>6</sup> Now these things became our examples, to the intent that we should not lust after evil things as <sup>f</sup> they also lusted. <sup>7</sup> <sup>g</sup> And do not become idolaters as were some of them. As it is written, <sup>h</sup> “The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.” <sup>8</sup> <sup>i</sup> Nor let us commit sexual immorality, as <sup>j</sup> some of them did, and <sup>k</sup> in one day twenty-three thousand fell; <sup>9</sup> nor let us <sup>l</sup> tempt Christ, as <sup>l</sup> some of them also tempted, and <sup>m</sup> were destroyed the Law—the Jews—Paul obeyed the Law. Around those who were outside the Law—the Gentiles—Paul did not observe Jewish custom. Paul clarified this, however, lest anyone misunderstand his actions. He obeyed God's law through obedience toward Christ (v. 21). This was a broader law than the Mosaic legislation; this was the fulfillment of Christ's will (see 11:1; Rom. 13:8; Gal. 6:2).

9:27 I myself should become disqualified: The Greek word for disqualified means “disapproved after testing.” Although some have cited this verse as evidence that Christians can lose their salvation, this clause most likely does not refer to salvation. A careful distinction should be made between the prize and the gift. The free gift of justification cannot be the result of good works (see Rom. 4:1-8). However the prize or crown is the reward for endurance and suffering for the cause of Christ (see Phil. 1:29; 2 Tim. 2:12).

(Gk. exousia) (7:39; 8:9; 9:18; Matt. 7:29; Rom. 9:21) Strong's #1849

The Greek term usually denotes “right,” “authority,” or even “privilege.” In certain contexts, as this one, it connotes the freedom to exercise one's right. Specifically, Paul was addressing the Corinthians' right to eat meat that may have come from pagan temples. To be clear, the eating of sacrificial food—the cultic meals in pagan temples—was censured by Paul because it was understood that the participants in those meals were uniting themselves to demons (see 10:19-21). However, Paul had no problem with those who purchased food that had been left over from these events and that was later sold in the marketplace. In his judgment if they ate it at home they were not participating in idolatry. They had the liberty—or right—to eat this food in good conscience. The exception was if they would be destroying a weaker believer by doing so. For the sake of such believers, one should abstain.

10:1-5 Paul places the story of Israel's unfaithfulness to God after his exhortation to the Corinthians to persevere in God's work. He emphasizes the blessings the Israelites enjoyed in the desert. They all had the protection and guidance of God. They all experienced God's miraculous deliverance. They all identified with their spiritual head, Moses. They all enjoyed the bread from heaven. Finally they all drank the water God provided. Paul's key point is that although all of the Israelites received these wonderful blessings from God, most failed to please Him.

10:1 For the ancient Israelites under the cloud in the wilderness, the cloud served two functions: (1) It provided protection (see ex. 14:19, 20), fire by night in the cold desert and shade by day from the blistering sun. (2) It guided the people through the desert (see ex. 13:21). all passed through the sea: every Israelite who left Egypt in the exodus experienced the deliverance of God at the Red Sea.

10:2 all were baptized into Moses: The acts of God in the cloud and in the sea joined the people with their spiritual head, Moses.

10:3, 4 the same spiritual food . . . the same spiritual drink: They all followed the same God and the same laws (see John 4:13, 14; 6:32-35).

10:6-10 our examples: The discipline of God exercised against the disobedient Israelites should serve notice to Christians that God will punish His people's sin.

10:6 The first failure of the ancient Israelites was that they lusted, or “craved.” They were not satisfied with God's provision but looked back to the provision that they had in Egypt (see Num. 11:4-34).

10:7, 8 The ancient Israelites were notorious idolaters, even though the true God had brought them out of Egypt, they insisted on worshipping lifeless idols. Furthermore, the ancient Israelites engaged in sexual immorality, a sin that also plagued the Corinthians (5:1; 6:18). twenty-three thousand: The account in Numbers gives the figure twenty-four thousand (Num. 25:6-9). There are several possible reasons for the difference. Some have suggested that Paul's number reflects the number that died in one day, while the Numbers account may be a record of all who died in the plague. Another explanation may be that the Numbers account includes the death of the leaders (Num. 25:4) while Paul's figures do not.

Flee from Idolatry

10:10 The ancient Israelites complained against their God-given leaders so much that many were destroyed, or put to death (see Num. 16:41–49).

10:12 lest he fall: The Corinthians may have had the attitude that since they were justified by God, nothing could happen to them. The discipline of God, however, is not to be taken lightly. No one can sin with impunity (see Gal. 6:7, 8).

10:13 Paul provides the Corinthians with a word of comfort. The various temptations they were experiencing were normal; all believers throughout the ages have had to resist temptation. God is so good that He will not let believers experience anything for which He has not prepared them. He will give every believer the grace and power to endure. Furthermore, endurance will bring its own reward (see 9:24–27).

10:14–11:1 In this section the apostle Paul addresses the problem of idolatry in the Corinthian church. Worship of various gods was totally ingrained in Greek culture. In the ancient Greek world there were idols on street corners and in houses. Various civic societies paid homage to their favorite gods. Cities adopted certain gods as their special protectors. The pagan temples were frequented often, especially in Corinth with its temple prostitution. Most of the food in the marketplace had been offered in worship to different gods. Paul first addresses the demonic nature of idol worship and then expounds on the nature of Christian liberty, especially concerning food offered to idols.

10:14–22 flee from idolatry: Pagan worship is a violation of the believer's union with Christ (v. 21). The idols themselves are not a threat (v. 19); the danger lies in the demons (v. 20) who, unknown to the worshippers, are the real objects of idol worship.

10:21 You cannot drink: Paul reminded the Corinthians of the fellowship and unity they had in their participation in the Lord's Supper. Participation in idol worship is a violation of that unity.

10:23, 24 All things are lawful for me: Though we have freedom, we also have a responsibility to help others in their Christian growth. Our first duty is to others, not ourselves.

10:25, 26 Eat whatever is sold: Paul himself did not ask whether meat was sacrificed in the temple, because pagan worship could not contaminate what God had made clean (see Ps. 24:1; Acts 10:15).

10:31–11:1 Doing all to the glory of God involves encouraging

demon

(Gk. daimonion) (10:20; Matt. 12:24, 27) Strong's #1140

The origin of demons is not explicitly discussed in the bible. but the NT speaks of the fall and later imprisonment of a group of angels led by Satan (1 Pet. 3:19, 20; 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6). The fall left Satan and his angels free to contaminate the human race with wickedness (Gen. 3; Matt. 25:41; Rev. 12:9). A prime purpose of Jesus' earthly ministry was to overcome the power of Satan. This included His conquest of the demonic realm (Matt. 12:25–29; Luke 11:17–22; John 12:31; 1 John 3:8). Following the resurrection of Jesus and His return to heaven, these demonic principalities and powers have continued their warfare against those who are His followers (Rom. 8:38–39; eph. 6:12). Yet after Christ returns, the devil and his angels will be defeated and thrown into the lake of fire and brimstone (Matt. 25:41; Rev. 20:10).

Head Coverings

<sup>2</sup> Now I praise you, brethren, that you remember me in all things and keep the traditions just as I delivered them to you. <sup>3</sup> But I want you to know that <sup>b</sup> the head of every man is Christ, <sup>c</sup> the head of woman is man, and <sup>d</sup> the head of Christ is God. <sup>4</sup> Every man praying or <sup>e</sup> prophesying, having his head covered, dishonors his head. <sup>5</sup> But every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head, for that is one and the same as if her head were <sup>f</sup> shaved. <sup>6</sup> For if a woman is not covered, let her also be shorn. But if it is <sup>g</sup> shameful for a woman to be shorn or shaved, let her be covered. <sup>7</sup> For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, since <sup>h</sup> he is the image and glory of God; but woman is the glory of man. <sup>8</sup> For man is not from woman, but woman <sup>i</sup> from man. <sup>9</sup> Nor was man created for the woman, but woman <sup>j</sup> for the man. <sup>10</sup> For this reason the woman ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels. <sup>11</sup> Nevertheless, <sup>k</sup> neither is man independent of woman, nor woman independent of man, in the Lord. <sup>12</sup> For as woman came from man, even so man also comes through woman; but all things are from God.

<sup>13</sup> Judge among yourselves. Is it proper for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered? <sup>14</sup> Does not even nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is a dishonor to him? <sup>15</sup> But if a woman has long hair, it is a glory to her; for her hair is given <sup>l</sup> to her for a covering. <sup>16</sup> But <sup>l</sup> if anyone seems to be contentious, we have no such custom, <sup>m</sup> nor do the churches of God.

Conduct at the Lord's Supper

<sup>17</sup> Now in giving these instructions I do not praise you, since you come together not for the better but for the worse. <sup>18</sup> For first of all, when you come together as a church, <sup>n</sup> I hear that there are divisions among you, and in part I believe it. <sup>19</sup> For <sup>o</sup> there must also be factions among you, <sup>p</sup> that those who are approved may be <sup>q</sup> recognized among you. <sup>20</sup> Therefore when you come together in one place, it is not to eat the Lord's Supper. <sup>21</sup> For fellow Christians and spreading the good news about Christ. Paul accomplished this by refusing to offend Jews, Greeks, or the church of God, even if it meant restricting his freedom. Like Christ, Paul did not seek his own way or do things for his own pleasure; instead, he desired to help others (v. 24). This should be our desire as well.

11:2 Now I praise you reflects genuine appreciation on Paul's part. The Corinthians had made many mistakes, but they were not totally corrupt. The Corinthians had followed the apostle's instructions in certain areas.

11:3 But introduces an exception to the praise Paul had given the Corinthians in v. 2. Paul wanted to instruct the Corinthians on another point of confusion. Head primarily means "authority" when used in the context of human relationships, but the Greek word for head can also mean "source" or "origin" in some cases. the head of woman is man: The relationship between men and women does not involve inferiority, for, in the parallel clause, Christ is not inferior to God the Father. Submission does not indicate inferiority, but subordination. Just as Christ and God are equally divine, men and women are equal beings, but just as Jesus and God the Father have different roles in God's plan of salvation, so men and women are given different roles.

11:4 Praying or prophesying may refer specifically to intercessory prayer similar to that of OT prophets (see Gen. 20:7; 1 Sam. 12:23; Jer. 27:18) or Anna (see Luke 2:36-38), or to the combination of tongues and prayer (see 14:13-16; Acts 2:4; 10:46). Having his head covered can refer to a hat or a veil. dishonors his head: It is impossible to decide whether head here refers to the man's physical head or to Christ, the man's authoritative head (v. 3). either interpretation is possible; Paul may even have meant the word to have a double meaning.

11:5, 6 every woman who prays or prophesies: Women were obviously allowed to pray and prophesy in the Christian assembly because it would have been meaningless for Paul to give instructions for something they were not permitted to do. Dishonors her head refers either to the woman's own physical head or to her husband as her head, or possibly both (v. 4). For a woman not to cover her head with a veil or with her own hair was as shameful as having a shaved head, a sign of public disgrace.

11:7-9 man is not from woman, but woman from man: The woman was taken from the side of the man (see Gen. 2:21). Woman for the man is Paul's way of stating the concept of the "helper" in Gen. 2:20. This does not mean the woman is inferior to the man; it refers only to the purposes of God for man and woman in the creative order.

11:10 Women were to wear a covering on their head because of the angels. evidently God's angels are present at the meeting of the church and actually learn of God's work of grace through the lives and worship of God's people (see eph. 3:10). symbol of authority: This might be a symbol of the woman's authority to prophesy in the new church age, which was inaugurated with the giving of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost (v. 5). It also might refer to a symbol of the man's authority over the woman (v. 3).

11:11, 12 neither . . . independent: Men and women need each other, and as creatures of God, both depend on Him. Neither man nor woman can have any claim to special status other than what God has purposed for them as their Creator.

11:17 I do not praise you: In contrast to Paul's praise in v. 2, that the Corinthians had followed many of his teachings, here he expressed concern for their sinful practices at worship. Come together is a technical term for the meeting of the church and is used three times in this passage (vv. 18, 20).

11:19 those who are approved: One of the positive results of division or factions in the church is that it becomes obvious who the genuine Christians are in the congregation.

11:20-22 The Lord's Supper was the centerpiece of early Christian worship. Gathered around one table, fellow believers met with the Lord and with each other in unity. Christ had expressed this type of humility and unity when He instituted the Supper (see Matt. 26:26-30; Mark 14:22-26; Luke 22:14-23). Corinthian believers were taking their own supper ahead of others, violating the spirit and in eating, each one takes his own supper ahead of others; and one is hungry and <sup>q</sup>another is drunk. <sup>22</sup>What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise <sup>r</sup>the church of God and <sup>s</sup>shame <sup>3</sup>those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I do not praise you.

Institution of the Lord's Supper

<sup>23</sup>For <sup>t</sup>I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you: “that the Lord Jesus on the same night in which He was betrayed took bread; <sup>24</sup>and when He had given thanks, He broke it and said, <sup>4</sup>“Take, eat; this is My body which is <sup>5</sup>broken for you; do this in remembrance of Me.” <sup>25</sup>In the same manner He also took the cup after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in My blood. This do, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of Me.”

<sup>26</sup>For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord's death <sup>v</sup>till He comes.

Examine Yourself

<sup>27</sup>Therefore whoever eats <sup>w</sup>this bread or drinks this cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty of the body and <sup>6</sup>blood of the Lord. <sup>28</sup>But <sup>x</sup>let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of the bread and drink of the cup. <sup>29</sup>For he who eats and drinks <sup>7</sup>in an unworthy manner eats and drinks judgment to himself, not discerning the <sup>8</sup>Lord's body. <sup>30</sup>For this reason many are weak and sick among you, and many <sup>9</sup>sleep. <sup>31</sup>For <sup>y</sup>if we would judge ourselves, we would not be judged. <sup>32</sup>But when we are judged, <sup>z</sup>we are chastened by the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.

<sup>33</sup>Therefore, my brethren, when you <sup>a</sup>come together to eat, wait for one another. <sup>34</sup>But if anyone is hungry, let him eat at home, lest you come together for judgment. And the rest I will set in order when I come.

Spiritual Gifts: Unity in Diversity

purpose of the meal. In acting this way, they showed contempt for the church of God and shamed those who had nothing.

11:23–25 I received speaks of Paul's revelation from Christ, which he had delivered to the people. Paul explained it again.

11:26 you proclaim the Lord's death till He comes: The Lord's Supper looks back to Christ's death and forward to His second coming (see Matt. 26:29; Mark 14:25; Luke 22:18).

11:27 In an unworthy manner refers to the way in which a person eats the Lord's Supper. The Corinthians had been making the meal a time of overeating and getting drunk rather than a time of reflecting on the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

11:30 Sleep here refers to the death of Christians (see 15:18; 1 Thess. 4:15, 16). In this passage, it refers to untimely death, a punishment suffered by some Christians who failed to examine themselves at the Lord's Supper (v. 28).

11:31 If we would judge ourselves, God would not need to correct us, but when Christians are unwilling to do this self-examination, God Himself will chasten them.

12:1 Now concerning indicates that Paul was responding to another question addressed to him in a letter from the Corinthian church (7:1, 25; 8:1). Spiritual gifts here may refer to spiritual things or spiritual persons. The same Greek word is used throughout chs. 12–14 to refer to “tongue speaking” and “tongues speakers.” Since the Corinthians tended to exalt the practice of speaking in tongues, it is likely that they viewed a person who spoke in tongues as especially spiritual, one uniquely possessed by the Spirit.

12:2 The term Gentiles here has the generic meaning of foreigners or unlearned people. Paul used this word to emphasize the Corinthians' state of ignorance, because of their ignorance, they had been carried away or “swept off their feet.” Dumb idols is an expression that the Corinthians familiar with OT idolatry would immediately recognize (see 1 Kin. 18:26–29; Is. 46:7).

12:3 calls Jesus accursed . . . say that Jesus is Lord: A person truly speaking by means of the Holy Spirit will never curse Jesus; by the same token, no one can genuinely proclaim the lordship of Christ without the enabling of the Spirit. It is possible that some of the Corinthians were giving supposed “Spirit-induced utterances” in which they denigrated the physical, historical Jesus in favor of a “spiritual,” heavenly Christ. This type of teaching would have been something like an early form of Gnosticism, a false teaching in the early church that viewed the body as evil and the soul as good.

12:4–6 Gifts here refers to spiritual capacities that God gives to #### gifts

(Gk. charisma) (1:7; 7:7; 12:4, 9, 28, 30; 1 Tim. 4:14) Strong's #5486

The Greek term charisma is closely akin to the word charis, which means “grace” or “favor”; charisma denotes “that which is graciously given.” Paul used the term charisma synonymously with the Greek term ta pneumatika—literally “the spiritual things”—because the things graciously given are spiritual gifts. These gifts were given by the Lord to various individuals in the church so as to enliven the meetings and to edify the believers in the church body. Each and every member has been gifted with at least one kind of charisma, whether it be the gift of teaching, prophesying, exercising faith, healing, performing miracles, discerning spirits, speaking in tongues, interpreting tongues, or other gifts.

Spiritual Gifts vs. Spiritual Responsibilities

Spiritual gifts are extraordinary abilities that the Spirit gives to a believer to build up the church. Even though such attributes as faith, teaching, and giving are considered gifts, all Christians are exhorted to develop these traits.

Some Christians are given . . .	But all believers are called . . .
Divine wisdom (12:8)	To live wisely (Rom. 16:19; Eph. 5:15; Col. 4:5)
Extraordinary faith (12:9)	To walk by faith (2 Cor. 5:7) and abound in faith (2 Cor. 8:7); to take up the shield of faith (Eph. 6:16) and pursue faith (1 Tim. 6:12; 2 Tim. 2:22)
Special teaching gifts (12:28; Rom. 12:7)	To teach others the truths of God (Matt. 28:20; 2 Tim. 2:2, 24)
Supernatural ability to help (12:28)	To serve one another in love (Gal. 5:13) and to minister to others (Rom. 12:7)
The gift of exhortation (Rom. 12:8)	To exhort one another daily (Heb. 3:13)
The ability to give with liberality (Rom. 12:8)	To give “not grudgingly or of necessity” but cheerfully (2 Cor. 9:7)
Divine power to show mercy (Rom. 12:8)	To be merciful (Luke 6:36; James 2:13)

Unity and Diversity in One Body

<sup>12</sup>For <sup>s</sup>as the body is one and has many members, but all the members of that one body, being many, are one body, <sup>t</sup>so also is Christ. <sup>13</sup>For <sup>u</sup>by one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—<sup>v</sup>whether Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free—and <sup>w</sup>have all been made to drink <sup>7</sup>into one Spirit. <sup>14</sup>For in fact the body is not one member but many.

<sup>15</sup>If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body? <sup>16</sup>And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body? <sup>17</sup>If the whole body were an eye, where would be the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where would be the smelling? <sup>18</sup>But now <sup>x</sup>God has set the members, each one of them, in the body <sup>y</sup>just as He pleased. <sup>19</sup>And if they were all one member, where would the body be?

<sup>20</sup>But now indeed there are many members, yet one body. <sup>21</sup>And the eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you”; nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.” <sup>22</sup>No, much rather, those members of the body which seem to be weaker are necessary. <sup>23</sup>And those members of the body which we think to be less honorable, on these we bestow greater honor; and our unrepresentable parts have greater modesty, <sup>24</sup>but our presentable parts have no need. But God composed the body, having given greater honor to that part which lacks it, <sup>25</sup>that there should be no <sup>8</sup>schism in the body, but that the members should have the same care for one another. <sup>26</sup>And if one member suffers, all the members suffer with there are diversities of activities, but it is the same God <sup>h</sup>who works <sup>5</sup>all in all. <sup>7</sup>But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all: <sup>8</sup>for to one is given <sup>i</sup>the word of wisdom through the Spirit, to another <sup>j</sup>the word of knowledge through the same Spirit, <sup>9</sup><sup>k</sup>to another faith by the same Spirit, to another <sup>l</sup>gifts of healings by <sup>6</sup>the same Spirit, <sup>10</sup><sup>m</sup>to another the working of miracles, to another <sup>n</sup>prophecy, to another <sup>o</sup>discerning of spirits, to another <sup>p</sup>different kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues. <sup>11</sup>But one and the same Spirit works all these things, <sup>q</sup>distributing to each one individually <sup>r</sup>as He wills.

individual Christians, through which He may strengthen His people. diversities . . . differences . . . diversities: The first portion of the “gift formula” expresses diversity. same Spirit . . . same Lord . . . same God: The second portion expresses unity. Though people are gifted differently by God, God and His work are unified. 12:7-11 given to each one for the profit of all: God works in believers to benefit the entire body, not just the individual Christian (vv. 25, 26). various gifts are distributed to bring diversity among the unified body, even as a human body has many parts and functions. The word of knowledge appears to be the ability to teach doctrine. The word of wisdom refers to practical application of knowledge (see Acts 6). Faith here is the capacity to believe in God for extraordinary deeds. Miracles is the ability to perform miraculous wonders similar to Moses and the prophets. Prophecy is the telling of a revelation from God, either new revelation or divine explanation of what was revealed in the past. Discerning of spirits may refer to the ability to distinguish the works of God from demonic activity in the church. Interpretation of tongues is the ability to explain or translate the tongues spoken in the congregation so that the entire group might benefit (14:13, 16, 28).

12:12 so also is Christ: Paul used the human body to illustrate the need for unity in the diversity that existed in the church (see eph. 2:21; 4:16). 12:13 one Spirit . . . one body: believers are part of the whole body infused by the one God. By here may also be translated “in,” speaking of location. Christ places each new member of the body in the Holy Spirit for His care and safekeeping (see 2 Cor. 1:22). All believers are baptized into the body of Christ (see Rom. 6:3), whether they are Jews or Greeks . . . slaves or free. This expression echoes Paul’s teaching in the book of Galatians concerning equal access by faith into the promise of Abraham (see Gal. 3:26-29). have all been made to drink into one Spirit: The Spirit not only surrounds us, He also dwells within us. 12:18 God has set . . . each one of them: every individual believer has a vital role assigned by God Himself. That is why we should neither boast in what we do nor think too little of ourselves. each one of us is important to God and has a mission to accomplish here on earth. 12:25 The members should have the same care for one another because God gives spiritual gifts, as stated in v. 7, “for the profit of it; or if one member is honored, all the members rejoice with it.

The Greatest Gift

13 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I have become sounding brass or a clanging cymbal. <sup>2</sup>And though I have the gift of <sup>a</sup>prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and though I have all faith, <sup>b</sup>so that I could remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. <sup>3</sup>And <sup>c</sup>though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body <sup>1</sup>to be burned, but have not love, it profits me nothing.

all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

<sup>8</sup>Love never fails. But whether there are prophecies, they will fail; whether there are tongues, they will cease; whether there is knowledge, it will vanish away. <sup>9k</sup>For we know in part and we prophesy in part. <sup>10</sup>But when that which is <sup>4</sup>perfect has come, then that which is in part will be done away.

<sup>11</sup>When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things. <sup>12</sup>For <sup>l</sup>now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then <sup>m</sup>face to face. Now I know in part, but then I shall know just as I also am known.

<sup>13</sup>And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

Prophecy and Tongues

CHAPTer 14 <sup>1</sup> <sup>a</sup> 1 Cor. 12:31; 14:39 <sup>b</sup> Num. 11:25, 29 <sup>2</sup> <sup>c</sup> Acts 2:4; 10:46 <sup>3</sup> <sup>d</sup> Rom. 14:19; 15:2; 2 Cor. 10:8; 12:19; eph. 4:12, 29 <sup>e</sup> 1 Tim. 4:13; 2 Tim. 4:2; Titus 1:9; 2:15; Heb. 3:13; 10:25

all." Rather than being envious of other people's positions or gifts, we should give of ourselves to others. Whenever any part of the body has a need, we should minister and help that part.

12:28–30 Sometimes in the NT, the term apostles refers in a general sense to missionaries (see 15:7; Rom. 16:7; 2 Cor. 11:5; 12:11; Gal. 1:17, 19). Other times the term is limited to the small group who witnessed the resurrected Christ and were given a special mission by Him as His representatives (9:1; 15:5, 8). prophets: As was the case with the OT prophets, the primary responsibility of NT prophets was not predicting the future, but presenting God's message to their contemporaries. New Testament prophets provided guidance for the church in its infancy (see eph. 3:2–5). The word teachers refers to those who explain the written revelation of God, as indicated in Gal. 6:6; 2 Tim. 2:2.

12:31 earnestly desire the best gifts: In this phrase, the verb translated desire could also be translated as "you are desiring." Although the phrase has generally been interpreted as Paul's exhortation to the Corinthians to seek after the more spiritually profitable gifts, it is possible that Paul is stating that the Corinthians were improperly desiring the gifts that would bring attention to themselves. In other words, he is telling them that although they desire this sort of gift, he wants to show them a more excellent way, the way of love (ch. 13).

13:1 the tongues of men and of angels: Paul uses an intentional exaggeration to illustrate the uselessness of each spiritual gift without love. The Corinthians would readily understand the images of sounding brass or a clanging cymbal. Many of them had used brass instruments and cymbals as standard elements of pagan worship in their lives before Christ.

13:3 Bestow all my goods likely pertains to the spiritual gift of giving to others (see Rom. 12:8).

13:8 Love never fails: This uncompromising and bold affirmation introduces the contrast with the spiritual gifts which will not last. Paul wants the Corinthians to know that all the gifts, especially tongues, which attracted their attention so much, would one day no longer be needed, but love would continue forever. prophecies . . . will fail: The word translated fail is in the passive voice, indicating that something will cause prophecies to stop. tongues . . . will cease: Unlike prophecies, tongues will simply stop (no external cause is indicated by the Greek). knowledge . . . will vanish away: The term translated will vanish away here is the same word translated "will fail" earlier in v. 8.

13:10 when that which is perfect has come: The Greek word for perfect means "end" or "completion." Most likely, this is a reference to the Second Coming of Christ and the completion of all things (see v. 12), but some have interpreted perfect as referring to the completion of the NT canon.

13:12 The mirror is probably the Word of God (see 2 Cor. 3:18; James 1:23–25), which can give us only a partial understanding of God. This will all change when we see Him face to face.

13:13 Faith enables us to come to God (see Heb. 11:6), but love enables us to imitate Him.

14:1 The word translated pursue carries such meanings as "hasten," "run," "run after," and "aspire to." There are many things in life that we can simply take or leave, but love is not one of them.

14:3, 4 The term prophecies here incorporates all speaking gifts that edify the church (see Rom. 12:6; 1 Pet. 4:11). Edification, exhortation, and comfort result from prophesying in the church.

<sup>5</sup>I wish you all spoke with tongues, but even more that you prophesied; <sup>1</sup>for he who prophesies is greater than he who speaks with tongues, unless indeed he interprets, that the church may receive edification.

Tongues Must Be Interpreted

<sup>6</sup>But now, brethren, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you unless I speak to you either by <sup>f</sup> revelation, by knowledge, by prophesying, or by teaching? <sup>7</sup>Even things without life, whether flute or harp, when they make a sound, unless they make a distinction in the sounds, how will it be known what is piped or played? <sup>8</sup>For if the trumpet makes an uncertain sound, who will prepare for battle? <sup>9</sup>So likewise you, unless you utter by the tongue words easy to understand, how will it be known what is spoken? For you will be speaking into the air. <sup>10</sup>There are, it may be, so many kinds of languages in the world, and none of them is without <sup>2</sup>significance. <sup>11</sup>Therefore, if I do not know the meaning of the language, I shall be a <sup>3</sup>foreigner to him who speaks, and he who speaks will be a foreigner to me. <sup>12</sup>Even so you, since you are <sup>4</sup>zealous for spiritual gifts, let it be for the <sup>5</sup>edification of the church that you seek to excel.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore let him who speaks in a tongue pray that he may <sup>g</sup>interpret. <sup>14</sup>For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful. <sup>15</sup>What is the conclusion then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will also pray with the understanding. <sup>h</sup>I will sing with the spirit, and I will also sing <sup>i</sup>with the under-

<sup>18</sup>I thank my God I speak with tongues more than you all; <sup>19</sup>yet in the church I would rather speak five words with my understanding, that I may teach others also, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

Tongues a Sign to Unbelievers

<sup>20</sup>Brethren, <sup>k</sup>do not be children in understanding; however, in malice <sup>l</sup>be babes, but in understanding be mature.

*“With men of other tongues and other lips
I will speak to this people;
And yet, for all that, they will not hear Me,”*

says the Lord.

<sup>22</sup>Therefore tongues are for a <sup>o</sup>sign, not to those who believe but to unbelievers; but prophesying is not for unbelievers but for those who believe. <sup>23</sup>Therefore if the whole church comes together in one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those who are uninformed or unbelievers, <sup>p</sup>will they not say that you are <sup>q</sup>out of your mind? <sup>24</sup>But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or an uninformed person comes in, he is convinced by all, he is convicted by all. <sup>25</sup><sup>7</sup>And thus the secrets of his heart are revealed; and

(Gk. glōssa) (12:10; 14:2, 4–6, 9, 13, 14, 18, 27; Acts 2:4; 10:46; 19:6) Strong's #1100

The Greek term glōssa means “tongue” or “language.” When the early believers were empowered by the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost, they were given the ability to speak in many different languages, so that those visiting from all around the Roman world could hear the glories of God being uttered in their native tongue (Acts 2:4–11). The household of Cornelius also spoke in different languages when they were baptized in the Holy Spirit (Acts 10:46). And the same happened with the new disciples from ephesus (Acts 19:6). From then on, some members of the early church regularly spoke in different languages as a way of praying to God, and others spoke in different languages in church meetings. When these languages were spoken in private, interpretation was not needed; when they were spoken in the meetings, Paul required interpretation so that the others could understand and be edified (14:2–27).

For this reason, Paul wanted the Corinthians to exercise the gift of prophecy instead of speaking in a tongue, by which a person merely edifies himself.

14:5 interprets: Speaking in tongues does benefit the church whenever it is interpreted, though not as much as prophesying.

14:11 Paul underlines the original purpose of all spiritual gifts: they must serve the church (see vv. 13, 14; 12:7). Tongues must convey meaning or else they fail to help those who listen.

14:16, 17 He who occupies the place of the uninformed refers to anyone who does not understand the message spoken in tongues. Saying amen was common in Jewish and early church worship when the congregation wanted to indicate its agreement with what was being said (see deut. 27:14–26; Rev. 5:14). Such a response would be impossible in the case of an uninterpreted tongue, because no one would have understood the prayer.

14:18, 19 more than you all: Paul spoke many languages. If the Corinthians wanted to brag of their tongue speaking, the apostle had much more to brag about, but this ability was of very limited value to Paul in fulfilling his responsibility to the people of God (vv. 5, 13). In the church, speaking five words that are understandable has more benefit than speaking a countless number (ten thousand) of words in a tongue.

14:20–22 children in understanding: Paul wanted the Corinthians to serve and benefit each other above all, but instead they had developed the skill of attacking and neglecting each other.

so, falling down on his face, he will worship God and report <sup>a</sup> that God is truly among you.

Order in Church Meetings

<sup>26</sup>How is it then, brethren? Whenever you come together, each of you has a psalm, <sup>v</sup> has a teaching, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation. <sup>s</sup>Let all things be done for <sup>s</sup>edification. <sup>27</sup>If anyone speaks in a tongue, let there be two or at the most three, each in turn, and let one interpret. <sup>28</sup>But if there is no interpreter, let him keep silent in church, and let him speak to himself and to God. <sup>29</sup>Let two or three prophets speak, and <sup>t</sup>let the others judge. <sup>30</sup>But if anything is revealed to another who sits by, <sup>u</sup>let the first keep silent. <sup>31</sup>For you can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all may be encouraged. <sup>32</sup>And <sup>v</sup>the spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets. <sup>33</sup>For God is not the author of <sup>9</sup>confusion but of peace, <sup>w</sup>as in all the churches of the saints.

<sup>34x</sup>Let <sup>1</sup>your women keep silent in the churches, for they are not permitted to speak; but they are to be submissive, as the <sup>9</sup>law also says. <sup>35</sup>And if they want to learn something, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is shameful for women to speak in church.

The Risen Christ, Faith's Reality

15 Moreover, brethren, I declare to you the gospel <sup>a</sup>which I preached to you, which also you received and <sup>b</sup>in which you stand, <sup>2c</sup>by which also you are saved, if you hold fast that word which I preached to you—unless <sup>d</sup>you believed in vain.

<sup>3</sup>For <sup>e</sup>I delivered to you first of all that <sup>f</sup>which I also received: that Christ died for our sins <sup>g</sup>according to the Scriptures, <sup>4</sup>and that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day <sup>h</sup>according to the Scriptures, <sup>5i</sup>and that He was seen by <sup>1</sup>Cephas, then <sup>j</sup>by the twelve. <sup>6</sup>After that He was seen by over five hundred

14:26 If each person brings to the meeting the special ability that God has given him or her, and if everything is done for edification, the church as a whole will benefit. Psalm probably refers to the singing of an OT psalm (see eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). Teaching in the early church most likely consisted of presenting an OT truth or a teaching of the apostles; the one who received a revelation was probably the prophet who spoke the word of God (vv. 29–32).

14:29 Let two or three prophets speak: As beneficial as prophesying is, Paul sought to limit the activity. Prophets were not to monopolize the limited amount of time the church members were together. Let the others judge indicates that no one, not even a person exercising a spiritual gift, is exempt from accountability to the church (6:5; 11:29, 31).

14:30 Revealed indicates that prophesying as described here is different from what we call preaching or reading from Scripture. The prophesying that Paul referred to is similar to OT prophecy in which God gives a revelation to one of His servants who, in turn, gives that revelation to God's people. Let the first keep silent is similar to the admonition in v. 28 concerning tongues speakers. The speakers were not to compete with each other, but all things were to be done in an orderly manner (v. 40) for the benefit of those who heard (12:7).

14:31, 32 subject to the prophets: Paul anticipated that some people might claim that they could not prevent themselves from prophesying when God brought a revelation to them. He explained that the Holy Spirit does not overpower the person through whom He speaks.

14:34 Let your women keep silent: Paul's command here is the subject of much debate, for it seems to contradict the fact that Paul spoke of women prophesying in 11:5. It has been suggested that Paul was addressing a particular problem in the Corinthian church, a group of women who were disruptive. This verse has also been interpreted as a prohibition on women interpreting prophecy, judging the prophets, or speaking in tongues.

14:36 from you: In persuading the Corinthians to accept his teaching, Paul had already appealed to nature—namely, the importance of order in the church to conform to God's peaceful nature (v. 33). Here the apostle emphasizes the importance of conformity, not only with the Christian churches throughout the world, but also with the origin of Christian truth. The Corinthians did not invent the truth that Paul taught. The Christian message had traveled from Jerusalem throughout most of the Roman world.

14:37 To further establish his arguments and the authority of his teaching, Paul appealed to the fact that he taught the commandments of the Lord. Paul's teachings were not opinions or options. To be obedient to the Lord is to be obedient to what Paul taught.

15:1, 2 Paul's gospel to the Corinthians centered on the physical death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, the eternal Son of God who became human yet never sinned (see Gal. 1:6–10). Paul had started the Corinthian church; the gospel that the Corinthians had originally received came from him (2:2).

15:3 Paul did not originate the proclamation of Jesus that he delivered to the Corinthians; he simply gave the Corinthians what he himself had received. He viewed himself as a link in a long chain of witnesses to the truth of the death and resurrection of Christ. Christ died for our sins: Christ's death dealt decisively with our sins. He suffered in our place to endure the just wrath of God against us. according to the Scriptures: Christ lived and died in accordance with the prophecies about Him in the OT (see Ps. 16:10, 22; Is. 53:8-10).

15:4 The Resurrection verifies the fact that Christ's death paid the full price for sin. The Greek term translated rose here is in the perfect tense, emphasizing the ongoing effects of this historical event. Christ is a risen Savior today.

15:5–8 At the time of Paul's writing, a person could have verified the truthfulness of the apostle's statements. The majority of the five hundred people who saw the risen Christ, as well as all the apostles and James (the half brother of Jesus), were still living. Born out of due time is probably Paul's comment on the unique way brethren at once, of whom the greater part remain to the present, but some have <sup>2</sup>fallen asleep. <sup>7</sup>After that He was seen by James, then <sup>k</sup>by all the apostles. <sup>8</sup>Then last of all He was seen by me also, as by one born out of due time.

<sup>9</sup>For I am <sup>m</sup>the least of the apostles, who am not worthy to be called an apostle, because <sup>n</sup>I persecuted the church of God. <sup>10</sup>But <sup>o</sup>by the grace of God I am what I am, and His grace toward me was not in vain; but I labored more abundantly than they all, <sup>p</sup>yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me. <sup>11</sup>Therefore, whether it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

Facts About the Resurrection

The resurrection of Christ was proclaimed eagerly by the early church. This miracle was considered an essential part of the gospel message. Surely Christ had died, but more importantly, He had been raised. More than just a suffering Savior, Jesus is our living Lord.

Christ's resurrection was prophesied in the Old Testament Scriptures (Ps. 16:10).	15:4
The risen Christ appeared to more than five hundred witnesses, including Paul.	15:5-8
If Jesus did not rise from the dead, the gospel message is pointless, empty, and dishonest. Jesus Christ would not be alive, interceding for us, and we would not be able to place our hope in a glorious future with Him. The Resurrection is central to the gospel.	15:14, 15
According to Paul, "if Christ is not risen, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins" (15:17; see Rom. 4:25). Christ's resurrection, not merely His death on the Cross, secured our justification. His resurrection was a sign of God's approval of Christ's sacrifice for our sins. In short, no Resurrection equals no forgiveness of sin.	15:17-19
The resurrection of Christ was designed to reveal what lies ahead for those who put their trust in Jesus (15:20-57). Paul called Christ "the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep" (15:20). This Old Testament image (see Ex. 23:16-19) means that Christ serves as both an example and a guarantee of what we can expect. Because He has conquered death (15:26, 27, 54-57), we need not fear death. Because He now enjoys a glorified body, we also can expect to inherit a "spiritual body" (15:44-46) after this mortal one wears out.	15:20-26
Our dead, physical body will one day be resurrected.	15:42
We will once again be both material and immaterial beings, our soul being reunited with our resurrected body.	15:43, 44
The power behind this marvelous, yet mysterious, event is Jesus, the self-declared "resurrection and the life" (John 11:25).	15:45
Our physical body will be altered and changed to prepare us for the life to come. If Jesus is the prototype, we will still be recognizable, but our new body will be capable of supernatural activities (see Luke 24:31, 36, 51).	15:51-54
Our resurrection will take place when Jesus returns (see 1 Thess. 4:13-18).	15:53

he became an apostle. Unlike the other apostles, who had the benefit of an initial training period with Christ, Paul became an apostle abruptly, with no opportunity for earthly contact with Christ or His teaching.

15:9 Paul considered himself the least of the apostles because at one time he had persecuted the church (see Acts 22:4; eph. 3:8; 1 Tim. 1:15, 16).

15:10 I labored more abundantly: even though Paul got a late start and did not have the discipleship training that the other apostles did, he traveled further, established more churches, and wrote more Scripture than all of them (see 2 Cor. 11:23-27). but Paul attributed his success to the grace of God.

15:11 whether . . . I or they: Paul did not care who got credit for the Corinthians' faith. He cared only that the Corinthians believed.

15:12, 13 Some of the Corinthians were teaching that there is no resurrection. These opponents of Paul may have been denying the reality of Christ's resurrection. They may also have been teaching that resurrection is only spiritual rather than physical. Or they may have been teaching that the resurrection had already happened (see 2 Tim. 2:18). Whatever the case, they contradicted the essential teaching that Christ had been physically raised from the dead and that believers in Him will someday also be resurrected.

15:15 false witnesses: In vv. 5-8, Paul listed several people, including himself, who had witnessed the resurrected Christ. To deny the Resurrection was to deny the truth of their testimony.

15:17 you are still in your sins: Christ's death without His resurrection would not succeed in saving us from our sins.

15:18 Without the resurrection of Christ, those who are asleep in Christ—the dead—have perished or been destroyed. The Greek word translated futile in this passage speaks of something that has no results. Without the resurrection of Christ, the Christian faith brings no forgiveness and no future life in God's presence.

15:19 we are of all men the most pitiable: If Christians have no hope for the future, the pagans could justifiably consider Christians fools since believers would have suffered for nothing.

15:20 Jesus is the firstfruits of all others who believe in Him. This is an OT image of the first installment of a crop which anticipates and guarantees the ultimate offering of the whole crop (see 16:15; Rom. 8:23), because Christ rose from the dead, those who are asleep dead, and has become <sup>w</sup>the firstfruits of those who have <sup>4</sup>fallen asleep. <sup>21</sup>For <sup>x</sup>since by man came death, <sup>y</sup>by Man also came the resurrection of the dead. <sup>22</sup>For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ all shall <sup>z</sup>be made alive. <sup>23</sup>But <sup>a</sup>each one in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, afterward those who are Christ's at His coming. <sup>24</sup>Then comes the end, when He delivers <sup>b</sup>the kingdom to God the Father, when He puts an end to all rule and all authority and power. <sup>25</sup>For He must reign <sup>c</sup>till He has put all enemies under His feet. <sup>26</sup><sup>d</sup>The last enemy that will be destroyed is death. <sup>27</sup>For <sup>e</sup>“He has put all things under His feet.” But when He says “all things are put under Him,” it is evident that He who put all things under Him is excepted. <sup>28</sup><sup>f</sup>Now when all things are made subject to Him, then <sup>g</sup>the Son Himself will also be subject to Him who put all things under Him, that God may be all in all.

Why then are they baptized for the dead? <sup>30</sup>And <sup>h</sup>why do we stand in <sup>5</sup>jeopardy every hour? <sup>31</sup>I affirm, by <sup>i</sup>the boasting in you which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, <sup>j</sup>I die daily. <sup>32</sup>If, in the manner of men, <sup>k</sup>I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantage is it to me? If the dead do not rise, <sup>l</sup>“Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!”

A Glorious Body

in Christ (v. 18; 1 Thess. 4:15, 16) have a guarantee of their own resurrection.

15:21, 22 by man came death: The first man, Adam, transgressed God's law and brought sin and death into the world (see Gen. 2:17; 3:19; Rom. 5:12-21); the second Man, Jesus Christ, was the perfect sacrifice to take away sin and to bring life and resurrection to those who believe in Him (see Rom. 5:15-21). in Christ all shall be made alive: The principle here is similar to that in Rom. 5:18, 19, where Paul explains that by one man's (Adam's) sin many were made unrighteous, whereas by one Man's (Christ's) obedience many will be made righteous.

15:23 Each one in his own order indicates that God has a certain design for the resurrection. The word order is a Greek military term that might also be translated “rank.” The Commander is raised first; His troops afterward. In 1 Thess. 4:13-18, His coming is described as Christ's coming with those who have “fallen asleep” (the dead), who are then united with their physical bodies. Following this is the removal of all living Christians from the earth.

15:24 The end here refers to all remaining prophetic events that will occur after the rapture of the church and during the climax of history, when Christ puts an end to all rule (vv. 25-28). delivers the kingdom to God the Father: When Christ and the church are joined at His coming, God will establish His kingdom on this earth, culminating in a new heaven and a new earth. puts an end to all rule and all authority: Until the time of the end, the Father subjugates everything to the Son (see Ps. 110:1; dan. 2:44; 7:14, 27). Christ is Lord over the universe (see Col. 1:15-17).

15:25, 26 all enemies: God has allowed His enemy Satan to rule as the “prince of the power of the air” (see eph. 2:2) and the “god of this age” (see 2 Cor. 4:4), but his final judgment before God is certain. The last enemy . . . death: The conquering of death is final proof of God's victory and the inauguration of the new day of the Lord (see Rev. 20:14).

15:27, 28 it is evident: Paul clarified the verses that he had been quoting from the OT. The texts say that everything is put under the Son, but God the Father is excepted, or excluded from this subjugation, because the Son must be subject to the Father. God may be all in all indicates that there will be no challenge to the sovereign rule of God over all the universe. There will be universal peace and prosperity.

15:29 It may be that some of the Corinthians had for some reason been baptized for others who had died without baptism. Paul did not approve or disapprove of the unusual practice, though he used they rather than “we” when speaking of it. if the dead do not rise . . . Why then are they baptized: To deny the resurrection, as the Corinthians did, and yet be involved in such baptism activities made no sense.

15:30-32 why do we stand in jeopardy: Paul risked his life daily. To do so would have been of no advantage without the hope of a resurrection. Why else should Paul have endured difficulties like fighting beasts at Ephesus? It would have been better for him to take the position of the epicureans, who sought pleasure and avoided pain. The reference to beasts might be a figurative reference to Paul's human enemies at ephesus. Acts 19 does not record any confrontation with animals.

15:33, 34 Paul had already warned the Corinthians to avoid fellow believers who lived immoral lives (5:9-13). Quoting a proverb from the poet Menander, evil company corrupts good habits, Paul warned the Corinthians to stay away from those who teach false doctrine (see 2 Cor. 6:14-7:1).

15:35-37 Some people objected to the resurrection on the grounds

resurrection

(Gk. anastasis) (15:12, 13, 21, 42; Acts 17:32; Rom. 1:4; 1 Pet. 1:3) Strong's #386

The Scriptures often speak of Christ's resurrection with the phrase that is literally “resurrection out from among dead ones.” This is the wording in the first half of 15:12 and in other verses (see Acts 17:31; 1 Pet. 1:3). When Scripture speaks of the resurrection in general, commonly the phrase is “a resurrection of dead ones.” This is the wording in the second half of 15:12 (see also 15:13, 42). In Rom. 1:4, Christ's resurrection is spoken of as “a resurrection of dead ones.” The same terminology is used in 15:21, where the Greek text literally reads: “For since through a man death came, so also through a Man came a resurrection of dead persons.” This shows that Christ's resurrection included the resurrection of believers to eternal life. When He arose, many arose with Him, for they were united with Him in His resurrection (see Rom. 6:4, 5; eph. 2:6; Col. 3:1).

Our Final Victory

<sup>56</sup> The sting of death is sin, and <sup>h</sup> the strength of sin is the law. <sup>57</sup> <sup>l</sup> But thanks be to God, who gives us <sup>m</sup> the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

that it was too hard to understand. Paul called these people foolish. difficulty understanding the nature of the resurrection should not cause a person to doubt its reality, any more than not understanding how a seed becomes a plant should cause disbelief in the coming harvest.

15:38–41 The variety found in nature among living beings such as men, animals, fish, and birds, and among objects such as celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies reflect the Creator’s power and will. The varying brightness of the sun, moon, and stars serves as

life-giving spirit

(Gk. pneuma zōopoion) (15:45; 2 Cor. 3:6; 1 Pet. 3:18) Strong’s #4151; 2227

The Greek expression denotes “the spirit that gives life” or “the spirit that makes alive.” The Lord Jesus entered into a new kind of existence when He was raised from the dead because He was glorified and simultaneously became life-giving spirit. The verse does not say Jesus became “the Spirit,” since the Second Person of the Trinity did not become the Third Person. Rather, Jesus became spirit in the sense that His mortal existence and form were changed into that which is spiritual. As One now united with the Spirit in a glorified body, Jesus is no longer bound by His mortal body. He is alive in the Spirit (see 1 Pet. 3:18), to give life to all who believe. This is why Paul speaks of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus (Rom. 8:2).

a good illustration of the differences between the earthly human body and the heavenly human body. All these different celestial and terrestrial objects are evidence that God the Creator can certainly create new resurrected human bodies out of our old bodies.

15:44–49 natural . . . spiritual: The contrast is not between a material body and an immaterial body, but between a body subject to death and a body that is immortal. The Greek term translated spiritual here refers to a body directed by the Spirit, as opposed to one dominated by the flesh (2:15; 10:4). First man . . . second Man contrasts the sinful nature that every person inherits with the new righteous nature that comes through Christ.

15:50 Mere flesh and blood cannot enter into the glorious existence of an immortal body (vv. 35–49). Something must happen to this flesh so that it becomes incorruptible (v. 42).

15:51, 52 we shall all be changed: The teaching here is similar to the teaching given to the Thessalonians (see 1 Thess. 4:13–18). Whereas the dead in Christ will be raised first, the living believers will be instantly transformed into their immortal bodies when Jesus returns.

15:53–57 The living will receive a body that is not subject to death (see v. 50). Satan’s apparent victories in the Garden of eden (see Gen. 3:13) and at the Cross (see Mark 15:22–24) were reversed by Jesus’ death (see Col. 2:15) and resurrection. From the vantage point of Jesus’ victorious return, Death and Hades (the grave) have no power over Christians, because Jesus has already conquered both. We participate in His victory.

15:58 The Corinthians were to continue steadfast in the work of Christ, specifically because of the resurrection. your labor is not in vain: All the work that we do for Christ will be rewarded (see 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 22:12).

Collection for the Saints

16 Now concerning <sup>a</sup>the collection for the saints, as I have given orders to the churches of Galatia, so you must do also: <sup>2b</sup>On the first day of the week let each one of you lay something aside, storing up as he may prosper, that there be no collections when I come. <sup>3</sup>And when I come, <sup>c</sup>whomever you approve by your letters I will send to bear your gift to Jerusalem. <sup>4d</sup>But if it is fitting that I go also, they will go with me.

Personal Plans

<sup>5</sup>Now I will come to you <sup>e</sup>when I pass through Macedonia (for I am passing through Macedonia). <sup>6</sup>And it may be that I will remain, or even spend the winter with you, that you may <sup>f</sup>send me on my journey, wherever I go. <sup>7</sup>For I do not wish to see you now on the way; but I hope to stay a while with you, <sup>g</sup>if the Lord permits.

<sup>8</sup>But I will tarry in Ephesus until <sup>h</sup>Pentecost. <sup>9</sup>For <sup>i</sup>a great and effective door has opened to me, and <sup>j</sup>there are many adversaries.

<sup>10</sup>And <sup>k</sup>if Timothy comes, see that he may be with you without fear; for <sup>l</sup>he does the work of the Lord, as I also do. <sup>11m</sup>Therefore let no one despise him. But send him on his journey <sup>n</sup>in peace, that he may come to me; for I am waiting for him with the brethren.

<sup>12</sup>Now concerning our brother <sup>o</sup>Apollos, I strongly urged him to come to you with the brethren, but he was quite unwilling to come at this time; however,

Final Exhortations

16:1–4 Now concerning: Paul once again addressed a question asked by the Corinthians (7:1, 25; 8:1; 12:1) about giving (Acts 11:29, 30; 24:17; Rom. 15:25–28; 2 Cor. 8; 9). The first day of the week was the regular weekly meeting day of the early church. Lay something aside expresses the concept of Christian giving in the NT. The OT tithes (altogether coming to about 23 percent) was not adopted by the NT church, though certainly Christ practiced it. New Testament believers were encouraged to give liberally, but never a specified amount or percentage (see Rom. 12:8). Paul wanted to make sure that the Corinthians’ offering would be collected before he arrived so that he would not need to pressure the people when he saw them (see 2 Cor. 9:5). Whomever you approve refers to the person who would accompany Paul (v. 4) to Jerusalem to deliver the gift on behalf of the Corinthian church.

16:5–7 Now I will come to you: Paul had hoped to leave Ephesus soon to visit Corinth, perhaps even spending the winter with the Corinthians. Travel by sea during the winter was hazardous (see Acts 27:9–44). Paul eventually did make it to Corinth, but not according to the schedule he planned here. This failure to come caused him trouble later with the Corinthians (see 2 Cor. 1:15–2:1).

16:8, 9 The opportunities for Paul’s ministry in Ephesus, a major city of Asia Minor, were great, as was the persecution he endured there.

16:10–12 Though Paul could not leave immediately for Corinth, he wanted to be represented among the Corinthians by his fellow workers. He planned to send Timothy, a young man at this time. Paul encouraged the Corinthians to go easy on Timothy, for although he was trustworthy, he was more timid than Paul.

16:13, 14 Watch is often used in the NT to indicate anticipation of some future event (see Mark 13:37; Rev. 3:3). Paul’s exhortation to stand fast in the faith is especially important in view of the susceptibility of the Corinthians to false teaching (see 2 Cor. 11:3). Be brave may also be translated “play the man,” emphasizing not only bravery but maturity. Paul’s command to do everything with love serves as a balance to these strong exhortations.

16:15–18 The household of Stephanas was among the first in Achaia to respond to Paul’s preaching. Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus probably were the ones who confirmed the bad news brought by Chloe’s household in 1:11. They were also probably the bearers of the letter that the Corinthians sent to Paul (see 7:1).

16:19, 20 The churches of Asia may be those mentioned in Rev. 2; 3. Aquila and Priscilla were tentmakers who had met Paul in Corinth. They followed him to Ephesus and made their house available for the meetings of the church (see Rom. 16:3–5). They would have been known to many in the Corinthian church. a holy kiss: This custom, adopted by the early Christians, symbolized love, forgiveness, and unity.

16:21–23 my own hand: From this point on, Paul stopped dictating (see Rom. 16:22; Gal. 6:11) and completed the letter in his own handwriting. let him be accused: It may seem harsh that Paul would wish God’s damnation on those who do not love Jesus. But the acceptance or rejection of Christ is serious business. Those who reject the Lord Jesus are enemies of God (see Gal. 1:8, 9). In the next breath Paul desires the coming of our Lord with an Aramaic expression, Marana tha, meaning “Lord, come.”

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS

SeCOND CORINTHIANS is the most autobiographical of Paul's letters and probably the most difficult letter that Paul had to write. In previous letters, Paul had exhorted the Corinthian church to correct some abuses that were occurring in the congregation. However, some false teachers in the congregation were antagonized by Paul's rebuke and rejected his warnings. As a result, in this letter Paul was forced to defend his character, and more importantly his apostolic authority, in the face of slanderous accusations. His defense reveals the trials and tribulations, the problems and the pressures of his itinerant ministry more than any other book in the bible. Yet like the rest of Paul's letters, 2 Corinthians points past Paul's sweat and tears to the power that lay behind his actions and words: the Lord Jesus Christ.

Author and Date Second Corinthians begins by identifying the author as Paul (1:1; 2:1). The style of the letter confirms Paul's authorship, as does the testimony of the early church. Some critics theorize that chapters 10–13 were not part of the original letter because the tone is different from chapters 1–9. The spirit of the first nine chapters is joyful and jubilant, while the spirit of the last four is one of sorrow and severity. Many of these critics claim that chapters 10–13 are part of a lost letter referred to in 2:4. However, the final chapters of 2 Corinthians are firm, not "sorrowful." Moreover, no early manuscript or author can be cited to support such a theory. The difference in tone can be accounted for by the change of subject in those chapters.

Paul wrote 1 Corinthians during the last year of his ministry at ephesus, on his third missionary journey, probably in the early spring of A.D. 56. Second Corinthians was written shortly after 1 Corinthians. Thus the date of 2 Corinthians is probably the fall of A.D. 56.

Occasion In order to understand the purpose of 2 Corinthians, one must know about the background to the letter, that is, what had occurred between the writing of 1 Corinthians and this letter. Reconstructing that background, however, is complicated.

The issues are: (1) How many visits did Paul make to Corinth before he wrote 2 Corinthians (2:1; 12:14)? (2) How many letters had he written (2:3, 4, 9; 7:18)? (3) Who was "the offender" (2:5; 7:12)? There are two basic ways of reconstructing the life and letters of Paul to explain these references. The traditional view takes the references in 2 Corinthians to a previous letter to refer to 1 Corinthians. In this case, the "offender" is the incestuous person of 1 Corinthians 5. A more recent interpretation contends that the data in 2 Corinthians does not fit 1 Corinthians; therefore there must have been another letter written by Paul to Corinth between 1 and 2 Corinthians. either that letter was lost, or else it is chapters 10–13 of 2 Corinthians. Those holding this theory usually maintain that Paul must have visited Corinth briefly between the writing of 1 and 2 Corinthians, based on the word "again" in 2:1. This is sometimes called the "painful visit." According to this view, the "offender" was not the incestuous person of 1 Corinthians 5, but the leader of a party opposed to Paul.

The traditional view contends that the data of 2 Corinthians does fit the facts of 1 Corinthians. Therefore the "previous letter" is 1 Corinthians and "the offender" is the incestuous member. According to this view, there was no “painful visit,” for the word “again” in 2:1 does not necessarily mean that Paul made a visit between writing 1 and 2 Corinthians. It simply means he did not want to return “in sorrow.” The reference in 12:14 and 13:1, 2 to a “third time” does not mean Paul was coming for his third time, it simply means that he was “ready” to come for a third time. He had planned to come (see 1 Cor. 16:5–9), evidently was ready to come (12:14), and then did not actually make the trip (1:15–17, 23).

Thus the background of 2 Corinthians may be pieced together as follows: Paul founded the Corinthian church (Acts 18:1–17; 1 Cor. 3:6, 10). After 18 months he departed from Corinth and wrote a letter which is now lost (see 1 Cor. 5:9). Paul then talked to some members of Chloe’s household about quarrels in the Corinthian church (1 Cor. 1:11). Perhaps at this point, Paul sent Timothy on a trip that included Corinth (1 Cor. 4:17; 16:10). Then a committee arrived from Corinth with questions for Paul (1 Cor. 7:1; 16:7). Then Paul wrote the book now called 1 Corinthians to correct disorders and answer questions from the Corinthian church. Paul probably sent Titus to Corinth with 1 Corinthians. After sending him, Paul became deeply concerned about how the Corinthians would respond to what he had written. He had called them carnal (1 Cor. 3:1) and proud (1 Cor. 4:18). In the meantime, serious difficulties arose at Ephesus, so he left ahead of schedule (see Acts 20:1). He stopped at Troas to preach the gospel (2:12), but because he did not find Titus there and was still eager to hear about the Corinthians, he hastened to Macedonia (2:13). There Paul found Titus. According to an early tradition, Paul wrote 2 Corinthians from Philippi.

Purpose In 1 Corinthians, Paul had instructed the believers in Corinth to discipline an incestuous member (see 1 Cor. 5), and to take a collection for the poor saints in Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:1–4). Titus gave Paul a report that was on the whole encouraging (2:14; 7:5–7). The Corinthians had responded properly to 1 Corinthians. They had faithfully carried out the discipline necessary (2:5–11), but Titus also informed Paul about the presence of “false apostles” (11:13) who accused Paul of walking according to the flesh (1:12, 17; 10:2), being deceitful (2:17; 4:2; 12:16), intimidating the church with his letters (10:9, 10), unjustly mistreating someone to the point of ruining that person (7:2), and defrauding people (7:2). These false teachers probably pointed out that Paul had not returned as he promised, and used this as evidence for his duplicity (1:15–17, 23, 24). They even attempted to discredit Paul by charging that he was raising money to enrich himself (7:2; 8:16–23). Inevitably these accusations raised doubts in the minds of the Corinthians about the integrity of the apostle Paul.

Paul wrote 2 Corinthians out of his concern for the Corinthian church (7:12). He wanted to offer the church some further instructions concerning the repentant offender (2:5–11) as well as about the collection for the poor saints in Jerusalem (9:1–5). However, Paul's main purpose for writing 2 Corinthians was to defend his ministry. Paul's opponents in Corinth had severely attacked him. He wrote this letter to prove that his ministry was sincere and genuine, and to reassert his authority as an apostle of Christ.

Theology Second Corinthians is primarily a personal letter, defending Paul's ministry among the Corinthians and appealing to the factions in the church to reconcile themselves to each other. Yet Paul still uses doctrine to address this church's problems. He speaks of the foundational doctrines of the Christian faith: the Trinity (1:21, 22; 13:14), as well as the deity (1:12, 19; 4:5), humanity (8:9), death (5:19, 21) and resurrection of Christ (5:15). Paul reaffirms that all believers have been sealed by the Holy Spirit (1:22) and have been given the Spirit as a deposit (1:22; 5:5). The believing Corinthians are in Christ (5:7) and Christ is in them (13:3, 4). They will be resurrected (4:14; 5:1–8) and evaluated at the judgment seat of Christ (5:10), where they will either be ashamed (5:3) or rewarded (5:9, 10). Paul points out that part of the reason for the Corinthians' difficulties and divisions was Satan's opposition to the church. He blinds unbelievers to truth (4:4) and uses every opportunity to divide the believers (2:11). That is why Paul exhorts the Corinthians to lead holy lives, to repent of the sins of the past, and to be reconciled to each other. Thus in this personal letter defending his ministry and authority, Paul still weaves doctrine into the fabric of his discussion. For Paul, the essence of Christian faith touched on every facet of life, not only divisions and controversies like those that disturbed the Corinthian church.

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

because Paul indicates that he experienced the comfort of the risen Christ in the midst of his hardships, he reveals Jesus as the source of the believer's comfort: "For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also abounds through Christ" (1:5). Given Paul's personal tragedies, Jesus the Comforter is a major emphasis in this letter. but, look further and you will find much more. Jesus is celebrated as our triumph (2:14), our light (4:6), our reconciliation (5:19), our substitute (5:21), our gift (9:15), and our strength (12:9).

Greeting

Paul, <sup>a</sup>an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and <sup>b</sup>Timothy our brother,

To the church of God which is at Corinth, <sup>c</sup>with all the saints who are in all Achaia:

<sup>2d</sup>Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Comfort in Suffering

<sup>3e</sup>Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, <sup>4</sup>who <sup>f</sup>comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those who are in any <sup>1</sup>trouble, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God. <sup>5</sup>For as <sup>g</sup>the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our <sup>2</sup>consolation also abounds through Christ. <sup>6</sup>Now if we are afflicted, <sup>h</sup>it is for your consolation and salvation, which is effective for enduring the same sufferings which we also suffer. Or if we are comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation. <sup>7</sup>And our hope for you is steadfast, because we know that <sup>i</sup>as you are partakers of the sufferings, so also you will partake of the consolation.

Delivered from Suffering

<sup>8</sup>For we do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, of <sup>j</sup>our <sup>3</sup>trouble which came to us in Asia: that we were burdened beyond measure, above strength, so that we despaired even of life. <sup>9</sup>Yes, we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should <sup>k</sup>not trust in ourselves but in God who raises the dead, <sup>10</sup><sup>l</sup>who delivered us from so great a death, and <sup>4</sup>does deliver us; in whom we trust that He will still deliver us, <sup>11</sup>you also <sup>m</sup>helping together in prayer for us, that thanks may be given by many persons on <sup>5</sup>our behalf <sup>n</sup>for the gift granted to us through many.

Paul's Sincerity

Sparing the Church

1:1, 2 Second Corinthians opens the way most ancient letters did: salutation, author, recipients, and greeting. The author was Paul, an apostle. His identification with Jesus Christ is especially important in this letter because false apostles (11:12–15; 1 Cor. 4:14–16) had opposed him in Corinth and caused confusion in the church. Timothy is listed as coauthor. Paul and Timothy wrote this letter to the church at Corinth and all believers in Achaia, what is today southern Greece. Grace to you and peace was Paul's standard greeting. With it, Paul was expressing his prayer that the Corinthians would experience God's favor and the joy that results from being in a proper relationship with the Lord.

1:3 A word of thanks often followed a letter's salutation (vv. 1, 2). Blessed expresses adoration and praise. Paul called God the God and Father of Christ, even though Jesus is God, as the incarnate Son He was dependent on God the Father. Thus God the Father was His God. Comfort here means "exhortation," "encouragement," "cheer." Paul used this word, sometimes translated "consolation," ten times in the following five verses (vv. 3–7). This is the purpose of our gathering in the church (see Heb. 10:24, 25), and it is Paul's subject in ch. 7 (see 7:12, 13). When they meet, believers should encourage each other in the faith.

1:4 Tribulation means distress or affliction. God comforts us not only to make us comfortable but also to make us comforters. The comfort that God gives to us becomes a gift we can give to others (see 7:6; Acts 9:10–19). Our willingness to share it reflects the sincerity of our faith (see John 13:35).

1:5 Tribulation (v. 4) is called the sufferings of Christ. Christ suffered as a bearer of our sins (1 Pet. 3:18) and as a servant to His disciples (John 13:1–17). Those who follow Christ also will experience the same suffering while they serve (John 15:20), for which they will receive a reward, "a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory" (4:17).

1:8 Paul's commitment to Christ and His service did not by any means exempt him from trouble. by Asia Paul meant the Roman province in western Asia Minor, present-day Turkey. It is not known exactly where Paul was experiencing this trouble, but it was probably at ephesus. Most likely it was the uproar stirred up against Paul by d emetrius the silversmith (see Acts 19:23–41; 1 Cor. 15:31, 32).

1:9, 10 the sentence of death: Paul returns to the theme of death and resurrection several times in this letter (see 2:16; 4:7–14; 5:1–10; 13:4). Here Paul is probably referring to the life-threatening persecution he faced when he preached the gospel (see Acts 14:19, 20).

1:11 As Paul trusted the Lord and as the Corinthians prayed, God delivered him (v. 10). We should pray for one another so that thanks may be given. If many people intercede, many will thank God when He answers. Whenever we face difficulties, we should let others know so they can pray and God can be praised. Answers to prayer should always receive public praise, for our deliverer deserves our adoration.

1:12 Paul's critics accused him of living for his own selfish interest (10:2). They used his failure to return to Corinth as evidence of his lack of sincerity. Paul began the body of this letter by defending his integrity (1:12–2:4). Fleshly wisdom refers to selfish interest (contrast with Paul's admonition and Christ's example of humility in Phil. 2:3–8). Paul's godly sincerity was more abundantly clear to the Corinthians than to others; he spent 18 months with them (Acts 18:11).

1:13 Paul's critics had accused him of being insincere in his letters, of writing one thing and doing the opposite (10:10). Paul denied these charges. He meant what he wrote; there were no hidden agendas in his letters.

1:15 Paul had intended to visit the Corinthians (see 1 Cor. 16:5–7), but he had failed to come. This prompted some of the members of the Corinthian church to accuse him of living according to "fleshly wisdom" (vv. 12, 17). The second benefit was the benefit of two visits, one on his way to Macedonia and the other after leaving (see v. 16).

come to you before, that you might have <sup>a</sup>a second benefit—<sup>16</sup> to pass by way of you to Macedonia, <sup>u</sup>to come again from Macedonia to you, and be helped by you on my way to Judea. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, when I was planning this, did I do it lightly? Or the things I plan, do I plan <sup>v</sup>according to the flesh, that with me there should be Yes, Yes, and No, No? <sup>18</sup>But as God is <sup>w</sup>faithful, our <sup>7</sup>word to you was not Yes and No. <sup>19</sup>For <sup>x</sup>the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us—by me, <sup>y</sup>Silvanus, and <sup>z</sup>Timothy—was not Yes and No, <sup>a</sup>but in Him was Yes. <sup>20</sup><sup>b</sup>For all the promises of God in Him are Yes, and in Him Amen, to the glory of God through us. <sup>21</sup>Now He who establishes us with you in Christ and <sup>c</sup>has anointed us is God, <sup>22</sup>who <sup>d</sup>also has sealed us and <sup>e</sup>given us the Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee.

2 <sup>b</sup> 2 Cor. 7:8

2 But I determined this within myself, <sup>a</sup>that I would not come again to you in sorrow. <sup>2</sup>For if I make you <sup>b</sup>sorrowful, then who is he who makes me glad but the one who is made sorrowful by me?

Forgive the Offender

<sup>3</sup>And I wrote this very thing to you, lest, when I came, <sup>c</sup>I should have sorrow over those from whom I ought to have joy, <sup>d</sup>having confidence in you all that my joy is the joy of you all. <sup>4</sup>For out of much <sup>1</sup>affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you, with many tears, <sup>e</sup>not that you should be grieved, but that you might know the love which I have so abundantly for you.

<sup>5</sup>But <sup>f</sup>if anyone has caused grief, he has not <sup>g</sup>grieved me, but all of you to some extent—not to be too severe. <sup>6</sup>This punishment which was inflicted <sup>h</sup>by the majority is sufficient for such a man,

1:17 when I was planning this: Paul rhetorically asked: When he made plans to visit the Corinthians, was he joking, guided by self-interest, or inconsistent? The Greek text indicates that these questions expected a negative answer. Paul explained later why he changed his plans (see 1:22—2:4).

1:18 before finishing the defense of his personal integrity (1:23—2:4), Paul defended his preaching: it was both true and trustworthy (vv. 18–22). Our word is a reference to teaching of Paul (see v. 19).

1:19 Paul's preaching was not Yes and No at the same time—not inconsistent or contradictory. Instead, his preaching reflected the truthfulness and faithfulness of God, because his teaching was based on the Scriptures and the teachings of Christ.

1:20 All of God's promises concerning Christ are true and trustworthy: a Yes.

sealed

(Gk. sphragizō) (1:22; eph. 1:13; 4:30) Strong's #4972

(Gk. arrabōn) (1:22; 5:5; eph. 1:14) Strong's #728

The Greek word translated sealed here was a technical term denoting a seller's guarantee of the validity of a purchase. As such, God's gift of the Holy Spirit is our guarantee. In the ancient world people commonly branded or marked personal possessions as they sealed letters, with a seal identifying the owner or sender. In this passage, Paul was describing believers as being marked as God's possession with the seal of the Holy Spirit. This seal will remain until we, as God's possession, are completely redeemed (see eph. 1:13, 14; 4:30). Paul often used another term with sealed, namely arrabōn, translated guarantee. This Greek term was commonly used for the promissory first installment that guaranteed a full, final payment. The word was also used by the ancients to refer to an engagement ring. As Christians, we have received the Spirit as a first installment, guarantee, and foretaste of the full inheritance yet to be given (eph. 1:13, 14).

1:21, 22 In the Greek text, anointed is connected to establishes. God confirmed Paul and his fellow workers by anointing them. This anointing probably refers to special empowerment by the Holy Spirit, similar to the anointing John described in 1 John 2:20, 27. Sealed: Sealing indicates ownership and security. The sealing and the giving of the Holy Spirit are also linked. The Holy Spirit is a guarantee, the down payment that there is more spiritual blessing to come and that the believer will receive eternal life.

1:23 Paul had promised to come and use his authority, if necessary, to straighten out the problems at Corinth (1 Cor. 4:21). To spare them the pain of correction and give them an opportunity to correct themselves, he did not come. God is patient with us too, but Paul had warned them previously that their weakness, sickness, and even death was due to their failure to correct themselves (1 Cor. 11:30).

1:24 As an apostle, Paul had authority to discipline (10:2), but it was not his place to order the Corinthians around.

2:1 Paul changed his travel plans partly because he did not want to come to Corinth again...in sorrow. Some have interpreted this verse to mean that Paul had made a painful visit to Corinth and wanted to avoid another one. Although the narrative in Acts does not indicate such a visit, some have proposed that Paul visited Corinth between the writing of the two letters, 1 and 2 Corinthians. However, the text does not necessarily say that he had made a previous painful visit, only that he did not want his next visit to Corinth to be in sorrow.

2:3, 4 I wrote: Traditionally commentators have identified the previous letter to which Paul refers in these verses as 1 Corinthians. Many recent commentators believe that Paul is speaking about a letter written between 1 and 2 Corinthians that has been lost. Some have identified chs. 10–13 as this "lost letter" because the tone of those chapters seems to match the description of these verses, a letter of much affliction and anguish of heart.

2:5–11 Paul wrote of someone who had caused grief. The traditional interpretation has been that this offender was the incestuous man of 1 Cor. 5. Lately some commentators have suggested that the offender may be another person who had wronged Paul during the "painful visit" that he made between the writing of 1 and 2 Corinthians (see vv. 3, 4).

2:6 Punishment means "warning," "censure," or "rebuke." This is a reference to the church discipline Paul had instructed the Corinthians to use on the person mentioned in v. 5. It was tough love, but it worked. The man repented.

<sup>7</sup>i so that, on the contrary, you ought rather to forgive and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one be swallowed up with too much sorrow. <sup>8</sup>Therefore I urge you to reaffirm your love to him. <sup>9</sup>For to this end I also wrote, that I might put you to the test, whether you are *j*obedient in all things. <sup>10</sup>Now whom you forgive anything, I also forgive. For <sup>2</sup>if indeed I have forgiven anything, I have forgiven that one for your sakes in the presence of Christ, <sup>11</sup>lest Satan should take advantage of us; for we are not ignorant of his devices.

Triumph in Christ

<sup>14</sup>Now thanks be to God who always leads us in triumph in Christ, and through us <sup>4</sup>diffuses the fragrance of His knowledge in every place. <sup>15</sup>For we are to God the fragrance of Christ <sup>n</sup>among those who are being saved and <sup>o</sup>among those who are perishing. <sup>16</sup><sup>p</sup>To the one we are the aroma of death leading to death, and to the other the aroma of life leading to life. And <sup>q</sup>who is sufficient for these things? <sup>17</sup>For we are not, as <sup>5</sup>so many, <sup>r</sup>peddling <sup>6</sup>the word of God; but as <sup>s</sup>of sincerity, but as from God, we speak in the sight of God in Christ.

BIBLE TIMES & CULTURE NOTES

The New Testament Canon

The word canon identifies the writings of the prophets, apostles, and their companions which are inspired by God and authoritative for truth pertaining to doctrine and life. The first question for the church to answer about a book's inclusion in the canon accepted by Christians was whether it came through the apostles of the Lord or through persons under the guidance of an apostle, such as Luke. Second, the book had to come with the power of God and be effective for changing lives. Third, it must have been generally accepted by the people of God. This latter test refers first to the ones who received the book, and second to the transmission in the church. Determination of the NT canon took place over a period of years, reaching its final form at the Synod of Carthage in 397.

Christ's Epistle

3 Do <sup>a</sup>we begin again to commend ourselves? Or do we need, as some others, <sup>b</sup>epistles of commendation to you or letters of commendation from you? <sup>2</sup><sup>c</sup>You are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read by all men; <sup>3</sup>clearly you are an epistle of Christ, <sup>d</sup>ministered by us, written not with ink but by the Spirit of the living God, not <sup>e</sup>on tablets of stone but <sup>f</sup>on tablets of flesh, that is, of the heart.

2:7, 8 forgive and comfort him: The purpose of church discipline is repentance and restoration. Forgiveness should always follow the correction, just as Christ instructed (see Matt. 18:15–35).

2:11 One of Satan's devices, or designs, is to cheat the believer out of true forgiveness. The devil will try to divide the church any way he can.

2:12, 13 Troas was a city on the Aegean coast, where Paul had received his call to preach the gospel in Macedonia (see Acts 16:8). Paul had no rest because he was deeply concerned about the Corinthians and was looking for Titus, who was on his way back from Corinth. Paul then crossed the Aegean Sea and arrived in Macedonia, probably at the city of Philippi.

2:14 When Titus gave Paul good news about the Corinthians (see 7:5–7), Paul burst forth with a hymn of praise. This interruption became an extended digression. Paul did not resume the story of his trip to Macedonia and his meeting with Titus until 7:5. verses 2:14—7:4 give a long account of his ministry. God . . . leads us in triumph: Paul used the metaphor of the Roman triumphal procession to praise God. When a Roman general was victorious in a war, he led his army and the captives in a parade down the main street. God is the general who has conquered. Paul is one of His officers following in His train. In the Roman procession, priests carrying censers filled with incense followed the conqueror. Paul the priest set forth the fragrance of Christ by preaching the gospel.

2:15 In v. 14 the fragrance was the knowledge of Christ; here it was Paul, who was a sweet smell to God for his faithfulness in preaching the gospel.

2:16 The leader in a Roman procession was followed by priests (dispensing incense), officers, soldiers, and captives. The aroma of the event represented victorious life to the soldiers and slavery or death to the captives. In the same way, the gospel message gives life to those who accept it, but it represents death and judgment to those who reject it. The answer to Paul's question who is sufficient for these things is given in 3:5. It is God who makes us sufficient.

2:17 Peddling means "to make merchandise of," "to sell." Some people use religion for personal gain. To them the gospel is merchandise to be peddled for profit. Thus they corrupt or compromise it. This is the first reference in this epistle to false teachers. It may be a subtle reference to Paul's opponents. Paul, unlike some others, was sufficient for the gospel ministry because he was sincere; his motives were pure.

3:1 Having again declared his sincerity (2:17), Paul asked if he needed a letter of commendation to back him up, as some others did. The language implies that the false apostles mentioned later in this letter (11:13) had tried to gain acceptance by using such references.

3:2 You are . . . written in our hearts: The Corinthians were Paul's letter of recommendation. These verses do not mean that letters of recommendation should not be used. Paul himself used such letters before his conversion (see Acts 9:1, 2) and after (see 8:22; Rom. 16:1; 1 Cor. 16:10; Col. 4:10). In this case Paul did not need one because he already had one: the believing Corinthians and his ministry among them. Paul's love for the Corinthians was known to all who were acquainted with his ministry. One of the qualifications for ministry is love for people, both God's people and the lost.

3:3 an epistle of Christ: Paul appealed to the Corinthians themselves for proof of his ministry's authenticity. God had changed them—an obvious matter of public record.

The Spirit, Not the Letter

<sup>4</sup>And we have such trust through Christ toward God. <sup>5g</sup>Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think of anything as being from ourselves, but <sup>h</sup>our sufficiency is from God, <sup>6</sup>who also made us sufficient as <sup>i</sup>ministers of <sup>j</sup>the new covenant, not <sup>k</sup>of the letter but of the <sup>l</sup>Spirit; for <sup>l</sup>the letter kills, <sup>m</sup>but the Spirit gives life.

Glory of the New Covenant

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, since we have such hope, <sup>s</sup>we use great boldness of speech— <sup>13</sup>unlike Moses, <sup>t</sup>who put a veil over his face so that the children of Israel could not look steadily at <sup>u</sup>the end of what was passing away. <sup>14</sup>But <sup>v</sup>their minds were blinded. For until this day the same veil remains unlifted in the reading of the Old Testament, because the veil is taken away in Christ. <sup>15</sup>But even to this day, when Moses is read, a veil lies on their heart. <sup>16</sup>Nevertheless <sup>w</sup>when one turns to the Lord, <sup>x</sup>the veil is taken away. <sup>17</sup>Now <sup>y</sup>the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is <sup>z</sup>liberty. <sup>18</sup>But we all, with unveiled face, beholding <sup>a</sup>as in a mirror <sup>b</sup>the glory of the Lord, <sup>c</sup>are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as <sup>2</sup>by the Spirit of the Lord.

The Light of Christ's Gospel

4 Therefore, since we have this ministry, <sup>a</sup>as we have received mercy, we <sup>b</sup>do not lose heart. <sup>2</sup>But we have renounced the hidden things of shame, not walking in craftiness nor <sup>1</sup>handling the word of God deceitfully, but by manifestation of the truth <sup>c</sup>commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God. <sup>3</sup>But even if our gospel is

2 <sup>c</sup> 2 Cor. 5:11 <sup>1</sup> adulterating the word of God

3:4 trust: The Greek word means “confidence” (see 2:14—3:3; Phil. 4:19). Paul was convinced that Christ would make his ministry effective.

3:5, 6 Sufficient means “adequate,” or “competent.” Paul placed his confidence not in himself or his own abilities but in the Lord. This is the answer to the question asked in 2:16, Who is sufficient? The letter is a reference to the old covenant—that is, the Ten Commandments written on stone. The letter kills because all break the law, and the penalty is death.

3:7, 8 Paul lists the first of three contrasts between the OT ministry and the NT ministry (see vv. 7, 9, 11). First, the OT ministry engraved on stones (a reference to the Ten Commandments) was glorious, but the ministry of the Spirit is more glorious, because the glory of the ministry of the Law given through Moses was passing away. Besides, though the Law itself is holy (Rom. 7:12), the ministry of the Law is the ministry of death, whereas the ministry of the Spirit is the ministry of life (v. 6). The Holy Spirit produces eternal life.

new covenant

(Gk. kainē diathēkē) (3:6; Heb. 8:8; 9:15; 1 Cor. 11:25) Strong's #2537; 1242

The concept of a new covenant originated with the promise of the prophet Jeremiah that God would accomplish for His people what the old covenant had failed to do (Jer. 31:31–34). The NT, which itself means “new covenant,” interprets the work of Jesus Christ as bringing this promised new covenant into being. In Luke 22:20, when Jesus ate the Passover meal at the Last Supper with His disciples, He spoke of the cup as “the new covenant in My blood.” The new covenant, a “better covenant . . . established on better promises” (Heb. 8:6), rests directly on the sacrificial work of Christ. The new covenant accomplished what the old could not: removal of sin and cleansing of the conscience (Jer. 31:34; Heb. 10:2, 22).

3:9, 10 The second contrast (see vv. 7, 11) is that the OT ministry was a ministry of condemnation, but the NT ministry is more glorious because it is a ministry of righteousness. God declares righteous those who believe in His Son, and then the Holy Spirit empowers the believer to live righteously. This first work of God is called justification, and the second is called sanctification.

3:11 The third contrast (see vv. 7, 9) is that one ministry is passing while the other ministry remains. The New Covenant would supersede the old covenant established at Mt. Sinai between God and the nation of Israel.

3:12 Paul used boldness of speech, a phrase that means “freedom of speech” or “frankness.” Instead of being fearful or reluctant, Paul was frank and courageous.

3:14, 15 The veil on the face of Moses reminded Paul of another veil. As Moses' veil concealed the fading glory of his ministry, so there is a veil on the hearts of people concealing the fading away of the old covenant.

3:16 taken away: Whenever Moses turned to the Lord, he took off the veil (ex. 34:34). Likewise, we find freedom in Christ by looking to Him.

3:17 the Lord is the Spirit: The Holy Spirit is God Himself, like the Father and like the Son. liberty: The Spirit gives us freedom from sin, death, and the condemnation of the law (vv. 7–12).

3:18 All believers behold the glory of the Lord in the Scripture and are transformed into the image of God. Christ is the image of God (4:4). glory to glory: An ever-growing glory. As believers behold the glory of God in the Word of God, the Spirit of God transforms them into the likeness of Jesus Christ. This is a description of the gradual process of sanctification.

4:1–3 Paul now draws a conclusion from what he said about his ministry in 3:4–18. This ministry is the NT ministry (3:6), a ministry of the Spirit (3:6), of life (3:7), and of righteousness (3:9). It is a glorious ministry (3:7–12) of liberty (3:17). Paul did not achieve this ministry by his own human ability but by God's mercy (3:5, 6). lose heart means “to become weary,” “to become tired,” or “to despair.” No matter how difficult the task or how great the opposition, Paul did not retreat in silence but spoke boldly because he was motivated by the grace of God (3:12; 1 Thess. 2:1–12). Hidden means “secret.”

veiled,<sup>d</sup> it is veiled to those who are perishing,<sup>e</sup> whose minds<sup>e</sup> the god of this age<sup>f</sup> has blinded, who do not believe, lest<sup>g</sup> the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ,<sup>h</sup> who is the image of God, should shine on them.<sup>5i</sup> For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your bondservants for Jesus' sake.<sup>6</sup> For it is the God<sup>k</sup> who commanded light to shine out of darkness, who has<sup>l</sup> shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Jesus also may be manifested in our body.<sup>11</sup> For we who live<sup>s</sup> are always delivered to death for Jesus' sake, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.<sup>12</sup> So then death is working in us, but life in you.

<sup>13</sup> And since we have<sup>t</sup> the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, “I believed and therefore I spoke,” we also believe and therefore speak,<sup>14</sup> knowing that<sup>v</sup> He who raised up the Lord Jesus will also raise us up with Jesus, and will present us with you.<sup>15</sup> For<sup>w</sup> all things are for your sakes, that<sup>x</sup> grace, having spread through the many, may cause thanksgiving to abound to the glory of God.

Seeing the Invisible

<sup>16</sup> Therefore we<sup>y</sup> do not lose heart. Even though our outward man is perishing, yet the inward man is<sup>z</sup> being renewed day by day.<sup>17</sup> For<sup>aa</sup> our light affliction, which is but for a moment, is working for us a far more exceeding and

Paul rejected craftiness—that is, being unscrupulous or handling the word of God deceitfully (see 2:17). Apparently, Paul had been accused of being crafty (12:16) and of being deceitful in the way he preached. Paul defended his ministry because it was based on the truthfulness of the Word of God.

4:4, 5 Unbelievers have a barrier to overcome: the god of this age has blinded their minds, because of Satan's deception, sometimes what the world thinks is obviously true is painfully wrong (see Prov. 14:12). image of God: Jesus Christ is God's Son, and He perfectly reveals God the Father to us. Although human beings have been created in the image of God, through sin they have fallen from a perfect relationship with God. Jesus Christ is restoring believers to what they were originally created to be (3:18; Gen. 1:26). Christ Jesus the Lord: Paul's message is that Jesus is divine. bondservants: Paul describes himself and those who minister with him as slaves to people. They served the Corinthians for Jesus' sake.

4:6 As God commanded the light to shine in the darkness at creation (Gen. 1:3), so he “turns on” the light in peoples' hearts so they can see who Jesus Christ is. People who do not believe are blinded by Satan (v. 4), but believers see the light.

4:8 Hard-pressed is translated afflicted in 1:6. In the Greek text, an identical expression occurs in 7:5, where it is rendered “troubled on every side.” but in 7:5 Paul adds, “Outside were afflictions, inside were fears.” Thus every side means “inside and outside.” Yet Paul was not crushed, a compound Greek word from the words for narrow and space. Perplexed is derived from two Greek words: the word for no plus the word for way. Thus perplexed means “to be at a loss.” One is perplexed when one sees no way out. Yet Paul was not in despair, which means “utterly at a loss.” As believers, we will face trials, but we must remember that God controls trials and uses them to strengthen His people. God's glory is manifested through broken vessels, through people who endure troubles by relying on His power.

4:9 The picture behind the word persecuted is pursuit by someone determined to harm someone else. Paul was not forsaken by the Lord, but he was struck down. This literally happened (Acts 14:19). In Lystra a crowd stoned Paul, leaving him for dead, but he was not destroyed, that is, killed (see 11:23–33). The Lord spared his life so that he could continue to preach the Good News and testify to God's deliverance.

4:10, 11 The expression carrying about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus is explained as being delivered to death for Jesus' sake. In his service for Christ, Paul constantly faced death so that the life of Jesus may also be manifested. God's deliverance of Paul was evidence that Jesus is alive (see 1:8–10). For Paul, the death and resurrection of Jesus was a model for his ministry. In his suffering, he participated in Jesus' suffering and death, but Paul's endurance of all types of hardships produced eternal life in those to whom he preached the gospel. In the same way, Jesus' death was merely a precursor to His resurrection to eternal life.

4:12 life in you: Had Paul not been willing to risk death to bring the gospel to Corinth, the Corinthians would not have received eternal life.

4:13 therefore I spoke: Quoting Ps. 116:10, Paul explained why he was willing to risk his life for the gospel. His belief in the gospel compelled him to tell others.

4:14 He who raised up: Paul's belief was focused upon the God of resurrection power, which motivated him to face difficulties, danger, and death for Christ's sake. knowing: Paul rested in what he knew about God, not how he felt.

4:15 your sakes: All the suffering that Paul endured (vv. 8–11) brought good to others and glory to God.

4:16 Paul concluded that the Corinthians should not lose heart, because God would raise them up with Jesus (v. 14). Here is a great principle. A proper focus on our glorious future with Christ will empower us to endure any kind of trouble. The outward man is the physical body, called in this section “the earthen vessel” (v. 7), “the body” (v. 10), “mortal flesh” (v. 11), “earthly house” (5:1), and “tent” (5:1).

4:17 Working means “producing,” or “accomplishing.” Afflictions produce glory, but the glory is out of proportion to the affliction: trials are light and temporary compared to the eternal glory we will ### earthen vessels

(Gk. ostrakinos skeuos) (4:7; 2 Tim. 2:20) Strong's #3749; 4632

This Greek phrase means “clay pots.” In ancient times it was a common practice to bury treasures inside clay jars. Two recent discoveries of biblical manuscripts—the Chester Beatty Papyrus and some of the dead Sea Scrolls—reveal that these manuscripts were hidden away in jars for nearly two thousand years. As these treasures were enclosed in earthen vessels, so the indwelling Christ lives within our earthly bodies.

eternal weight of glory, <sup>18b</sup> while we do not look at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporary, but the things which are not seen are eternal.

Assurance of the Resurrection

5 For we know that if <sup>a</sup> our earthly house, this tent, is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house <sup>b</sup> not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. <sup>2</sup> For in this <sup>c</sup> we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed with our <sup>2</sup> habitation which is from heaven, <sup>3</sup> if indeed, <sup>d</sup> having been clothed, we shall not be found naked. <sup>4</sup> For we who are in this tent groan, being burdened, not because we want to be unclothed, <sup>e</sup> but further clothed, that mortality may be swallowed up by life. <sup>5</sup> Now He who has prepared us for this very thing is God, who also <sup>f</sup> has given us the Spirit as <sup>3</sup> a guarantee.

<sup>6</sup> So we are always confident, knowing that while we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord. <sup>7</sup> For <sup>g</sup> we walk by faith, not by sight. <sup>8</sup> We are confident, yes, <sup>h</sup> well pleased rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord.

The Judgment Seat of Christ

<sup>9</sup> Therefore we make it our aim, whether present or absent, to be well pleasing to Him. <sup>10i</sup> For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, <sup>j</sup> that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad. <sup>11</sup> Knowing, therefore, <sup>k</sup> the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are well known to God, and I also trust are well known in your consciences.

Be Reconciled to God

<sup>12</sup> For <sup>l</sup> we do not commend ourselves again to you, but give you opportunity <sup>m</sup> to boast on our behalf, that you may have an answer for those who boast in appearance and not in heart. <sup>13</sup> For <sup>n</sup> if we are beside ourselves, it is for God; or if we are of sound mind, it is for you. <sup>14</sup> For the love of Christ compels us, because we judge thus: that <sup>o</sup> if One died for all, then all died; <sup>15</sup> and He died for all, <sup>p</sup> that those who live should live no longer for themselves, but for Him who died for them and rose again.

<sup>16q</sup> Therefore, from now on, we regard no one according to the flesh. Even though we have known Christ according receive (see Mark 10:30). Paul's focus on the future enabled him to properly assess problems and see how small they were compared to their eternal results.

4:18 Look means "to keep one's eye on," "to consider," or "to contemplate." The noun form of this verb means "goal" (for example, in Phil. 3:14). In order not to lose heart, the believer needs to shift his or her focus from that which is seen to that which is not seen, from temporary problems to the glorious eternal rewards he or she will receive (v. 17).

5:2 Suffering makes believers groan with longing for their glorious future in heaven (see Rom. 8:22, 23).

5:3 not be found naked: Paul looks forward not only to his resurrected body but also to the reward he would receive in the future.

5:4 The believer's future experience is called life, meaning the full experience of eternal life in Christ. The life experience of the future is being determined by how we invest this life today (see 4:17).

5:5 guarantee: The Holy Spirit's work in believers' lives can be compared to a deposit or down payment (see 1:22). The presence of the Holy Spirit assures believers that God has purchased them. They are no longer slaves to sin, but His children. They will receive all the rights and privileges of children of God when their Savior returns.

5:6 because the believer has God's guarantee (v. 5), he or she can be confident, a word that means "to be of good cheer" or "to be of courage."

5:7 Sight means "appearance." Christ is not physically present, so believers live by faith (see John 20:29).

5:8 After the parenthetical thought of v. 7, Paul resumes where he left off in v. 6. He was not only confident (v. 6) that he was going to be with the Lord, he was pleased that he would be with the Lord after his death. This is one of the passages in the NT that indicates where believers will go immediately after their death; they will be with Jesus in heaven (see also Phil. 1:23). Jesus' promise to the repentant criminal on the cross next to Him indicates this: "Today you will be with Me in Paradise" (Luke 23:43).

5:9, 10 Wanting to be with Christ (v. 8) produces the ambition to please Him (see Luke 19:17). We strive to please the Lord not only because we know we will be with Him (v. 8) but also because He will evaluate our work—whether good or bad—and reward us accordingly. The person unconcerned about doing good deeds shows a grave lack of vision. Appear means "to make visible" or "to make known." Here it may refer to nothing more than an appearance, such as appearing in court before a judge. Or it may mean believers will stand before the Lord with their true character revealed. Receive means "to receive back," "to get an equivalent," or "to get one's due." The believer will be either approved or ashamed (see 5:3; Luke 19:11–26; 1 Cor. 3:14, 15; 9:27; 1 John 2:28; 2 John 7, 8).

5:11 Therefore indicates that this verse is a conclusion drawn from the previous one. The terror of the Lord is the fear of standing before the Lord and having one's life exposed and evaluated. The reality of giving an account to the Lord motivated Paul to persuade people, in this context meaning to convince the Corinthians of his sincerity and integrity.

5:12 Paul was defending the integrity of his ministry, not to win the approval of the Corinthians again (see 3:1), but so the Corinthians could answer those who bragged about their outward appearance, such as the false apostles present among them (11:18). Opportunity literally means "a base of operation." This letter would be a foundation or base for those who wanted to defend Paul's authority and ministry in the Corinthian church.

5:13 If Paul was beside himself in exposing himself to danger, it was for God. If he was of a sound mind, it was for the sake of the Corinthians. The point is that Paul's motive for ministry was for the glory of God and the good of others, not his own glory. Thus the Corinthians could justly defend him.

5:14 The phrase the love of Christ can mean either (1) Christ's love for us or (2) our love for Christ. The last part of the verse indicates that Paul had in mind Christ's love for us. Died for all refers to Christ's death for all believers. all died: In Christ believers die to sin (see Rom. 6:1–14).

5:16 believers should not evaluate Christ or anyone else according to the flesh, that is, the way people typically evaluate each other (v. 12).

The Judgment Seat of Christ

What does it involve?	Only believers will appear before the judgment seat of Christ. The “great white throne” judgment described in Rev. 20:11–15 is for unbelievers.
What is it?	At his judgment seat, Jesus will determine a believer’s faithfulness to Him and reward each person appropriately (see 1 Cor. 3:11–15). This will not be a determination of one’s eternal destiny; that issue is decided the moment a person believes in Christ.
Who will preside?	The risen Christ.
Where will it occur?	Heaven (5:8).
When will it occur?	The Scriptures do not specify when this will occur. It is obviously at a time when all Christians are gathered in heaven.
What is the nature of these eternal rewards?	Some commentators consider the various “crowns” mentioned in the New Testament as the rewards (1 Cor. 9:25; 2 Tim. 4:8; James 1:12; 1 Pet. 5:4; Rev. 2:10). These will eventually be placed before the throne of God (Rev. 4:10). Others point to the parable of the minas in Luke 19:11–27 and see the prospects of serving and ruling in eternity as being directly tied to our faithfulness on earth. We do not know the exact nature of the “new heavens and new earth” or “the kingdom of God.” But the Scriptures do seem to imply that eternity will involve serving and reigning (Matt. 25:21, 23; Rev. 22:3, 5).
Why is this doctrine significant?	Knowing that in the future we will stand before Jesus Christ and face a review of our lives should motivate us to live righteously and faithfully in the present.
How can we prepare for our eternal “audit”?	Walk by faith, not by sight (5:7). Develop a longing for heaven (5:8). Make it our chief aim in life to please the Lord (5:9). Keep the judgment seat of Christ in view (5:10).

to the flesh, <sup>r</sup>yet now we know Him thus no longer. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, if anyone <sup>s</sup>is in Christ, he is <sup>t</sup>a new creation; <sup>u</sup>old things have passed away; behold, all things have become <sup>v</sup>new. <sup>18</sup>Now all things are of God, <sup>w</sup>who has reconciled us to Himself through Jesus Christ, and has given us the ministry of reconciliation, <sup>19</sup>that is, that <sup>x</sup>God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, not <sup>4</sup>imputing their trespasses to them, and has committed to us the word of reconciliation.

<sup>20</sup>Now then, we are <sup>y</sup>ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ’s behalf, be reconciled to God. <sup>21</sup>For <sup>z</sup>He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become <sup>a</sup>the righteousness of God in Him.

Marks of the Ministry

6 We then, as <sup>a</sup>workers together with Him also <sup>b</sup>plead with you not to receive the grace of God in vain. <sup>2</sup>For He says:

5:17 in Christ: Paul is presenting the results of Christ’s death for the believer and the believer’s death with Him (see v. 14), because believers are united with Jesus both in His death and resurrection, they participate in the new creation. That is, they receive the benefits of being restored by Christ to what God had originally created them to be (Gen. 1:26; 1 Cor. 15:45–49). All things have become new: A believer’s life should change, because he or she is being transformed into the likeness of Christ (3:18). Instead of living for oneself, a believer lives for Christ (v. 15). Instead of evaluating others with the values of the world, a believer looks at this world through the eyes of faith (v. 16).

5:18 reconciled us to Himself: because of Christ’s propitiation, His satisfaction of God’s righteous demands, God is now able to turn toward us. God has made us new creatures in Christ and has given us the ministry of reconciliation, a word meaning “a change of relation from enmity to peace.” We who have been reconciled to God have the privilege of telling others that they can be reconciled to Him as well.

5:19 God could change His relationship toward us because our sins have been imputed (reckoned) to Christ, instead of to us. In other words, God placed our sins on Christ, who knew no sin. His death was in our place and for our sins. If we believe in Jesus, God counts Jesus’ righteousness as our righteousness (see v. 21). The word of reconciliation that has been entrusted to us is to tell all people that God wants to restore them to a relationship with Himself (see Rom 5:8). This is the Good News that everyone needs to hear.

5:20 Ambassadors are more than messengers. They are representatives of the sovereign who sent them. In the Roman empire, there were two kinds of provinces, the senatorial and the imperial. The senatorial provinces were generally peaceful and friendly to Rome. They had submitted to Roman rule and were under the control of the Senate. The imperial provinces, however, had been acquired later, and were not as peaceful. These provinces were under the authority of the emperor himself. Syria, including Judea, was such an imperial province. To these provinces, the emperor sent ambassadors to govern and maintain peace. Christians have been called by their King to serve as ambassadors in a world that is in rebellion against Him. However, God has given His representatives a message of peace and of reconciliation.

5:21 no sin: Jesus never did anything wrong. Yet He died for our sins, so that we could be declared righteous, that is to say, justified (v. 19).

6:1 plead: In 5:20, Paul describes God as pleading for people to be reconciled to Him. Here Paul pleads (the same Greek word occurs in 5:20) with the Corinthians also. in vain: If believers live for themselves (5:15), they will have received the grace of God, but they will miss out on a heavenly reward for their service to Him (see 5:10; 1 Cor. 3:15). In Phil. 2:12 Paul encourages those who have been saved to work out or develop their salvation. The Corinthians were failing at this very point. They were saved and stuck, so to speak. They were not continually working out their salvation. Paul was encouraging them to consider their lives and realign them more closely to Christ.

6:2 Paul quoted Is. 49:8 to remind the Corinthians that God was ready to listen to them and to help them. He would deliver them, if only they turned to Him in faith.

Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.

<sup>3d</sup> We give no offense in anything, that our ministry may not be blamed. <sup>4</sup> But in all things we commend ourselves <sup>e</sup> as ministers of God: in much <sup>1</sup> patience, in tribulations, in needs, in distresses, <sup>5f</sup> in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors, in sleeplessness, in fastings; <sup>6</sup> by purity, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the Holy Spirit, by <sup>2</sup> sincere love, <sup>7g</sup> by the word of truth, by <sup>h</sup> the power of God, by <sup>i</sup> the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left, <sup>8</sup> by honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report; as deceivers, and yet true; <sup>9</sup> as unknown, and yet well known; <sup>k</sup> as dying, and behold we live; <sup>l</sup> as chastened, and yet not killed; <sup>10</sup> as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many <sup>m</sup> rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

And what <sup>5</sup> communion has light with darkness? <sup>15</sup> And what accord has Christ with Belial? Or what part has a believer with an unbeliever? <sup>16</sup> And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For <sup>s</sup> you <sup>6</sup> are the temple of the living God.  daughters,
 Says the LORD Almighty.”

<sup>7</sup> Therefore, <sup>a</sup> having these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

6:3 Offense means “an occasion of stumbling.” Paul did not do anything that would cause others to stumble in their faith. be blamed: The word means “to find fault with” and implies ridicule. In other words, no one could find fault with Paul’s work among the Corinthians.

6:4–10 In many different types of situations (see 11:23–28), Paul and his coworkers conducted themselves as righteous ministers of God. These verses list the different types of experiences in which Paul and his fellow workers found themselves: (1) vv. 4, 5 describe the suffering they endured; (2) vv. 6, 7 describe how they conducted themselves; and (3) vv. 8–10 describe their paradoxical experiences.

righteousness of God

(Gk. dikaionē theou) (5:21; Rom. 1:17; 3:21, 22; 10:3) Strong’s #1343; 2316

The righteousness of God is a righteousness that comes from God; it is God’s way of making a sinner right, or just, before Him. Luther defined the righteousness of God as a “righteousness valid before God, which a man may possess through faith.” Luther said that this righteousness is the first and last need of any sinful individual. The word righteousness in Paul’s letter to the Romans carries a double sense, and may be labeled both legal and moral. In other words, the word refers to the legal action God takes in declaring believers righteous, but it also refers to perfect righteousness, a characteristic that can only be attributed to God Himself in Scripture and is the lofty standard for human behavior. This lofty standard cannot be achieved by anyone’s effort, so God has to act to bring His people into a right relationship with Himself.

6:4, 5 In much patience is followed by three triplets that indicate specific situations in which their endurance was demonstrated. Sleeplessness is not insomnia but going without sleep voluntarily in order to spend more time in ministry (see 11:27).

6:11–7:4 This section is the high point of emotion for the whole epistle. It begins and ends with Paul asking the Corinthians to open their hearts to God. The accusations against Paul and their own sinful entanglements resulted in the Corinthians withdrawing from him, at least emotionally. He had been totally open to them, but they had not responded to him in the same spirit.

6:11 O Corinthians: Paul addressed his readers by name on only two other occasions (Gal. 3:1, Phil. 4:15). When he did this he was expressing strong emotion.

6:12, 13 The suspicions planted by Paul’s enemies had restricted their affections for Paul (see 2 Tim. 4:10). Paul had been open with the Corinthians (v. 11) and asked that they be open with him.

6:14 unequally yoked: The Corinthians were shutting Paul out of their hearts (vv. 11–13) and developing a dangerous affection for the false apostles (11:4, 13; see Prov. 4:23).

6:15 The term Belial for Satan only occurs here in the NT. It refers to one who is vile and wicked and causes destruction.

6:16 you are the temple: A reference to Lev. 26:11, 12 as well as perhaps other passages such as Jer. 32:38 and ezek. 37:27, to remind the Corinthians of their relationship with God. Since the Holy Spirit was living in them, they were God’s new dwelling place (1 Cor. 6:19).

6:17, 18 verse 17 is derived from Is. 52:11 with words from ezek. 20:34 added. verse 18 is taken from 2 Sam. 7:14 with words added from Is. 43:6. come out . . . be separate: Paul was not encouraging isolation from unbelievers (see 1 Cor. 9:5–13) but discouraging compromise with their sinful values and practices. He was urging them (and us) to maintain integrity in the world just as Christ did (see John 15:14–16; Phil. 2:14–16).

7:1 based on the promises that God would receive them with favor (6:17) and provide for and protect them as a father does his children

The Corinthians' Repentance

We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, <sup>b</sup>we have cheated no one. <sup>3</sup>I do not say this to condemn; for <sup>c</sup>I have said before that you are in our hearts, to die together and to live together. <sup>4d</sup>Great is my boldness of speech toward you, <sup>e</sup>great is my boasting on your behalf. <sup>f</sup>I am filled with comfort. I am exceedingly joyful in all our tribulation.

<sup>8</sup>For even if I made you <sup>l</sup>sorry with my letter, I do not regret it; <sup>m</sup>though I did regret it. For I perceive that the same epistle made you sorry, though only for a while. <sup>9</sup>Now I rejoice, not that you were made sorry, but that your sorrow led to repentance. For you were made sorry in a godly manner, that you might suffer loss

(6:18), Paul exhorted the Corinthians to cleanse themselves from all filthiness. In other words, they were to wash away all dirt from both flesh and spirit, meaning those actions and attitudes that came from having the false teachers in their midst (6:14). The point of cleansing is perfecting holiness. This means dedicating ourselves to Christ and living righteously (see Heb. 6:1).

7:2 With the admonition open your hearts Paul resumed the discussion of 6:11–13. cheated: Perhaps the false teachers were charging that Paul had collected money for the poor saints at Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:1–4) but had spent it on himself.

7:3 I do not say this to condemn: Paul was not blaming anyone; he was defending himself.

7:4 Paul was filled with comfort and joy because of the report he received from Titus about the Corinthians (see v. 7).

7:5 Paul cared very much for the Corinthians. our bodies had no rest: earlier he wrote, “I had no rest in my spirit” in Troas (2:12, 13). troubled on every side: The same expression, though translated differently, is used in 4:8 to express Paul’s suffering in his ministry.

7:6 The Lord comforted, that is, encouraged Paul by allowing him to see Titus again.

7:7 but also by: Paul was encouraged to learn how Titus had been received by the Corinthians and had seen that they were accepting Paul’s exhortations.

7:8, 9 Paul regretted that he had to write a “severe letter” to the Corinthians, but since it did cause the Corinthians to repent and turn to God, his sorrow was transformed into joy. Traditionally this letter has been identified as 1 Corinthians, but some recent commentators have suggested that it was another letter that Paul wrote after 1 Corinthians, but that has not been preserved (see 2:3, 4).

A Faithful Minister

In his most autobiographical epistle, Paul defends his ministry, giving us clear insights into the numerous difficulties he faced as a servant of Christ.

Reference	Difficulties Paul Faced	Paul's Response
1:3–7	Tribulation, sufferings	Turned to God for comfort
1:8–11	Life-threatening trouble	Trusted in God
1:12–24	Charges by his opponents that he was unreliable and untrustworthy	Explained his pure motives for changing his itinerary and postponing his trip to Corinth
2:1–4	Emotional anguish over an unpleasant visit with the Corinthian church	Expressed his great love
2:5–12	An unpleasant church discipline situation	Urged forgiveness and comfort for the repentant sinner
2:17; 4:2, 5	Motives suspected	Clarified his sincere motives
4:7–5:11	Trials, persecution, and pressure	Persevered, clinging to the truth that Jesus was being manifested and God was being glorified
6:3–10	Apostolic credentials questioned	Recited his record of faithfulness in a wide variety of difficult circumstances
7:2	Allegations of misconduct	Maintained innocence; stated his affection; pleaded for a more loving response
7:5–7	Conflict, fear, and discouragement	Found comfort in the arrival of Titus and in the news that the Corinthians cared about his situation
8:1–9:15	Having to write about the uncomfortable subject of giving	Cited the sterling example of the Macedonian Christians; courageously challenged the Corinthians to give
10:9–11	Criticism from the false apostles	Refused to compare; sought the Lord’s commendation
11:5–33	Comparisons to the false apostles	Set forth his long history of sacrificial service
12:1–10	A “thorn in the flesh”	Prayed for the removal of this ongoing, unpleasant affliction, then realized it was God’s grace to him, forcing him to rely on God’s strength and not his own from us in nothing. <sup>10</sup>For <sup>n</sup>godly sorrow produces repentance leading to salvation, not to be regretted; <sup>o</sup>but the sorrow of the world produces death. <sup>11</sup>For observe this very thing, that you sorrowed in a godly manner: What diligence it produced in you, what <sup>p</sup>clearing of yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what vehement desire, what zeal, what vindication! In all things you proved yourselves to be <sup>q</sup>clear in this matter. <sup>12</sup>Therefore, although I wrote to you, I did not do it for the sake of him who had done the wrong, nor for the sake of him who suffered wrong, <sup>r</sup>but that our care for you in the sight of God might appear to you.

The Joy of Titus

<sup>13</sup>Therefore we have been comforted in your comfort. And we rejoiced exceedingly more for the joy of Titus, because his spirit <sup>s</sup>has been refreshed by you all.

<sup>14</sup>For if in anything I have boasted to him about you, I am not ashamed. ### Excel in Giving

8 Moreover, brethren, we make known to you the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia: <sup>2</sup>that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and <sup>a</sup>their deep poverty abounded in the riches of their liberality. <sup>3</sup>For I bear witness that according to their ability, yes, and beyond their ability, they were freely willing, <sup>4</sup>imploping us with much urgency <sup>v</sup>that we would receive the gift and <sup>b</sup>the fellowship of the ministering to

7:10 godly sorrow produces repentance: True sorrow for sins leads to a change of mind and a turning to God. Since repentance means turning to God, who is the Savior, repentance results in spiritual deliverance, or salvation (see 6:2). but the kind of sorrow the world experiences produces death.

7:11 sorrowed in a godly manner: Although Paul had been harsh in his previous letter (see v. 8), he generously praised the Corinthians for how they responded to his admonition.

7:12 care: Paul wrote the “severe letter” (see v. 8) not only to correct the one who had sinned but also to tell the Corinthians that he cared for them (see 1 Cor. 4:14).

8:1—9:15 before, Paul had instructed the Corinthians to collect money for the believers in Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:1–4). The Corinthians had begun the collection (v. 10; 9:1, 2) and now Paul urges them to finish it (9:5).

8:1 Macedonia corresponds to the northern part of present-day Greece. Paul had established churches in the Macedonian cities of Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea.

8:2–5 The Macedonians were a great example of giving because they gave (1) during affliction, (2) in spite of great poverty, (3) with great joy, (4) beyond their means, and (5) freely. In fact, (6) they pleaded for the privilege of sharing their wealth with other believers, and (7) they gave themselves to the Lord and to others.

New Testament Giving

The most detailed passage on giving in the New Testament is found in 2 Corinthians (chs. 8; 9). The primary reason that Paul addressed this topic here was that false teachers in Corinth were questioning Paul’s motives for ministry. evidently they were suggesting that Paul was pocketing contributions earmarked for the poor believers in Jerusalem. Consequently the Corinthians, despite their announced willingness to help, had not donated to the cause.

Taking pen in hand, Paul defended his integrity (1:12). Using the churches in Macedonia as his example, Paul gave the Corinthians a wonderful summary of why and how believers ought to give. Here are the highlights of Paul’s sermon:

First, who should give? All believers can and should contribute to the cause of Christ. The church at Macedonia was notoriously poor, yet they asked for the privilege of being allowed to give (8:4) out of “their deep poverty” (8:2).

In what spirit should we give? We ought to give willingly (8:12; 9:2) and cheerfully, “not grudgingly or of necessity” (9:7). It is a privilege to share in the work of God. Moreover, it is the appropriate response to God’s “incredible gift,” His own Son (9:15).

How much should we give? Nowhere does the New Testament give us a specified percentage or amount. In this passage, Paul simply exhorts each of the members of the Corinthian church to give “as he purposes in his heart” (9:7). Ideally, our gifts would be “generous” (9:5) and given with “liberality” (9:11). The overall tenor of this passage suggests sacrificial giving. Again, by way of example, the Macedonians, like the poor widow praised by Christ in Luke 21:1–4, gave not merely their “leftovers,” but more than they could afford (8:3).

How should monetary gifts be handled? Paul took special care to explain that the Corinthians’ contributions would be handled with integrity by Titus (8:16–20, 23) and another unnamed brother (8:22). These were men of the highest character. They were trustworthy and above reproach in the handling of money. We should entrust our church finances to men of this caliber.

Why is giving so important? In Paul’s words, it tests the sincerity of our love for God and others (8:7, 8). To paraphrase the words of Christ (Matt. 6:19–21), how we handle material wealth is a barometer of our spiritual health.

What will be the results of our giving? We should not give primarily to get, but Paul makes it clear that giving does lead to abundance. Cheerful givers experience God’s love in a special way (9:7). They enjoy the spiritual blessing of participating in a rich harvest of righteousness (9:10).

the saints. <sup>5</sup>And not only as we had hoped, but they first <sup>c</sup>gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us by the <sup>d</sup>will of God. <sup>6</sup>So <sup>e</sup>we urged Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also complete this grace in you as well. <sup>7</sup>But as <sup>f</sup>you abound in everything—in faith, in speech, in knowledge, in all diligence, and in your love for us—see <sup>g</sup>that you abound in this grace also.

Christ Our Pattern

<sup>8</sup>*h*I speak not by commandment, but I am testing the sincerity of your love by the diligence of others. <sup>9</sup>For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>i</sup>that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that you through His poverty might become <sup>j</sup>rich.

<sup>10</sup>And in this <sup>k</sup>I give advice: <sup>l</sup>It is to your advantage not only to be doing what you began and <sup>m</sup>were desiring to do a year ago; <sup>11</sup>but now you also must complete the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to desire it, so there also may be a completion out of what you have. <sup>12</sup>For <sup>n</sup>if there is first a willing mind, it is accepted according to what one has, and not according to what he does not have.

<sup>13</sup>For I do not mean that others should be eased and you burdened; <sup>14</sup>but by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may supply their lack, that their abundance also may supply your lack—that there may be equality. <sup>15</sup>As it is written, <sup>o</sup>“He who gathered much had nothing left over, and he who gathered little had no lack.”

Collection for the Judean Saints

<sup>16</sup>But thanks be to God who <sup>2</sup>puts the same earnest care for you into the heart of Titus. <sup>17</sup>For he not only accepted the exhortation, but being more diligent, he

<sup>22</sup>And we have sent with them our brother whom we have often proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, because of the great confidence which we have in you. <sup>23</sup>If anyone inquires about <sup>t</sup>Titus, he is my partner and fellow worker concerning you. Or if our brethren are inquired about, they are <sup>u</sup>messengers<sup>3</sup> of the churches, the glory of Christ. <sup>24</sup>Therefore show to them, <sup>4</sup>and before the churches the proof of your love and of our <sup>v</sup>boasting on your behalf.

Administering the Gift

<sup>9</sup>Now concerning <sup>a</sup>the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you; <sup>2</sup>for I know your willingness, about which I boast of you to the Macedonians, that Achaia was ready a <sup>b</sup>year ago; and your zeal has stirred up the majority. <sup>3</sup>Yet I have sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this respect, that, as I said, you may be ready; <sup>4</sup>lest if some Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we (not to mention you!) should be ashamed of this <sup>1</sup>confident boasting. <sup>5</sup>Therefore I thought it necessary to <sup>2</sup>exhort the brethren to go to you ahead of time, and prepare your generous gift beforehand, which you had previously

8:6 Titus had begun the collection when he was in Corinth (2:13; 7:6, 7, 13–15). Paul wanted him to complete it.

8:7 The Corinthians had an abundance of spiritual gifts and graces (1 Cor. 1:4–7). They had the gift of faith (1 Cor. 12:9; 13:2), gifts of speech, such as prophecy (1 Cor. 1:5; 12:10), and the gift of knowledge (1 Cor. 1:5; 12:8). They were also blessed with diligence (7:11) and love for Paul (7:7).

8:8 testing: Generosity is the natural result of sincere love.

8:9 The Corinthians did not need a command (v. 8), because the example of Christ taught them about sacrificial giving. He was rich: See John 17:5; Col. 1:16. He became poor: See Phil. 2:7, 8 for an eloquent description of all that Jesus gave up to come to this earth.

You . . . might become rich refers to the spiritual riches that Jesus gives to all who place their trust in Him: He offers forgiveness, justification, regeneration, eternal life, and glorification. Jesus purchases us from slavery to sin and makes us children of God. He gives us the right and privilege to approach God with requests and praise.

8:10 Advantage means “profit.” Giving now would profit the Corinthians at the judgment seat of Christ (see Phil. 4:17). Such giving is an investment (see Matt. 6:19–21; Rev. 22:12).

8:16, 17 thanks be to God: Paul asked Titus to go, but Titus went of his own accord, probably at his own cost. Paul attributed this desire in the heart of Titus to God (see Phil. 2:12, 13).

8:18 The brother has been variously identified as Luke, barnabas, Silas, Timothy, John Mark, and others. The churches of the first century knew who he was, but no one today knows.

8:20, 21 These honest men were sent to handle the collection in order to do what was honorable before the Lord and men, and to prevent anyone from blaming Paul for mishandling the funds. verse 21 is a quotation from Prov. 3:4.

9:1 In this verse, the collection for the Jerusalem believers is called the ministering to the saints.

9:4 Paul was in Macedonia when he wrote this letter (2:13; 7:5). When he left Macedonia to come to Corinth, some of the Macedonians would no doubt come with him. He did not want them to find that the Corinthians had not completed the collection (8:11) and thus be ashamed.

9:5 The brethren mentioned here are the delegation of 8:16–20.

promised, that it may be ready as a matter of generosity and not as a <sup>3</sup>grudging obligation.

The Cheerful Giver

<sup>6d</sup>But this I say: He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows <sup>4</sup>bountifully will also reap <sup>4</sup>bountifully. <sup>7</sup>So let each one give as he purposes in his heart, <sup>6</sup>not grudgingly or of <sup>5</sup>necessity; for <sup>f</sup>God loves a cheerful giver. <sup>8g</sup>And God is able to make all grace abound toward you, that you, always having all sufficiency in all things, may have an abundance for every good work. <sup>9</sup>As it is written:

<sup>h</sup>“*He has dispersed abroad,
He has given to the poor;
His righteousness endures forever.*”

<sup>10</sup>Now <sup>6</sup>may He who <sup>i</sup>supplies seed to the sower, and bread for food, <sup>7</sup>supply and multiply the seed you have sown and increase the fruits of your <sup>j</sup>righteousness, <sup>11</sup>while you are enriched in everything for all liberality, <sup>k</sup>which causes thanksgiving through us to God. <sup>12</sup>For the administration of this service not only <sup>l</sup>supplies the needs of the saints, but also is abounding through many thanksgivings to God, <sup>13</sup>while, through the proof of this ministry, they <sup>m</sup>glorify God for the obedience of your confession to the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal <sup>n</sup>sharing with them and all men, <sup>14</sup>and by their prayer for you, who long for you because of the exceeding <sup>o</sup>grace of God in you. <sup>15</sup>Thanks be to God <sup>p</sup>for His indescribable gift!

The Spiritual War

10 Now <sup>a</sup>I, Paul, myself am pleading with you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ—<sup>b</sup>who in presence am lowly among you, but being absent am bold toward you. <sup>2</sup>But I beg you <sup>c</sup>that when I am present I may not be bold with that confidence by which I intend to be bold against some, who think of us as if we walked according to the flesh. <sup>3</sup>For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war according to the flesh. <sup>4d</sup>For the weapons <sup>e</sup>of our warfare are not <sup>1</sup>carnal but <sup>f</sup>mighty in God <sup>g</sup>for pulling down strongholds, <sup>5h</sup>casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ, <sup>6i</sup>and being ready to punish all disobedience when <sup>j</sup>your obedience is fulfilled.

Reality of Paul's Authority

<sup>7k</sup>Do you look at things according to the outward appearance? <sup>1</sup>If anyone is convinced in himself that he is Christ's, let him again consider this in himself, that just as he is Christ's, even <sup>2</sup>so <sup>m</sup>we are Christ's. <sup>8</sup>For even if I should boast somewhat more <sup>n</sup>about our authority, which the Lord gave <sup>3</sup>us for <sup>4</sup>edification and not for your destruction, <sup>o</sup>I shall not be ashamed—<sup>9</sup>lest I seem to terrify you by letters. <sup>10</sup>“For his letters,” they say, “are weighty and powerful, but <sup>p</sup>his bodi-

2 Cor. 12:7; Gal. 4:13

9:6 reap sparingly: The law of the harvest is referred to repeatedly in Scripture (see Prov. 11:24, 25; 19:17; Luke 6:38; Gal. 6:7). Paul applied it to giving. Giving is like sowing seed. The amount of the harvest is determined by the amount of the seed sown.

9:7 Knowing the law of the harvest (v. 6), each believer should give as he purposes in his heart. The believer is to give freely and cheerfully, not out of compulsion, and without regret.

9:8 If we give, God is able to give us more so that we can perform other good works. In other words, God sees to it that the generous giver will not suffer want. Instead, God generously provides for those who give so that they can continue to do so.

9:10 This verse is Paul's prayer for God's blessing to be poured out on the Corinthians. The words supplies seed to the sower, and bread for food are adapted from Is. 55:10. The latter part of the verse is a reflection of Hos. 10:12.

9:13 They refers to the Jerusalem Christians.

9:14 their prayer for you: Paul anticipated that God's grace would lead the Jerusalem Christians to pray for the Corinthian believers and to be deeply concerned about them.

9:15 God's indescribable gift is His Son, Jesus Christ. Our gifts can never compare to God's sacrifice for us.

10:1 I, Paul, myself: Timothy and Paul together wrote the first nine chapters of this letter (1:1). In this section, Paul alone addresses the Corinthians. in presence . . . lowly . . . absent . . . bold: This is a quotation from Paul's critics in the Corinthian church. They accused him of being weak when present, and bold only in his letters (see vv. 9, 10).

10:2 by saying I beg, Paul was gently asking the Corinthians to deal with his critics before he came so that he would not have to be stern with them. Paul's critics said that he walked according to the flesh and that he was thinking only of himself when he did not come as promised (see 1:17).

10:4, 5 strongholds . . . high thing: Overlooking ancient Corinth was a hill 1,857 feet high. On top of it was a fortress. Paul used that imagery as an illustration of the spiritual warfare he waged. He destroyed strongholds, cast down towers, and took captives. The fortress, towers, and captives represent the arguments, thoughts, and plans that Paul was opposing. Paul cast down all rationalizations. He took captive to the obedience of Christ every perception and intention of the heart that was against God. Our actions reveal our thoughts. We should not cling to thoughts that do not conform to the life and teachings of Christ. Paul did not walk according to the flesh or his worldly desires; instead he conquered the flesh. He explains his strategy in 1 Cor. 9:24–27: “I discipline my body and bring it into subjection.”

10:7 In this context, being Christ's means more than merely belonging to Him. It means being His servant or His disciple (see v. 8).

10:8 Paul had authority as an apostle for edification, a word that means “building up.” His exhortation in his letter was aimed at correcting abuses, not the destruction of the church. The word destruction means “tearing down.” Paul repeated his authorization at the end of his letter (13:10).

10:10 they say: Paul spoke simply so that the power of God would remain evident. He did not use complicated rhetorical techniques to sway his audience. His critics at the Corinthian church had turned his simple, unpretentious style against him (see 11:6; 1 Cor. 1:17; 2:1–5).

ly presence is weak, and his <sup>q</sup>speech contemptible.” <sup>11</sup>Let such a person consider this, that what we are in word by letters when we are absent, such we will also be in deed when we are present.

Limits of Paul's Authority

<sup>12</sup>*r*For we dare not class ourselves or compare ourselves with those who commend themselves. But they, measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise. <sup>13</sup>*s*We, however, will not boast beyond measure, but within the limits of the sphere which God appointed us—a sphere which especially includes you. <sup>14</sup>For we are not overextending ourselves (as though our authority did not extend to you), <sup>14</sup>*t*for it was to you that we came with the gospel of Christ; <sup>15</sup>not boasting of things beyond measure, that is, <sup>u</sup>in other men's labors, but having hope, that as your faith is increased, we shall be greatly enlarged by you in our sphere, <sup>16</sup>to preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man's sphere of accomplishment.

<sup>17</sup>But <sup>v</sup>“he who glories, let him glory in the LORD.” <sup>18</sup>For <sup>w</sup>not he who commends himself is approved, but <sup>x</sup>whom the Lord commends.

Concern for Their Faithfulness

11 Oh, that you would bear with me in a little <sup>a</sup>folly—and indeed you do bear with me. <sup>2</sup>For I am <sup>b</sup>jealous for you with godly jealousy. For <sup>c</sup>I have betrothed you to one husband, <sup>d</sup>that I may

Paul and False Apostles

<sup>7</sup>Did I commit sin in <sup>3</sup>humbling myself that you might be exalted, because I preached the gospel of God to you <sup>m</sup>free of charge? <sup>8</sup>I robbed other churches, taking wages from them to minister to you. <sup>9</sup>And when I was present with you, and in need, <sup>n</sup>I was a burden to no one, for what I lacked <sup>o</sup>the brethren who came from Macedonia supplied. And in everything I kept myself from being burdensome to you, and so I will keep myself. <sup>10</sup>*p*As the truth of Christ is in me, <sup>q</sup>no one shall stop me from this boasting in the regions of Achaia. <sup>11</sup>Why? <sup>r</sup>Because I do not love you? God knows!

<sup>12</sup>But what I do, I will also continue to do, <sup>s</sup>that I may cut off the opportunity from those who desire an opportunity to be regarded just as we are in the things of which they boast. <sup>13</sup>For such <sup>t</sup>are false

10:12 They, Paul's critics, commended themselves (see 3:1), measured themselves by their own personal opinions, and compared themselves with others. Contrast Paul's advice to esteem others above oneself (Phil. 2:3, 4).

10:13–15 Paul boasted only within the sphere of ministry God had given him, but that sphere included the Corinthians. by implication, Paul's critics were boasting of what they had not worked at or cultivated, perhaps the results of Paul's ministry in Corinth.

10:16 regions beyond you: In the book of Romans, which Paul wrote around this time, he said his ambition was to preach the gospel in Spain (Rom. 15:24).

10:18 Paul began this section by saying he was not going to place himself among the group that commended themselves (v. 12). The reason he would not was that the Lord would commend him as a faithful worker (see 1 Cor. 4:5). Throughout this passage, Paul has been very careful to only boast in the Lord and His work in order establish his credentials as an apostle to the Corinthians.

11:2 Paul loved the Corinthians and was legitimately jealous because as their spiritual father (1 Cor. 4:15), he had betrothed them to Christ and wanted to present them to Him as a chaste virgin. He did not want them corrupted by false teachers (vv. 3, 4).

11:3 The Greek word translated simplicity is used in 2 Corinthians of sincerity (1:12) and generosity (8:2, 9). The Corinthians had a sincere singleness of heart toward Christ, which expressed itself in generosity.

11:4 Another Jesus would be one who was a man but not God, or crucified but not risen. A different spirit would be one of fear, not faith (4:13)—of bondage, not freedom (3:17; see Gal. 5:1). A different gospel would be one of law and not grace, one of works and not faith.

11:5 Some take the eminent apostles as a sarcastic reference to the false apostles in Corinth (v. 13). Others believe that Paul was comparing himself here to the genuine apostles of Christ, as he did later in the book (12:11, 12).

11:6 by untrained in speech, Paul meant he was not schooled in professional rhetoric. This does not mean that he was a poor speaker, only that he was not trained in Greek oratory. He did not lack knowledge. He had received direct revelation from the Lord (Gal. 1:11, 12).

11:7, 8 free of charge: In Paul's day, professional philosophers and teachers in Greek society charged for teaching. Paul did not. He labored (1 Thess. 2:9) and received support from other churches. Those who preach the gospel should make a living from the gospel (1 Cor. 9:14). Although Paul had the right to take money from the Corinthians, he chose not to do so in order to demonstrate his integrity (1 Cor. 9:12).

11:9 The brethren who came from Macedonia were probably from Philippi (Phil. 4:14–18).

11:10 Paul's boasting was that he preached without charge (see vv. 7, 8).

11:12 Paul did not accept money from the Corinthians because he did not want to give his critics the opportunity to put themselves on the same level as himself.

11:13 Paul's critics apparently called themselves apostles of Christ, apostles, <sup>u</sup>deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ. <sup>14</sup>And no wonder! For Satan himself transforms himself into <sup>v</sup>an angel of light. <sup>15</sup>Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves into ministers of righteousness, <sup>w</sup>whose end will be according to their works.

Reluctant Boasting

fool. If otherwise, at least receive me as a fool, that I also may boast a little. <sup>17</sup>What I speak, <sup>x</sup>I speak not according to the Lord, but as it were, foolishly, in this confidence of boasting. <sup>18</sup>Seeing that many boast according to the flesh, I also will boast. <sup>19</sup>For you put up with fools gladly, <sup>y</sup>since you yourselves are wise! <sup>20</sup>For you put up with it <sup>z</sup>if one brings you into bondage, if one devours you, if one takes from you, if one exalts himself, but Paul said they were transforming themselves. The word means “to change in appearance,” “to disguise,” or “to masquerade.” They were false teachers.

11:14, 15 And no wonder: If Satan, the prince of darkness, can disguise himself as an angel of light, then his servants, the ministers of evil, can disguise themselves as ministers of righteousness. Satan’s main tool is deception.

11:16 Also indicates that his opponents were boasting.

11:17 Not according to the Lord means “not according to the Lord’s standard.” This kind of boasting was not characteristic of the Lord. Jesus Christ was an example of humility, not boasting (Phil. 2:5–11).

11:18 The false apostles were boasting according to the flesh, that is, they measured themselves by their own standards rather than by God’s. Unfortunately, the Corinthians were listening to them (vv. 19, 20).

Paul’s Defense

“I speak as a fool” (11:23). These words jump out of the pages of 2 Corinthians; they seem out of place in the bible. Why would an apostle speak foolishly? A closer look reveals the reason behind Paul’s words. The church at Corinth had been infiltrated by insidious false teachers. Although no one knows what philosophical or theological group these false teachers belonged to, we can ascertain some of their beliefs from Paul’s two letters to the Corinthians. evidently they were a group who prided themselves on their Jewish heritage (11:22). This group may also have held to what some have called an “incipient Gnosticism.” They placed value on spiritual knowledge and experiences (1 Cor. 8:1) that were only accessible to gifted teachers, perhaps those who were especially skilled in Greek rhetoric (11:6). These “false teachers” were not only slandering Paul, they were denying his authority (12:11) and the truthfulness of what he preached. Some have postulated that there were several different groups that opposed Paul. That may have been the case, for Paul speaks of several different factions in the church (1 Cor. 1:12, 13).

To counter the accusations of his opponents, Paul took great pains to present his apostolic credentials. He opened his life and ministry for all to review. but he was doing more than defending himself; the great apostle wrote with an additional goal in mind. This was to warn the Corinthians of the dangers the false teachings posed. Thus Paul reluctantly painted a stark contrast between his own ministry and that of his rivals. According to Paul, these false teachers preached “another Jesus” and a “different gospel” (11:4). He regarded them as “deceitful workers” (11:13). Unlike Paul, these impostors collected fees for their services (11:7–9). And unlike Paul, they enjoyed comfortable, easygoing ministries. To defend himself, Paul was forced to “boast” in his ministry. but his boast was unusual, for it was in his weaknesses and suffering. He did not boast of his own accomplishments, but in the troubles and difficulties that clearly showed the power of Christ in his life (12:9).

According to Acts 18:12–17 Paul was brought before Gallio and accused by the Jews of inciting others to “worship God contrary to the law.” It is possible that Gallio judged the case from this “bema.” Paul was often defending his ministry from Jews and false teachers alike.

Many centuries later, the cast of characters has changed, but the story remains the same. The church continues to be infiltrated by those who advocate unbiblical ideas. Many of these present-day “false teachers” appear to be very sincere. They speak with great passion and eloquence. Their ideas seem to make perfect sense. but we must exercise extreme caution. The lucrative potential of modern mass communications has attracted hucksters who tickle the “itching ears” (2 Tim. 4:3) of their audiences in an attempt to profit personally. every message must be weighed against the Word of God.

And what is a church body to do if it detects false teachers in its midst? On this issue, the New Testament is clear: Those who foster division within the church by persistently advocating unbiblical beliefs are to be removed from fellowship (6:14; Rom. 16:17, 18; 1 Tim. 6:3–5; Titus 3:9–11; 2 John 9–11). There is to be no toleration. When unaddressed, false doctrine is like a cancer that permeates a body, weakening it, and ultimately bringing about its demise.

if one strikes you on the face. <sup>21</sup>To our shame <sup>a</sup>I say that we were too weak for that! But <sup>b</sup>in whatever anyone is bold—I speak foolishly—I am bold also.

Suffering for Christ

<sup>22</sup>Are they <sup>c</sup>Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they the seed of Abraham? So am I. <sup>23</sup>Are they ministers of Christ?—I speak as a fool—I am more: <sup>d</sup>in labors more abundant, <sup>e</sup>in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequently, <sup>f</sup>in deaths often. <sup>24</sup>From the Jews five times I received <sup>g</sup>forty <sup>h</sup>stripes minus one. <sup>25</sup>Three times I was <sup>i</sup>beaten with rods; <sup>j</sup>once I was stoned; three times I <sup>k</sup>was shipwrecked; a night and a day I have been in the deep; <sup>26</sup>in journeys often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, <sup>l</sup>in perils of my own countrymen, <sup>m</sup>in perils of the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren; <sup>27</sup>in weariness and toil, <sup>n</sup>in sleeplessness often, <sup>o</sup>in hunger and thirst, in <sup>p</sup>fastings often, in cold and nakedness—<sup>28</sup>besides the other things, what comes upon me daily: <sup>q</sup>my deep concern for all the churches. <sup>29</sup>Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to stumble, and I do not burn with indignation?

The Vision of Paradise

12 It is <sup>1</sup>doubtless not profitable for me to boast. I will come to <sup>a</sup>visions and <sup>b</sup>revelations of the Lord: <sup>2</sup>I know a man <sup>c</sup>in Christ who fourteen years ago—whether in the body I do not know, or whether out of the body I do not know, God knows—such a one <sup>d</sup>was caught up to the third heaven. <sup>3</sup>And I know such a man—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows—<sup>4</sup>how he was caught up into <sup>c</sup>Paradise and heard inexpressible words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter. <sup>5</sup>Of such a one I will boast; yet of myself I will not <sup>f</sup>boast, except in my infirmities. <sup>6</sup>For though I might desire to boast, I will not be a fool; for I will speak the truth. But I refrain, lest anyone should think of me above what he sees me to be or hears from me.

11:21 Paul's critics had accused him of being weak (10:10). He sarcastically said that he was too weak to rule the Corinthians harshly as the false apostles had done.

11:22 So am I: Paul's adversaries were Jewish and apparently felt that this made them superior not only to Gentiles but also to Greek-speaking Jews. Paul boasted that he was just as Jewish as they were.

11:23 Paul's opponents were not ministers of Christ. They were "false apostles" (v. 13), "ministers of Satan" (v. 15), but for the sake of argument, he responded to their claim as if it were true. I speak as a fool: Paul was hesitant to brag about his spiritual "accomplishments," because he knew that only God had made his preaching and service effective. He was merely God's instrument, and God was the One who deserved the glory. Paul's boast was in the Lord (10:17).

11:23–33 Paul's long list of problems includes physical suffering, long and difficult travel, toil, and weaknesses. He suffered profoundly for following Christ. Anyone who ever imagined that Christian faith always leads to health, wealth, and comfortable circumstances has forgotten Paul. This apostle was under no such delusions. He knew very well that faithfulness to God brings difficulty, not ease (see 12:9, 10). Yet temporal difficulties for the cause of the gospel bring their own eternal reward.

11:27 Hunger and thirst means involuntarily going without food and drink; fastings means voluntarily going without food for the sake of the ministry (see 6:5).

11:30 Infirmity means "weakness." Paul explains his weakness further in 12:7–10.

11:32 Aretas the king: Aretas IV (9 B.C.–A.D. 40), the father-in-law of Herod Antipas, was king of Nabatea, a kingdom whose capital was Petra. Nabatea included the city of Damascus before the city was incorporated into the Roman province of Syria. Aretas was able to appoint a governor over Damascus because the emperor Caligula (A.D. 37–41) gave Aretas control over the city.

11:33 escaping from Damascus in a basket was Paul's example of boasting in his weakness (v. 30).

12:1 Paul prepared to boast about visions and revelations he received from God, possibly to counter similar claims by the false teachers, but he set them in contrast to the trials he had suffered in his ministry (vv. 7–10).

12:2 It becomes apparent later in the passage (see vv. 5–7) that Paul was writing here about himself, but he modestly presented this experience about a man in Christ as if it had happened to someone else. Paul wrote 2 Corinthians in A.D. 56; fourteen years before would have been A.D. 42, probably when he was in Antioch (Acts 11:26). the third heaven: It was common to speak of three "heavens": The first is the atmosphere where the birds fly; the second is the place of the sun, moon, and stars; the third is where God dwells. 12:3, 4 Heaven (v. 2) is here called Paradise. This experience should be compared to others in the bible. God came down and met Moses on Sinai. Moses and Elijah came down from heaven to meet Christ. Peter, James, and John saw Christ glorified on the Mount of Transfiguration. John saw visions of the heavenly throne. And Paul is said to have been transported to heaven and returned. The experience probably helped Paul to endure suffering for the cause of Christ. Yet Paul never placed the focus of his message on this experience; instead he always preached Christ crucified (4:1–5).

12:7 Thorn means "splinter," "stake," or "something pointed." Flesh can refer to the body or to the sinful nature. Three basic suggested me, <sup>h</sup>a messenger of Satan to <sup>2</sup>buffet me, lest I be exalted above measure. <sup>8i</sup>Concerning this thing I pleaded with the Lord three times that it might depart from me. <sup>9</sup>And He said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore most gladly <sup>j</sup>I will rather boast in my infirmities, <sup>k</sup>that the power of Christ may rest upon me. <sup>10</sup>Therefore <sup>l</sup>I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in needs, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ’s sake. <sup>m</sup>For when I am weak, then I am strong.

Signs of an Apostle

interpretations of the thorn are as follows: (1) If flesh is a reference to the body, then it is a physical ailment like an earache, headache, eye trouble, epilepsy, or recurrent fever. (2) If flesh is a reference to the fallen nature, then the thorn could be a temptation. (3) If the expression is figurative, it could refer to persecution or opposition. Most commentators interpret it as a physical ailment. Many suggest that it was eye trouble, on the basis of Gal. 4:15. messenger of Satan: God permitted Satan to afflict Paul as He did Job (see Job 1; 2). Buffet means “to strike with the fist” (see Matt. 26:67). Paul’s thorn was a painful, humiliating experience given to prevent pride. 12:9 infirmities . . . power: When believers are without strength and look to the Lord (v. 8), He provides power by His grace.

apostle

(Gk. apostolos) (1:1; 12:12; Matt. 10:2; Acts 2:37; Rom. 1:1; Heb. 3:1) Strong’s #652

The Greek word simply means “sent ones.” Out of Jesus’ many disciples, He selected 12 to be His apostles. These were the men who were sent by Jesus to take His message to the world and then raise up churches. Paul also became an apostle by the appointment of the risen Christ, who encountered Paul on the road to Damascus (see Acts 9). Paul’s apostleship was accompanied by a great deal of suffering; and then to add to it, some false teachers in the Corinthian church doubted his authority. Thus in 2 Corinthians, Paul repeatedly defended the genuineness of his apostleship.

12:10 Paul not only boasted about his weaknesses (v. 9), he said I take pleasure, a word meaning “to think good,” “to be well-pleased” in them. In Paul’s weaknesses, Christ’s power was made more apparent to others. It would bring praise to the only One who deserved it.

12:11 The Corinthians compelled Paul to boast because they listened to the false apostles (11:4) and were taken in by them (11:12).

12:12 When Paul established the church in Corinth, he performed the signs of an apostle, miracles or supernatural evidences that proved his authority as an apostle (see Acts 14:3).

12:14 for the third time I am ready to come: Paul’s first visit to Corinth was on his second missionary journey (Acts 18:1–18). Because of Paul’s mention of a “painful visit” in 2:1, some consider Paul’s second visit as occurring sometime when he was staying in Ephesus and before he wrote this letter (Acts 19:1–14). Others discount a second visit before this time. They insist that ready in this verse indicates that Paul had prepared to come to Corinth, but did not make the trip (see 1:15, 16, 23; 2:1–4 for evidence of this). He promised not to be burdensome, that is, to take financial support from them.

12:16 earlier Paul said he was “not walking in craftiness” (4:2). He also pointed out that Satan was deceitful (11:3) and that the false apostles were like Satan (11:13, 14). Now he sarcastically echoes his critics’ charge that he was being crafty, but how did he trick them? He tricked them into not supporting him. Through sarcasm, Paul was vindicating himself against the charge of both trickery and fraud.

12:18 Apparently Titus was being implicated through the false apostles’ accusations because Paul had recommended Titus for the collection task (8:16, 17). However they did not have any evidence against Titus. He was above reproach.

13:1 The third time has been interpreted two different ways. Those who hold that Paul had visited Corinth twice before writing this

Correspondence in Bible Times

Greek letters may be roughly divided into six classes: (1) private letters, averaging slightly less than a hundred words in length, and written on papyrus (an early form of paper); (2) correspondence between government officials; (3) letters intended for publication, such as the correspondence of the church fathers in the fourth century A.D.; (4) letters written to communicate ideas; (5) letters attributed to famous personalities; and (6) imaginary letters, somewhat like our modern historical novels, which were designed to entertain.

The Roman government provided postal service only for official documents. Private letters had to be sent by special messengers or friendly travelers. Letters normally were sent to designated parties, although some were “open” or circular letters. Paul’s letters, with the possible exception of ephesians, were addressed to specific congregations; but the non-Pauline letters, usually called “general” epistles, included some letters that were circulated to several churches.

letter take this statement at face value, that Paul had been there twice and was now ready to come a third time. Those who say that Paul had been to Corinth only once point to 12:14 and say that he was prepared to come again but did not actually do so.

13:2 told you before: In 1 Corinthians, Paul warned against sexual immorality (see 1 Cor. 6:12–20). by writing this letter, he was warning them a second time (see 12:21). Not spare means he would confront them if necessary.

13:3 Paul would confront those who were sinning (v. 2) since the Corinthians were seeking a proof of Christ speaking in him. Apparently Paul’s critics claimed that an apostle should be a strong individual. Paul was saying that when he came again he would be strong.

13:4 For indicates that Paul was going to explain how Christ, who is strong, could be speaking through Paul, who was weak. As Christ appeared to be weak when he was crucified, but was raised by the power of God, so Paul was weak, but by the power of God he would live with Christ in strength toward them. Paul was not speaking of the future resurrection but of his next visit.

13:5 The Corinthians had been seeking proof of Christ’s speaking in Paul; he told them to examine themselves to see if they were in the faith (for the phrase, see 1 Cor. 16:13; Titus 1:13). Paul did not doubt that they were true believers (see 1:1, 24; 7:1; 8:1; 12:14). He wanted them to ask themselves whether they were walking according to the gospel that they professed. He wanted them to apply the same standard to themselves that they were applying to him.

13:7–9 Paul prayed they would do no evil, which is probably a reference to the sins listed in 12:20, 21, and that they would be made complete. The Greek word for complete was used to describe the setting of bones and the reconciling of alienated friends. Paul was praying that there would be reconciliation of the divisions (12:20), and restoration. If his prayer was answered, he would seem disqualified, for he would not have to exercise his apostolic authority to discipline them.

13:10 I write: Paul confronted the Corinthians on paper so that he would not have to do it in person (see v. 2; 10:11; 12:20).

13:11 Here, as in other passages, farewell no doubt means “rejoice” (Phil. 3:1; 1 Thess. 5:16).

13:14 Paul’s concluding benediction invokes the blessing of the triune God: grace from the Lord Jesus Christ (see 8:9), the love of God (v. 11), and the communion of the Holy Spirit. At the end of his letter, Paul identifies the solution to many of the Corinthians’ problems. The Holy Spirit, who dwelled in each of them, could empower them to live righteously. Furthermore the Spirit could reconcile them to each other. They could love and encourage each other instead of fighting each other (12:20). They needed God’s grace, not selfishness; God’s love, not anger; and communion, not conflict.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE GALATIANS

IN THE WHOLE bIbLe, there is no more passionate, comprehensive, yet concise statement of the truth of the gospel than Galatians. Salvation is through faith in Jesus Christ alone (2:16; 3:11, 12). No work can earn salvation. Paul’s succinct refutation of the Judaizers in this letter has transformed the lives of many—from Martin Luther to John Wesley. In general, people want to earn their salvation by works that can easily be identified. In this letter, Paul reveals the arrogance of such thinking. It amounts to a desertion of the truth of the gospel and a turning away from God (1:6). We can stand justified before God only through faith in Jesus Christ; nothing else will save us.

Author The writer of Galatians identifies himself as Paul (1:1). He claims to be an apostle, and then goes on to argue at length for the apostolic authority behind his gospel message. Much of the personal information he gives in the course of his defense corresponds to the narratives about Paul in the book of Acts, as well as to the autobiographical material in Philippians 3:4–6. The use of the Old Testament in chapters 3 and 4 fits Paul’s rigorous training in Judaism. Finally, the theology presented in this letter corresponds perfectly with the theology Paul expresses in his other writings, notably the epistle to the Romans.

Date Paul addresses his letter “to the churches of Galatia” (1:2) and to readers he expressly calls “Galatians” (3:1), but it is not easy to determine what this means precisely. At the time Paul was writing, the word “Galatians” could be used with an ethnic or with a political meaning.

To a great extent assigning a date for Galatians depends on making a decision about the destination of the letter. If the churches of Galatia were founded on Paul’s second missionary journey in the northern part of Galatia (see Acts 16:6), the earliest the epistle could have been written was around A.D. 52. The similarity in content between Galatians and Romans, among other things, has led some to date the letter in the mid-50s. On the other hand, if Galatia is understood to be southern Galatia, including Lystra, Iconium, and Pisidian Antioch (see Acts 14:21), congregations planted on Paul’s first missionary journey, the letter could have been written as early as A.D. 48.

To determine the date, the possible role of the Jerusalem council (see Acts 15) in the controversies addressed in Galatians must also be considered. If Galatians was written after the Jerusalem council had made its authoritative decisions, Paul most likely would have centered his argument on those decisions, or at least made an unmistakable reference to them. Since he did not, Galatians probably dates from A.D. 48. This means it is one of the earliest New Testament books.

Purpose Apparently Paul became aware of a perversion of the gospel of grace that was actively infecting the Galatian churches. The false teachers who had come to Galatia since Paul’s ministry there were advocating salvation by “the works of the law”—that is, by keeping the law. Specific emphasis was placed on the Jewish rite of circumcision.

Paul’s letter to the Galatians was a swift and decisive attempt to counter this message, which was a different gospel. Paul had to convince his “little children” in the faith, whom he had evangelized personally, that the new teaching was in fact a distortion of the gospel of Christ. In his argument Paul reasserted his authority as an apostle, which apparently had been minimized by the Judaizing teachers. Paul wrote not out of anger, but out of love. He saw the Galatians leaving the correct path by their additions to the gospel message, and he loved his fellow believers too much to allow them to go astray.

Literary Form Galatians contains the three standard elements of a typical first-century letter: introduction (1:1–5), body (1:6—6:10), and conclusion (6:11–18). However, Galatians differs from many of Paul’s other letters. For example, most of Paul’s other letters contain an introductory thanksgiving section that serves as a prologue (Phil. 1:3–11). The startling absence of such a thanksgiving at the beginning of Galatians probably indicates the severity of the situation in Paul’s eyes. There is virtually nothing for which Paul can be thankful, since some of the Galatians were abandoning the gospel they had once embraced. Likewise, the letter contains no concluding greetings, whether long, like Rom. 16:3–23, or short, like 2 Cor. 13:12, 13. There is only a terse benediction and concluding salutation (6:16, 18).

Theology If there is one repeated phrase that summarizes the subject of Galatians, it is “the truth of the gospel.” Unlike Romans, which presents the gospel as the answer to universal human sinfulness (see Rom. 3:23; 6:23), Galatians clarifies the gospel message against the subtle, but ever deadly, danger of works salvation. No sinful person has ever been granted eternal life based on works. What is more, everyone who lives by such a confidence in works is “cursed,” because no one can perfectly obey the law (3:10). Thus, to add works, rituals, or the law to the message of what it takes to become a Christian is to overturn the Good News. The proper place of the law is to convict us of our sin, demonstrating the urgent need for the redemption provided by Jesus Christ.

What then is the basic gospel that Paul goes to such lengths to clarify and safeguard? The only way a person can be justified before God is by faith in Jesus Christ (2:16). Paul emphasizes this point over and over. Faith in Christ, nothing more and nothing less, is the proper response to the gospel. This emphasis on faith is not about the historical dimension of the gospel that is open to reasonable inquiry: Jesus perfectly kept the Law of Moses (4:4), died on the Cross (2:20), and rose from the dead (1:1). Rather Paul underscores faith in Christ because the controversies in Galatia raged around the reception of the gospel in the lives of new believers.

Paul also addresses themes dealing with the Christian life, or living out the new freedom the believer possesses in Christ. between the extremes of legalistic sanctification and hedonistic license, Paul charts a middle course of “faith working through love” and the power of the Holy Spirit (5:5, 6). Thus, not only is justification by faith alone, but so is sanctification.

Paul variously describes this life of faith as walking in the Spirit (5:16, 25), being “led by the Spirit” (5:18), producing “the fruit of the Spirit” (5:22, 23), and sowing “to the Spirit” (6:8). Concretely, “faith working through love” (5:6) expresses itself in love for neighbors, especially other believers, and in bearing one another’s burdens (5:14; 6:2, 6). The ever-present danger is that rather than relying upon the power of the Spirit, the believer will start displaying the corrupt “works of the flesh.” Works can be truly good only when they are accomplished in the power of the Holy Spirit given to those who place their faith in Christ (6:7–10).

CHRIST IN THE SCRIPTURES

Paul introduces Jesus to this errant flock as the One in whom the message of grace is grounded. “For I neither received it from man, nor was I taught it, but it came through the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1:12). It’s a message declaring that Jesus has freed the Christian from the bondage to the law. Legalism is no longer a master to whom we are accountable. It is this same Jesus who has set the believer free from sin. He has created an environment where we breathe the oxygen of liberty and have the power to do what we ought.

The Jesus whom Paul encountered en route to damascus has reversed the curse of sin, law, and self. (See 1:4; 2:20; 3:13; 4:5; 5:24; and 6:14.) What makes this reversal possible is nothing other than the transforming power of the Cross.

Greeting

Paul, an apostle (not from men nor through man, but <sup>a</sup>through Jesus Christ and God the Father <sup>b</sup>who raised Him from the dead), <sup>2</sup>and all the brethren who are with me,

To the churches of Galatia:

<sup>3</sup>Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>4c</sup>who gave Himself for our sins, that He might deliver us <sup>d</sup>from this present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father, <sup>5</sup>to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

<sup>15</sup>But when it pleased God, <sup>u</sup>who separated me from my mother's womb and called me through His grace, <sup>16v</sup>to reveal His Son in me, that <sup>w</sup>I might preach Him among the Gentiles, I did not immediately

1:1 Paul calls himself an apostle to assert his divinely given authority to speak to the problem confronting the Galatian churches. Through Jesus Christ and God the Father refers to Paul's unique call to be an apostle (vv. 15, 16), which came to him at the same time as his salvation on the road to damascus (see Acts 26:12–18).

Raised Him from the dead is a reference to the resurrection of Jesus Christ, a central belief of the Christian faith (see 1 Cor. 15).

1:2 churches of Galatia: Galatians is a circular letter, intended for several churches.

1:3 Grace is a variation from the standard greeting of ancient letters in Paul's time. Peace is the Greek translation of the traditional Hebrew greeting. Paul commonly combines the two ideas of grace and peace in the introductions of his letters (see 1 Cor. 1:3; 2 Cor. 1:2). The true message of salvation is based solely on God's grace (1:6; 2:21) received by faith (see eph. 2:8), and it provides peace with God (see Rom. 5:1).

1:4 gave Himself for our sins: This phrase looks ahead to Paul's discussion of redemption in 3:13, 14. It is a quick summary of the Good News: Christ's death is for you (see 1 Cor. 15:3). Deliver us from this present evil age is similar to Col. 1:13, which states that Christ "has delivered us from the power of darkness" into His kingdom. both passages develop this truth based on Christ's redemptive work (see Col. 1:14), implying that the word deliver refers to sanctification in the face of the temptations of this present age.

1:6, 7 The use of the word marvel reveals Paul's ongoing shock at the Galatians' defection from the gospel of God's undeserved grace. The Galatians had unwittingly fallen for a different message, one which was not another true message of salvation at all. Those causing the trouble were guilty of seeking to pervert the gospel of Christ, not to present a better alternative.

1:8, 9 Paul moves from the hypothetical (vv. 6, 7) to the actual in denouncing the Galatians' perversion of the gospel. If even the apostles or an angel from heaven were to preach a false gospel, they would be accursed. That being the case, anyone who proclaimed a perversion of the message that the Galatians had received from Paul fully deserved eternal destruction. Paul's concern for the purity of the gospel message is revealed by his assertion that he would condemn to destruction anyone who taught a false gospel.

1:10 To please men was neither Paul's motivation nor the source of his authority (v. 1). Paul continually sought the approval of God. He did not base his decisions on the opinions of other people. Instead he single-mindedly aimed at pleasing God (Phil. 3:14). As an apostle Paul was a leader, but he was always a bondservant of Christ.

1:11, 12 There was no human creativity flavoring the gospel Paul preached. Paul knew it only because he received it by special revelation from Jesus Christ at his conversion (see Acts 26:12–18).

1:13, 14 Judaism means the Jewish way of life, which was based partly on the OT and partly on additional traditions of the fathers, or leaders of the people (see Matt. 15:2). Paul's conduct before his conversion had greatly distinguished him in Judaism in two ways: (1) He painstakingly kept the law and traditions, certainly more so than the Judaizers in Galatia (6:13). (2) He persecuted the church of God in order to destroy it (see Phil. 3:6), doing so under the authority of Jewish religious leaders (see Acts 8:3; 9:1, 2).

1:15–17 In words echoing the calling of the messianic Servant (see Is. 49:1) and Jeremiah the prophet (see Jer. 1:5), Paul relates that God had chosen him to be an apostle (v. 1) before his birth. Paul, like the ## revelation of Jesus Christ

(Gk. apokalupsis Iēsou Christou) (1:12; 1 Pet. 1:13; Rev. 1:1) Strong's #602; 2424; 5547

In the Greek this could be an objective genitive—a revelation concerning Jesus Christ, or a subjective genitive—a revelation from Jesus Christ. both thoughts are consistent with the context. Paul's "revelation of Jesus Christ" enabled him to see that Christ was God's Son (1:16), the sole object of our faith (2:16), and the unique source of oneness of all believers—whether Jew or Gentile, bond or free, male or female (see 3:27, 28; eph. 3:1–11). Paul received his knowledge by special revelation (1 Cor. 11:23; 15:3; eph. 3:3; 1 Thess. 4:15). Paul was thus an independent witness to the gospel; and although he had received no instructions directly from the apostles but only from the Holy Spirit, his teachings agreed with theirs.

I went up <sup>1</sup>by revelation, and communicated to them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but <sup>b</sup>privately to those who were of reputation, lest by any means <sup>c</sup>I might run, or had run, in vain. <sup>3</sup>Yet not even Titus who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised. <sup>4</sup>And this occurred because of <sup>d</sup>false brethren secretly brought in (who came in by stealth to spy out our <sup>e</sup>liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, <sup>f</sup>that they might bring us into bondage), <sup>5</sup>to whom we did not yield submission even for an hour, that <sup>g</sup>the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

Judaizers in Galatia, had previously tried to earn his salvation by works (v. 14). However, his apostolic call and conversion both came through God's grace, His undeserved favor. If Paul's gospel message was made by men, he would have had to confer with other people to receive or validate it. To do this, Paul would have had to travel to Jerusalem, where the other apostles were, for such a conference. Instead, when he left Damascus, where he had stayed immediately after his conversion to Christianity (see Acts 9:1–22), he went to Arabia (see 2 Cor. 11:32, 33). This was the kingdom of the Nabatean Arabs, extending from Damascus to the Red Sea, including parts of modern Syria, Jordan, Israel, and Saudi Arabia.

1:18 after three years: This could be 36 months, or else a shorter period measured from the end of one year, through a complete year, and ending early in the third year. The three years could begin at the time of Paul's conversion (vv. 15, 16) or of his departure to Arabia (v. 17). Undoubtedly Paul and Peter talked at length about Christ and the gospel during the fifteen days Paul was in Jerusalem.

1:19 The apparent reference to James, the Lord's brother, as being one of the other apostles indicates that the word apostles was not always restricted to "the Twelve" (see Matt. 10:1–4; 1 Cor. 15:5).

1:21 Following his brief trip to Jerusalem (vv. 18, 19), Paul went to Syria and Cilicia, likely the same journey mentioned in Acts 9:30, in which Paul traveled from Jerusalem to his childhood home, Tarsus in Cilicia (see Acts 22:3).

2:1 After fourteen years may refer to 12 full years plus fractions of the first and last years (1:18). This time span could date from Paul's previous visit to Jerusalem (1:18, 19), but more likely from his conversion (1:15, 16). This was the point at which Paul received the gospel message, the focus of discussion throughout this extended section (1:11–2:14). I went up again to Jerusalem: If Galatians was written before the Jerusalem council, this journey is the one recorded in Acts 11:30. Otherwise, it is a reference to the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15). Barnabas is a Hebrew nickname meaning "Son of encouragement" (see Acts 4:36). barnabas met Paul briefly in Jerusalem during Paul's first postconversion visit (see Acts 9:26, 27). Later they served together in the events narrated in Acts 11:25–30; 12:25–15:39. Titus is not mentioned in Acts, but he was a convert of Paul's (see Titus 1:4) and an effective ministry associate over a number of years (see 2 Cor. 2:13).

2:2 Revelation here may refer to the prophecy of Agabus in Acts

11:27–30. Or it may refer to a private revelation of the Lord to Paul, perhaps similar to the one he received in Jerusalem earlier (see Acts 22:17–21). Later Jesus appeared to Paul in another vision (see Acts 23:11). Them may refer to the Jerusalem church at large, or it may be only those who were of reputation, presumably the inner core made up of James, Cephas (Peter), and John (v. 9). For Paul to have communicated with these leaders privately does not mean he considered altering his gospel, as the following section clearly shows (vv. 3–10). In vain does not reflect on the effectiveness of Paul's gospel, but rather on his efforts to maintain a unity in the church without sacrificing "the truth of the gospel" (v. 5).

2:3 Titus (v. 1) was a "test-case" Gentile. The term circumcised introduces a central topic of the Jewish false teachers, one which Paul addresses repeatedly in Galatians (5:2, 3, 6). Unlike Timothy, whom Paul had circumcised because Timothy's mother was Jewish, Titus was not circumcised. Circumcising him would have been a sign to all other Gentiles that following Jewish law was required for a person to become a Christian. As Paul explains in this letter, that would be a rejection of the Good News that salvation is God's gift to those who believe in His Son.

2:4 false brethren: This phrase apparently indicates that although these people passed themselves off convincingly as Christians, there was reason to view their profession as a sham. These pseudo-Christians did not announce their purpose, which was to curtail Christian liberty (5:1, 13) and to bring Paul and his converts into the bondage of Jewish legalism (6:12–15). These false brethren maintained that one had to keep the Jewish law in order to be saved. They refused to confess that salvation was God's gift through faith alone. For this reason, Paul would not recognize them as genuine Christians.

2:5 Paul's message about the truth of the gospel had never given way to the message of the false teachers, whether in Jerusalem (vv. 1–10), Syrian Antioch (vv. 11–14), or Galatia. you: The Galatian Christians could trust Paul's consistent advocacy of his gospel, which was revealed by God (1:11, 12).

2:6 While Paul recognized the leadership roles of James, Cephas (Peter), and John (v. 9) as "pillars" of the Jerusalem church, he pointed out that they were in no way superior to him in their understanding of the gospel. added nothing to me: The other apostles were satisfied with Paul's understanding of the gospel.

2:7–10 There were not two different gospels, one for the uncircumcised Gentiles and another for the circumcised Jews. Rather, who worked effectively in Peter for the apostleship to the <sup>m</sup>circumcised <sup>n</sup>also <sup>o</sup>worked effectively in me toward the Gentiles), <sup>9</sup>and when James, <sup>3</sup>Cephas, and John, who seemed to be <sup>p</sup>pillars, perceived <sup>q</sup>the grace that had been given to me, they gave me and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, <sup>r</sup>that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised. <sup>10</sup>They desired only that we should remember the poor, <sup>s</sup>the very thing which I also was eager to do.

No Return to the Law

<sup>14</sup>But when I saw that they were not straightforward about <sup>v</sup>the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter <sup>w</sup>before them all, <sup>x</sup>“If you, being a Jew, live in the manner of Gentiles and not as the Jews, <sup>y</sup>why do you compel Gentiles to live as <sup>8</sup>Jews? <sup>15</sup>Why

Justification by Faith

3 O foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you <sup>1</sup>that you should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus the primary scope of Paul's apostolic ministry was to the Gentiles (see Rom. 11:13), while Peter's apostleship was, first and foremost, targeted toward the Jews. The fact that God worked effectively through Peter in reaching Jews and just as effectively through Paul in reaching the Gentiles was strong evidence to the leaders in Jerusalem of Paul's apostolic commission (see Rom. 1:5). The right hand of fellowship was a common sign of acceptance and friendship. It indicated full recognition of Paul by the representatives of the Jerusalem church. The request to remember the poor, almost certainly the poor among the church in Judea (see Acts 11:29, 30), reflects an ongoing concern of Paul's (see Rom. 15:26).

CHAPTER 3 <sup>1</sup> NU omits that you should not obey the truth

2:11, 12 Antioch was the largest city of the Roman province of Syria. It became a center for missionary outreach to other Gentile cities in Asia Minor and Macedonia (see Acts 13:1-3). After the earlier meeting in Jerusalem (vv. 1-10), the behavior of Peter in Antioch was contradictory and hypocritical (vv. 12, 13). Given Peter's immense influence, Paul had little choice but to point out the hypocrisy directly (vv. 11, 14). Paul confronted Peter because refusing to eat with the Gentiles contradicted what Peter had long since recognized, that the gospel was for the Gentiles too (see Peter's interaction with Cornelius' family, Acts 11:7-10). Certain men came from James indicates that they came with the authority of James, one of the leaders of the Jerusalem church (v. 9). However, it is unlikely that they accurately represented the views of James (vv. 7-10).

2:13 Peter's example was so decisive that the rest of the Jews in the church at Syrian Antioch, including Barnabas, followed suit. However, Peter's actions did not represent conviction, but hypocrisy.

2:14 Peter's hypocritical example implied that Gentiles had to behave like Jews in order to receive God's grace. Thus, Peter was not being straightforward about the truth of the gospel of God's grace. It had already been decided (vv. 1-5) that it was not proper to compel Gentiles to live as Jews because salvation was through faith alone.

2:15-21 This section may represent the continuation of Paul's confrontation with Peter, or it may represent a statement of the central point of his letter: that Christians are justified by faith in Jesus Christ alone.

2:15-17 Paul is not denying that those who are Jews by birth are sinners, as are all Gentiles (see Rom. 3:23). Rather, he is implying that Jews enjoy spiritual privileges (see Rom. 9:4, 5) that should make them more knowledgeable about how to be justified before God (see 3:6; Gen. 15:6). The Jews should have been aware that no person can be declared righteous or justified by obedience to the Law of Moses (3:10-21).

2:16 by the grace of God (v. 21), the only way to be justified (declared righteous or pardoned) is through faith in Jesus Christ. Any other way allows works, whether keeping the law of Moses or performing good deeds in general, to play a role in justification. This is the main point of Paul's letter to the Galatians: Salvation or righteousness cannot be obtained by obeying the law. Salvation is only through faith in Jesus Christ (Rom. 3:20).

2:17-19 Paul strongly rejects the erroneous conclusion that being justified by faith in Christ actually made Jews sinners, thus painting Christ as a promoter of sin. Those who attempt to be justified through “the works of the law” are “cursed” (3:10). If anyone attempts to reassert the “works of the law” as having any part in justification before God, the law itself convicts that person of being a transgressor (see 3:19-25). The law itself is not sinful; its purpose is to convince individuals of their personal spiritual deadness in sin outside of faith in Christ (see Rom. 7:7-13).

2:20 Paul and every believer were crucified with Christ in order to die to sin, the law, and “this present evil age” (1:4). While believers live on physically, Christ also lives within them spiritually. Christ's resurrection power through the Spirit is worked out through the Christian (see Rom. 6:4-11) who chooses to live by faith in the Son of God.

2:21 If righteousness is attainable through keeping the law of Moses, then God's gracious act of sending Christ to die on the Cross to pay for sin was unnecessary and useless (see Rom. 3:4-26).

3:1 Foolish does not indicate lack of intelligence but lack of

The Galatians

The ethnic Galatians were Celts who migrated from central Europe to Asia Minor in the third century B.C. by NT times there was a Roman province called Galatia that was larger than the original ethnic area. Territory to the south that was not ethnically Galatian was included in the province. Whether Galatia refers to the people or to the province would indicate who the original readers of the letter to Galatians were. The usual view until the last two centuries was that Paul addressed “North Galatia,” or congregations of ethnic Galatians located in the northern part of the province. However, a “South Galatian” theory is more widely held today. According to this view Paul wrote to churches in the southern part of the province, that is, to the churches he founded on his first missionary journey (see Acts 13:14—14:24) and later revisited (see Acts 16:1–5).

the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel to Abraham beforehand, saying, <sup>h</sup> “In you all the nations shall be blessed.” <sup>9</sup> So then those who are of faith are blessed with believing Abraham.

The Law Brings a Curse

<sup>10</sup> For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse; for it is written, <sup>i</sup> “Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.” <sup>11</sup> But that no one is <sup>4</sup> justified by the law in the sight of God is evident, for <sup>j</sup> “the just shall live by faith.” <sup>12</sup> Yet <sup>k</sup> the law is not of faith, but <sup>l</sup> “the man who does them shall live by them.”

wisdom. Paul wonders whether something like an evil spell had prevented the Galatians from recalling the gospel of the crucified Christ, which had been clearly portrayed or preached to them.

3:2 In this verse, Paul contrasts obedience to the law with faith. The hearing of faith is probably what Paul had in mind in Rom. 10:17 when he said, “So then faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.” It may also be closely related to Paul’s concept of obedience to the faith, since the Greek word for “hear” can also be translated “listen” or “obey” (see Rom. 1:5; 16:26).

3:3 Paul reminds the Galatians that their Christian life was begun in the Spirit by faith alone (see v. 2; 2:16). Being made perfect by the flesh indicates that the Galatians were mistakenly trying to achieve perfection through their own efforts, especially through circumcision.

3:4 This statement implies that the Galatian Christians had previously suffered for their faith, before they were tricked by the false gospel.

3:6 There are several reasons for Paul’s reference to Abraham’s faith as an example. (1) Abraham was the father of the Jewish nation (see Gen. 12:1–3). (2) Abraham is the clearest example of justification in the OT. (3) The Judaizers almost certainly were pointing back to Abraham, probably in connection with circumcision (2:3; 5:2, 3). The example of Abraham’s faith is also developed in Rom. 4; Heb. 11; James 2. Paul quotes Gen. 15:6 from the Greek translation of the OT to show that Abraham was justified by faith alone. This verse communicates precisely what Paul called “the truth of the gospel” (2:5, 14).

3:7 Those who are of faith are spiritual sons of Abraham, even if they are not Jews. They are part of God’s people.

3:8, 9 Scripture is personified as a preacher who foretells that Abraham and his example of faith (see Gen. 15:6) would become a life-changing blessing to all nations (see Gen. 12:3; Matt. 28:19) as the gospel spread. All who have faith, as Abraham did, join in his blessed status.

3:10 being under the curse through trying to be justified by the works of the law is contrasted with being blessed as a believer (v. 9). The quotation from deut. 27:26 says that those who do not keep the whole law are cursed, proving that all are *curse*d who follow the law, because all fall short of the law’s standards (see Rom. 1:17; 3:10–18, 23).

3:11, 12 Paul quotes Hab. 2:4 to demonstrate that a person can only be justified through faith. He cites Lev. 18:5 to prove that keeping the law to gain salvation is utterly incompatible with faith.

3:13 Paul knew that many of his readers would perceive that they curse of the law, having become a curse for us (for it is written, <sup>n</sup> “Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree”), <sup>14o</sup> that the blessing of Abraham might come upon the <sup>p</sup> Gentiles in Christ Jesus, that we might receive <sup>q</sup> the promise of the Spirit through faith.

The Changeless Promise

<sup>15</sup> Brethren, I speak in the manner of men: <sup>r</sup> Though it is only a man’s covenant, yet if it is confirmed, no one annuls or adds to it. <sup>16</sup> Now to Abraham and his Seed were the promises made. He does not say, “And to seeds,” as of many, but as of <sup>s</sup> one, <sup>t</sup> “And to your Seed,” who is <sup>u</sup> Christ. <sup>17</sup> And this I say, that the law, <sup>v</sup> which was four hundred and thirty years later, cannot annul the covenant that was confirmed before by God <sup>5</sup> in Christ, <sup>w</sup> that it should make the promise of no effect. <sup>18</sup> For if <sup>x</sup> the inheritance is of the law, <sup>y</sup> it is no longer of promise; but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

Purpose of the Law

<sup>19</sup> What purpose then does the law serve? <sup>z</sup> It was added because of transgressions, till the <sup>a</sup> Seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was <sup>b</sup> appointed through angels by the hand <sup>c</sup> of a mediator. <sup>20</sup> Now a mediator does not mediate for one only, <sup>d</sup> but God is one. <sup>21</sup> Is the law then against the promises were actually under the curse of the law (see v. 10; deut. 27:26). For them as for us it is incredibly comforting to know that Christ became that curse for us on the Cross (see deut. 21:23).

3:15 Covenant here probably means a “last will and testament,” which is unchangeable after it is confirmed. Most of the uses of the word in the NT refer to a solemn agreement or contract God made with His people.

3:16 Jesus Christ is the fulfillment of the covenant (v. 15) God made with Abraham. Although in one sense all Jews are the physical seed of Abraham, Christ is the final focus of God’s promises, the ultimate Seed. Christians are the spiritual seed of Abraham (see v. 29).

3:17 Four hundred and thirty years was the period of time Israel was in egypt before the exodus (see ex. 12:40, 41). The law, which was put into force at the end of those centuries, could not override or annul the standing covenant with Abraham (see Gen. 15:18).

3:18 The law of Moses and the promise God made to Abraham were at odds with each other. Paul demonstrated that the false teachers’ view that the law was the fulfillment of the Abrahamic covenant had no scriptural basis.

3:19, 20 The purpose of the law of Moses was not to justify humankind in God’s eyes (2:16). Rather, the law was added after God’s promise to Abraham (vv. 16, 17) to clarify the issue of sin until Christ the Seed (v. 16) came. According to Stephen’s sermon in Acts 7, the law was given through angels to Moses as the human mediator (see Acts 7:38). This view was in line with Jewish teaching of the NT era. No mediator, or go-between, was needed with the Abrahamic covenant since it was a one-party, or unilateral, promise. God put Abraham into a “deep sleep” and consummated the ceremonial enactment of the covenant alone (see Gen. 15:12–17).

3:21, 22 The relationship of the law and the promises of God is not competition, but need and fulfillment. The law was not designed by God to give eternal life and righteousness. Rather, the law showed humanity’s need for the promise of life through faith in Jesus Christ (v. 9; 2:16), having confined all people under their sin (see Rom. 3:23; 6:23).

idolatry

(Gk. eidōlōlatreia) (3:20; 1 Cor. 10:14; Col. 3:5) Strong’s #1495

This word refers to the practice of worshiping idols. Related Greek words are translated “idolater” in 1 Cor. 5:10, 11; 6:9; 10:7; “idol” in 1 Cor. 8:4, 7; 10:19; 12:2; and “things offered to idols” in 1 Cor. 8:1, 4, 7; 10:19, 28. Paul had told the Corinthians not to associate with those who called themselves believers but were still idolaters (1 Cor. 5:9–11). The Corinthians must have asked Paul for clarification on this matter, for in 1 Cor. Paul warns the believers to refrain from all forms of idol worship.

We Are Family

In Galatians 3:28, Paul emphasizes that three major social distinctions no longer matter in Christ:

- Ethnicity: “neither Jew nor Greek.”
- Socioeconomic status: “neither slave nor free.”
- Gender: “neither male nor female.”

First-century culture was deeply divided along these lines. So was the church. but Paul stressed, “You are all one in Christ Jesus” (emphasis added).

Christians have become children of God through faith, which means we are all in the same family. We are no longer divided by ethnicity, social status, or gender, but have become brothers and sisters in God’s family.

One powerful symbol of that new unity is baptism (3:27). As part of the baptismal ceremony, a believer affirms the lordship of Christ and his or her commitment to a new way of life. Paul was possibly quoting from a first-century baptismal creed (3:28) to remind us of our promise to “put on Christ,” not just in word but also in deed.

In the early Christian communities this meant that both Gentiles and Jews could exercise their spiritual gifts. both slaves and masters could pray or prophesy, both women and men could enjoy full membership in the body. “Christ is all and in all” (Col. 3:11). The breaking down of traditional barriers wasn’t just a future hope. The early church worked to make it a reality.

Which brings us to the question: What walls of ethnicity, status, or gender divide believers today? Are we willing to model reconciliation between different and even antagonistic groups? If not, then is our church truly a sign of God’s kingdom, or merely a human institution?

of God? Certainly not! For if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness would have been by the law. <sup>22</sup>But the Scripture has confined <sup>e</sup>all under sin, <sup>f</sup>that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe. <sup>23</sup>But before faith came, we were kept under guard by the law, <sup>g</sup>kept for the faith which would afterward be revealed. <sup>24</sup>Therefore <sup>h</sup>the law was our <sup>i</sup>tutor to bring us to Christ, <sup>j</sup>that we might be justified by faith. <sup>25</sup>But after faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor.

Sons and Heirs

4 Now I say that the heir, as long as he is a child, does not differ at all from a slave, though he is master of all, <sup>2</sup>but is under guardians and stewards until the time appointed by the father. <sup>3</sup>Even so we, when we were children, <sup>a</sup>were in bondage under the elements of the world. <sup>4</sup>But <sup>b</sup>when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, <sup>c</sup>born <sup>d</sup>of a woman, <sup>e</sup>born under the law, <sup>5</sup>to

3:23–25 Paul gives two different illustrations concerning the function of the law until Christ came (4:4, 5). The law acted as a jail guard to hold humankind in custody until faith in Christ was revealed, but the law also served as a tutor. A tutor in ancient Greek culture would accompany the children in his care, instructing and disciplining them when necessary. The law was like a tutor because it both corrected and instructed the Israelites in God's ways until Christ was revealed, and such a tutor was no longer needed (4:1, 2). 3:26 Through faith in Christ Jesus believers are not only blessed as sons of Abraham (vv. 7, 9) but also as sons of God (see John 1:12) and God's heirs (4:7). believers have been adopted by God Himself. Although we were His enemies, we have been made His sons. Although we deserve judgment, we will receive an eternal inheritance from our Father.

3:28 The context of this verse is justification by faith in Christ Jesus, the fact that Jesus has redeemed all those who believe on Him, whether Jew or Gentile (3:26—4:27). Racial, social, and gender distinctions that so easily divide in no way hinder a person from coming to Christ in order to receive His mercy. All people equally can become God's heirs and recipients of His eternal promises (4:5–7).

4:1, 2 drawing upon the illustration of the "tutor" and "heirs" in 3:24–29, Paul develops the idea of what it means to be an adopted son of God. In ancient society a child had to wait until the proper time before he could inherit what was his. Paul uses this to explain why God delayed Jesus Christ's coming, leaving people with His law as a guide (3:23–25).

4:3 We were children . . . in bondage parallels "child" and "slave" in v. 1. Some believe that the elements Paul refers to in this verse are "elemental spiritual forces." As in astrology today, the ancients associated spiritual forces with "the elements," such as earth, air, fire, and water. But the context, and Paul's use of the word elsewhere (Col. 2:8, 20), favors an understanding of elements as "elementary principles or regulations," perhaps the Jewish law or aspects of it (compare Heb 5:12—6:3). This is confirmed in the context, for elements of the world parallels "guardians and stewards" in v. 2, as well as the role of the law in 3:23–25. These elements are described as "weak and beggarly" in v. 9 and are linked to what appears to be Jewish calendar observances in v. 10.

4:4, 5 The fullness of the time is "the perfect time" in history, the "time appointed" by God the Father (v. 2) for His Son to be born, and later to die for the sins of the world. Born of a woman speaks of Christ's humanity and perhaps alludes to His role as the ultimate "Seed" of the woman (see 3:16; Gen. 3:15). Born under the law means Christ was subject to the Jewish law (see Matt. 5:17–19), further establishing His identification with all people who are subject to the law. Redeem, meaning "to buy from the slave market," is a term used only by Paul in the NT (see 3:13; eph. 5:16; Col. 4:5). The verb describes Christ's supreme and final payment for the sins of humanity (see Rom. 3:23–25). This payment, His death on the Cross, frees those who believe on Him to become God's sons. Although there is only one natural Son in God's family, Jesus Christ (vv. 4, 6), God has graciously adopted all believers as His children.

Grace vs. the Law
Grace . . .	Law . . .
• is based on faith (2:16).	• is based on works (2:16).
• justifies sinful men (2:16, 17).	• is incapable of resulting in justification (2:16; 3:11).
• begins and ends with Christ (2:20).	• makes Christ nothing (5:2).
• is the way of the Spirit (3:2, 3, 14).	• is the way of the flesh (3:3).
• is a "blessing" (3:14).	• is a "curse" (3:13).
• is God's desired end for His people (3:23–25).	• was intended to be only a means to an end (3:23–25).
• results in intimacy with Christ (3:27).	• results in estrangement from Christ (5:4).
• makes one a son of God and an heir of Christ (4:6, 7).	• keeps one a slave (4:7).
• brings liberty (5:1).	• results in bondage (5:1).
• depends on the power of the Holy Spirit (5:16–18, 22, 23).	• depends on human effort (5:19–21).
• is motivated by love (5:13, 14).	• is motivated by pride (6:3, 13, 14).
• centers on the cross of Christ (6:12–14).	• centers on circumcision (5:11; 6:12–15).

Two Covenants

<sup>21</sup> Tell me, you who desire to be under the law, do you not hear the law? <sup>22</sup> For it is written that Abraham had two sons:

4:6 Just as “God sent forth His Son” in “the fullness of the time” in world history (v. 4), so God has sent forth the Spirit of Christ at just the right time for every person who believes in Christ. into your hearts: Christians can know intimacy with the Father because of the indwelling Spirit (see Rom. 8:1–17).

4:7 Paul summarizes the illustrations and teaching of the preceding section (vv. 1–6) by speaking of the transformation of the believer from being a spiritual slave to being a son with full rights.

4:8, 9 The words in bondage and elements refer back to v. 3. Paul was in effect asking the Galatians, “Is it spiritual progress again to be enslaved to weak and beggarly rituals and observances (v. 10)? How could you have known God and turned away to ‘childish’ (v. 3) things?” The Galatians had come to know God through faith in Jesus Christ (see John 17:2, 3). He had adopted them as His own sons, but they were turning back to the law that had once enslaved them.

4:10 The word days likely refers to Sabbaths or special feasts.

Months and seasons pertain to longer observances, such as the celebrations between the Passover and the day of Pentecost. Years probably indicates the Year of Jubilee, the fiftieth year in which slaves were to be freed, family lands returned to their original owners, and the land left fallow (see Lev. 23–25). The Jews commemorated all these feasts in order to please God.

4:12 I urge you: To get beyond the present dilemma, Paul appeals to the Galatians to follow his example (see 1 Cor. 11:1). He had abandoned the ceremonial rules and regulations connected with Judaism so that he could freely preach the gospel of Christ to Jew and Gentile alike in the cities of Galatia. They too should not hinder the gospel of Christ with laws and regulations.

4:13–15 Paul describes the closeness and understanding that had existed between him and the Galatians when he had preached the gospel to them initially. He recalls how the Galatians had cared for him in his illness, treating him as they would an angel, or even Christ Himself. Paul’s physical infirmity could have been an illness contracted en route to Galatia, a consequence of having been blinded on the road to Damascus (Acts 9:3, 8) or a consequence of being stoned (Acts 14:19). Some have suggested that Paul was practically blind. This would explain the reference to your own eyes, as well as the size of Paul’s handwriting, referred to in 6:11. This might have been the infirmity about which Paul wrote in his letter to the Corinthians. Paul had repeatedly asked God for healing, but God refused to heal him because his weakness demonstrated God’s strength (see 2 Cor. 12:7–10).

4:16 A person with pure motives and real friendship does not always say things that are pleasant to hear. Paul was telling the Galatians the truth, and as result was being labeled as their enemy. Sometimes the truth hurts; but a faithful friend would courageously confront another (see Prov. 27:6).

4:17, 18 Paul’s own career of persecuting Christians proved that zealous behavior can be tragically misguided (1:13, 14). Paul was strongly implying that the false teachers in Galatia were making the same mistake he had made prior to his conversion. Their zeal for the law was blinding them to the freedom and truth to be found in Jesus Christ.

4:19 In a most tender way, Paul calls the Galatian Christians his little children because of their lack of spiritual growth and depth. The apostle also portrays himself as the Galatians’ “spiritual mother.” He was feeling the labor pains of their birth all over again because they had fallen into serious error.

4:21, 22 Once again Paul speaks of the law and the experience of Abraham, addressing the false teachers’ foundational respect for Abraham (3:6–9) and the Galatians’ infatuation with living under the law. To clinch his lengthy argument about the bondage of the law and the freedom found in Christ, Paul uses as examples the ### elements

(Gk. stoicheion) (4:3, 9; Col. 2:8, 20; Heb. 5:12; 2 Pet. 3:10) Strong’s #4747

This Greek word can mean (1) “elementary or rudimentary principles” or (2) “elemental spirits.” The word itself means things placed in line or in a row, like an alphabet. It was used to speak of rudimentary principles (Heb. 5:12) or basic elements of the universe, whether physical (2 Pet. 3:10) or spiritual. If Paul was thinking of elementary principles, he meant that people are in bondage to the basic elements of religion (see Col. 2:20); if he meant spirits, he was saying that people are in bondage to the “elemental spirits,” meaning certain gods or demons. Principles suits the overall context of Galatians, whereas spirits accords with 4:8–10. In either case, Paul was saying that people were in bondage until Christ came.

<sup>w</sup>the one by a bondwoman, <sup>x</sup>the other by a freewoman. <sup>23</sup>But he who was of the bondwoman <sup>y</sup>was born according to the flesh, <sup>z</sup>and he of the freewoman through promise, <sup>24</sup>which things are symbolic. For these are <sup>7</sup>the two covenants: the one from Mount <sup>a</sup>Sinai which gives birth to bondage, which is Hagar— <sup>25</sup>for this Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and corresponds to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children— <sup>26</sup>but the <sup>b</sup>Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all. <sup>27</sup>For it is written:

*“Rejoice, O barren,
You who do not bear!
Break forth and shout,
You who are not in labor!
For the desolate has many more children
Than she who has a husband.”*

<sup>28</sup>Now <sup>d</sup>we, brethren, as Isaac was, are <sup>e</sup>children of promise. <sup>29</sup>But, as <sup>f</sup>he who was born according to the flesh then persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, <sup>g</sup>even so it is now. <sup>30</sup>Nevertheless what does <sup>h</sup>the Scripture say? <sup>i</sup>“Cast out the bondwoman and her son, for<sup>j</sup> the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the freewoman.” <sup>31</sup>So then, brethren, we are not children of the bondwoman but of the free.

Christian Liberty

5 Stand <sup>a</sup> fast therefore in the liberty by which Christ has made us free, and do not be entangled again with a <sup>b</sup> yoke of bondage. <sup>2</sup> Indeed I, Paul, say to you that <sup>c</sup> if you become circumcised, Christ will profit you nothing. <sup>3</sup> And I testify again to every man who becomes circumcised <sup>d</sup> that he is <sup>2</sup> a debtor to keep the whole law. <sup>4</sup> <sup>e</sup> You have become estranged from Christ, you who attempt to be justified by law; <sup>f</sup> you have fallen from grace. <sup>5</sup> For we through the Spirit eagerly <sup>g</sup> wait for the hope of righteousness by faith. <sup>6</sup> For <sup>h</sup> in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but <sup>i</sup> faith working through love.

Love Fulfills the Law

two sons of Abraham. These are Ishmael, who was born of the bondwoman Hagar (v. 24); and Isaac, who was born of Sarah, the rightful wife of Abraham and a freewoman. Appropriately, Paul counters the Jewish false teachers' zeal for the law with an argument based on the Law, the Pentateuch (Gen. 16:15; 21:2). He uses allegory to prove his point because it was a rhetorical technique the false teachers used. In other words, Paul was demonstrating that he could argue from the Law just as well as they could, but to prove that the Law of Moses pointed to the Messiah, Jesus Christ. 4:23 In Gen. 16, Abraham and Sarah attempted to fulfill God's promise through their own strength, using Hagar, a bondwoman. In spite of the complications caused by that "fleshly" alternative, Sarah, a freewoman, eventually saw the miraculous outworking of God's promise in the birth of Isaac (see Gen. 12:2; 15:4).

4:24 symbolic: Paul was using the common Jewish allegorical method of the day to make his point. He used this approach to draw a stark contrast between two biblical covenants at odds with each other in the churches in Galatia: the Abrahamic promise (see Gen. 12:1–3) and the Law of Moses that God gave Israel at Mount Sinai. 4:25 Paul compared Jerusalem, the center of Jewish life, to Mount Sinai, the birthplace of the Law of Moses.

4:26 The Jerusalem above represents the Jewish hope of heaven finally coming to earth (see Rev. 21; 22). Since us all obviously refers to those who are free through faith in Christ (v. 7), Paul was strongly implying that the question at hand was not allegiance to Jerusalem, but allegiance to which Jerusalem—the new or the old? Would the Galatians follow the shortsighted present Jerusalem and its legalism or the liberty of the heavenly Jerusalem?

4:27 Paul quotes Is. 54:1, using the prophesied restoration of Israel from judgment and exile to illustrate how the later-born children of promise would eventually far outnumber the earlier offspring.

4:28–30 This portion of Paul's allegory is based on Gen. 21:9, 10. Isaac was continually persecuted by his older half brother Ishmael, eventually, Ishmael and his mother Hagar were expelled because Ishmael had no standing in God's eyes as heir of Abraham. In creating a parallel between the story from Genesis and the Galatians' situation, Paul points out that (1) the persecution by the Jewish legalists of his day was not unexpected, and (2) it would not go on indefinitely because the legalists would soon be cast out.

4:31–5:1 So then represents the conclusion of the previous section, while therefore signals that Paul is going to apply this spiritual truth to the lives of the Galatian believers. To be children of the bondwoman is to be enslaved to the covenant from Mount Sinai (4:24, 25), the Law of Moses. To be of the free is to follow Abraham's example of faith (3:6–9), to be "born according to the Spirit" (3:2; 4:29), and to be destined for the "Jerusalem above" (4:26). Understanding such realities, the believer in Christ must continually stand fast in the liberty of not having to keep the Law of Moses in order to be saved. The Galatians were on the verge of becoming enslaved to the law again.

5:2, 3 The legalistic Jewish teachers in Galatia were urging believers to be circumcised (6:12, 13). Paul points out that being circumcised changes the entire orientation of salvation away from God's grace to one's own actions. One who is circumcised in an attempt to gain God's acceptance is obligated to keep the whole law, which history has abundantly demonstrated no one can do (see Rom. 3:10–18).

5:4 Fallen from grace is understood by some to refer to the loss of salvation. However, fallen from may refer to their attitude and to the message that it communicates, rather than to their eternal salvation.

5:5 Faith in Christ brings about not only justification before God, but also growth in the Christian life until we are completely glorified by God and freed from the presence of sin. This is the hope of righteousness. We can be assured that we will be declared righteous before the Lord on that last day, because we have a foretaste of that righteousness from the Spirit who lives within us (2 Cor. 5:5).

5:6 by faith it is possible to fulfill Christ's command to love one's neighbor (see vv. 13, 14; John 13:34, 35).

5:7, 8 You ran well: The Galatians' splendid start in the race of the Christian life had not continued. Their detour into legalism was certainly not God's will.

5:9, 10 Leaven symbolizes the intruders, with their false doctrine and sinister influence. They were taking the gospel of free forgive-

Lord, that you will have no other mind; but he who troubles you shall bear his judgment, whoever he is.

<sup>13</sup> For you, brethren, have been called to liberty; only <sup>p</sup> do not use liberty as an <sup>q</sup> opportunity for the flesh, but <sup>r</sup> through love serve one another. <sup>14</sup> For <sup>s</sup> all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: <sup>t</sup> “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” <sup>15</sup> But if you bite and devour one another, beware lest you be consumed by one another!

Walking in the Spirit

if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

ness away from the Galatians. The one who causes such harm will experience God's judgment (see 2 Cor. 5:10).

5:11 The cross gives offense because it proclaims God's unmerited grace (2:21), leaving no place for people's good works.

5:12 cut themselves off: The spiritual damage caused by legalistic teaching regarding circumcision and the law was so serious that Paul used strong, sarcastic words to emphasize his point. The false teachers should go beyond mere circumcision and castrate themselves. This exaggerated statement reveals Paul's frustration with those who muddled the clear gospel message of God's grace.

5:13 Liberty presents an opposite temptation from legalism. A person can be tempted to view freedom in Christ as a selfish opportunity for the flesh, in other words, an opportunity to do whatever one wants to do. but Paul points out that true Christian liberty is the freedom to serve one another in love (vv. 5, 6).

5:14 The Christian does not live under the law of Moses, but instead under “the law of Christ” (6:2). Living in Christ empowers us to love others, which is the fulfillment of the law (see Jesus' summary of the Law and the Prophets in Matt. 22:36–40).

5:15 When Christians follow their sinful desires (v. 13), they begin to criticize and contend with one another. Such self-centered behavior is self-defeating. Those who criticize and attack usually end up being consumed in worthless struggles.

5:16 The only consistent way to overcome the sinful desires of our human nature (the flesh) is to live step-by-step in the power of the Holy Spirit as He works through our spirit (v. 25). Shall not is a striking promise. Walking each moment by faith in God's word under the Spirit's control assures absolute victory over the desires of our sinful nature.

5:17 The potential of the flesh energized by Satan in the life of the Christian should not be underestimated. Given free rein, the flesh will direct our choices, making us do what we know we should not do. This inner conflict between the flesh and the Spirit is very real, but there is considerable disagreement as to its precise meaning. Some believe that flesh here refers to a “sinful nature” continuing after salvation, while others view it as simply the physical flesh and its natural tendencies. Still others focus on the “fleshly” or “worldly” habits and patterns that continue after justification. The desires of our flesh are at odds with what the Holy Spirit desires for us: to be free from sin.

5:19–21 The works of the flesh include, but go well beyond, the destructive contentions and jealousies portrayed in v. 15. Where there is such behavior, it is positive proof that the person is not living in the power of the Holy Spirit (vv. 16, 18, 22, 23) but is being energized by Satan and his hosts (see Matt. 16:23; Acts 5:3).

5:22, 23 Spirit: There is a question here whether Paul means specifically the works done by a person's regenerated human spirit, or works done by the Holy Spirit Himself in the believer's life. The fruit analogy is reminiscent of Jesus' teaching on the vine, branches, and fruitful harvest (see John 15:1–5).

5:24 Christians are spiritually “crucified with Christ” (2:20). They no longer have to follow the values or desires of the world (6:14). However, it remains difficult for Christians to apply this spiritual reality to the passions (affections) and desires (lusts) of the flesh (v. 16). Those who have mastered these sinful desires are those who have kept their focus on God (see Jer. 9:23, 24; dan. 11:32; John 17:3; Heb. 12:1–3).

5:25, 26 In these verses, Paul exhorts the Galatians to walk in the Spirit because they are already living in the Spirit. Such an action should be natural, but unfortunately we are at war with the flesh. Walk in the Spirit means to obey the prompting of the Holy Spirit. A believer following the Spirit's lead (v. 16) will not become conceited, provoke others, or envy others.

flesh

(Gk. sarx) (5:19, 24; 6:8, 12, 13; Rom. 7:18; 8:3, 13) Strong's #4561

In Greek literature, the word sarx usually meant nothing more than the human body. It was also used this way in the NT (see John 1:14; Rev. 17:16; 19:18, 21). However, Paul often used the word to denote the entire fallen human being—not just the sinful body but the entire being, including the soul and mind, as affected by sin. Thus Paul often pitted the “flesh” against the “Spirit” as being two diametrically opposed forces. The unbeliever can live only in the flesh, but the believers can live in the flesh or in the Spirit. Paul repeatedly encourages the believers to overcome the deeds of the flesh by living in the Spirit.

Bear and Share the Burdens

Be Generous and Do Good

<sup>6i</sup>Let him who is taught the word share in all good things with him who teaches.

<sup>7</sup>Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for <sup>j</sup>whatever a man sows, that he will also reap. <sup>8</sup>For he who sows to his flesh will of the flesh reap corruption, but he who sows to the Spirit will of the Spirit reap <sup>h</sup>everlasting life. <sup>9</sup>And <sup>l</sup>let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap <sup>m</sup>if we do not lose heart. <sup>10n</sup>Therefore, as we have opportunity, <sup>o</sup>let us do good to all, <sup>p</sup>especially to those who are of the household of faith.

Glory Only in the Cross

<sup>11</sup>See with what large letters I have written to you with my own hand! <sup>12</sup>As many as desire to make a good showing in the flesh, these would compel you to be circumcised, <sup>q</sup>only that they may not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ. <sup>13</sup>For not even those who are circum-

6:1 Any trespass probably recalls the sinful "works of the flesh" in 5:19–21. Overtaken means to be caught off guard, perhaps at a vulnerable point. A believer devastated by sin needs to be approached with gentleness (5:23) by fellow believers. Those not controlled by the Holy Spirit would tend to boast by comparing themselves to the fallen believer (vv. 3, 4), even as a doctor can catch a disease from treating a patient, so one restoring a fallen sinner can be tempted to fall into sin. That danger is well worth considering.

6:2 The law of Christ referred to here is probably the summation of the law: "Love your neighbor" (see 5:14; Matt. 22:39; John 13:34, 35). The term fulfill suggests that choosing to bear another Christian's burdens (or restore another Christian from burdensome sin, v. 1) is precisely what Christ expects of all believers. The Greek word for burdens refers to something beyond the normal capacity to carry, as opposed to a "load" (v. 5), which is what a person could be expected to carry.

6:3, 4 Anyone who concludes that he is something special, through shortsighted self-comparison with those who seem to have fallen, truly deceives himself. Instead of examining and judging others, a Christian should always examine his own work to see if he is closely following Christ's example (see 1 Cor. 11:31; 2 Cor. 13:5).

6:6 One important way to bear other believers' burdens (v. 2) is to share in all good things, including financial support, with one who teaches God's word. After all, teachers and preachers work hard in their ministry (see 1 Tim. 5:17).

6:7, 8 The principle of sowing and reaping was known to everyone in a largely agricultural society. It is a vain attempt to "mock" God for a Christian to think that if he sows to his flesh he can escape the harvest of destruction and judgment that comes upon those who participate in sin (5:19–21; Hos. 8:7). Corruption is a term used for a field in which the produce is too rotten to harvest (see Heb. 6:8). Some interpret corruption to imply eternal destruction, either through losing salvation or through never having been truly saved at all. Others understand a tragic loss of rewards for the carnal believer (see 1 Cor. 3:12–15; 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 22:12). He who sows to the Spirit will . . . reap everlasting life does not mean that eternal life is earned by works. Rather, Paul is saying that everlasting life is the glorious end of those who follow the guidance of the Spirit (see Rom. 6:22).

6:9 In this verse, Paul speaks of doing good. The apostle has argued at length that such works cannot justify (2:16) or sanctify (3:3) anyone. However, good works are, in fact, an important fruit of the life of faith (5:5) that God has planned for each believer (see eph. 2:8–10). In 5:19–23, the apostle describes the attitudes and actions of those controlled by the "flesh" versus those controlled by the Spirit. In vv. 7–9, Paul shows the impact of those two contradictory ways over the length of a Christian's life (see 2 Cor. 5:10; Rev. 22:12).

6:10 Therefore indicates that this verse speaks of an important application of the spiritual sowing and reaping process (vv. 7–9). Christians are not only to serve one another in love (see v. 2; 5:13), they also should do good to non-Christians.

6:11 Probably here Paul began to write with his own hand, after having up to now dictated the letter to a secretary. His reference to large letters in light of the wording of 4:13–15 implies that Paul had problems with his eyesight or was even partly blind. Paul commonly ended his letters with personal greetings (see 2 Thess. 3:17).

6:12 a good showing: The Judaizers were trying to appear spiritual by becoming circumcised and demanding that others become circumcised (5:2–12). persecution: by teaching that all Christians should become circumcised, the Judaizers were trying to make Christianity into a sect of Judaism. This would have two advantages. First, they could counter the persecution that they suffered from zealous Jews. Second, they could include themselves with an officially sanctioned religion of the Roman empire, Judaism.

6:13 even the Judaizers who advocated the Galatians' circumcision did not really keep the entire law. They knew they were required cised keep the law, but they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh. <sup>14</sup>But God forbid that I should boast except in the <sup>r</sup>cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by <sup>2</sup>whom the world has been crucified to me, and <sup>s</sup>I to the world. <sup>15</sup>For <sup>t</sup>in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but a new creation.

Blessing and a Plea

<sup>16</sup>And as many as walk according to this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the Israel of God.

<sup>17</sup>From now on let no one trouble me, for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

to do so (3:10–12), but were ultimately unable to fulfill all of the requirements (see Rom. 3:23). Still, they attempted to persuade the Galatians to be circumcised so that they could boast about having them as their followers.

6:14 As a representative believer, Paul spoke of himself as crucified with Christ (2:20). In that decisive act, “the flesh with its passions and desires” (5:24) was also crucified, as was the world with all of its continuing attractions (see 1 John 2:15–17).

6:15 To a Christian under the New Covenant, following the Abrahamic sign of circumcision (see Gen. 17:9–14) does not mean anything in terms of spirituality. What really matters is being a new creation in Christ (see 2 Cor. 5:17).

6:16 As many as recalls the wording of v. 12. Those who live according to the example of Christ and the new creation (vv. 14, 15) are in stark contrast with those desiring to make a good impression through circumcision and keeping the law (vv. 12, 13). The Israel of God probably refers to the remnant of believing Jews (see Rom. 11:1, 2, 7). They are Abraham’s spiritual descendants (3:6–9) because they believe in God and rely on His grace.

6:17 Paul’s physical body carried the hard evidence of his allegiance to the Lord Jesus, the marks of harsh persecution (see 2 Cor. 11:23–26) suffered for preaching the gospel. Paul’s scars branded him as a slave for Christ (Rom. 1:1). Such marks far outweighed the “mark” of circumcision so valued by the false teachers in Galatia (vv. 12–15).

6:18 Paul ends his letter to the Galatians as he began it (see 1:3), highlighting the theme of his entire letter: that it is only by God’s grace that we are saved.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE EPHESIANS

IN ROME, Paul was in official custody. Although his movements were restricted, he continued to guide the early church and preach the gospel. The Romans could imprison Paul, but they could not imprison the spread of the Good News. Numerous local assemblies had sprouted up along the routes of Paul's three missionary journeys. The members of these churches were still proclaiming the gospel, not only by what they said, but also with their lives. Paul wrote the letter to the ephesians to strengthen these congregations. He wanted them to understand the spiritual reality behind the numerous groups that gathered in houses all over the Mediterranean world, and he wanted them to encourage each other in the faith. They were the body of Christ.

Author and Date Paul identifies himself as the author of ephesians at the beginning and in the middle of the letter (1:1; 3:1). Internal evidence supports Pauline authorship. The fact that the author describes himself as being imprisoned points to Paul, for Luke describes Paul as being under house arrest in Rome in Acts 28. The letter is similar in content to Colossians, suggesting that both letters were written during the same imprisonment in Rome, around A.D. 60. The vocabulary and thought of the letter are typical of Paul, with his characteristic emphasis on justification by faith (2:8). New uses of old words are merely examples of the apostle's genius and versatility. Finally, the early church fathers were unanimous in ascribing the letter of ephesians to Paul.

Modern scholars have recognized the clear Pauline themes in the letter, but some have used this characteristic of the letter to prove an alternative theory about the authorship of ephesians. These scholars contend that when the body of Pauline epistles was collected, someone else constructed ephesians as an introduction to Paul's writings. However, this elaborate theory still has to surmount the convincing evidence for Paul's authorship of the letter.

Setting ephesus was the capital of the Roman province of Asia (today part of Turkey). Located at the intersection of several major trade routes, ephesus was a vital commercial center of the Roman empire. It was the site of a famous temple for the fertility goddess diana that was one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Most importantly, however, ephesus figured prominently and dramatically in early church history, for Paul used the city as a center for his missionary work in that region.

Paul visited ephesus briefly at the end of his second missionary journey. When he departed, he left behind Priscilla and Aquila to continue the ministry in that city (see Acts 18:18–21). On Paul's third missionary journey, he spent about three years in ephesus. When the apostle's gospel message was rebuffed by the Jews in the ephesian synagogue, Paul taught Scripture to both Jews and Greeks in the school of Tyrannus. Paul's ministry at ephesus was marked by several Spirit-empowered miracles. As a result, the city became a center for evangelistic outreach to the rest of the province of Asia (see Acts 19:18–20). In fact, so many people in ephesus turned to Christ and renounced their pagan ways that some craftsmen in the city started a riot because the gospel threatened their trade of making and selling idols.

In Acts 20:17–38 Paul warned the elders of the ephesian church about “savage wolves” who would not spare the congregation. About four decades later, the Lord Jesus Himself dictated to the apostle John a letter to the same congregation (see Rev. 2:1–7). He commended the ephesians for hearing Paul and not tolerating false teachers, but He exhorted them to recapture their first love for God.
